HISTORIC PACT WILL BE SIGNED SOON, NAZIS SAY

May Fix Control of Southeast Europe.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 16.—Germans who claim to be in the know today were excitedly telling their foreign friends that within a few days "the world will witness the conclusion of one of the greatest pacts known in history which is bound to strengthen and enlarge Germany's control over southeastern Europe."

"The new treaty will protect Germany from any possible attack from the east and will render impossible a two front war," they added.

Official circles were less definite on the subject, but they admitted that the German government is trying to induce Italy and Russia to agree to plans which virtually would amount to a guarantee of the status quo in southeastern Europe. Turkey and Rumania are the main objects of the present diplomatic maneuvering.

Pressure on Turkey.

Germany's ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, has informed his government that he is making satisfactory progress in his efforts to separate Turkey from her English and French friends "after the Finnish debacle which showed England and France are too slow to be of any real help to the small nations they want to aid."

If Germany can win better relations with Turkey it feels that, with Italy's aid, it can block England and France in the near east with the greatest ease.

Because King Carol of Rumania has allowed his government to resume negotiations with the Iron Guard, pro-Nazi unit which had been outlawed, Germans are confident that "the day is near when our friends of the Iron Guard will be in the Rumanian cabinet." And then they feel certain they will be able to compel Rumania to increase her oil deliveries to Germany.

Point to Mexican Seizure.

Some Germans point to the example of Mexico, which seized foreign oil wells, and hold that Rumania could act in a similar manner and thus be able to deliver a great portion of the oil required by Germany.

A treaty among Russia, Germany and Italy guaranteeing the status quo in the southeast, the Germans think, "will make the Rumanians realize that there is no hope of trying to escape German demands, and that they must be ready to coöperate with the strongest central European power and their gigantic eastern neighbor, Russia."

The Germans are thinking of sending their foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, to Bucharest to return the visit Rumania's foreign minister, Grigore Gafencu, paid to Berlin last year—provided they can formulate a new version of the German-Rumanian trade agreement increasing Germany's share of Rumanian products.

Fuehrer Hitler's goal in the present negotiations is to try to create a network of agreements which he can present to his people and increase their hopes that the present shortage of food and raw materials is merely a temporary condition. Germans say that "if all the people do their duty these shortages will be quickly overcome, thanks to the vast peaceful hinterland on which Germany can draw."

SEE NEGOTIATED PEACE

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—Altho official pronouncements continue as firm as ever regarding Britain's determination to reject any compromise peace, the end of the war in Finland, followed by what seems to be additional German diplomatic successes in the Balkans and Italy, has given rise to a strong undercurrent of feeling that negotiation, however distasteful, may be the only solution to the war.

At Germany's disposal now apparently are the limitless resources of Russia and the productive capacities of former Poland and the Balkan states. Favorable prospects for a new trade agreement between Germany and Rumania are reported here.

Some newspapers at first tried to belittle the results of the visit by the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, to Rome. It now is becoming clearer, however, that the visit resulted in closer economic ties between Italy and Germany.

PRIMARY RACES STEAM UP FOR CHICAGO FINISH

Forces Massed for Final Vote Drive.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The full force of both the Republican and the Democratic state primary campaigns is about to strike Chicago and its suburbs. All the headliners for major office nominations of both parties will bring their campaigns into the metropolis this week.

The primaries of April 9 are three weeks from next Tuesday. With only that short time left even those candidates and groups which have not completed full coverage of the downstate area are forced now to swing into Cook county, which will cast half the entire vote of the state or better.

Cast Aside Harmony Plans.

The delayed action plan of the regular Democratic forces, adopted at a time when there was a prospect for harmony, has been cast aside because of the vigorous attack of the insurgent movement against the combined Springfield and Chicago machines. The full slate of regulars will appear at sectional massmeetings of workers tomorrow and Tuesday night.

And the contending Republican camps intend to increase campaign pressure steadily from this point until the polls open.

The one Republican team that has operated together openly—Richard J. Lyons for governor and Wayland Brooks for United States senator—will spend almost all of the next three weeks in and around Chicago, making only two or three fast downstate dashes during that period. Dwight H. Green, Lyons' opponent, has not cleaned up his downstate work so completely, but he also will spend most of his time in the Chicago area making short jumps out into the state to cover spots missed during the early weeks of the campaign.

Brooks' opponent for the senatorship, Congressman Ralph E. Church, has not deviated from his originally announced plan of remaining in Washington and addressing Illinois Republicans by radio from there and coming into the state only for week-end conferences. But there are some who believe that at some point in the next three weeks he will consider supplementing his remote control program with personal appearances.

That question of changes in tactics at this point is the subject of widespread curiosity in connection with other headliner candidates. This particularly is true of the candidates on the regular Democratic slate. Since he became a candidate Harry B. Hershey, running for governor, has been talking—frequently in a courtroom manner—of his support for Roosevelt policies and the program of Gov. Horner, whose place he took on the slate.

Fails to Refute Charges.

He has made no reply to the hammerlike attacks of his opponent, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, who hasn't missed an opportunity to chastise the group that he says has taken over the powers of the governorship during Horner's illness or a chance to hit at the manner in which the regular organization leaders picked their slate in a small conference.

Recently word has come from Springfield that at least the statehouse organization favors retaliatory tactics. Its leaders have been whispering that they have plenty of material against Stelle if they wish to use it, but they have not disclosed the nature of it.

In distinct contrast to the lack of discussion of state issues by the Democratic candidates the Republican contenders for the governorship, Lyons and Green, have gone up and down the state and all around Chicago talking about the sales tax, administrative economy, the conduct of the state charitable and penal institutions, and other subjects pertaining to the state government.

This sort of campaigning has been varied by Green's constant effort to paint his opposition as tainted with Chicago city hall influence and later by Lyons' outbursts in which he charged that Green's own campaign was inspired by Democrats and is being directed by Democrats.

Everybody Ordered In.

There was almost abruptness in the manner with which the Cook county Democratic committee summoned its payrollers and workers to the usual "roll call meetings"—so called because every jobholder is expected to turn in his card at the door of the meeting. The fixed plan of having the state candidates continue downstate operations this week in separate cara-

BY MARCIA WINN.

A lake boat, the first to come down Lake Michigan from the north since Dec. 20, passed Chicago far out from shore. Down in the Palos Hills marshes pussy willows, steaming in the sun, burst into satin white buds. On a hillside nearby horses capered wildly, manes tossing in the wind, and male robins, arriving now in numbers, flit about, scouting for nesting spots for females soon to come.

These are tokens of spring, as it made its first definite visit to the Chicago area yesterday. These are tokens that any one, seeing, might cry, "It's spring!" These are tokens that were here yesterday, but might, with a cold wave, be gone next week.

World Hums with Activity.

But spring is under way. Deep in the heart of the woods, where nature's secrets are shrouded in silence and veiled in dead, brown leaves, where the hillsides are dappled with snow and the sloughs are covered with ice, life is stirring.

Here there seems to be a pervasive quiet, but listen, and the world hums with a gentle activity, as gentle as the buzz of a fly, as the crackling of a leaf as it is pushed aside by the new green shoot of a violet, as the fluttering of a mourning cloak butterfly as it rests its sepia and yellow wings on the tender blue cup of a wild crocus, as the stir of the wing beaten wind as a male crow dives and circles thru the sky to win the heart of a female. These are the voices of spring.

The Sound of Spring.

"It's here," said Joe Reichert, rugged, white-haired superintendent of the Palos Hills forest preserves, as he led a group thru marsh and hollow, "but you must listen for it."

As he spoke, the soft, fluted call of a downy woodpecker, high, rapid, and tumultuous with a mysterious excitement, sounded thru the air. "Like a young man singing," Mr. Reichert observed happily. "A little, warm steamy night," he continued dreamily, "and two warm days. Then it will be audible everywhere."

Everywhere there is a sensation of suspended, yet surging, animation. A pheasant sounds his mating call, "Whoark! Whoark!" He puffs himself up, beats the air with his wings, cries again, "Whoark! Whoark!" this time with a note of fright, and then is silent. A purple finch, passing on its northward migration, essays one short, sweet warble and flies back into wooded silence.

The spring birds are appearing, and the colors of the winter birds such as the hairy woodpecker, the junco, the black-blue nuthatch, the cardinal, the black capped chickadee, and the titmouse are being metamorphosed by spring and love until their feathers are several tones brighter than they were against January snows.

Underfoot, beneath brown leaves made soft by winter's snow, is fresh, new grass. Moss is newly green on the dark bark of sheltered trees. Branches from a distance look barren and bleak, but look closer. The earthbound boughs of the willow are a bright yellow, surging anew with sap.

It's all there, stirring and ready. "Four or five days like this [highest temperature 43]," said Mr. Reichert, "and we'll even hear the frogs."

2,000 POUND DRILL BIT BLOWN OUT OF SIGHT BY GAS WELL

Spencer, W. Va., March 16 (AP).—A 2,000 pound drilling bit was blown out of sight by the tremendous pressure of a giant gas well brought in at Goldtown, Jackson county, Everett Starcher reported.

Starcher said the well might gauge well over 30,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, but that workmen had been unable to measure the flow because of the terrific pressure.

When the bit came down after a seemingly long interval, Starcher related, the one inch steel cable fastened to it was found to have been crushed flat.

The gas caught fire when the drill struck the top of the derrick, but the high pressure kept flames above the derrick long enough for drillers to close a double gas valve and extinguish the fire.

BRITISH WOMEN FORM LINES TO PURCHASE MEAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16—In the early days of the war British newspapers gleefully published stories describing long queues of German housewives waiting outside stores to buy meat and other household necessities. The story came home to roost today when housewives in lines extending for nearly a block at certain places waited for hours in front of butcher shops to buy their Sunday meat. Meat rationing began Monday and butchers during the week reported business slack. It became evident today that most housewives had been saving the ration coupons for use on their Sunday dinners. Each adult is allowed 38 cents' worth of meat a week.

Ghost Tickles Their Feet, but Gets No Laugh

Wichita, Kas., March 16 (AP).—So long as the "ghost of Ninth street" confined himself to tapping messages, Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas didn't mind.

But when it started lifting up the bed sheets at night and tickling their feet they called in the police.

The young couple told Detective Ronald Van Welden that around last Christmas time they noticed queer rapping sounds in their home on Ninth street. Soon they learned that "it" would answer questions.

And the Answer's Right.

"Is our boy asleep now?" they would ask, glancing at their peacefully dreaming 2 year old. "If so, answer with two knocks."

Rap, rap.

Or, sensing the mysterious Somethings's presence:

"If you are here, answer with four knocks."

Tap, tap, tap, tap.

After the foot tickling started they moved. For a week they had freedom in their new home. Then the sounds began.

Policeman Baffled.

Officer Van Welden confesses he's stumped. The Lucases, in their middle twenties, "are a perfectly normal young couple," he said, and definitely do not believe in spiritualism.

Some night soon — he'll not say when, because the "ghost" would be forewarned—he'll sit in the darkened house while the Lucases sleep, and wait for results.

EIGHT DELAWARE ROBBERS GIVEN MASS WHIPPING

Wilmington, Del., March 16 (AP).—With snowflakes moistening their bare backs, eight convicted criminals stood at the whipping post today and received Delaware's ancient penalty for robbery—10 lashes "well laid on."

The group was the largest ever to receive the punishment in the yard of the 40 year old New Castle county workhouse. Four score witnesses saw a lash wielded by Warden Elwood H. Wilson rise and fall 80 times, raising broad welts on the prisoners' backs.

The youngest prisoner, 21 year old James Stewart, glanced pleadingly at the warden but took his punishment without a whimper. He was convicted of the Christmas eve kidnap-robbery of a filling station operator.

Two brothers, Hugh and Robert McClelland, who pleaded guilty to a school robbery, also were flogged, as were another white man and four Negroes. All must also serve 10 year prison sentences.

113 Are Saved; 2 Bosses Die in Rescue Effort

St. Clairsville, O., March 16 (AP).—Forty-four men entombed in the explosion torn Willow Grove coal mine were feared dead tonight.

Two men were killed trying to rescue them. Rescue crews saved 113 other miners, most of whom were affected by the death-dealing "black damp" which followed a noonday blast.

Officials of the Hanna Coal company, owners of the mine three miles south of here, declined to speculate on the miners' fate. The 44 were cut off from fresh air and entombed behind a rock barrier.

Predicts All Are Lost.

"But they're all dead—they couldn't live thru that blast," said Frank Opatrny, one of the rescued men. This view was shared by his fellow workers. Desperate attempts to contact the imprisoned men failed.

While rescue crews battered at the rock—some thought it would take all night to break thru—efforts were made to force fresh air to the men down a 90 foot shaft.

A revised check by R. L. Ireland, company president, showed that 157 men were in the huge mine when the accident occurred. Many gained safety thru the air shaft located at the end of the three mile long "drift," or horizontal mine.

Men Scattered All Around.

"On the way we saw men scattered all around," said John Howorski, 33 years old, of Neffs. Harry Stanley declared, "it looks bad." George Strain, state director of industrial relations, in charge of mine rescue squads, declared that the length of the time the men lived depended on the amount of air available in the area where they were trapped.

John Richards, mine superintendent, and Howard Sanders, tipple boss, lost their lives in a daring rescue effort. They were killed by the treacherous black damp, a gas which forms in mines after an explosion.

Black damp is an extremely deadly gas consisting essentially of carbon dioxide which settles at the bottom of mines, usually after an explosion. Being heavier than air, it collects in low places where it traps miners who are unable to detect it because it is odorless. The gas also referred to as choke damp, is nonexplosive and will not support either life or flame.

Nearly All Affected by Gas.

Nearly all of the 113 were affected by the gas to some extent. Scores were treated at an emergency hospital set up in the mine office basement, but there was no immediate indication how many were in serious condition. An undetermined number were reported hurt.

Nick Polecy and George Griffith were in Martins Ferry hospital and Peter Taylor and Charles Kluskey in Bellaire hospital. Polecy was burned about the face and arms and the others were gassed, Griffith seriously. Polecy and Griffith were with Richards and Sanders in the first rescue effort.

Fifteen men were carried out on stretchers at one time as thousands of persons, many of them tearful wives, crowded around the entrance of the mine.

Called One of Safest Mines.

The mine was termed by officials as the Hanna Coal company's safest. It was one of the most modern in Ohio—equipped with the latest air conditioning safeguards.

Fire broke out after the blast, which presumably was caused by gas or coal dust. It was later brought under control.

Rescue crews wearing gas masks and carrying cages of canaries to test air conditions hoped to break thru the wall of black damp where the 44 were believed entombed, but all efforts to contact the trapped men failed. Ireland, in hip boots and work clothes, was directing rescue operations personally.

Huge pumps were utilized in an effort to suck the black damp from the pits.

Scores of rescue workers, some of whom had been called only two months ago to a mine at Bartley in neighboring West Virginia to remove 91 blast victims, were pressed into emergency service here.

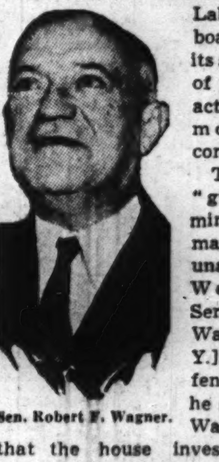
BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—What's the matter with the National Labor Relations board? Why has its administration of the Wagner act attracted almost universal condemnation?



Sen. Robert F. Wagner.

The verdict "guilty of maladministration" was made practically unanimous last Wednesday by Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], fervent defender of the law he sponsored. Wagner admitted that the house investigating committee headed by Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] had brought forward evidence of "highly undesirable" conduct on the part of some of the board's staff.

Only John L. Lewis and his Congress of Industrial Organizations, persistently favored in the board decisions, remained unconvinced that a drastic cleanup in the personnel of the board is needed.

Personnel Is Left Wing.

An explanation of the board's bias, its seeming hatred for business and the American Federation of Labor and its affection for the methods of the C. I. O. can be found in an examination of the personal records, education, and social attitude of approximately 800 men and women who have been entrusted with carrying out the provisions of the labor act.

Striking similarities are discovered in such a study. From board member down to messenger boy, the labor board family is left wing. This could hardly fail to be the case because, as the Smith investigating committee found, the social philosophy of job applicants is carefully ascertained before they are hired. The slightest suspicion of conservatism is an effective bar to approval of the application.

Many Are Youthful.

Many of the staff lawyers are products of Harvard law school, which has furnished some of President Roosevelt's leading radical advisers. Many are of an astonishingly youthful age to render decisions affecting all American industry and the fate of hundreds of thousands of employés. Other similarities may be noted in the following recapitulation.

The act is administered by a board of three members who receive $10,000 a year each. Twenty-two regions have been set up thruout the country. Each region has a director who receives from $5,000 to $7,000 a year and an attorney who receives an average of $3,500. Under each director are field examiners who receive $3,000 and up. The approximate yearly cost of the administration is $3,200,000.

Passing over these officials for the moment, the spotlight should fall first upon two officials in the Washington office who wield immense power in an unobtrusive manner. They are Nathan Witt, $7,500 secretary to the board, and David J. Saposs, $6,500 chief economist. Much of the board's radicalism stems from these two individuals, in the opinion of most observers.

Witt Is Harvard Graduate.

Witt was with the old labor board under the National Recovery administration, and with the present board since its creation in 1935. He was born in New York City 37 years ago. He received his bachelor degree at New York university in 1927, and spent the next two years as a taxicab driver in New York City. Then he went to Harvard law school, receiving his degree in 1932. With the advent of the New Deal, he obtained a position with the legal staff of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, going to the former labor board in 1934.

In the opinion of William M. Leiserson, appointed to the board as a trouble shooter June 1, 1939, when the protests against the administration of the act were most clamorous, Witt is responsible for much of the criticism which the board has attracted. Leiserson accused Witt of an arrogant assumption of authority and demanded his dismissal. Witt's C. I. O. sympathies

Saposs Is Russian Born.

Saposs was born in the Russian Ukraine in 1887. He was brought to the United States of America when he was 9 years old and his parents settled in Milwaukee, Wis. He spent 10 years at the University of Wisconsin studying informally and was an assistant to a professor there, altho he never received a formal degree.

Saposs was accused of communism before the Dies committee on un-American activities, but he denied he was a communist.

As head of the economic division of the NLRB, Saposs furnishes the board with statistics and material to support its radical viewpoint.

J. Warren Madden, chairman of the board since August, 1935, was born on an Illinois farm. He received his education at the University of Illinois and obtained a law degree from the University of Chicago law school in 1914. He taught in four universities.

"I had no experience in labor work before I came to the board," he admitted to the Smith committee.

Madden is typical of the New Deal college professor. He is brimming with theories and cures for industrial ills with a self-confessed lack of practical knowledge of labor relations.

E. S. Smith on Old Board.

Edwin S. Smith, the second member of the board, graduated to his present position from a similar post on the NRA labor board. He was graduated at Harvard in 1915. He was a newspaper reporter, worked for his father-in-law in the shoe manufacturing business for a time, and was an assistant to the manager of the Filene department store in Boston from 1925 to 1931. He was commissioner of labor and industries in Massachusetts for three years before the New Deal snatched him up in 1934.

Smith and Donald W. Smith, the former member of the board whose reappointment last year was prevented by senate opposition, are credited with most of the pro-C. I. O. decisions which brought the board into dispute.

A Member with Experience.

Leiserson, the new member, has had long experience in labor relations. A firm believer in the Wagner act, he thinks a cleanup in the staff [especially the removal of Witt] will produce the needed reforms in administration. He was formerly head of the National Mediation board, which administers the railway labor act.

Madden is the only lawyer of the three members of the board which, under the law, acts in the capacity of judge, jury, prosecutor, and policeman.

Because the work of the board is huge much of the labor of digesting and analyzing evidence concerning charges of unfair labor practices has been delegated to subordinates. Here an astonishing development was uncovered by the Smith committee.

Fifteen Women Reviewers.

This highly important work of reviewing the hearings and the decisions of the directors and examiners in the field has been turned over to the review section in the Washington office. Chairman Smith of the investigating committee termed it a sort of appellate court.

In this review section there are approximately 105 attorneys of whom about 15 are women. The Smith committee summoned a score of the members of this review section. It found, to its amazement, that the reviewers were, in the main, young and inexperienced fledglings of the law, who never had practiced in law courts, who had no practical knowledge of labor relations. They had one point in common. They all had the proper social attitude.

Average Age Is 29.

The average age of these youngsters was 29 years. Yet they told proudly of reviewing cases involving the most important industries in the country. Scanning a 3,000 page transcript of lengthy hearings held in the field, at which experienced lawyers vied with each other, they decided what evidence was material and what was not. They drafted summaries and presented them to the board verbally. Then they drew up decisions dictated by the board upon the case as submitted by themselves.

These disclosures stunned the committee. Yet the labor board stoutly defended the work of the reviewers.

Handle Important Cases.

The record of some of these review attorneys follows:

Miss Anne Freeling, 29 years old, business school and law night school training; never practiced law; list of cases handled included Ford Motor company, Cleveland Worsted mills, Mackay Telegraph and Radio and Columbia Broadcasting.

Margaret Bennett Porter, Vassar and Columbia law school; recommended by Lee Pressman, general counsel of the C. I. O.; never practiced; handled important cases.

Carolyn Agger Fortas, wife of general counsel of bituminous coal commission; Yale university law school graduate, 1938.

Fannie M. Boyls, graduated University of Texas law school, 1929; was attorney for Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Margaret McDuff Farmer, Wellesley and Columbia law school graduate, 1937; accepted as review attorney before being admitted to bar.

Had Help from Saposs.

Arn Landy Wolf, born in Hungary; graduate Western Reserve university, 1937; testified that Saposs helped her in drafting a decision.

Solomon G. Lippman, 27, University of Chicago law school degree, 1936.

Abraham J. Harris, 31, supervisor in review section; Harvard law school degree, 1933.

Eugene R. Thorrens, 31, University of Chicago law school degree, 1930.

Albert J. Hoban, 28, Harvard law school degree, 1936; never practiced.

Daniel J. Harrington, 30, Georgetown law school, 1938.

William Strong, New York university law school, 1936; born in Russia [changed his name] and sponsored by Senator Wagner.

Hired at $2,400; Gets Raise.

The committee was particularly interested in the record of Bernard W. Freund, 27, who obtained a job on the so-called "appellate court" thru the sponsorship of Benjamin V. Cohen, radical adviser to the President.

A regional director reported that Freund was totally inexperienced in law or labor problems and not worth more than the $50 a month he had been eking out as a law clerk, but he was hired at $2,400 a year. Shortly afterward he received a raise and joined in the reviewing of cases involving great industries.

The 22 regional directors were found by the committee to be men of some legal training and experience in labor relations, altho with a profound prejudice in favor of the C. I. O. The legal findings of these men all were subject, however, to the filtering process of the review section.

Young Women Handle Major Cases for Labor Board

BROOKS, LYONS OPEN CHICAGO PRIMARY DRIVE

Nearly 4,000 Cheer Their Predictions of Victory.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Almost 4,000 Republican precinct captains cheered Wayland Brooks and Richard J. Lyons at the Hotel Sherman yesterday as they opened their Cook county campaigns for nomination for senator and governor.

Patrick Sheridan Smith, their local campaign manager, said that 3,240 chairs had been placed in the hotel's grand ballroom and balcony. They were all filled and several hundred other men and women crowded the doorways and adjoining corridors.

Looking comparatively fresh after their hard four weeks downstate tour, Brooks and Lyons told the party workers that it had been a successful tour and that downstate was aroused.

Predicts Victory Parade.

"There will be such an outpouring of Republican votes on April 9," Brooks said, "that it will serve notice on the Washington and Springfield tax dealers that Illinois is again taking her rightful place in the Republican column and, as the pivotal state of the nation, will lead the November victory parade to sanity in government."

Lyons agreed in this forecast, and the crowd's enthusiasm reached fever pitch as Lyons delivered a blistering denunciation of 2 per cent Democratic campaign collections from payrollers—both in Illinois and Indiana.

Both speakers appreciated the enthusiasm with which they were greeted by the precinct organizers gathered to hear them, and let themselves become enthusiastic.

Confident of Outcome.

"I have never been concerned about what was going to happen in Cook county April 9," Brooks asserted. "I knew that when 4,000 Republican precinct committeemen and women of the county, together with their workers and helpers, selected Dick Lyons and myself as their candidates, there would be no question as to the outcome.

"It is said that the people forget. My trip downstate and this meeting disproves that statement. The Republican precinct committeemen of this state and the Republican voters have not forgotten. They remember that Lyons and I have toured this state for the last eight years calling upon the voters to fight this Tax Deal machine that has been gobbling up, one by one, every inherent American right and threatening to take away every opportunity for individual effort and freedom.

Takes a Whack at Minton.

"You men and women know better than any one else that the voters have not forgotten, because you are the direct representative of the voters. The echoes of this meeting will ring in every county of the state and will serve notice on the tax spenders in Washington and Springfield that their time is short lived."

Lyons took a whack at a New Deal senator, Sherman Minton of Indiana, for his recent admissions concerning the Indiana 2 per cent collections, and called them "new proof that the Democratic machine has no sense of political morality."

"For the first time in history," he said, "a member of the United States senate has had the temerity to rise before that distinguished body and brazenly admit that his election was financed by a 2 per cent slush fund, exacted from state employés. His further admission that he is a rubber stamp for political bosses was hardly necessary."

Turns to Slush Fund.

Then Lyons turned to the Illinois slush collections.

"Minton's confessions," he continued, "must have been prompted by the fact that the President himself [illegible] permitted the entry of his [illegible] in Illinois upon a boss-picked [illegible]-Hershey] slate, financed by a slush fund which already has resulted in indictments.

"I have just completed a four weeks' tour, during which I have visited virtually every downstate county and I have had the chance to observe, first hand, the disgust with present Democratic tactics which people are expressing. We must not permit practices such as these ever to creep into the Republican party. If we cannot win cleanly, it is far better not to win at all."

A sound truck was stationed outside the hotel to carry the speeches to passersby on the street, but police forbade its use under the new ordinance barring sound trucks from the loop.

Churches Asked to Provide Poll Watchers for Primary

Chicago churches were asked yesterday, in a letter sent out by the Chicago Church Federation, to provide poll watchers for the April 9 primary election.

Lyons and Brooks Applaud Speaker as 4,000 Rally

LUND DEMANDS OF RIVALS: WHAT ABOUT ECONOMY

Fires 8 Questions at Stelle and Hershey.

Arnold L. Lund, state representative and Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, yesterday called upon Harry B. Hershey and John Stelle, the contesting Democratic aspirants for governor, to answer eight questions bearing on state economy.

Arnold L. Lund.

Lund is the author of a series of economy recommendations totaling $57,000,000 which have been ignored by the Horner Democratic administration. Hershey is Gov. Horner's choice to succeed him, while Stelle, the present lieutenant governor, is fighting Hershey for the nomination.

Doesn't Expect Reply.

Lund said he doubted if either Stelle or Hershey would reply to his questionnaire, and added on the bottom of his letter:

"Naturally, if you feel that the public is not entitled to this information or if you believe you have no reasonable explanation to offer, you will make no reply."

The queries follow:

1. How do you justify the fact that the number of state payrollers has increased from 19,000 to more than 37,000 during the Democratic administration?

2. How do you justify the 250 bureaus, commissions, and divisions that exist under our present state government?

3. How do you explain that in the last seven years, travel expenses of state employés have jumped from one and one-half million dollars to more than three million dollars?

4. How do you explain the sponsorship by your party of the two millions appropriated for contingency expenses?

5. The old age assistance fund will be depleted in about three months and the aged will receive nothing. What does your party intend to do about this?

Asks About New Taxes.

6. How do you justify the position of your party to impose new taxes at a special session of the legislature that is to be held after the primaries?

7. Why did your party oppose my bill in the last session to take the sales tax og of food and medicine?

8. Why have you not denied my declaration that the state could operate on 57 million dollars less?

"In the interest and welfare of the general public," Lund said, "you, as an aspirant for the position of chief executive of this state, should express your views concerning these charges of which your party stands accused."

RELIEFERS AND THEIR BOSSES GET WARNING ON POLITICAL ACTIONS

District relief officials and employés were warned yesterday by Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, against the use of relief funds or premises or the time of IERC employés for any political purposes.

"Employés of the IERC," Lyons said, "shall not engage in any solicitation, public address, or other political activity on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office during working hours. Violation of this rule shall form grounds for dismissal."

Lyons also issued orders forbidding the display in relief offices of any placards, signs, pamphlets, or handbills relating to candidates for public office.

FIRST SUSPECT VOTERS DEFEND BALLOT RIGHTS

The first several hundred of 240,000 persons who have been sent notices questioning their right to vote appeared yesterday in the election commission offices in the city hall. Those who have received such suspect notices have until March 25 to answer them. The suspect notices were sent out by the commission after precinct workers or others had notified the commission that a voter on the permanent registration list apparently had moved, changed name through marriage, and various other similar reasons.

JUSTUS JOHNSON NAMES MANAGER FOR COOK COUNTY

Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, Republican candidate for secretary of state, announced yesterday the appointment of Charles J. Fleck, committeeman of the 45th ward, as manager of his Cook county campaign. Johnson said he had completed his organization in each of the 101 downstate counties, and had designated a field supervisor in each of the 15 downstate congressional districts. Johnson has been a state central committeeman for 22 years and was state chairman in 1934.

17 REPUBLICANS SEEK SANITARY DISTRICT POSTS

Records of Candidates Are Reviewed.

Seventeen Republican candidates seek nomination for the three sanitary district trusteeships in the April 9 primary election.

Of the six generally considered likely to poll heavy votes three are supported by the Deneen group, two have Brooks-Lyons backing, and one is an independent candidate with strong backing from the country towns.

LOUIS N. BLUMENTHAL, 1033 Loyola avenue, an attorney, is one of those with Deneen aid. He is 46 years old, married, a native of Texas, and has lived in Chicago 33 years. From 1922-'26 he was an assistant state's attorney and won commendation from the Chicago Crime commission for his work. He is founder and past president of the North Shore lodge, B'nai B'rith, a Mason, and a world war veteran. He was in the 311th cavalry during the war, and horseback riding still is his favorite recreation.

VICTOR B. LISTUG, 2735 Lockwood avenue, has Brooks-Lyons backing. He is 40, married, and a native of Chicago. Listug, a gas station proprietor, never has held public office but ran second in a field of eight last year when he sought to be alderman of the 35th ward. He is a former president of the Kelvyn Park Business Men's association, a Mason, and finds his recreation in fishing and golf.

JOHN H. EHARDT, 2105 South Wenonah avenue, Berwyn, an attorney, also has Deneen support. He is 36, a native Chicagoan, and from 1930-'34 was Berwyn police magistrate. He was graduated from the De Paul university law school, is a reserve officer, an Odd Fellow, and a member of various Bohemian fraternal organizations. He has one child, a daughter, 2, and his only hobby is taking pictures of her or taking his wife and daughter automobile riding.

THOMAS I. HEALY, 51, of 4854 Monroe street, a subdivider and builder, also has Brooks-Lyons support. He has run previously for county commissioner and county clerk without success. He is married, has three children, and is a native Chicagoan. He is a former president of the Garfield Park Business Men's club and holds cards in two locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

RAYMOND S. BLUNT, 41, head of a firm of certified public accountants, is the other Deneen candidate. He lives at 8340 Elizabeth street with his wife, a son, and a daughter. He was born in Geneseo, Ill., and has lived in Chicago 27 years. He is a Mason, formerly was in banking work, served as a marine in the world war, is past governor of the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district of Kiwanis International, and is an official of the Englewood Business Men's association. He is a member of the Chicago plan commission's advisory committee, the South Shore and Ridge Country clubs, and plays golf, ping pong, and handball for recreation.

S. G. INGRAHAM, the independent candidate considered strong, is serving his third year as Evanston city treasurer. He also is town collector and was city collector and superintendent of the special assessment fund from 1925-'37. He is 56, unmarried, and lives at 1015 Noyes street, Evanston. He is a former bank examiner and accountant, and worked in the investment banking field before entering public life. He is a member of a pioneer north shore family, an Episcopalian, a Legionnaire, and feels that Evanston, which pays $300,000 yearly to the sanitary district, should have representation on the board as should the other country towns. His relaxations are farming and fishing.

ALFRED O'CONNOR, 47, of 9729 Avenue J, who is an independent, was a candidate for Municipal court judge in 1936. He is married and has three children. He has lived in Chicago since 1894, and won four football championships for Bowen High school during the five years he served as coach. He sold newspapers and worked in steel mills to earn his way thru high school and the University of Illinois. He is a member of south side business and civic groups, and a member of the Moose and Eagles.

JOHN S. NORRIS, 49, of 6445 South Kimbark avenue, an estimator and purchasing agent in private construction work, is another independent candidate. He was born in Chicago, is married, and served in the world war. He was formerly vice president and treasurer of the Chicago Industrial Construction company.

Other candidates are:

HENRY H. HARRIS, 42, of 3327 38th street, a state central committeeman. He has been Republican precinct captain of the 1st precinct of the 12th ward for 23 years. He is a native Chicagoan.

M. C. ATKINS, 40, of 4153 South Park way, colored, an undertaker. Atkins has the support of 2d and 3d ward regular Republican groups. He has lived in Chicago eight years.

JOSEPH P. MARINELLI, 46, of 3926 Polk street, an undertaker. He has never before run for public office.

JAMES J. DANNEHY, 48, of 1630 Balmoral avenue, a stationary engineer. He favors adequate lake diversion and balancing the sanitary district budget.

Signs of Spring

This robin on a tree limb in Palos Hills forest preserve yesterday gave an authentic touch to a springlike day.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Aspen buds in profusion gave other evidences of spring in the preserve.

PRIMARY RACES STEAM UP FOR CHICAGO FINISH

Both Parties' Forces Mass for Final Drive.

vans was thrust aside and the managers ordered everybody on the state slate to report to Chicago.

Two of the big meetings will be held tomorrow night and two Tuesday night. The first two will be one for the south and west side wards—those numbered from 1 to 19 at the International amphitheater and for the 21st to the 30th wards, inclusive, in Paradise ballroom.

Meetings for North Side.

Tuesday night there will be another meeting in Paradise ballroom for the 31st ward and all wards from the 33d to the 41st, inclusive—all from the northwest section—and a meeting for the remaining or north side wards and the north shore country towns at the 122d Field Artillery armory.

At each of these four gatherings—designed chiefly for the delivery of instructions or orders to the Democratic army—the whole roster of state candidates headed by United States Senator James M. Slattery and Harry B Hershey, candidate for governor, are to appear. County candidates headed by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, who is expected to speak, also will be on hand.

But of more political significance will be the talk of Mayor Kelly to the workers. County Chairman P. A. Nash is at headquarters every day now directing the campaign, but the job of giving out the orders has been left in the mayor's hands.

Insurgent Tactics Differ.

No such mass tactics of calling all troops to the colors is possible for the insurgents backing three candidates—Lieut. Gov. John Stelle for governor, Benjamin S. Adamowski for United States senator, and Auditor Edward J. Barrett, who is seeking renomination — but the trio has announced it will open up in Chicago on Thursday.

Tomorrow will be a busy day for both Republican organizations. Lyons will deliver a radio talk at 7 p. m. Afterward he and Brooks will address the veterans' division of their forces at the Hotel Sherman, will go to three ward meetings, and will speak at a massmeeting for the 14th, 16th, 17th, and 18th wards at the South Side Masonic temple, 64th and Green streets.

Green will deliver his customary Monday evening radio talk and also will speak at the weekly rally of his workers in the La Salle hotel. Mrs. C. L. Silvis and Mrs. Frederic Upham are sponsoring an afternoon tea for the candidate which will be attended by women workers.

Bandit Menaces Street Car Riders; Shoots Conductor

A colored bandit spread panic in a street car at 47th street and St. Lawrence avenue last night by shooting and seriously wounding Conductor John Kocher, 2918 43d street. The gunman menaced Kocher with a revolver and demanded money. Kocher insisted he had none. The bandit shot him in the abdomen. Kocher fell. The bandit then forced Kocher to surrender some bills he had in his pocket and fled.

G.O.P. WOULD LIVE UP TO A $5,000 LAW, SAYS WEIR

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Republican National Finance committee, said today that the Republican party scrupulously would live up to legislation limiting individual campaign contributions to $5,000 if congress believed they should be so limited.

He expressed the opinion, however, that the Bankhead amendment to the Hatch antipolitics act, fixing a maximum, was carefully constructed. He said it seemed intended to defeat the avowed purpose by lifting the present prohibition against corporations contributing to campaigns for federal offices. The amendment has been adopted by the senate, but has not been acted upon by the house.

Weir said that in recent years the Republican party had trended toward broadening the base of its financial support. In 1936, he said, there were 600,000 individual contributions, which he termed healthy.

Weir added that in the 1940 campaign the Republican party would solicit a contribution from every person "who believes he has a stake in the restoration of a sound and sane government to America." The party, he said, would be grateful for contributions of $5,000; $20; $10 or even $1.

Time Bomb Blast Brings 100 Police to N. Y. Station

New York, March 16 (AP).—More than a 100 policemen were rushed to Grand Central terminal this afternoon when it was reported that a bomb had exploded in a handbag in the baggage concession. No one was injured by the blast, and there was little damage. The twisted, blackened remnants of what may have been a crude time bomb were found in the handbag. These consisted of a small can about the size of a beer can, containing blackened powder, two inexpensive watches wired to four dry cell batteries, and a quantity of paper.

THE STORY OF THE HARP

EIGHTEEN CENTURIES before Christ the first harp was fashioned from a tortoise shell.

Later, in ancient Thebes, a grisled warrior changed his bow into a harp-like instrument. From this early crudity gradually grew a harp vaguely similar to that used today . . . except that it had no column or accidental adjustment.

The Thirteenth Century Egyptian Harp was considered a badge of culture and wealth, occupying a distinguished place in the homes of every dignitary and nobleman. From this came the smaller portable harp, later known as the Irish Harp. So intense was the Irish interest in the Harp that they chose it as the symbol on their national flag. Thus it became the only musical instrument to symbolically inspire bravery and victory in the hearts of stout men.

Less than a century ago the double-action harp was adopted. So it was, after 3,700 years of development, this oldest of known instruments took its place as a necessary and efficient part of the orchestra.

Lyon & Healy Perfects the Harp

In 1889, the harp was perfected in Lyon & Healy's own factory in Chicago. Today, the Lyon & Healy Harp is the one universally used by top-ranking concert musicians and in the great symphony orchestras the world over. It is coming into increasing use in School Concert Bands and Orchestras. The first Lyon & Healy Harp, 51 years old, is still in active use in Morgan Park High School, Chicago.

FARLEY STAMPS POURING OUT IN ENDLESS FLOOD

Profits Reduce Deficit, but Collectors Pay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Postmaster General James A. Farley is stepping up the issuance of special or commemorative stamps for the twofold purpose of currying political favor in various districts of the country and making enormous profits to reduce the postoffice department's deficit, it was learned today.

The stamp collectors of the nation are digging into their pockets for an estimated $8,800,000 annually to keep abreast of the new stamp issues which are put on sale at the average rate of once a week. Since the postoffice department pays only 12 or 14 cents a thousand for stamps which may be sold at five cents to a dollar or more each, most of the receipts for these special issues are clear profit.

These stamp collectors' items are put into albums and the department is usually not called upon to furnish any service in connection with them.

But the political value of these special stamp issues is said to be held by the astute Mr. Farley, who is chairman of the Democratic national committee, fully equal or superior to the financial returns involved.

Local Heroes Recognized.

Groups of voters thruout the 48 states are highly pleased by the recognition of a local hero in the form of a commemorative stamp. They are believed to be softened in their attitude towards the administration thru this subtle flattery.

The political value of a special stamp issue was said to have been first realized in 1936 when some ingenious tactician conceived the issuance of the Susan B. Anthony stamp. A leading philatelist characterized this stamp as a political move to please the women voters of the nation. It proved to be the most successful issue in the history of the United States. Two hundred million were sold.

Issued on Voting Eve.

Another special issue placed in the political classification by the same philatelist was that commemorating the 5th anniversary of the Dakotas, Montana, and Idaho at a time when votes in that area were desirable.

For the campaign year of 1940, Mr. Farley has an imposing array of special issues scheduled, running right up to Oct. 28, a week before the presidential election. No less than 35 stamps celebrating the memory of "famous Americans" will be issued and most of the strategic states will be honored by the commemoration of a favorite son.

Already 12 such issues have been placed on the market. They bear the likenesses of five American authors, five poets, and two educators. New England states have necessarily shared most of the glory under these classifications, but Missouri and Indiana have been remembered with issues in honor of Mark Twain and James Whitcomb Riley.

One for B. T. Washington.

The Negro vote receives the stamp flattery on April 7 when a special issue of a 10 cent stamp bearing the portrait of Booker T. Washington is released. Frances E. Willard of Evanston, Ill., noted educator, will be honored by a 5 cent stamp issued March 28.

Five scientists will be commemorated in April. John James Audubon of Louisiana will be honored with a 1 cent stamp; Dr. Crawford W. Long of Georgia, a 2 cent stamp; Luther Burbank of California, a 3 cent stamp, and Jane Addams of Chicago, a 10 cent stamp.

Others for This Year.

Among the other famous Americans to be commemorated this year in stamp issues are the following:

Composers—Stephen Foster of Kentucky; John Philip Sousa, Washington, D. C., and Victor Herbert, New York.

Inventors — Eli Whitney, Georgia; Samuel F. B. Morse, New York; Cyrus H. McCormick, Virginia; Elias Howe, Massachusetts, and Alexander Graham Bell, Massachusetts.

More than 100 special issues have been put forth under the Roosevelt administration.

President Roosevelt, owner of a large collection which was started by his mother when she was a girl in Hongkong, approves all issues and designs before they are released.

A rousing scandal broke in the administration back in 1935 when Farley was revealed to have distributed imperforated sheets of stamps to a favored few of his friends, including the President.

A resolution was introduced in the house to investigate Farley's stamp favors. It was tabled by the Democratic majority.

DEWEY TO VISIT 20 WISCONSIN TOWNS IN 2 DAYS

New York, March 16 [Special].—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, will make 20 stops in Wisconsin just before the primary election in that state April 2, in which he and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg are contestants, Dewey campaign headquarters said today.

Dewey's two day dash into Wisconsin will follow speeches in St. Louis March 27 and in Chicago March 28. His schedule for Illinois calls for stops at Springfield, Lincoln, Bloomington, Joliet, and Chicago.

The Wisconsin primary will be the first test of strength of two of the leading contenders for the Republican nomination. On March 29, Dewey's stops will be at Green Bay, De Pere, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Campbellsport, Kewashkum, West Bend, and Milwaukee. Stops scheduled for March 30 are at Eau Claire, Fairchild, Merrillan, Camp Douglas, Elroy, Baraboo, Madison, Janesville, and Beloit.

Business Hard Hit, Fruit Broker, Wife Die Together

Yakima, Wash., March 16 (AP).—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Coffin Jr., each 40 years old, were found in the back seat of their automobile last night, in what Coroner W. H. Banks pronounced a suicide pact. The automobile was in the garage with the motor forcing gas into the closed car thru a garden hose attached to the exhaust. Coffin, a fruit broker, had been hard hit by loss of the export market incident to the European war. Frequently he had declared it was futile for him to carry on, said Henry Kamstra, a friend.

F. LYNDEN SMITH BURIED; INQUIRY BEING PONDERED

Coroner Is Laying Plans for an Inquest.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 16.—Coroner W. L. Dragoo said tonight that he was considering plans for the resumption of the inquest, some time next week, into the death of F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works and former campaign manager for Gov. Henry Horner.

The body of Smith was buried this morning beside that of his father in Memorial Park cemetery at Pontiac. Only members of the family and a few friends attended a graveside service.

Heart Malady Blamed.

Four pathologists, who made a second autopsy of Smith's body on Friday, reported that he had died of coronary sclerosis, a heart ailment, and Dragoo intends to lay this finding before a coroner's jury. Other physicians earlier had suggested Smith might have drowned in the hospital bathtub in which he was found dead on March 9.

"The drowning theory has been abandoned," the coroner said.

He added that he did not know how much evidence would be brought out concerning the reported stabbing of Smith by his own hand on March 7; nor whether the vast background of Smith's political activities would be explored. Members of the Smith family have said they want to leave no mysteries for speculation and gossip.

Named in Slush Quiz.

Another investigation in which Smith's name has played a part is expected to go into full swing next week. It concerns the Horner 2 per cent slush fund and the Illinoisans, the collecting agency. Smith was once custodian of this fund, which reached a total of $700,000.

The Illinoisans' affairs were questioned when Sylvester Steskal, a state policeman, sued to recover his contributions, which he said were forced from him. The suit is to be heard in the Sangamon County Circuit court, with eight members of the Democratic state organization as defendants. Smith was the ninth.

Edmund Burke, defense attorney, said he would ask Judge L. E. Stone on Tuesday to dismiss Steskal's complaint, which has tied up $200,000 in the Illinoisans' treasury, on the ground that Steskal has not proved he was a member of the organization or its predecessor, the Illinois-Iroquois league. He said there were other technical grounds for objection.

Six Called for Hearing.

Attorney Arthur M. Fitzgerald, for Steskal, has issued notices for six alleged slush fund collectors to appear for depositions on Thursday. Two of these men, George Gaskins and Fred Wassell, are subordinates of Samuel L. Nudelman, state director of finance and a member of the bedside cabinet of the governor. Nudelman several months ago supplanted Smith as a prime favorite of the governor.

An attempt will be made, Fitzgerald disclosed, to have the court impound all the records pertaining to the slush fund.

Observers here regard the litigation as a clash between the warring factions of the Democratic party. Lieut. Gov. John Stelle has disavowed any part in the filing of the suit but has condemned the slush fund in his speeches. He has also refused to recognize Nudelman as the principal power in the administration.

Fear Civil Service Coup.

Ray Stout, manager of the Stelle campaign for governor, asserted today that his organization was taking steps to keep 26,000 civil service employés of the state from being forced "into Nudelman's army of pay rollers."

He charged that the Nudelman forces had ordered all state employés to vote absentee ballots in the primary and that this, if done, would make it easy for department heads to know how each person voted.

Under the law, applicants for absentee ballots must make affidavits that they will be out of their home towns on business or other important affairs on election day. The absentee ballots are mailed to them by county judges or election boards. These bodies keep the ballots mailed back to them until election day and see that they are sent to the right polling places.

DEATH RARE AT 44

The report of four pathologists Friday night that the death of F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, was caused by coronary sclerosis, a heart ailment, aroused interest yesterday because that disease is infrequent among men of his age—he was only 44.

Several Chicago physicians said that coronary sclerosis is more likely to occur to persons in their 50s and 60s, and that if it is found earlier in life, it usually is a result of worry, nervousness, lack of proper exercise and rest, or the wrong kind of diet.

Finding of Four Doctors.

The four pathologists who made the findings after an autopsy on Smith's body in Pontiac, his home town, are Dr. Edwin F. Hirsch of St. Luke's hospital, Dr. Josiah J. Moore of the Moore Clinical laboratories, Chicago; Dr. F. W. Light of St. John's hospital, Springfield, and Dr. Benjamin Markowitz of Bloomington.

Dr. Light refused to discuss the case further yesterday. But the other three doctors said they had not found any evidence of a sudden development which might have caused or hastened Smith's death. They said they were satisfied with their diagnosis that coronary sclerosis was the sole cause. Dr. Moore said he believed Smith might have been suffering from the ailment for as long as 10 years.

One eminent medical authority—not one of the pathologists in the Smith case—pointed out that evidence of sclerosis does not necessarily preclude other causes of death.

Types of disease Differ.

The word coronary refers to the upper arteries of the heart, and sclerosis means hardening. This disease differs from coronary thrombosis which means a complete plugging up of the main heart artery. A thrombosis often occurs where a sclerosis is present.

Dr. Hirsch said there might have been a thrombosis in Smith's case altho he found no evidence of it. Drs. Moore and Markowitz declared themselves convinced that there was none.

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the Northwestern Medical school, said coronary sclerosis can best be understood by considering the artery branches as tubes or pipes carrying blood to the muscle fibers of the heart to keep it pumping and functioning.

"Just as hot water pipes can become gradually impassable thru accumulations of lime," he said, "so can the heart arteries become impassible because of lime deposits. This will not necessarily be fatal immediately if the branch of the artery affected is not a large one.

"But once sclerosis starts, it usually persists and other branches can be affected."

Records of 3 Republican Municipal Court Candidates

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Following are three more of a series of sketches of Republican candidates for judges of the Municipal court of Chicago to be nominated at the April 9 primary:

WILLIAM J. GRACE.

William J. Grace.

William J. Grace regards Americanism as his hobby. He is a past post commander of the American Legion and is the retiring commander of the Illinois department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. During the war he was with the 33d division in France and gained the rank of captain.

Mr. Grace was born in Chicago 51 years ago. In his youth he worked in the stockyards. He received his law degree from the University of Chicago and entered practice in 1914. For several years he taught English and mathematics at St. Cyril's, now the Mount Carmel High school.

He was an assistant state's attorney under Robert E. Crowe from 1922 to 1926. He has been active in the Cook county civic council, representing the organization in its campaign for a 1 per cent tax limitation on property. When he ran for the Municipal court in 1934, the bar association said he did not have sufficient experience for such a post.

Mr. Grace is married and has a son and a daughter. He lives at 10154 South Seeley avenue.

MISS PHYLLIS KELLEY.

Miss Phyllis Kelley.

Miss Phyllis Kelley is the only woman who ever served as an assistant to the Cook county Probate judge, and she is the only woman in the present campaign for nomination to a seat on the Municipal bench.

"Books and dogs are my important outside interests," she says. The dog in her household is a keeshonde, a Dutch breed, somewhat resembling a chow.

Miss Kelley is 49 years old and lives at 77 East Division street. She was born in Chicago, educated in the public schools and at Chicago-Kent College of Law, and was admitted to the bar in 1911.

In 1934 she was appointed assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell and was assigned to the task of closing between 18,000 and 20,000 estates which had been accumulating in the court files for 20 years. She returned to her private law practice two years later.

Her present campaign has the support of the Deneen group and she has also been indorsed by the Women's Bar Association of Illinois.

CHARLES R. AIKEN.

Charles R. Aiken.

Charles R. Aiken is a great-great-great-grandson of Henry L. Rucker, who was the first County judge of Cook county—from 1849 to 1857.

"Maybe history will repeat itself," comments Mr. Aiken. "I've always said I'd rather be a judge than President."

Mr. Aiken, at the age of 32, is one of the youngest candidates for the Municipal bench. He was born in San Antonio, Tex., and moved to Chicago with his family when he was 14 years old. He was educated at Lewis institute, the University of Chicago, and the Kent College of Law, and began practice in 1832.

He has specialized in appellate work. In February, 1939, he was appointed a special prosecutor in Will county for the investigation of a $600,000 shortage in the county funds. He served until last August, conducting a grand jury inquiry.

Mr. Aiken is married and lives at 7744 South Shore drive. He is supported by the 7th ward regular Republican organization.

STELLE RECALLS HORNER BLAST AT BOSSISM IN 1936

Adamowski Again Hits Governor's Advisers.

Peoria, Ill., March 16 [Special].—Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor on the insurgent ticket, in a speech here tonight recalled that four years ago Gov. Henry Horner compared himself to St. Patrick.

Stelle quoted Horner as saying in Danville, Ill., that there were snakes among the Cook county Democracy. The lieutenant governor, who is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for governor, said he had not subscribed to that belief. He related that Horner battled "bossism" in 1936, but that he joined his Chicago foes in backing a machine slate in the current primary.

"The people of Illinois must have believed what Horner told them in 1936 because they renominated him and reëlected him governor," Stelle said.

Relates Governor's Illness.

"Mr. Horner did a good job of keeping Kelly [Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago] out in the open then. He whipped the boss again in 1938, but he fought so hard that on the day before election in November, 1938, he was stricken suddenly and seriously ill. He was taken to Florida, where he remained for five months, until mid-April, 1939, when he returned to his mansion in Springfield."

During the governor's absence Stelle said that he, as lieutenant governor, was acting governor, but resumed his own job when Horner came back from Florida.

"Since June of last year I haven't even been able to talk to the governor," he commented. "There is a rumor current that he still holds this office altho that is a matter of controversy." This was a reference to the charge that Gov. Horner's only advisers in the mansion in Springfield are unelected persons, referred to as the bedside cabinet.

Adamowski Also Speaks.

Benjamin S. Adamowski, candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator, also spoke here tonight. He continued this attack on the "unelected clique which has taken over the state government."

"I have seen Sam Nudelman and a few other leeches foist themselves on the governor," Adamowski said. "I have seen them take over the state government without any right to do so. Illinois is treated to the spectacle of a man who failed in his own business trying to run the people's business.

"Actions of these men have convinced me that my suggestion of having a committee call on the governor and find out the true facts concerning his health is a good one."

Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, candidate for renomination, also took a whack at bossism.

"I could have been on the so-called slate," Barrett said, "if I had been willing to do the bidding of Jake Arvey and others of the slate making group. But I defy them."

CIVIL SERVICE BUREAU READY TO HEAR OF SLUSH

W. Emery Lancaster, chairman of the Illinois civil service commission, said yesterday his commission is ready to hear complaints of solicitations of funds from state civil service employés and take immediate action. He said that the commission will protect the employé against any form of discrimination for refusing to contribute.

Lancaster's statement was made in answer to charges by Benjamin S. Adamowski, Democratic candidate for United States senator, Friday night in Quincy, the commission chairman's home town. Adamowski said that state civil service employés are still being solicited for campaign funds.

The civil service head said that no complaints have been filed since the commission's order last November, forbidding solicitation of funds for the Illinoisans in state buildings. He said the commission meets in Springfield every week or 10 days.

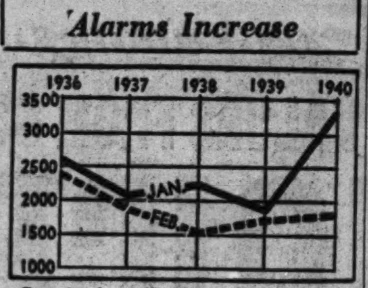
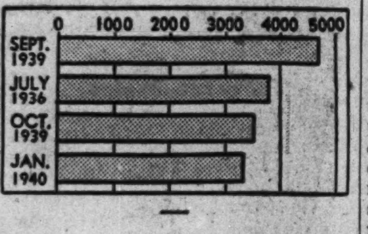
Alarms Increase



Graph above indicates the number of fire alarms in Chicago in January and February for the last five years. Below is a comparison of the number of alarms in four peak months.



Chicago's fire department answered 3,417 alarms in January. John T. Gegan, chief of the fire alarm service, said that no other January in five years had given the department so much work. There were only 2,647 alarms in the first month of 1936, which, like the most recent January, was abnormally cold.

"Extreme cold usually brings extra work," asserted Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy fire marshal. "So does dry weather. But we also get more fires in times of big business activity and when business is slowing down. Prosperity makes people careless and slow business makes for premeditated fires."

Hamburg, Ia., March 16 [Special].—Paperhangers at Albert Socolosky's farm home were almost finished when they discovered they were one roll of paper short. Roads were impassable, so Richard Poage flew over the farm and dropped the roll from his plane.

HERSHEY TELLS STATE WORKERS: VOTE AS YOU WISH

Declares He Opposes Any Pressure.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mattoon, Ill., March 16 [Special].—Employés of the state of Illinois are to vote their own convictions in the primary without pressure of the part of their superiors, Harry B. Hershey, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, declared in speeches tonight here and at Charleston.

"There is no coercion on my part to influence votes of state employés, there never has been, nor there never will be," Hershey said, in discussing charges by his opponents. "As far as state employés are concerned, I expect of them what is expected of any other employé. I want them to do a good job, just the same as they would do a good job in private business.

Believes in Civil Service.

"I believe in civil service for the protection of employés and I want the civil service to be expanded in the proper way. We, of the regular ticket, pledge ourselves to enforce such laws as they are enacted."

Hershey spoke for the second day in his own neighborhood, not far from his home in Taylorville. Earlier the caravan appeared at Robinson, Marshall, and Paris. This is near the home area also of State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis of Christopher, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Congressman John C. Martin of Salem, seeking nomination as state auditor, the other members of the Hershey caravan.

Hershey praised Gov. Horner for bringing an old age assistance program to Illinois. "The citizens of Illinois know that only under Gov. Horner did their dreams of old age assistance come true," he said. "More than 150,000 residents of this state received such assistance in 1939. Total payments for the year amounted to almost $31,000,000.

"I pledge to the people of Illinois that as governor of this state I shall maintain and strive to enlarge the old age assistance program which Gov. Horner started, with due regard to the interest of the taxpayer as well as the needy and indigent.

Would Continue Policies.

"Prior to 1932, government had no interest in the people, either in Illinois or the nation. But President Roosevelt and Gov. Horner cared. The old age assistance program is just one of the many which have been provided for the people, and provided, too, in this state, on a pay as you go basis. It is my intention as governor to continue these humanitarian activities, expanding them where expansion is needed, and where they can be properly afforded."

Discussing schools, Hershey said that he favored the provision of common school education for every child of the state, with vocational training available to all, and higher education provided wherever possible.

"I will work unceasingly for legislation to improve the schools of the state," he said. "We all know that a sound democracy is based upon the trained intelligence of the people, and we cannot, for one minute, neglect that training. Our schools should train for citizenship, and, at the same time, they should provide vocational training which will enable our youth to earn a livelihood."

Hershey assailed his opponents for injecting charges of bossism into the campaign. "The only boss I have is my wife, and I can reason with her," he said. "Seriously, I was asked to run for governor of Illinois. I was not ordered. I was first asked by Gov. Horner. Then the Democratic leaders, elected by you, voted me their support. I am mighty proud of the indorsement of Gov. Horner and the other leaders. I want to represent a united, harmonious party when we enter the battle against the reactionaries in the fall.

OCEAN LINER REFUSES TO CARRY MAIL; U. S. HALTS HER DEPARTURE

New York, March 16 (AP).—Customs officials tonight halted the 11,015 ton Norwegian-America liner Bergensfjord from sailing for Norway because officials of the line refused to take United States mails aboard.

The line rejected the mail consignment, officials said, because of fear the ship would be subject to German attack if she carried any cargo or other matter subject to British contraband seizure. Mail, they said, was subject to such seizure.

The order came after 300 passengers boarded the liner. It was understood the customs agents acted under an article of international law compelling a ship to carry mail if postal officials demanded. The controversy was referred to the state department and Norwegian diplomats in hope that a settlement might be made soon enough to permit sailing tomorrow.

Wheedles Way to 28 Story Roof, Then Leaps to Death

Kansas City, Mo., March 16 (AP).—"It's such a beautiful day" explained a middle-aged woman as she asked permission to view the city from the top of the 28 story telephone building. Taken to the observation platform, she chatted cheerily with her guide, then suddenly climbed the retaining wall and plunged to her death. Her body struck the roof of a five story building. The woman was identified as Mrs. Emma Monsour, a governess.

THE YEARS—AND YOU

By CALEB

A LADY long past her threescore-and-ten, she sat erect and alert. A merry sparkle lighted her eye; and no uncertainties of wishful thinking adulterated her talk. What she had to say carried the weight both of wide experience and of a deep inner conviction.

"The greatest crime against oneself and society," she emphasized, "is to grow old disgracefully! I set my mind on avoiding that danger-point long ago, and I leave it to you if I haven't succeeded. And by 'disgraceful,' I mean to grow grim-faced, grumpy, opinionated, critical and exacting; hostile to new ideas, unfriendly to everything around one.

"When we become that, in later life, it's because we haven't known how, as we lived, to trust Nature—or, having known it, haven't done it. Nature's is a marvelous wisdom in her care of us humans. For every good that she subtracts, as we travel westward, she substitutes another good which proves to be better. Each age, from our twenties to our seventies, is cumulative; adds more to our understanding, our receptivity, our appreciation of values, than we had in the age preceding.

"That's why Dean Swift said somewhere that 'No wise man ever wished to be younger.' And that's why I have always so liked the quiet comment of that great French essayist, Joubert: 'The evening of a well-spent life brings its own lamps with it.'"

She paused; and I ventured a query. "Are people as old as they used to be?" "Indeed not!" she promptly countered. "They're much younger. They should be. And for that there are two good reasons. Health and comfort standards are higher than they were in our grandparents' time. And"—her voice went into italics—"life is ten times more interesting than ever it used to be. Why, I wouldn't 'miss the show' of being alive, these days, for anything in the world!

"Growing old," she continued, "used to mean growing stale. Now, it should, and can, mean merely growing mellow: wiser, sweeter, and more tolerant. Women who try to look thirty when they're fifty—and you men do the same thing!—try it too often with clothes and cosmetics. It ought to be with 'mental refurnishings,' also! Dress well, groom well, by all means. But keep your mind well-dressed and groomed, too—that's the secret."

"I'm sure of it," I replied, as she rose to go. "Yes," she added, "and don't overlook what Pindar—an old Roman of five centuries B. C.—said on the subject. 'A graceful and honorable old age,' he declared, 'is the childhood of immortality.' Never forget that, my friend, and while you may live long—you'll never grow old."

FINNS TO BUILD ANEW ON THEIR MINERAL RICHES

Plan Exploitation of Iron, Nickel, and Copper.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 16.—Finland's plans for the future are ready. The government has decided that the moment has come to develop the large mineral resources of the country.

Deposits of copper, nickel, iron, and other more precious metals will be exploited with the aid of mixed companies, which Finland has already tried with much success. In these companies the government retains slightly more than 50 per cent of the shares, but does not interfere with private management. Finland's copper mines, which are the largest in Europe, are showing profits under this scheme.

The standard of living, considerably lowered by the war, is expected to return slowly to its former level and make Finland again one of the largest consumers of American manufactures in Europe.

Jobs Await Workers.

Of the more than 400,000 persons being evacuated from the territory ceded to Russia, 25 per cent are from cities and the remainder from rural areas.

For the workers there are good jobs waiting and land will be given to those who want to continue farming. They will have an opportunity to obtain portions of estates to be divided or tracts of forest land which they will have to clear. Ample state aid is promised.

Finland's national debt after three and one-half months of war is approximately 7 billion Finnish marks [about $122,500,000]. This is less than the highest point of indebtedness reached in 1931, when the total debt was 10,000,000,000 marks [about $175,000,000]. Finland paid off this and when the war broke out her foreign debt was only slightly more than what she owed and was regularly paying to the United States. The average Finn seems to have a horror of debt.

Loses 6 Million Acres.

Finland has lost almost 6,000,000 acres of land. This land contained prosperous farms and magnificent estates, including the mansion of the family of Alfred Bernhard Nobel, whose peace prize and other awards are known thruout the world, near Viipuri, and great cellulose plants, modern saw mills, and an iron foundry run by electricity. Despite this, Finland still is rich in natural resources. Its leaders expect very rapid recovery from the war.

Helsingfors' show windows today began to display merchandise once again. Only a fifth of the boarded plate glass has been uncovered, but the displays are such a novelty that the inhabitants again are enjoying window shopping—until they come to the windows of millinery shops, which, without exception, are filled with widows' bonnets, veils, and head adornments for the bereaved.

While the war was under way the Finns avoided open signs of mourning, but today a number of women wearing mourning veils suddenly became noticeable.

I learned today that Finnish soldiers at the front were stunned at first by the news of peace. This was especially the case on the fronts north of Lake Ladoga, where the war with Russia had been an unending succession of Finnish victories.

EMPIRES WORK ON COLONIAL TRADE ACCORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 16.—An accord giving France the benefit of most favored nation treatment in trade exchanges with the British dominions and colonies was predicted tonight. It is expected to be an outstanding result of three days of talks begun this afternoon in Paris by the French and British ministers of colonies, Georges Mandel and Malcolm MacDonald. The accord would bring France into the scope of the Ottawa trade pacts giving goods circulating in the British empire preferential treatment. The two ministers expect to work out a plan for pooling colonial resources of France and Britain in line with the economic agreement reached last November by Sir John Simon, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Paul Reynaud, French finance minister.

To Wed Finn Minister

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
MARGARET SHAW.

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—Romance did its best to drive the gloom away from the Finnish legation today.

Where yesterday hearts were heavy with the grief of the vanquished, today there was excited talk about the engagement of the minister, Hjalmar Procope, to Miss Margaret Shaw of York, England. The betrothal was announced this morning.

The handsome 51 year old minister was in New York; the bride-to-be in Europe, and no one here could give any details—not even when and where they met.

It was assumed, however, that they might have become acquainted when Procope represented Finland at the economic conference in London in 1933.

FINNISH MISSION TO MOSCOW WILL FIX NEW BORDER

HELSINGFORS, March 16 (AP).—A Finnish commission will fly to Moscow Monday to iron out details of the new borders imposed on Finland under last Tuesday's peace treaty while at home the nation tackles rehabilitation and the building of new defenses.

Dr. Juho K. Paasikivi, minister without portfolio, will head the commission. As he disclosed these plans and the fact that negotiations for a commercial treaty would begin soon, Dr. Paasikivi lifted the curtain which has hidden the peace negotiations in which he participated.

He said the Finnish delegation left Helsingfors secretly by automobile a week ago last Wednesday and flew from Stockholm to Moscow. There were five sessions in all, he explained, and the Finnish delegates were treated well and dined on the best of Russian food in an atmosphere "cold but correct."

Dictator Stalin did not attend the meetings, but Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov was present thruout.

Rehabilitation and building of new defenses rank as Finland's two main problems. It was expected that fortification of her new borders would be started at once.

Spain Ousts Falangist Chief from 2 Party Jobs

MADRID, Spain, March 16 (AP).—Gen. Agustin Munoz Grande, secretary-general of the Falange, Spain's only political party, and chief of the Falangist militia, has been relieved of his posts, it was announced today. By virtue of his party posts Munoz Grande had a seat in the cabinet. Valentin Galarza Morante was named his successor. No reason was given for the change.

CHARGES RUSSIA STARVES POLES INTO COMMUNISM

Cardinal Lays Atheism Drive to Reds.

ROME, March 16.—Religion has been banned from schools, youths are being taught communism and atheism, the clergy has been reduced to abject poverty, and the people are being starved into acceptance of communism, Cardinal August Hlond of Poland asserted today in a statement concerning conditions of the church in Russian occupied Poland.

After saying that the church in east Poland at the time of the Russian invasion had 8,000,000 faithful, including 5,000,000 Roman Catholics, and was flourishing as nowhere else in Europe, the statement charged, in part:

"The bolshevists arrived with a definite program—the destruction of religion to the same extent as in Russia.

"Subtle" Methods Pursued.

"The policy adopted is to avoid massacres and other barbaric methods in favor of others more subtle and efficient. There are no organized massacres of priests. The few cases recorded were due to local communists. For instance, a soviet officer ordered that guns be fired at churches in Pinsk and Jaroslaw, but all excesses were soon stopped by the NKWD, the new name for the Ochrana, also called GPU.

"To impoverish the clergy, the GPU confiscated all church property and deprived priests of their revenues, forcing them to beg for their living. . . . The GPU disorganized parishes.

"The propaganda for atheism is done thru slogans coming from Moscow. Atheism is preached scientifically; repugnant blasphemy has been replaced by skilful skepticism.

Lenin at Side of Cross.

"The banning of religion from schools is applied gradually. Young communists are instructed to mix with the Polish students and to apostolize for communism. The cross is in some cases permitted to remain in schoolrooms, but it must be placed between portraits of Lenin and Stalin.

"The churches are still filled with faithful, but the soviets are awaiting for the approaching famine due to the almost complete halting of every form of industrial and agricultural activity, and counting on the famished people to 'demand spontaneously' the closing of the churches.

"The people are defending the churches and the clergy by demonstrating against the authorities, and are refusing to send the children to soviet schools."

RUSSIANS LASH BRITISH-FRENCH BALKAN MOVES

MOSCOW, March 16 (AP).—Izvestia, soviet government newspaper, said today that British and French troop concentrations in the Near East and diplomatic activity in the Balkans were attempts "to harness the population of colonial and dependent countries to the allied war chariot."

The paper claimed the British-French efforts were directed not only against Germany but Italy as well.

An article in Pravda, communist party paper, said there were growing economic and cultural ties between Russia and Bulgaria which have deep roots in the past.

ENGLAND OFFERS REWARDS TO ITS SEA DETECTIVES

Spurs Civilian Alertness for German Devices.

(How the lack of planes became a big factor in the defeat of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee is told by Wayne Thomis in the Graphic section.)

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—The admiralty announced today a system of monetary awards to civilians for information concerning enemy naval activities. Rewards as high as 1,000 pounds [about $3,700] are offered for information which may lead to the capture or destruction of an enemy war vessel. Other rewards are:

Information of movements and activities of enemy war vessels, including those engaged in mine laying, a sum not to exceed $185.

Information as to the position of enemy floating or moored mines, including the dropping of parachute mines by aircraft, a sum not exceeding $18.50.

The first report of a mine washed ashore and recovered, $3.70. This sum will be increased if the mine is of the magnetic or any other especially interesting type.

Recovery of floats, mine sinkers, fragments, or other objects of enemy origin, if they are of a pattern not yet known or if examination yields new knowledge, $18.50.

Two British Trawlers Sunk.

LONDON, March 16 (AP).—A new upswing in German sea warfare today claimed two British naval trawlers and several merchant ships. Britain's efforts included flights by her bombers over both German owned Poland and Heligoland bight.

The trawlers sunk were the Peridot and the Maida, both by mines. The commander and five crew men of the Maida were believed lost. The crew of the Peridot was saved.

The 1,589 ton British steamer Melrose sank in the North sea after an explosion, with 18 of her crew of 23 missing. Two Greek ships, the Panachrandos, 4,661 tons, and the Flora, 2,980 tons, were sunk mysteriously, and late tonight it was reported the 4,512 ton Jugo-Slavian steamer Slava had gone down off the Welsh coast from an unexplained cause. One man of the crew was lost.

Second Flight Over Poland.

British officials said they could not confirm German claims that one British patrol vessel had been sunk and another damaged by German air raiders.

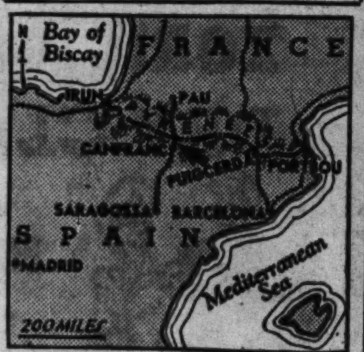
The British flight over former Polish territory, which the air ministry said had taken place in the last 24 hours, was the second of the war officially reported. The planes which reconnoitered Heligoland bight met some opposition from German fighters and antiaircraft guns, but suffered no casualties, the communique reported.

British aerial patrols, the ministry said, engaged in a running fight off the English coast with a German bomber. The communique said the German plane attacked repeatedly but finally escaped in the clouds after being slightly damaged.

Norway Protests Sinking.

OSLO, Norway, March 16 (AP).—Norway protested to Germany today against the sinking of the Norwegian steamer Nidarholm off Ireland Feb. 12 "without examination and without permitting the ship's papers to be taken into security."

Service Resumed



[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Arrow points to railroad station where French and Spanish officials celebrated resumption of service between countries.

PARIS, March 16.—For the first time since the beginning of the Spanish civil war, direct passenger railway connections were resumed today between France and Spain thru the Pyrenees station of Canfranc, south of Pau. French and Spanish officials celebrated by exchanging toasts in a ceremony at the Canfranc station. The line connects Pau with Saragossa. Railway traffic between France and Spain now is completely reëstablished, three other lines connecting France and Spain passing thru Irun, Puigcerda, and Portbout. Because of the difference in gauge of track, however, transfers have to be made at the frontier.

FIND BRITISH SHIP WHICH ASKED AID STILL IS NEAR U. S.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 16 (AP).—The 4,862 ton British steamer Southgate, which two weeks ago flashed a mysterious distress signal, is still in waters near Puerto Rico under constant surveillance by the United States neutrality patrol, naval sources asserted today.

The theory is held in these quarters that the Southgate, roving inside the American neutrality zone, is supplying British warships. This has been bolstered by the disclosure that she was sighted two days ago in Mona passage, between Puerto Rico and the Dominican republic.

The Southgate draw world-wide attention when at sunset on March 1 she sent out an SSS, radio signal often interpreted in wartime as a distress call due to a submarine. The next day she was sighted by United States naval planes, apparently unharmed, and the signal was never explained.

Naval informants said orders from Washington are to track the ship into port so that the United States government may have some explanation of why she sent her distress signal and then became silent.

WELLES TO GET PLEA BY POPE FOR U. S. PEACE MOVE

Visit with Duce Winds Up Talks in Rome.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 16.—At the outset of the most solemn week of the Christian world and with all Europe praying for peace, Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles tonight completed plans to call upon Pope Pius XII. in Vatican City on Monday morning.

From Vatican sources it was learned that the pope will tell President Roosevelt's envoy that the last chance for peace is at hand and the United States should make the most of it.

It was reported the pope will offer to coöperate in any move to end the war that may be launched by the President after Welles returns to Washington, D. C., and reports to the White House.

Hears Much Talk of Peace.

Arrangements for an audience with the pope were made by Welles after a day in which peace talk was poured into his ears in the leading quarters of Rome.

During the morning Welles had a 45 minute audience with King Victor Emanuel. The king told him, it was stated, that peace efforts must not fail.

A few minutes later the American heard Count Galeazzo Ciano, the Italian foreign minister, stress the necessity for peace at a luncheon at the Rome golf club. And in the early evening he heard Premier Benito Mussolini pursue the same theme at the Palazzo Venezia. William Phillips, American ambassador to Italy, was present at all three conferences.

Nazi Envoy Sees Ciano.

Significance was attached to the fact Welles visited Count Ciano 15 minutes after Hans-Georg von Mackensen, Germany's ambassador, conferred with Ciano, and after Francois Charles-Roux, French ambassador to the Vatican conferred with the pope on the war aims of Great Britain and France. It was reported that the German envoy offered some clarification of the German position.

Welles was received more cordially by the Italian press here than on his first visit, when he was almost ignored. The war reception was believed due more to Italy's desire for peace than to any hope that his mission would be successful. The press said Welles' second visit to Rome indicates that the United States regards Italy as the greatest factor for peace in Europe, and that great things may be expected as a result of the visit.

Welles will sail for the United States on Tuesday from Naples.

NAZIS INCREASE AIR POWER BACK OF FRONT LINES

PARIS, March 16 (AP).—French scouts reported today that Germany is increasing her air strength at rear-line airports. Activity on land along the western front picked up after several days of comparative calm.

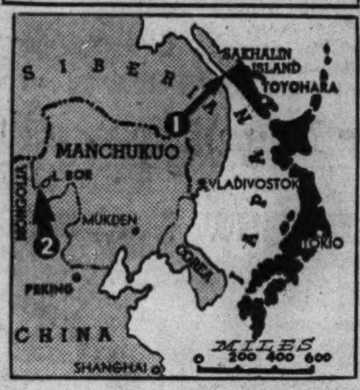
There were heavy artillery exchanges in the Saar region and German patrols were reported repulsed by French outposts west of the Vosges mountains.

German air concentration reports followed other recent ones that the Germans had brought up several new divisions.

Germans Shoot Down Balloon.

BERLIN, March 16 (AP).—German pursuit planes shot down a French balloon today and it burst into flames east of Breisach, Baden province, Germany, the army announced tonight.

Protest Attack



1. Border where Japanese allege attack by Russian patrol. 2. Outer Mongolian frontier where Reds and Japanese are reported preparing for further clashes.

TOKIO, March 16 (AP)—The government sent a written protest to the Russian embassy today, asserting a Russian patrol fired illegally on a Japanese patrol along the line which separates Japanese and Russian portions of Sakhalin Island.

The protest followed by a few hours a report from Toyohara, in the Japanese section, that there were about a dozen soviet and two Japanese casualties in an armed clash at the border.

Meanwhile, reports from Peking, China, said both Russians and Japanese were reinforcing their positions in the Outer Mongolian-Manchukuan frontier in Asia proper, in apparent expectation of resuming the "annual war" which has broken out every spring or summer since 1935.

BOMBED BRITISH SHIPS AT SCAPA FLOW, NAZIS SAY

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP).—The Columbia Broadcasting system tonight reported picking up a short wave broadcast from Berlin which asserted that German warplanes had bombed British warships and airfields.

The Berlin station declared that a general headquarters communique stated: "Powerful detachments of the German air force proceeded to the northwest and attacked units of the British fleet stationed at Scapa Flow in the evening of March 16.

"A number of heavy battleships and cruisers were hit by the bombs and were severely damaged. In addition, a number of airports were bombed.

"In spite of powerful resistance put up by British chasers and antiaircraft artillery, the German fighting machines were capable of carrying thru their orders successfully and returned to their home bases without any losses whatsoever."

[The British recently announced that they had abandoned Scapa Flow as a naval base.]

PRESIDENT AGAIN RAPS RED PEACE FORCED ON FINNS

Joins World Broadcast in Bidding for Truce.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—President Roosevelt again struck at the terms of the Russo-Finnish peace treaty today in declaring there cannot be a sound peace as long as small nations must live in fear of powerful neighbors.

The President spoke from the White House in an international broadcast sponsored by the Foreign Mission Conference of North America and entitled the "Christian Foreign Service Convocation." Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, diplomats, and religious leaders participated in the broadcast.

Bid for Church Front.

The President's message was considered another of his efforts to enlist the aid of all churches in a drive for peace. He suggested such action several months ago and has contacted the leaders of different religious faiths for their views.

The ideal of a peaceful world brotherhood has made "glorious advances" since the advent of the Christian era, Mr. Roosevelt said in his broadcast, but added:

"Today we seem once more to be in a temporary era where organized force is seeking to divide men and nations from one another.

"Today we seek a moral basis for peace. It cannot be a real peace if it fails to recognize brotherhood. It cannot be a lasting peace if the fruit of it is oppression, or starvation, or cruelty, or human life dominated by armed camps.

"It cannot be a sound peace if small nations must live in fear of powerful neighbors. It cannot be a moral peace if freedom from invasion is sold for tribute. It cannot be a righteous peace if worship of God is denied."

Queen Urges Rejuvenation.

Queen Wilhelmina, in speaking from The Hague, said that "in a world situation of great distress, I should like to express my deep conviction that in our present time the very first need is for a radical renewal in the life of every individual."

Tonight the President attended the eighteenth annual dinner of the White House Correspondents' association at the Willard hotel. The President and other potential candidates in the 1940 presidential election were ribbed on their chances for the post, in a motion picture written by the newspaper men. Justices of the Supreme court, cabinet members, diplomats, and members of congress attended.

LONDON, PARIS, ROME HAVE GOOD WORD FOR ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH

LONDON, March 17, Sunday (AP).—President Roosevelt's speech in which he set forth a list of ideals necessary for lasting peace brought enthusiastic comment today from semi-official British sources who declared they were "in agreement with every passage of it." Late editions of Sunday morning newspapers displayed the President's speech prominently. Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express under a six column head said that the President "laid down the basis of what a real peace should be."

French Show Approval.

PARIS, March 16 (AP).—French government sources tonight voiced approval of President Roosevelt's assertion that no peace can be sound if "small nations must live in fear of their powerful neighbors." They said that, precisely, was a war aim of the British-French allies.

Significant, Italians Say.

ROME, March 16 (AP).—Informed Italian circles tonight regarded President Roosevelt's peace broadcast as "highly significant." They said it would give Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles a fresh slant on White House peace objectives almost on the eve of his audience with Pope Pius XII., whom he will see Monday.

HOUSEBREAKERS STEAL GUNS.

Twelve shotguns and two rifles were stolen yesterday from Norman J. Farrell's basement storeroom at 1223 Granville avenue. Farrell, a firearms salesman, valued the guns at $150.

HULL IS ANGRY OVER NAZI STORY ABOUT KENNEDY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull was irked today over a dispatch from Berlin that Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to London, had lost the friendship of British officials because of an alleged confidential report on chances of the British and French winning the war against Germany.

Angrily, Hull commented:

"This is clearly intended to be a trouble making story. It is wholly unsupported by any facts."

The Berlin dispatch was carried by the German official news agency out of Amsterdam. It claimed that: Kennedy blamed British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain for "diplomatic blunders," including the British guarantee to Poland; from a "political viewpoint" Kennedy felt that the empires had lost the war even before it started, and that he felt the western powers had no chance on the western front.

Jugo-Slavia Will Award New Rights to Hungarians

BUDAPEST, Hungary, March 16.—Reports from Belgrade say the grievances of Hungarian nationals in Jugo-Slavia are being remedied. The Hungarians will be allowed greater freedom in buying real estate, receive a right to teach in the minority schools, and benefit from a revision of pension plans, it was stated.

QUIZ MAY STRIKE AT POLITICAL SPY NET IN 6 STATES

Senators Hint Sensation in Scattered Capitals.

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—A projected congressional investigation of wire tapping, senators hinted today, may unfold a sensational story of political espionage reaching into half a dozen or more states.

Proponents predicted that the senate audit and control committee will approve next Wednesday a resolution by Senator Theodore F. Green [D., R. I.] to provide $25,000 for an inquiry by the senate interstate commerce committee. They said speedy senate action will be urged to get the investigation under way.

Senator Green.

It was disclosed that tentative plans have been made to summon numerous state and federal officials, as well as officers and employés of some private detective agencies. They are to be questioned about what some senators described as an apparent "network" of political espionage in several state capitols.

From Coast to Coast.

States mentioned by committee members as likely to figure in the inquiry include Rhode Island, New York, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and California.

The committee has received reports, it was learned, of the surreptitious hanging of a microphone in a governor's office, the tapping of the telephone lines of a state's attorney general, and the use of recording discs to reproduce the conversations of public officials.

If it is given the "go ahead" signal the committee is expected to inquire into the use of listening devices by government agencies, particularly the federal bureau of investigation and the alcohol tax unit, in obtaining leads on criminal cases.

Green said his chief interest in the inquiry centers in his home state of Rhode Island.

Wants Coloradoans Called.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.] said he will insist, if the inquiry is ordered, that certain Colorado citizens be called for testimony concerning the placing of a microphone in the office of former Gov. Teller Ammons, who succeeded Johnson as chief executive of the state.

The interstate commerce committee already has received reports, said Senator H. H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.] that a New York detective agency tapped wires in several states, reputedly acting in some instances at the direction of political groups.

Some members said the recent denial by J. Edgar Hoover that G-men ever had used wire tapping in violation of existing laws will not deter the committee from looking into the instances where the FBI admittedly has employed this method to obtain "leads."

Want Law Clarified.

Hoover said the bureau had tapped wires only in cases of kidnaping or of crimes "where either a human life was at stake or where the activities of persons under investigation were of such an aggravated criminal nature as to justify the use of extraordinary means to detect their activities and cause their apprehension."

Some senators said the wire tapping ban incorporated in the 1934 communications act is not clear. Senator Johnson said he thought congress should enact a law dealing with this question alone. He said there might be grounds for some exceptions to a general prohibition against the use of wire tapping and listening devices, such as in kidnaping cases.

21 AMERICAN NATIONS PROTEST TO BRITAIN OVER SHIP SINKING

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—The 21 American nations unanimously protested to Great Britain today against the sinking of a German freighter in Brazilian waters, and appealed to belligerents to keep the war away from the American neutrality zone.

The protest, made public today by the state department, resulted from scuttling of the 3,771 ton German freighter Wakama off the Brazilian coast Feb. 12 after it had been intercepted by British warships.

The protest was submitted to the British government by President Augusto Boyd of Panama. It reiterated the desires of American nations "that the war be kept away from the waters which the Declaration of Panama contemplated preserving for the pacific use of intercontinental commerce."

NEW 1940 Custom Built PHILHARMONIC BY Scott

RECEPTION UNEQUALLED IN RADIO HISTORY

You can hear the 1940 custom built Scott in your own home. Take a full month if you wish, to test it side by side with any other radio, and if it does not give you finer tone . . . bring in more distant stations with less "noise" (and you alone are to be the judge) . . . just return it for immediate refund. Although the Scott is custom hand built to your order, we consider the transaction incomplete until you are satisfied that you own the finest precision instrument in the world for reproducing radio or recorded music.

THE "WORLD'S FINEST RADIO"

Scott Laboratories have been developing and custom building super powerful high fidelity radio instruments for world famous musicians and other celebrities for over 16 years. They are perfect in every detail . . . precision built and tested to such exacting standards that every receiver carries a FIVE YEAR GUARANTEE! That's 20 times longer than the standard for the industry. Yet, you pay but a small premium over factory production type radios to have this marvel of advanced radio engineering in your home.

BATTLE IMPENDS FOR A NEW TYPE OF BROADCASTING

Federal Board Will Rule on Revolutionary Change.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Proponents of the revolutionary new static-less radio system called Frequency Modulation, which is sweeping the broadcasting industry, will plead their case before the Federal Communications commission starting Monday.

The FCC has announced that the hearings, to continue thru the week, have been called to determine whether frequency modulation stations have reached "a stage of development acceptable for rendering regular as distinguished from experimental broadcast service."

The frequency modulation, or F-M, interests have announced that they will press the commission for prompt commercial licensing of F-M stations, as a supplementary type of service to the standard, or amplitude modulation system of broadcasting.

How the System Works.

Frequency modulation defies a simple explanation. So does the standard kind broadcasting. They may be contrasted by picturing a searchlight operated with and without a shutter. A regular amplitude modulated station, let us say W-G-N at 720 kilocycles, stays permanently in that channel, beamed at the listener's home while its intensity is varied by a shutter in accordance with words and music being broadcast.

Using F-M the intensity of the signal, or impulse, remains constant, while the beam swings continually back and forth across a wide band of frequencies, depending on the sound transmitted.

The F-M interests, led by F-M Broadcasters, Inc., with some 30 members, including W-G-N, maintain that the new radio technique has already proved its great superiority over the standard type of broadcasting. They say it has licked the bugaboo of static; that it is capable of astonishing tonal fidelity, and that it will solve the problem of elbow room for radio because it has the characteristic of permitting many stations to operate on the same channel without interference. When two or more stations operate on the same frequency a receiver selects only the signal of the stronger one.

Maj. Armstrong's System.

The F-M broadcasters advocate the use of the so-called "wide band" technique as developed by Maj. Edwin H. Armstrong of Columbia university, widely known for his earlier radio inventions. The Armstrong system calls for the use of channels of 200 kilocycles each, 20 times that of the channels in the broadcast band. A score of F-M experimental licenses have been granted on five channels now assigned to F-M between 42.5 and 43.5 megacycles in the ultra high frequencies. W-G-N's application for a permit has been pending since December.

With interest in F-M at a peak, a half dozen manufacturers have already started building the special receivers which it requires.

TRACTION EXPERT COMING TO AID IN TRANSIT TANGLE

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that Joseph Sharfsin of Philadelphia will arrive Tuesday to help in solving Chicago's local transportation problem. Sharfsin is coming as the representative of John M. Carmody of Washington, administrator of the Federal Works agency.

Mayor Kelly said that Sharfsin is credited with a leading part in solving Philadelphia's transportation problem while he was Philadelphia city solicitor.

Sharfsin is now one of the Philadelphia city government's representatives on the board of the $85,000,000 Philadelphia Transportation company.

New Curator of Prints Named by Art Institute

Carl O. Schneiwind, formerly of the Brooklyn museum, has been appointed curator of prints and drawings at the Chicago Art institute, the trustees announced yesterday. He succeeds Mrs. Lillian Combs, who is retiring after 16 years on the institute staff. The new curator was graduated from the University of Zurich and he studied also at the universities of Berne and Heidelberg. He has compiled many important art catalogs.

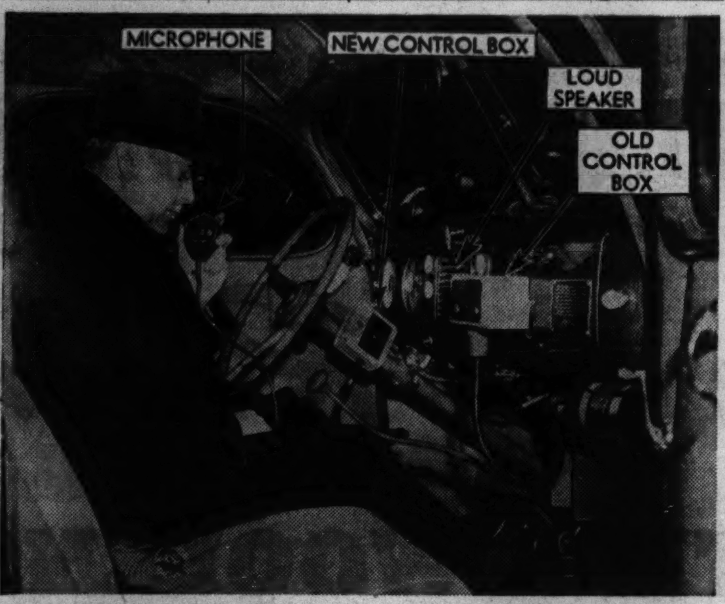
Police Test Improved Two Way Radio



Frank W. McLaughlin, chief service mechanic, shown as he tested improved two way radio equipment in police squad car yesterday.

Tried Out Side by Side

Two police squad cars cruised side by side thru the north and northwest parts of the city yesterday in the police department's second test of "frequency modulation," or F-M broadcasting. L. W. Bear, chief radio operator, reported the conversation of Policemen Harry Busan and Earl Soeth in the car containing the present type of broadcasting equipment was only 25 per cent intelligible.

The conversation of Frank W. McLaughlin, chief service mechanic, whose car was equipped with an F-M broadcaster, was 100 per cent intelligible, Bear said. At times static interference drowned out Busan and Soeth completely.

Fred Schnell, police radio engineer, and Frank A. Gunther, chief engineer for Radio Engineering Laboratories, Inc., operated the receiving equipment in the Field building, from where the broadcasts were "tubed" to Bear in the central police building. Due to the success of the tests, the department may consider installation of the new type equipment in all squad cars.

SMITH TO PROBE CONTROVERSY ON NEW CITY DUMP

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, was told yesterday that the proposed city garbage and refuse dump to be located in Leyden township, northwest of the city limits, will not violate any provisions of the new county interim zoning ordinance. He began an investigation yesterday into the controversy growing out of the proposed project.

The proposed dump site is located on the east side of Des Plaines West River road, between Higgins road and Bryn Mawr avenue. It is more than a mile southwest of the village limits of Park Ridge.

Attorneys for the International Reduction corporation, which has a contract with the city to operate the dump, said this property had been used as a dump by the present owners for several years.

WAR AGAIN? NOT, ME, SAYS BILL, THE LEGIONNAIRE

The average Legionnaire believes the United States should not become entangled in another European war, Raymond J. Kelly, national commander of the American Legion, said last night.

He spoke from Chicago during a national radio broadcast commemorating the Legion's 21st birthday. Kelly dedicated his talk to the average Legionnaire whom he termed Bill Gobbuck.

"When the European war broke out in September, 1939, Bill Gobbuck felt about the same surprise and shock as did other members of his post," Kelly said. "It just didn't seem possible to him that they could be fighting over there again.

"Bill said he would fight if his country needed him. But he was sure his country had no business getting mixed up in another European mess.

"That balance of power stuff in Europe was just a headache for him and he didn't want any part of it."

DRIVER CHARGED IN PEDESTRIAN'S HIT-RUN DEATH

John Harrington, 30 years old, a steel worker, 10547 Avenue F, was charged with manslaughter yesterday in the hit and run automobile death Friday of James McDonough, 65 years old, of 10019 Avenue L, an old age pensioner. McDonough was struck underneath a viaduct at 100th street and Ewing avenue.

Detective Anthony Dykowski testified at an inquest that the front fender of Harrington's green car was dented and some of the paint scraped off. The paint is to be compared with flecks of green paint found on McDonough's clothing. Harrington denied having been in the accident. The inquest was continued until March 22.

Up to 2 p. m. yesterday 194 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 148 were killed in Chicago, where 4,181 were injured in the same period.

Close Lane of Chicago Ave. Viaduct for Repair Work

Beginning tomorrow the south or eastbound lane of the Chicago avenue viaduct at Halsted street will be closed for a week while the decking is being repaired by the North Western railroad, whose tracks pass underneath. The north half will be closed the next week.

ROBBED BY FORMER EMPLOYE.

THE ALLIANCE OF CRIME AND POLITICS.

Every one feels about crime as Calvin Coolidge's preacher felt about sin. Every one is against it, yet no one expects to see it abolished.

The citizen has a right to expect that efficient police and honest prosecutors should deal with crime as a public health department deals with disease, that they should be alert in finding new sources of infection and prompt in cleaning them up. Crime so controled still represents a heavy tax on society, but it is when crime is allowed to reach epidemic proportions, when the machinery for controling it falls under the dictation of criminals and their allies, that the load becomes unbearable.

And it is for this reason that the second plank in THE TRIBUNE'S platform, instead of seeking the Utopian end of abolishing crime, seeks the practical end of terminating that alliance of crime and politics which makes crime really dangerous and government rotten.

Since that plank first appeared the cause it advocates has seen some victories and some reverses. In Chicago and Illinois recent months have seen more reverses than victories.

We still are in a better situation than we were a decade ago. The day when gangsters dominated Chicago's government is past. The Chicago police force, which was low in morale and efficiency as a result of politico-criminal domination, was rejuvenated. Crime rates declined spectacularly. Prohibition repeal contributed something to this, but the relatively greater improvement in Chicago than in the nation at large indicated a vast improvement in local law enforcement. Crowded Criminal court dockets were cleared, making for quicker and more effective punishment.

But this upward cycle stopped about two years ago in Chicago, altho the fact was not recognized at the time. In some respects we have slipped backward since. Robberies have increased. Gangsters of prohibition days have raised their heads again. They are intrenched in gambling, in too many of the city's labor unions, and in a variety of semilegal enterprises thru which they levy thoroly illegal tribute. Neither police nor prosecutors have been effective in punishing these gangsters for murders committed in the labor field.

The Criminal court docket is again becoming crowded. Unfit judges in the Municipal court establish new lows for judicial integrity almost daily. Election murders have stopped, but vote stealing is a commonplace in every election, and in the main goes unpunished. All these are only symptoms. The disease is the alliance of crime and politics.

In the field of state government the politico-criminal alliance operates principally to defeat police, prosecutors, and juries by pardoning or paroling those who have been convicted. It is to Gov. Horner's credit that while he was active in office the state knew of no open scandal in the sale of pardons for cash such as took place in the Small administration.

But the governor has clung to a politically controled parole board, and, with his followers in the legislature, twice defeated bills designed to end the parole racket. The governor has been a sick man for almost a year and a half, and evidence increases hourly that the executive office has been abused by those who usurped the power he was unable to wield. If when these abuses are fully revealed they include political dealings with criminals no one will be surprised.

Thomas E. Dewey has made himself a national figure by his fight to break the politico-criminal alliance in New York. With motives that are mixed and uncertain, but which certainly include a desire to overshadow Dewey's accomplishments if possible, the federal department of justice has recently become active against the politico-criminal alliance in various cities and states.

Citizens cannot afford to place too much reliance on these federal efforts. Their sincerity is often questionable. Honest investigators may gather convicting evidence, but there is no guarantee that politicians in the department of justice, instead of bringing the malefactors to trial, will not use the evidence as a club to enforce political obedience to the New Deal, as was done in the second Louisiana purchase.

Still more important, the results of federal investigation, even if it is sincere, are only transitory. The spark that touched off the Louisiana explosion was not supplied by federal investigators but by a crusading editor, James E. Crown, and his reporters. The federal agents stepped in and obtained a number of indictments and some convictions. This, following the disclosures by the newspaper New Orleans State, crippled the Long machine, but did not drive it from power. The voters of Louisiana had to do that.

Similarly in Kansas City, Boss Pendergast was sent to prison for income tax frauds. The Pendergast machine retained control of the city government until the aroused citizens of the town, at a recall election, drove it from power.

That is the weakness of federal intervention, even when it is sincere. The alliance of crime and politics has its strongest hold in local political machines because there rests the control of police, prosecutors, and courts. Income tax and mail fraud indictments may remove some of the top figures of the machine, but there are other figures waiting to step into their places. The only permanent remedy for the evil lies not in Washington but in the ballot boxes of the afflicted city or state. In the end, it is up to the voters.

A TAX ON MACHINERY.

Senator O'Mahoney proposes a new tax which he calls by the resounding title, the labor differential tax. He hasn't got it all worked out yet, but the general purpose is plain enough. Mr. O'Mahoney desires a punitive tax on the use of machinery.

The senator shares the belief of many halfwits that the prime cause of economic distress is the machine. Accordingly, he would discourage its use as much as possible. He would tax those industries whose labor costs were relatively low and parcel the money among the industries whose labor costs were relatively high. When this has been done, or so the gentleman from Wyoming thinks, the answer will have been found to the problem of unemployment. He thinks that men have been dispossessed by machinery and that when machinery, in turn, is dispossessed, there will be plenty of work for every one.

The fact, of course, is that the increase in the use of machinery over the last century has been accompanied by immense increases in the number of jobs available, as any one who will take the trouble to examine the census reports can discover. Mr. O'Mahoney ought to ask himself a few questions. Would there be more or fewer jobs today if thread were spun by hand and cloth woven on hand looms? Would the demand for Wyoming wool increase if the efficiency of woolen mills were to be destroyed? Would the resulting increase in the cost of cloth promote employment in department stores and dress factories?

Would the elimination of machinery in automobile plants and the shaping and filing of each part by hand promote employment or unemployment? Who then could afford an automobile? Who would buy gasoline, thereby giving employment to filling station attendants, and who would support the government with gasoline taxes? What would happen to the tens of thousands employed in tire factories and the other tens of thousands in garages?

Would the elimination of hoisting machinery from the coal mines create jobs for miners or throw them by thousands out of work? And would the elimination of power-driven machinery from factories promote employment in the coal mines?

In short, are there fewer or more jobs in this country today than there were before machinery made possible the gratification of thousands of wants which otherwise would have remained unsatisfied? To ask the question is to answer it. The introduction of power machinery and of automatic and semiautomatic processes has been the greatest material boons mankind has ever received. If Mr. O'Mahoney doesn't know this, it may be because he comes from a state which has enjoyed little industrial development. That is why it is relatively poor and thinly populated.

The advocates of such a measure as this cannot reply that they do not propose to do away with all mechanization but only some of it. That answer implies that they will cause only a little economic disorganization and a little more unemployment. Any application of their principle will do harm.

Evidently, in spite of the intense study which has been given the problem of unemployment in recent years, there are still some people in this country who have not yet learned that the problem exists today largely because of slackness in the capital goods industries, which include the machine-building industries. Mr. O'Mahoney's tax could only result in a further handicapping of the laggard element in the national economy and therefore must lead to further unemployment.

WAR BOOM—NOT FOR FARMERS.

Live hogs sold for 8½ cents a pound in the Chicago stockyards on Sept. 7, the second market day after the war broke out. That represented an advance from 5 cents per pound in mid-August. And now, after six months of war, the nickel hog is back again. Average cattle prices advanced to 11 cents a pound just after the invasion of Poland, up 2½ cents from the low point in August. All of this advance has been canceled, too. The grain market has done better. However, the current price of wheat above the level of last September is due to the lack of rain in Kansas rather than the dispute about Hitler's reign in central Europe.

The empires want all the airplanes we can make and may buy large quantities of munitions if the war turns out to be the old fashioned kind of conflict in which there is shooting. But the products of the American farmer aren't being sought by the belligerents. This war isn't a prosperity maker for farmers.

Because this war is more of an economic conflict than the great war was, the allied powers will attempt to make the blockade of Germany more effective than before. Not only has our trade with Germany been stopped, but we shall not be permitted to enjoy a greatly increased trade with neutral Europe as we did in 1915 and 1916. The allies aren't going to let the neutral countries make great profits as they did then out of selling American goods to the enemy.

If we sell any considerable amount of farm products as a result of the war it will have to be paid for with English money. And, aware that the war may be a long one and even more costly than the last one, the English are holding on to their money. Food is rationed, to cut down the amount to be paid for, and as much as possible of the irreducible minimum is purchased from the dominions. And what cannot be had from countries in their empire is to be purchased from nations like Argentina, which accept British manufactured products in payment.

Barring crop failures abroad, the export market is likely to do less for the American farmer in wartime than in peacetime. More than ever, farm prosperity depends upon an increase in the domestic market. Farmers would be benefited more than any other group from the great increase in spending money that would come if government would take its hands off the neck of private enterprise.

TWO KINDS OF WAR

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ZURICH, Switzerland [By Mail].—When you look at the European puzzle from the vantage point of a neutral country, as I am doing at the present moment, you are struck by the tremendous difference in the war temper of the belligerents. In Germany everything is tense, keyed up to the last degree. You are always reminded of a powerful tiger, his muscles all tensed, ready to spring. Listen to the German radio and you feel the throb of fanaticism.

The German you meet in a neutral country has his jaw set, figuratively speaking. He is abroad for some specific job and this job is of vital importance to him. Meet representatives of the British-French camp, after coming from Germany, and you simply stare at them. You wonder how much of the outward calm they show is put on for your benefit. You watch them a little longer and they seem to be taking life easily. Among themselves they talk of things that have nothing to do with war. You can hear English and Frenchmen tell you they don't like this idea of war. If you probe a little further they'll tell you they know the Germans are extremely strong, then add, "So are we, and we are getting stronger all along." There seems to be less excitement in their voices than in the voices of Americans speaking about football scores. Only the future can tell which is the better method of winning a war, the tensing of every muscle and thought for war or a more easygoing attitude, letting the people do, to a certain degree, as they please.

While rationing in Germany is a grim reality, the three meatless days in France seem a joke to the traveler from the other side of the Rhine. On meatless days the traveler in France gets all the well fed fowl and venison he wants. The wartime recipes in the French fashion magazines strike the housekeeper who has been in Germany as an anachronism. Six eggs for a dessert and all the cheese you want sounds like the good old times to a person from a country where the housekeeper is lucky when the ration card allows her one egg for a member of her household for a week. I have yet to meet an American who had just been in England and did not get all the ham and eggs he wanted. In Germany, however, a seasoned traveler who has a chance of getting things sent in from Denmark will keep a small chunk of bacon on his windowsill in his first class hotel, and it will be a rite when the waiter cuts off a few slices for his breakfast.

Listen to the English or French radio and you are struck by the percentage of easy-going skits and comedies to amuse the public. The French and English actually seem to have their radio for fun, most of the time, while almost every feature on the German program has some educational, mental drilling purpose. You might say this steady pressure is bound to induce the average listener to switch off his radio more often. If you go into the more populous districts of Berlin, for instance, the din of blaring radios in apartments is slightly less than it was a few months ago, but not much. You can still hear your German neighbors joining in the music of the radio whenever it plays the war's musical hit, the anti-English song "We Sail Toward England," and that at least once a day. My own neighbors have a son about eight or nine years old. The poor child has no talent for music, but every time the radio plays "We Sail Toward England" the entire family joins in and for about an hour afterward tries to make the youngster sing the tune accurately. It is important to them; a good Nazi must know the anti-English anthem well.

Go into a German restaurant or travel on a train and listen to the conversation of the younger people. There is only one theme: What stunt could one put over to defeat England and France? You hear the most astounding suggestions for Q-ship stunts, war raids, and explosions. I have butted into such conversations and been told: "Naturally we try to think up new plans of attack. One might hit on something that the army or navy could use. We must have vision; we must have daring imagination. Hitler has said so. It is not with old ideas and principles that this war will be won."

If you try to listen to the coffee house conversations of elder people, especially women, you don't have much luck—half of their talk is in whispers. They probably are grousing; in fact, you know, from your own elder acquaintances, that they are dissatisfied. Nevertheless, they, too, in their everyday life are straining to do what is expected of them. There is an enormous step from mere whispered dissatisfaction to disobedience to the government's demands, a step which the German knows is acutely dangerous for his own safety and that of his family.

The number of people asking "When will the offensive start?" seems smaller in Germany than in any of the neutral or other countries. The German, like the Frenchman in the Maginot line, would like to see things moving, but your German has learned his lesson. He knows it is up to him to wait and obey. Anybody who believes he'll revolt at the present stage of development is showing the same lack of psychology that German diplomats displayed in the last world war. The arguments British propaganda is using over the radio and in pamphlets to win German sympathies are equally childish. You can't stir up a nation with talks about right or wrong when the nation has been taught for the last 20 years that what counts today is power. Germany as a nation actually has shown its faith in the creed of power by going without its full ration of butter ever since the peacetime day when Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering coined the phrase "We want guns instead of butter."

There is a group that believes in a military offensive, in an open battle and siege. Then there is a strong group close to Hitler that believes that time will wear down discipline in England and France, that the people who are discontented will bring pressure to bear on their governments to compromise with Germany. In the meantime, Germany would develop the resources of Russia, build up a new system of transportation, and be able to draw on the whole of eastern Europe for her resources.

"It will take three years, at least," a big industrialist told me, "but it will be worth while. All we need is patience and energy, and they have never been lacking in Germany."

Usually well informed Germans believe that in the spring Hitler will order a big offensive, but that he won't exhaust the whole of his army's strength. If it proves successful all the better; if it results in a checkmate, the Russian card will be played to its full value.

Hitler recently, when he received his old follower, Neubacher, the mayor of Vienna, told him, according to Neubacher's friends: "We won't be foolish enough to bleed ourselves to death in a big offensive. Ours are the better nerves. We can develop Russia and we can wait until the democracies go to pieces. They cannot carry on the way a totalitarian government can and their people are not willing to make the sacrifices our people are willing to make. They have become soft thru easy living."

Hitler stated in another conversation:

"This war will not be decided thru military or economic factors. They will play an important part, but they won't be decisive. The morale of the people of the nations involved will be the deciding factor. We have an organization that controls the people. We know how to make them obey."

Leaders of Germany believe they have Russia where they want her. Last November you could hear Nazis complain about the arrogance of Stalin and his aids. Then came the Russian invasion of Finland. The Russians fared badly at first. The Germans now feel that after realizing the weakness of his army Stalin will be more amenable to Germany's demands.

WHY RATS MUST GO.

RATS are vicious customers. Not only do they damage food but they spread disease. They will exist wherever provender is obtainable and will spoil far more than they consume. Growing crops and various types of merchandise all fall before their onslaughts.

Can they be eradicated? The chances are that complete annihilation would require not only nation-wide campaigns but a concerted effort thruout the world. The best that we can hope to do is to limit breeding—thereby reducing the danger. But waves of sanitary reform are likely to die down and—during the intervals of laxity—the vermin multiply.

Public health authorities are well aware of the menace which these nuisances present. They are the chief agents in scattering bubonic plague. The rats have the affliction first. Thereafter it may be communicated to man via fleas which leave their bodies. All we need to inaugurate a serious epidemic in this country is to allow them to increase without let or hindrance. There are a few infected rodents in certain localities on the Pacific coast and what may happen is well described in Daniel Defoe's "Journal of the Plague Year."

One of the most pernicious of the ailments which they may disseminate is rat bite fever. Recently my attention was called again to this disorder. Because of guests, the man of the house was obliged to sleep in a hitherto unoccupied room—formerly used for storage. His quarters, unknown to him, were infested. During the night his ear was gnawed and—within a few days—he developed chills and fever. He was ill for several weeks. At this time—some months later—he exhibits some weakness.

No blood studies were made and the exact character of the infection remains undetermined. Apparently he had rat bite fever—an ailment in which the skin wound heals within a few days. Subsequently—usually within two or three weeks—the patient suffers a chill, rise in temperature, headache, and pains in the joints and muscles. The glands in the region of the original injury become swollen and tender.

The fever is characterized by a peculiar course and will reach a high point of about 104 degrees Fahrenheit at regular intervals about every four to six days. In the meantime it may remain normal. Prostration, giddiness, and ringing in the ears become particularly acute when the temperature is up.

Fortunately, preparations of arsenic are extremely valuable and hence the outcome is favorable. It is important, however, that the true nature of the trouble be recognized, as otherwise the proper treatment may not be forthcoming. The remedies employed for syphilis will solve the problem.

Another relatively common malady is infectious jaundice. Symptoms include weakness, digestive upsets, fever, and yellowing of the skin [which appears about the fourth or fifth day]. Here a nip is not necessary, as the organism—a spirochete—may be dispersed via the urine of these pests. In other words, they may contaminate surfaces where meals are served. About ten per cent of all wild rodents harbor this organism. While the animals may not be ill nevertheless the germs may live within their kidneys and may be sown widely.

If every householder and food merchant will give some thought to the problem of extermination we will probably be able to control the population of these harmful beasts. Traps are better than poison altho the latter may be necessary on occasions. Rats are highly intelligent and some cleverness is required to destroy them. Every one should provide well covered garbage cans, thus making food difficult to secure. They will thus be forced to leave the neighborhood in search of sustenance.

MASTOID TROUBLE.

Mrs. R. writes: Is there any cure for mastoid infection besides surgery? The patient is 50 years old and we understand there is only a 50-50 chance of success with surgery.

REPLY.

X-ray treatments and the drug, sulfanilamide, may be helpful. Your physician, however, must decide.

PRUNES AND RAISINS.

Mrs. T. K. writes: Is there any harm in eating dried prunes and raisins during the day?

REPLY.

No harm, but be sure they are washed thoroly. Too great dependence upon these articles for nutriment, however, is not encouraged, as the diet may be out of balance. If you are overweight the sugar may add to your poundage.

WEIGHT OF CHILD.

F. S. writes: How many pounds should a 3 year old child weigh? I have twins, and the boy weighs 38 pounds and the girl 34.

REPLY.

At three years the average weight of boys is approximately 32 and of girls, 30. Your youngsters are normal.

WRONG DIAGNOSIS.

C. T. W. writes: Will treatments for syphilis be injurious to a person erroneously believed to have the disease?

REPLY.

If skilfully administered there should be no ill effects. In fact, arsenic preparations—used against syphilis—are employed also against many other diseases.

TODAY IN HISTORY

March 17, 1777.

Roger B. Taney, chief justice of the Supreme court, whose decision in the Dred Scott case did much to heighten tension between the north and south over the slavery question, born. Taney served as attorney general under President Jackson, and was the President's adviser in the attacks on the Bank of the United States. There was a bitter fight over confirmation of his appointment to the Supreme court. He was one of five justices named by Jackson, and the court became predominantly southern in character, with state sovereignty a strong influence in its decisions. In the Dred Scott case Taney held that congress had no power to abolish slavery in territory acquired after the formation of the national government.

LILLIAN RUSSELL ON A BICYCLE.

Chicago, March 12.—Ed Sullivan in his column today says that Lillian Russell did wear $400 stockings. That is just about as phony as the $1,900 gold plated bike he talks about.

She was given the bike by the Pope Manufacturing company and it cost $160 to plate. She was given lessons at the school at 60th street and the boulevard, now Broadway. They could not have put on $1,900 worth of gold plate if they used a shovel on this bike.

Lillian never was much on a bike; in fact, rode like a sack of oats. I believe she rode in New York outdoors up the boulevard just once, and the instructor that was with her came riding back and had Lillian's bike on his shoulder. She might have looked fine to some in tights, but on a bicycle she was a flop. We had about 15 instructors in the school, and they all were agreed on this, and none of them could figure out why the company gave her a bike and lessons. She sure didn't do what they expected—get the firm a lot of free advertising. At the time in question, 1891, I was employed as instructor and salesman by the Pope Manufacturing company in the school.

SPEED IN THE CLASSROOM.

Chicago, March 9.—Several years ago Mrs. Bevans in her column in THE TRIBUNE made a plea for the child who is slow but sure and thoro in his school work. The parents of the slow children in the Chicago school system would be grateful to see the article reprinted. It would also be well to send a copy of it to Supt. Johnson and every principal and schoolteacher in the city.

The speed mania fostered by the modern school system is responsible for much grief, humiliation, and failure in the modern, wrongly called progressive, schools. The child's entire education should not be based on the results of an I. Q. test that is given to the tune of a stop watch. What the poor frightened youngster does with the test ought not brand him for the rest of his school life, nor be used as an infallible basis for determining his mental level, and indicate his classification in school.

Why should a shy girl of 14 whose I. Q. is 98 be placed in an adjustment English class where there practically is no English taught? This child, who delights in reading Scott, Dickens, and Mark Twain, is bored and wastes her time at school with the simple, monotonous task of picking out nouns and verbs from long, involved sentences. In the same high school, imbued with the same spirit of speed, the algebra teacher gives a test of 14 problems involving factoring—all to be done in 30 minutes. Is it any wonder that the results are many failures in the class and a disgruntled teacher?

An old Scandinavian proverb says: "God made time, but man made haste." The results of the mad haste in our schools are neurotic, school-hating youngsters who can not read, write, spell, or cipher because in their rush to get thru they can't stop to look or think. Our good old English maxim, "haste makes waste," should teach the teacher of algebra that eight problems done neatly and accurately are of more educational value and a better indicator of a child's ability than 14 problems scribbled in nervous race with the clock.

TOUGH SLEDDING.

Chicago, March 12.—My husband was a business man for many years. I was a private secretary for eight years. In 1933, five months before our son was born, we lost business, money, and job. Since then we've struggled plenty. My husband fired furnaces. I worked at a lunch counter and other odd jobs, sewing, typing, etc.

Now my husband works 12 hours a day, six days a week, at $17 per week. We've stayed out of debt, carry insurance for all three of us, dress fairly well, and live and eat well.

We are optimistic. We are able to adapt ourselves to any type of work and are honest, so, therefore, we feel sure that things may be hard now, but some day, somehow, if my husband ever is able to obtain a few hours off from work, he will get a better position.

OPTIMISTIC WIFE.

A FIRST LADY'S PLACE.

Wilmette, Ill., March 12.—Senator Taft is a very able gentleman, but I will cast no vote for a candidate who puts his wife on the stump to whoop up his election to the presidency.

AMERICAN TOWNS WITH POLISH NAMES.

Chicago, March 11.—I fail to see the why and wherefore of the Crawford-Pulaski controversy. If the Chicago business houses refuse to recognize the street as Pulaski road then let it remain Crawford avenue. I don't see why an issue should be made of the whole thing.

When it comes to Polonized names the Poles have made themselves felt in a far better way. There are 205 towns and villages in the United States with Polish names. Among the leading names one will find Pulaski, Poland, and Warsaw, each with 15 towns or villages in the United States. Then Posen with three; Sobieski, Kosciusko, and Krakow with two; Lublin and Polonia, Wilno, and Danzig with one each. Then such typically Polish names as Dobrowski, Tex.; Pawlowski, Mich.; Poniatowski, Wis.; Zaleski, O.; and Winooski, Vt.

Forty out of the 48 states have towns with Polonized names, with Texas, Missouri, Mississippi, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Ohio each having over 10 such Polish names. Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, and Rhode Island are the states not having any such names and this in spite of the fact that Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New Jersey have heavy Polish populations.

All this to keep alive Polish names in the United States, and here in Chicago a few citizens are making a big hullabaloo about a street. CHET SWITAL.

BETTER THAN MEDICINE.

Richmond, Ind., March 13.—About a year ago I was in the hospital for a major operation and one of my chief comforts was THE TRIBUNE'S editorials on the political and economical events in this country. I feel that as long as THE TRIBUNE dares to print such editorials this country has a chance to come out from under its present domination by organized minority groups. Thanks for your able and courageous objections to these gradually enslaving tendencies of government and may you continue to be a voice of the people. V. K. S.

FRONTIERS FOR SOME.

Chicago, March 13.—Recently we heard the chief executive addressing the Youth Congress. Among many startling things he said: "Quite different from the early settlers, you have no new frontiers." It would seem son Jimmy holds a very different viewpoint, judging from his many high salaried offices and liberal settlements to his former wife and children outlined in the recent Los Angeles divorce. Maybe Jimmy would let the Youth Congress in on some of his frontiers. R. E. BUTLER.

RADIO PERSONALITIES.

Fort Dodge, Ia., March 12.—Am writing to thank you for publishing in your Sunday editions the pictures of W-G-N's radio personalities. I think it is grand to have these splendid pictures. I sincerely hope you will also print Bob Elson's and Guy Savage's pictures soon.

APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

Chicago, March 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—I am one of the heirs to a small estate left by my mother in California. An older brother, who has been administrator for over a year, has recently died, with the affairs about as in the beginning. Now another brother and a nephew living there have filed opposing petitions to be appointed administrator.

1. How does the California law read as to who shall be made administrator and [2] have not those heirs not living in California any voice in such selection? We have preferred an impartial administrator outside the family, but seem not to have any weight against those living there.

3. Will it now be necessary to have a new administrator in order to sell the small amount of property and close the estate? Only the home is in California and at the old home in Iowa are several pieces of real estate, unimproved. No taxes have been paid on any of this property for two or three years.

4. Would judgments be assessed?

5. Will it be necessary to stand by and accept a new administrator in California?

6. What fees will now have to be paid?

7. Will fees have to be paid the deceased administrator?

8. What should be done with the Iowa property? J. M. C.

1. Administrators—Letters of administration will be granted in the following order of preference: Surviving spouse or his or her nominee; children, grandchildren, parents, brothers and sisters; next of kin entitled to share in estate; relations of previously deceased spouse when entitled to succeed to portion of estate; public administrator; creditors; any person legally competent. [Prob. C.422.] No person may serve as administrator who is not a bona fide resident of California, or is under the age of majority, convicted of an infamous crime, or adjudged incompetent by the court by reason of drunkenness, improvidence or want of understanding or integrity. [Prob. C-401, 420.]

2. Yes, they can present petitions.

3. Presumably a successor must be appointed to close the estate, but the administrator does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate. It may be necessary to bring partition proceedings if the parties cannot agree as to the real estate.

4. It seems probable that there would be a tax sale, if that is what you mean to ask.

5. You can present rival petitions for the appointment of a person who is eligible.

6. Depends on what services have been rendered.

7. Presumably his estate would be entitled to compensation for the services that he rendered.

8. Ordinarily the filing of an exemplified transcript of the probate proceedings would satisfy a purchaser.

RIVERS CHARGES ARREST PERILS STATE'S RIGHTS

Governor Opens Battle on Federal Action.

Atlanta, Ga., March 16 [Special].—Gov. E. D. Rivers today charged that his arrest in Macon, Ga., last night on a federal civil contempt warrant constituted "an invasion of the rights of a state."

Adjudged in contempt of the Middle Georgia District Federal court at Macon for failure to comply with an injunction against interference with W. L. Miller as state highway chairman, whom he "fired" in December and has since barred from office by martial law rule, Gov. Rivers was taken into custody by United States Marshal E. B. Doyle.

The arrest occurred on the platform at the Macon auditorium at the conclusion of a Georgia Education association session at which the governor had been called "the greatest friend of education in Georgia," and at which he and Mrs. Rivers were given life memberships in the G. E. A.

Governor Issues Statement.

Gov. Rivers, back in Atlanta today after his release late last night by Federal Judge Basom S. Deaver on the state chief executive's promise that he would appear in court at Macon next Friday morning to answer the contempt citation, declared:

"The unprecedented incident at Macon last night is unimportant insofar as the personalities involved are concerned.

"The thing that is important is the right of the state to regulate its own internal political affairs. The issue is squarely drawn: Whether or not the governor of Georgia, elected by the people of this sovereign state and responsible to them alone, shall function in the performance of his duties and execute the affairs of the state government, or whether the federal judiciary shall supervise and regulate the internal political affairs of Georgia. I shall meet the issue squarely and fearlessly.

Charges Invasion of Rights.

"The invasion of the rights of the state can be as effectively accomplished by judicial decrees as by any other method. The governor of a sovereign state, representing the people of the state, is charged with the duty of protecting the sovereignty of the state.

"The governor of a state must be free to perform his duties and, as governor of Georgia, it is necessary in the performance of my duties that I be free to go into any county or section of this state at any time necessary. I shall continue to do that."

The governor's statement was interpreted as presaging a bitter legal battle. Miller went into federal court after the governor had defied state court decisions that the highway chairman had been ousted illegally and had refused to reinstate him.

Miller Brings U. S. Action.

Miller based his federal action upon the contention that he was being denied his property rights [$5,400 a year salary] without due process of law in violation of provisions of the 14th amendment of the United States constitution.

The contempt warrant for the governor's arrest was prepared by S. B. Branch, counsel for Miller, and signed by Judge Deaver late yesterday.

"Regardless of what they do to me, the school bells are still ringing and the children are still going to school," Gov. Rivers commented.

The governor was referring to his diversion of highway funds to pay school teachers, an issue which he said led to the split with Miller.

To this, Miller late today declared that "Gov. Rivers is attempting to deceive the public about the real issues involved," and added:

Meanwhile the Georgia Supreme court closed its term late last night without passing on appeals in behalf of Gov. Rivers from state court rulings upholding Miller in his fight to regain office.

WENDY BARRIE.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16 (AP).—A Santa Monica newspaper vendor was arrested at the home of Film Actress Wendy Barrie early today and booked on suspicion of robbery. Police Captain Grover Armstrong said Bernard Ronald Robert Stone, 22, was arrested after dropping a note into her mailbox. Officers were hidden in the house because two previous notes were left there.

Bernard Stone.

Armstrong said Stone asserted he had had "a beautiful dream" about Miss Barrie and had started to write a play for her. The first note, which the actress found in her mailbox Sunday, read:

"Dear Wendy, I have the most wonderful news for you. I also have a loving gift for you. I hope I will be able to visit you next week, either Monday or Tuesday evening."

The second note explained the sender was unable to come until Friday.

ILLINOIS C. M. T. C. LISTS ARE HALF FILLED FOR YEAR

Lieut. Col. Richmond T. Gibson, Citizens' Military Training Camps officer for the Illinois military area, reported yesterday that enrollment for training in camps this summer is more than 50 per cent complete: The quota for the state is 2,205, and to date 1,305 applications have been received at headquarters.

The camps offer a month of training to young men between the ages of 17 and 24, with the government paying all expenses, including transportation to and from camp. The applicant may designate whether he wishes to receive training in the infantry, field artillery, or cavalry.

Col. Gibson said graduates of the basic course up to 29 years of age may enroll for advanced training. Applications for admission to the camps may be made to the Military Training Camps association, 6 North Michigan avenue, or to Col. Gibson in room 907 of the new postoffice building.

DEVOUT OF CITY OBSERVE PALM SUNDAY TODAY

Holy Week Devotions Will Begin Tomorrow.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Devout Chicagoans will crowd the city's churches today to observe Palm Sunday. For Irish Catholics the day will have a special significance, because by a coincidence of the calendar it is also St. Patrick's day. The somber devotions of Holy week will begin tomorrow.

During a solemn pontifical high mass at Holy Name cathedral today Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch will bless the palms for distribution to worshipers. This ceremony will take place at 11:30 a. m. Archbishop Stritch will preside at the throne in which he was recently seated. The liturgical music will be offered by the choir and schola cantorum of St. Mary of the Lake seminary, Mundelein.

2,000 Will Be Confirmed.

More than 2,000 children will be confirmed in Evangelical Lutheran Missouri synod churches of the city this morning, with large classes of adults being prepared this week for the same rite after Easter.

The Rev. Dr. Armin G. Weng, president of the United Lutheran synod of Illinois, announced that at least 1,200 children will be confirmed this morning in Chicago's 70 United Lutheran churches. Dr. Weng announced that the Rev. I. C. Birk, formerly of St. Mark's church, will conduct services in the famous North Austin church today for the Rev. Dr. Frederick W. Otterbein, who is convalescing after a serious illness.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist area of Chicago will be the Palm Sunday preacher at Park Manor Methodist church, 7000 Lowe avenue. The Rev. Albert B. Wagner, pastor, is a son-in-law of Bishop Waldorf. Tonight Bishop Waldorf will preach at Irving Park Methodist church.

Rector to Be Installed.

The Rev. Hugh McWhorter will be installed this morning as rector of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, 102d street and Parnell avenue, by Bishop George Craig Stewart. The Rt. Rev. Edwin S. Randall, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, will administer the rite of confirmation at St. Barnabas church, 4241 Washington boulevard, this morning. Bishop Randall was the founder and first rector of the church.

Contrasting with the brilliance of today's observances will be the quiet Holy week services which reach their greatest depth of feeling on Good Friday. This deepening devotion will be signalized by the darkness of services of solemn Tenebrae in Catholic churches. Archbishop Stritch will preside at these services in Holy Name cathedral Wednesday and Thursday nights. At 9 a. m. Friday, the archbishop will officiate at the mass of the presanctified. In Catholic and Episcopal churches the mass or Eucharist may not be properly offered on Good Friday.

Plan Devotions of Cross.

At noon on Good Friday the three hour devotions of the cross will be observed in most Catholic and Episcopal churches and in many Protestant churches. At the Chicago temple, prominent clergymen will deliver meditations on the seven last words of Christ on the cross.

The city's Y. M. C. A.'s will feature special Holy week sacred concerts, religious motion pictures, and other programs thruout the week.

[Local church announcements and noonday Holy week programs in loop theaters will be found in Metropolitan sections of today's TRIBUNE.]

LEGION TO HONOR 17 FOR AID GIVEN JUNIORAUXILIARY

Honor will be paid to 17 members of the American Legion for the aid they have given the Sons of the American Legion at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman tomorrow.

The luncheon will be given by the Advertising Men's and Aviation posts of the Legion, in coöperation with the Illinois detachment of the Sons of the American Legion.

Citations for the honor guests' work in advancing the Legion's youth organization will be made by Joseph R. Dorfman, the state detachment commander. Each will be given a gold staff medal.

Dewey Salutes Irish

THOMAS E. DEWEY.

New York, March 16 [Special].—Snow failed to dampen the enthusiasm of New York's Irish yesterday as they held their annual St. Patrick's day parade a day ahead of time because tomorrow is Palm Sunday. Among the prominent figures in the reviewing stand was Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, who tipped his top hat and flashed broad smiles as friends saluted him.

DE VALERA ASKS AMERICA TO HELP LIBERATE ULSTER

DUBLIN, March 16 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera marked St. Patrick's day eve with an appeal to Americans for "active moral support" to "end the dismemberment of Ireland" and to extend the freedom enjoyed by citizens of Ireland to "the whole of the national territory."

He referred to the long struggle of Ireland to incorporate the six counties of northern Ireland [Ulster], which remains a part of the United Kingdom.

"I am confident that this task will be completed as others, equally difficult, have been," he said. "We only need that its urgency should be generally understood and that the assistance of good friends whose aid made possible what has already been accomplished should continue undiminished."

SURE, 'TIS FOINE! ST. PATRICK'S DAY COMES 3 TIMES!

Calendar Gives the Irish 2 Extra Celebrations.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, March 16.—There are several unusual features in connection with Ireland's celebration of St. Patrick's day tomorrow. First, it occurs on a Sunday. Secondly, the Sunday happens to be Palm Sunday, which prevents the ecclesiastical celebration of the patron saint on that day, so the church ceremonies have been postponed until April 3. Moreover, the state has proclaimed Monday, March 18, as a general holiday in place of Sunday. Thus there will be three different celebrations of the event, three days on which the shamrock will be worn.

The coincidence of Palm Sunday with St. Patrick's day has revived interest in an old prophecy, attributed to St. Columbkille, which has been rendered into rhyme thus:

When the palm and the shamrock together are seen
'Tis an omen of good for the Island of Green.

What this may mean for Ireland cannot be said, but many persons are confident something good will come along before the end of 1940. Patriotic zealots naturally associate it with the final achievement of the country's freedom.

Shamrock May Be Drowned.

The unusual association of events this year has had one curious result. This has to do with the facilities for the traditional function of "drowning the shamrock" on the festival day. Under an Irish law on St. Patrick's day all saloons are closed. However as the 17th falls on Sunday, the Sunday drinking regulations will apply, and so it will be possible to honor the occasion on the 17th between 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. by the ancient "drowning" process.

Different laws in respect of drinking are in operation in southern and Northern Ireland, with the result that, while in normal times Northern Ireland does not prohibit drinking on St. Patrick's day when it occurs on a week day, there will be no drinking facilities on the 17th this year because all Sundays are "dry" days in the north.

Public Holiday in South.

Also, St. Patrick's day in the south is observed as a public holiday, but is not in the north. The public holiday this year in the south will be on Monday so all business will be suspended from Saturday until Tuesday.

The customary St. Patrick's day dances will not be interfered with. All dances for which fees are charged must be held under license between stipulated hours.

LAKE FOREST'S DEBATE TEAMS THRASH GUESTS

Lake Forest college debaters had a tough one to prove last night: That inviting teams in from 15 other colleges for a debating contest and then winning the grand championship and three of the four gold cups is any way to treat guests.

That's what the Lake Forest teams did in the Illinois intercollegiate debate tournament at Lake Forest. Lake Forest won the most debates—19 of its 24—and the cups for the women's affirmative, women's negative, and men's negative champions. Northwestern university won the men's affirmative cup. Olivet and Wheaton colleges tied for second in number of debates won. Eastern State Teachers college was third. The subject concerned a policy of isolation for the United States.

Russell C. Tomlinson, coach of the Lake Forest teams and president of the debating association, was scheduled to present the cups and speed the parting guests. He rememberd about being a tactful host and got a substitute.

Irish Fellowship Club Fetes St. Patrick Today

The Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago will hold its St. Patrick's day celebration in the Goodman theater this afternoon. There will be a reception at 2:30 o'clock and a program at 3. Speakers will be the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame university; Federal Judge Francis Ryan Duffy of Fond du lac, Wis.; Richard J. Finnegan, president of the club, and the Rev. E. Oliver O'Boyle. Irish songs will be sung by the Notre Dame university alumni glee club.

DRAMA SLEEPS IN MUSTY FILE OF PROBATE COURT

Fears, Hopes and Sorrow Lie Buried in Record.

Judge John F. O'Connell.

A long and bitter fight over the fortune of a so-called "millionless millionaire," the roundup of heirs and the smashing of a forgery plot in the $140,000 estate of a miserly ex-convict, the acceptance of a will written in Chinese characters on white silk—these are some of the dramatic cases found in the records of the Cook county Probate court.

There are many others. Some involve only a few hundred dollars. Others concern some of the greatest fortunes in the land.

Judge John F. O'Connell, presiding in Probate court, recalled yesterday some of the famous cases which came before him and his predecessor, Henry Horner, now governor of Illinois.

The Millionless Millionaire.

The "millionless millionaire" was Capt. Edward W. Morrison, who inherited $8,000,000 from his father, James M. Morrison. Once during Capt. Morrison's lifetime, a conservator was appointed for the estate. This gave the captain the "millionless" appellation.

Later he regained control of his estate, of which the principal assets were the land where the Morrison hotel stands and the opposite northeast corner of Clark and Madison streets. He died in 1929, at the age of 93, leaving $3,500,000. His will bequeathed $100,000 to distant relatives, $40,000 to servants and $5,000 each to two adopted daughters. It provided the remainder of the fortune be used for the construction of a home for the aged.

The heirs sought to break the will so they could divide the bulk of the money. William E. Foulkes came forward, asserting he was the son of Capt. Morrison and Mary Prange, a domestic. His claim was disallowed. For eight years the litigation went on. In September, 1937, Judge O'Connell upheld the will, paving the way to carry out Morrison's dying wish for establishment of the old peoples' home.

Strange Chain of Events.

The $140,000 estate of James Thomas Kelly, the miserly ex-convict, was another involved in a strange chain of circumstances. Kelly was found dead in a Madison street flophouse Feb. 26, 1935. He left no will. It was not until after his death that it was discovered he had been wealthy.

Mrs. Bella Butman, a rooming house owner, Julius P. Waitches, an attorney, and two others presented to Judge O'Connell what they said was a will made by Kelly, giving them control of the estate. The purported will was found to be a forgery and the four were sentenced to jail for contempt of court. Waitches was later disbarred.

Unique Will on Silk.

A unique will, presented to Judge Horner in Probate court in 1925, was that of Don Big Yee, a Chinese. It was a piece of heavy white silk, with Chinese characters lettered on by brush in black ink. Appended to this was the English translation:

"I, Don Big Yee, being sick in the United States of America, and knowing that cure for me is impossible, I hereby appoint my old friend, Mr. Toy Hong, and my nephew, Mr. Chan Tak Hong, to care and to manage all my estate in the United States, and to turn over the whole property to my legal wife, Mrs. Don Marks."

Among the large fortunes which have been under jurisdiction of the Probate court were those of Levi Z. Leiter, $30,000,000; William Wrigley Jr., $30,000,000; Richard T. Crane Jr., $19,000,000, and Julius Rosenwald $15,000,000.

FIREMEN BLAMED AFTER FLAMES RAZE BARR HOME

Burns to Ground; Loss Is Put at $60,000.

Fire of uncertain origin which razed the 24 room mansion of State Senator Richard J. Barr on the Lincoln highway three miles east of Joliet early yesterday, was charged in part last night to lack of coöperation of the Joliet fire department.

Richard J. Barr.

The loss was estimated at $60,000. Total insurance on the house and its contents is $45,000. Senator Barr, dean of the Illinois legislature by virtue of 38 years of service, is expected back from Florida tomorrow to investigate the fire.

Blames Joliet Brigade.

Charges against the Joliet fire department were made by the senator's son, William Barr, 20 years old, a student at the University of Wisconsin. He asserted that if firemen had remained on the scene after they were first called, they might have prevented the blaze from spreading.

The fire was discovered twice within an hour during a midnight party at the big house of several collegians and friends, including three girls.

A fire was first noticed at 12:30 a. m. in a closet off the butler's pantry. Barr said later that he yanked out a red hot electric wire which he believed started it. He and his friends put out the flames. They thought the danger over, but nevertheless called the Joliet fire department.

Ordinance Bans Aid.

Joliet's ordinances do not permit Joliet firemen to respond to fires in private homes outside the corporate limits of the city. The Barr home was outside the limits. Nevertheless, the firemen were sent out to investigate.

When they arrived they found no fire and they departed over Barr's protests. He demanded, he said last night, that they stay to make certain there was no further danger. He and his friends warned the firemen, he said, that the attic walls, directly over the butler's pantry, seemed unusually warm.

Barr followed the firemen back to their station. He became abusive there, according to Night Capt. John Heft, and was placed in technical custody of the police for two hours.

Fire Breaks Out Again.

While he was still in the fire station, Barr said, the fire appeared again in his home, this time in the attac. This was about 1:30 a. m. Barr's guests called for firemen, but none were sent out. A police squad responded, however, and found the mansion beyond saving. A small amount of household property was saved.

The ordinance preventing Joliet firemen from going to homes out of the city limits was passed last Dec. 1. The Barr home was the third home to burn down in unprotected districts in the last month. Residents of these areas said last night that they would consider establishing a volunteer fire force.

The Barr home was originally built by Maj. J. M. Thompson, a brother-in-law of Harlow N. Higinbotham, former partner of the first Marshall Field. It was next owned by Col. John E. Lambert, a partner of Charles "Bet a Million" Gates.

ALL WHO CARRY SHOVELS ARE NOT WPA WORKERS

Mrs. Albert J. Hagel, 1819 Cleveland avenue, Evanston, became suspicious last week when a Negro representing himself as a landscape gardener offered to sell garden dirt at 50 cents a yard. On a nearby street a WPA crew was digging up large quantities of dirt on a street extension project. It was suspected that the Negro was making a little profit on the side, and WPA officials were notified. The matter was cleared up yesterday. Investigators reported that the Negro was a bona fide landscape gardener. The error occurred, it appeared, because he was carrying an object usually linked with the WPA—a shovel.

Two Confess Burning House; Held for Arson

Morris, Ill., March 16 [Special].—Clyde Glenn, 54 years old, and Hugh Lindsay, 24, were held to the grand jury on charges of arson today. Both confessed to burning the Glenn house in Verona April 14, 1936. Glenn collected $1,900 of the $2,500 insurance.

KENTUCKY SHERIFF'S SON SLAIN IN BATTLE; TWO WOMEN SEIZED

Jackson, Ky., March 16 (AP).—Deputy Sheriff Wilson Deaton, 31 years old, was shot to death on a highway near here today, the second son of Sheriff Walter Deaton to be felled by bullets in "Bloody Breathitt" county within a month.

The deputy was slain, his father said, while trying to halt a roadside fight among four unidentified men. Mose Bush, 28, who jumped off a truck with young Deaton to intervene in the fight, was treated for minor wounds.

The four brawlers fled to nearby hills, but police seized two unnamed women who had been with the four men and who screamed during the shooting, "Pour it on 'em! Pour it on 'em!"

Fred Deaton, 28, was wounded seriously in front of the Jackson postoffice Feb. 24 in a pistol duel in which Lewis Combs, 34, a state tax collector, was killed.

Burglars Take a Clothing Store's $2,391 Spring Stock

Burglars broke three locks with a crowbar early yesterday and carried away the entire stock of spring clothes from the clothing store of Louis J. Link Jr., at 1824 Blue Island avenue. Link told Maxwell police the thieves took 53 suits, 23 topcoats, 300 pairs of trousers, 216 shirts, 180 pairs of socks, and 276 ties. He valued the loot at $2,391.

BIOFF APPEALS OLD SENTENCE TO SUPREME COURT

Willie Bioff, Hollywood movie union boss, appealed to the Illinois Supreme court yesterday in another attempt to keep from serving an 18 year old Bridewell sentence for pandering.

On Friday Chief Justice John Prystalski in the Criminal court refused to free the union chief from serving the old jail term of six months, imposed in 1922. The court dismissed Bioff's habeas corpus proceedings.

In Springfield yesterday Bioff's attorneys filed a petition for a writ of error asking the Supreme court to review the Appellate court decision upholding Bioff's conviction. Bioff remained in Chicago yesterday conducing his union affairs by long distance telephone.

Youth Charged with Rape Is Sent to State Hospital

Paw Paw, Mich., March 16 (AP).—The state hospital commission today ordered Clyde Millard Clark, 15 year old South Haven youth, accused of rape, committed to the Ionia State hospital. Clark was charged with a criminal attack last January upon Mrs. Fay Edwards, a young South Haven housewife. She died a few days later.

Clark waived a jury trial in Circuit court and a psychiatric commission found he was a sexual psychopath. The court concurred in the finding.

DETROIT POLICY KING SURRENDERS IN LOTTERY QUIZ

Prosecutor Bound Over on Conspiracy Charge.

Detroit, Mich., March 16 [Special].—Everett Watson, Negro prize fight manager and reputed Detroit policy king, who had held out for more than a month against being brought back from Chicago for grand jury action, surrendered at the county building this afternoon.

Watson appeared before Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson accompanied by three attorneys just as the court completed examination of Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea and 12 others on lottery conspiracy charges. The defendants named in the baseball pool indictment were held for trial in Circuit court by Judge Ferguson's order. Their bonds of $1,000 were continued. No date was set for the trial.

Judge Blames Prosecutor.

In his ruling Judge Ferguson said that McCrea, as prosecutor, knew that a baseball pool was operating and that it was his duty to institute proceedings against parties who were committing a crime.

Concerning Fred Frahm, former superintendent of police, the judge said: "The evidence shows that he was interested in the operation of a baseball pool and that he profited from the sale of tickets in that illegal enterprise."

The other defendants were part and parcel of the conspiracy, without whom the pool could not have prospered, the judge ruled.

Foregoes Fight on Extradition.

Watson was arrested in Chicago on Feb. 9 by officers led by Special Prosecutor Chester P. O'Hara after a search which had extended over a large part of the United States and had gone on for three months.

Scheduled to appear before a representative of the governor of Illinois at 2 p. m. Monday on extradition proceedings, Watson got in touch Friday night with Guy W. Jensen, assistant special prosecutor, and arranged to surrender in a four hour telephone conversation.

Watson was released under $2,500 bonds for examination on March 26.

TIED BY BANDITS, STARTS FIRE TO SUMMON HELP

New York, March 16 (AP).—Bound, gagged, and imprisoned in his laboratory by bandits, Dr. John Senesac, a Times Square dentist, today struggled vainly for an hour and finally got help—by starting a fire. He worked himself free of the gag, crawled to a self and dragged an electric toaster down upon a table. He got the electric plug in his teeth and worked it into a wall socket. Then he put some paper towels over the toaster. Smoke filled the room and billowed thru the open window.

Persons in neighboring offices smelled the smoke and sent in an alarm. Firemen arrived and released Dr. Senesac.

Hijackers Kidnap Driver, Steal $9,000 in Cigarets

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16 (AP).—Four hijackers seized a $9,000 cigaret cargo at pistol point, kidnaped Jack Melvin, the truck driver, and released him near Lebanon today, the Ziffrin Trucking company reported to police. The Hamilton-Harris company, tobacco firm, also reported that one of its trucks, with a cigaret shipment intact, was found abandoned here and its driver, John Post, was missing.

Count the cylinders,

• Just looking at a Ford V-8 is pleasant, but let's lift the long, handsome hood and get down to business.

Here's the heart of this car—that famous V-8 engine—eight cylinders—count 'em!

No other car in the low-price field has a power plant like that!

Check the features,

Step on it... there's pep a-plenty in that pick-up... smooth power that sends you sailing along... up the steepest hill just "breathing easy." You'll say, as they all say, "It takes an eight to match an eight!"

Power and speed aren't everything? Then look this whole car over... check its superior features—bigger brakes and battery, full torque-tube drive, riding comfort that owners are so enthusiastic about!

And—don't forget this—check the gas you use as you GO! Check it accurately—then you'll know why Ford topped all standard-equipped cars in its price class in the 1940 Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run.

Last, but not least, there's price. With practically every reason for asking more, Ford doesn't. Check the low price of this big "8"—and the extra equipment included.

Get the FACTS—get a FORD—and get MOST for your money!

LIKE VARIETY IN THE WEATHER? CHICAGO HAS IT

Not Too Much of Anything, but a Little of Each.

"Chicago," said Frederick Rex yesterday, "is an excellent place to live. It is not too sunny or too cloudy, and it is not too windy or too rainy."

Mr. Rex is librarian of the municipal reference library in the city hall. As a statistician, he collects weather reports from all major cities. Each year he feels better about Chicago.

Mr. Rex feels that Chicago's weather is noteworthy because it doesn't go to extremes, but strikes a nice mean.

City Has a Little of Everything.

"Some cities," he says, "get excited because they don't have any snow, and some because they don't have any rain. But we don't get excited here, because we have all things in moderation—a little of everything, but not too much of anything."

For instance, take Chicago's sunshine rating. Government statistics indicate Chicago has an expectation of sunshine 65 per cent of the time, that is, 237 days each year. But in 1939 Chicago had sunshine on 335 days. Here is its comparative rating among major cities, based on number of days without sunshine during 1939:

City—	Sunless days.	City—	Sunless days.
Washington	56	Indianapolis	43
Detroit	53	Philadelphia and Buffalo	40
Cleveland	51	Baltimore	40
Pittsburgh	48	Peoria, Ill.	37
Richmond, Va.	45	Nashville	32
Tacoma, Wash.	48	CHICAGO	29
Milwaukee	44

Then, as to rain, Chicago is the 17th wettest city in the country. On a basis of number of rainfalls .01 inch or more, Chicago rated as follows:

City—	Rainy days.	City—	Rainy days.
Seattle	156	Philadelphia	122
Pittsburgh	155	Baltimore and Cincinnati	121
Buffalo and Tacoma	153	New Orleans	120
Rochester	150	Miami, Louisville, and Nashville	119
Cleveland	146	Washington, D. C., Peoria, and CHICAGO	116
Detroit	144
Portland, Ore.	142
Ashville, N. C.	137

Chicago was fairly well up on the list when it came to snow, tying with Milwaukee for seventh position. Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Miami, New Orleans, Houston, and Savannah, Ga., reported no snow at all. The ranking among cities reporting anything from a trace of snow to a blizzard was:

City—	Snowy days.	City—	Snowy days.
Detroit	83	Buffalo	61
Rochester	82	Salt Lake City	57
Cleveland	73	Milwaukee and CHICAGO	56
Pittsburgh	72

How about that reputation Chicago has of being the "Windy City?" Quite undeserved, says Mr. Rex. Twenty-one cities were windier than Chicago, counting all days on which the wind reached a velocity of 32 miles an hour or more. Here is the standing:

City—	Windy days	City—	Windy days.
Buffalo	114	Salt Lake City	16
New York	99	Louisville	15
Cleveland	92	Nashville	14
Philadelphia	29	St. Louis	13
Pittsburgh	27	Denver	10
Minneapolis	26	Rochester and Springfield, Ill.	8
Baltimore	23	Savannah and Tacoma	7
Milwaukee	19	Washington, D. C.	5
Seattle and Kansas City	18	CHICAGO	4

Chicago had only 36 thunderstorms in 1939, which ranked it 18th, well below New Orleans, which had an unenviable top rating with thunderstorms on 84 days.

Six Days of Dense Fog.

There were six days here of dense fog, which put Chicago in 14th position among the nation's foggiest cities. Asheville, N. C., had the foggiest rating with 33 days.

"Yes," said Mr. Rex, putting away his records, "I think we can be satisfied with the sort of weather we have here. It has variety. It's like living all over the country at once."

CITY'S BOYS' CLUB LEADERS TO HOLD A 2 DAY MEETING

Methods of meeting the problems of youth thru clubs for boys will be discussed at the sixth annual two day conference of the Boys' Clubs Association of Chicago, opening tomorrow in the La Salle hotel. The association has 21 member units which serve 22,000 boys.

A feature of the opening program will be a seminar in which the boy and his needs will be discussed.

The annual banquet Tuesday night will be addressed by Sanford Bates, executive director of the Boys' Clubs of America, and Homer J. Buckley, chairman of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and a leader in boys' club work.

They're Quitting Juke Box Business

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Ruth Klapman (right), who said yesterday that she is going to sell her 60 juke boxes because the business is "no place for a lady," and her sister, Miss Rose Klapman, who collected the nickels from her sistes's automatic phonographs. Both said they had been harassed and threatened.

SHE FINDS JUKE BOX TRADE'S NO PLACE FOR LADY

Woman Owner Quits; Tells of Threats.

Mrs. Ruth Klapman of 1430 North Kedvale avenue has been in the juke box business. Now she's getting out. Her explanation is: "It's no business for a lady."

Juke boxes are nickel in the slot phonographs, and about 10,000 are being operated in Chicago. Of these 98 per cent are owned by 105 companies belonging to the Associated Phonograph Owners, Inc., and are serviced exclusively by 200 members of Michael J. Boyle's Electrical Workers' union, local No. 134.

Individual Owners Picketed.

The unionists install the phonographs, collect the nickels, and change the records. Now and then, if a tavern keeper tries to operate his own box, they picket him. That's what happened to George Steder of 958 West 59th street, who purchased one of Mrs. Klapman's machines.

Mrs. Klapman has been in the business nearly four years. Her sister has been her collector.

"I own about 60 boxes," said Mrs. Klapman. "At first they paid a moderate profit. My troubles began after the owners' association was formed in 1938. I joined, but was expelled two weeks later on the ground I was giving tavern keepers a bigger slice of the intake than the association called for.

Tells of Anonymous Calls.

"Since then I've had nothing but harassment. My service man was a union member, but he was forced out because he stuck with me. There were many anonymous calls advising me to quit.

"Once two men met my sister and told her to get out of the game or it would be just too bad. Finally I decided to rent my machines to taverns at $3 a week.

"The harassment continued, so I offered to sell the phonographs at $60 apiece, and Steder bought one.

She's Getting Out.

"I can't see why a man can't own and operate a juke box in his own place and service it himself. It's no business for a lady. I'm getting out."

When the Steder picketing started Capt. Eugene Barry of the Englewood police ordered every juke box in his district silenced. The order was based on an ordinance banning coin amusement devices.

Aldermen are considering a proposed fee of $50 a year for each place operating a juke box. Owners maintain this would kill the industry.

8% CUT ORDERED IN ILLINOIS WPA ROLLS FOR APRIL

Rolls of the Work Projects administration in Illinois will be slashed more than 8 per cent in April with the discharge of about 14,800 workers.

This was announced yesterday by Charles E. Miner, state WPA director, following the announcement Friday that rolls in Illinois, where 179,800 persons are now employed, and thruout the nation are to be reduced a third by June 30 as a result of a slash in congressional appropriations. In the nation 700,000 of 2,300,000 WPA workers will be dropped.

Miner received a telegram from Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner in Washington, ordering the April dismissals. He said that he and George H. Field, regional WPA director, will begin a week's tour of the state tomorrow, partly to determine where the cuts will be made.

At present 77,403 are on the WPA rolls in Cook county, of whom 66,793 are in Chicago. If the 8 per cent cut prevails thruout the state, more than 6,000 will be discharged in Cook county, and more than 5,000 of these will lose their jobs in Chicago.

Would You Buy An Automobile Without— Headlights, Brakes or Tires?
Stripped! Equipped!
This car has no bumpers, heater, spare tire or any other accessories which make for greater enjoyment and motoring efficiency. It will run, but it's a stripped car, so naturally it costs less than a fully equipped car.
This car is fully equipped with heater, spare tire, defrosters, etc. It may even be de luxe equipped, with such luxuries as radio, cigar lighter, etc. These accessories add a great deal to your pleasure and convenience.
We have made the above comparison to point out that refrigerators are sold both stripped and equipped. A stripped refrigerator sells for less because it consists of only the bare essentials for refrigeration and ice cube making. A modern up to date De Luxe equipped refrigerator has a vegetable bin, crispers, ice cube release, adjustable sliding shelf with built-in thermometer, meat saver, cold control, oil sealed mechanism and other conveniences that add immeasurably to your satisfaction. ESTIMATE GAIN IN INCOME TAXES AT $150,000,000

Auto Manufacturing Area Shows Big Jump.

Big Chicago Gain

Uncle Sam had tabulated $52,258,842.91 in income tax payments for the first quarter of 1940 at his Chicago office when the office closed last night. And there were 80,000 envelopes yet to be opened, according to Nigel D. Campbell, chief office deputy to Carter H. Harrison, Chicago collector of internal revenue. The total last night was on 224,725 returns. Collections were $7,455,929.01 greater than the total tabulated when the office closed last March 16, but that total represented only 169,723 returns. Eight thousand five hundred persons filed their returns in the office on the final day—the greatest number for one day in the history of the office.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Reports of sharp increases in income tax collections in many key cities indicated yesterday that the treasury may be pleasantly surprised when it totals the annual March tax yield.

Until midnight Friday, when the deadline for making returns was reached, the unofficial guess was that a 30 per cent—or $150,000,000—increase over the tax take a year ago might be attained. But tallies from several important collection districts showed increases well in excess of that figure, altho in others the percentage of increase was comparatively moderate.

Auto Area Up 80%.

The Michigan district, home of the automobile industry, reported unofficially that collections were running 80 per cent over a year ago. First instalment payments totaled about $50,000,000. Oregon reported a 42 per cent increase and the Washington-Alaska district noted that collections are about 40 per cent ahead of a year ago. The first California district had a 38 per cent boost.

Wall Street Rise 5 Per Cent.

The New York financial district collector did not disclose exact figures, but estimated a 5 per cent increase above the $57,000,000 collected in the first quarter of last year. In the third New York district, covering the uptown area, the collector thought this period would show an increase of between 15 and 20 per cent over a year ago.

Other reports, compared with the same period last year, included:

Arkansas, $1,611,533 this year compared with $1,406,080 last; St. Louis [eastern Missouri], $12,790,000 and $11,700,000; Wisconsin, $7,019,601 and $5,138,002.

'ASSAILS WALSH'S CLAIMED KINSHIP TO LATE CORONER

Dr. Frank J. Walsh, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for coroner, was mentioned recently in THE TRIBUNE as a distant cousin of the late Coroner Frank J. Walsh. William M. Walsh, a sanitary district worker, brother of the late coroner, disputed this yesterday. "Dr. Walsh is no relative of ours," he said. "He's just making a play on my brother's name, and we want it corrected. His first name is not Frank, but Francis."

Dr. Walsh replied: "I can't understand why the Walsh family should say we are not related. Coroner Walsh himself told me we were distant cousins. My father often has talked about it. He told me my grandfather and Coroner Walsh's father were first cousins. My name is Frank."

1,500 PETITION FOR FREEING OF TAX PRISONER

Mrs. Marian Player of Warrenville in Du Page county, said yesterday she will go to Springfield tomorrow to present state officials with petitions bearing more than 1,500 signatures urging clemency for her husband, John, who is serving a 90 day sentence in the Sangamon county jail for sales tax violation.

John Player and his brother, Robert, operate a small dairy in Warrenville. Both were convicted by a jury in the Sangamon County Circuit court at Springfield for failure to file sales tax returns. John was sentenced to jail and fined $1,000. Robert was fined $500. Both brothers have opposed the sales tax on the ground it is unconstitutional and unfair.

Assistant Attorney General Henry G Miller said yesterday that the Player brothers were tried in Springfield because the sales tax statute provides that criminal prosecution must be carried on in the county where the tax returns are filed. Residents of Cook county file their returns in Chicago. Those elsewhere in the state file their returns in Springfield. Civil proceedings may be brought wherever the delinquent taxpayer resides.

ST. CHARLES GRAD ADMITS A DOZEN N. SHORE CRIMES

A former inmate of the St. Charles School for Boys confessed yesterday to Evanston and Wilmette policemen that he had committeed a dozen burglaries in north shore towns since November. He is George Lill, 19 years old, 1129 Sherman avenue, Evanston.

Lill was in St. Charles from February, 1937, to August, 1938, and from December, 1938, to November, 1939. Each commitment was for burglary. He was arrested in Wilmette by Policeman Joseph Schmidt last Wednesday. His total loot in burglaries was estimated at $4,000. The police said about one-fourth of it had been recovered. A charge of burglary has been placed against him.

Chicagoland Contestants Capture 3 Music Awards

Appleton, Wis., March 16 [Special].—Three of the five first prizes in the music section of the Lawrence college $2,400 tuition prize scholarship contest held here today went to persons in the Chicago area. Awards of $200 each were won by Dayton Grafman, Chicago, for excellence in piano; by Betty Lechler, Glen Ellyn, in voice competition, and by Ruth Ellen Rouley, Elgin, for organ. The other first places were taken by James Santilli, Milwaukee, in the wind instrument section, and by Annabelle Dorman, Appleton, for string instruments. Other Illinois winners were Mary Yost, Byron, a $100 special prize for voice, and Marilyn Guendel, Chicago, $50 for piano. Sixty-one persons were entered in the music contest and 104 in the academic. Prizes for the latter will be announced later.

Pope Receives Traditional Palms as Palm Sunday Gift

VATICAN CITY, March 16 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. today received the customary gift of palms on the eve of Palm Sunday. Members of the papal household said the pontiff begins Holy week in the midst of a rigorous Lenten fast, having eaten no meat during the entire Lenten period and having gone without food one day each week. Public audiences have been suspended since the start of Lent.

UNTERMYER DIES; NOTED FOR FIGHT ON ANTI-SEMITISM

He Won Wealth and Fame as a Lawyer.

Samuel Untermyer.

Palm Springs, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Samuel Untermyer, 82 years old, New York corporation lawyer and crusader for Jewish rights, died at his winter home today.

Untermyer had been ill for several weeks. Palm Springs for years had been his winter residence.

He had not been as active in recent years as formerly, altho periodically he came out with a denunciation of German treatment of Jews and a prediction that Hitler's policies would bring economic ruin. He protested, as president of the Nonsectarian Anti-Nazi league, against German participation in the New York World's Fair.

A Dapper Dresser.

He long had campaigned for labor and the underdog, wherever found, but, being wealthy, indulged his tastes for dapper dress. He seldom was seen without an orchid in his lapel.

Untermyer was born in Lynchburg, Va., a son of a confederate army lieutenant. His father died a few years after the civil war and his mother disposed of their plantation and removed to New York, where Untermyer attended City college and Columbia university.

Untermyer, whose legal fees sometimes ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars, had a varied interest in the world about him. He found equal pleasure in raising rare flowers and in arguing the city's case for unification of New York's subway systems.

His Brandy Experiment.

With the same enthusiasm with which he denounced or supported politicians or social and economic legislation, Untermyer experimented with plants. Only three months ago he gleefully announced that he had been successful in infusing various wine and brandy flavors in his melon yield. His home and his office were literally banked with flowers whenever he was around.

He organized and headed the first wide scale boycott of German goods, and at one time he called Secretary of State Hull "spineless" in the government's attitude toward Germany.

He attacked repeatedly the "uncontroled power" of Wall street, out of which he took several million dollars in profits. An active member of Manhattan's Tammany organization, he frequently lashed its leaders and denounced its policies.

Backed Palestine Plan.

He was a leader in the Zionist movement to establish a homeland for Jews in Palestine.

Several years ago Untermyer sold his $5,000,000 estate to his children for $5. They returned it a few years ago with thanks. They couldn't keep it up as well as they felt it should be.

He is survived by three children: Justice Irwin Untermyer of the appellate division of the New York Supreme court; Alvin Untermyer, a lawyer, and Mrs. Stanley Richter, the former Irene Untermyer.

OTTO ENZ FOUND DEAD.

Savanna, Ill., March 16 [Special].—Otto Enz, 50 years old, veteran Milwaukee railroad employé, who had not appeared for work for two days, was found dead at his home here last night. Death was attributed to a heart attack. He had been employed as a machinist for 31 years.

VIE FOR PLACES IN ORCHESTRA OF U. S. YOUTH

Young Chicago musicians who aspire to a place in Leopold Stokowski's All-American Youth orchestra competed yesterday in the second round of final auditions. Harps, tympani, and strings were auditioned.

Tomorrow the woodwinds and brasses will be heard. City finalists will compete with other finalists in the state. State winners will vie for national honors.

Traveling on the liner Washington, Stokowski and his young players will make a good will tour of South America in the summer. The orchestra will be composed of 109 student musicians from all parts of the country.

SELMA LAGERLOF DIED OF WORRY OVER WAR, BELIEF

Stockholm, Sweden, March 16 (AP).—Dr. Selma Lagerlof, first woman to win the Nobel prize for literature, died at her home in northern Sweden today after an illness blamed partly upon worry over the future of Sweden and Scandinavia in today's war beset world. She was 81 years old. Dr. Lagerlof was awarded the Nobel prize in 1909. Her writings, translated into 30 languages, were read around the world. "Gosta Berlings Saga," novel of a Swedish provincial manor-house, is generally considered her outstanding work.

CHURCH LEAGUE WILL EXPAND TO MEET ISSUES

Plan Meeting to Consider New Program.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Frank J. Loesch.

Frank J. Loesch announced last night that the activity of the Church League of America, 53 West Jackson street, of which he is general chairman, will be stepped up immediately to meet all legislative and other threats against religious liberty. He said a meeting will be called in about two weeks to consider the new program developed by George W. Robnett, the league's executive secretary.

"The league's activity has been reduced since its successful participation in the fight against President Roosevelt's court packing and government reorganization bills," said Mr. Loesch. "But with the snooping income questions of the census and with the presidential campaign in the offing, it is apparent that the cause of religious freedom will need the league and many other agencies to safeguard its interests. Issues bearing on religion may play a large part in the 1940 campaign.

Average Budget $4,000 a Year.

"During the heat of the league's fight on the court packing bill a fight which Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] and other congressional leaders praised very highly, the league was spending about $2,000 monthly. Its average budget has been about $4,000 annually since its founding nearly four years ago. The league's enlarged program for 1940 will be underwritten as it has been in the past."

Robnett said the success of the league has drawn the fire of radicals in Washington and elsewhere.

"It pleases us greatly," he declared, "to see the attempts of these radicals to smear the league with misquotations, half truths, and misrepresentations. There can be no better proof of our effectiveness. We have never charged a membership fee nor solicited memberships as such. The league adopted a more influential policy than the staging of a mere membership drive, as was proved when the league helped to whip the court packing and dictatorship bills.

100,000 Reached by League.

"The 100,000 persons reached by the league's communications and on its lists went effectively to work on the basis of moral coöperation and sympathy of purpose when situations were brought to their attention thru the league's office. We have found that to be far better strategy than for a hundred or so members of an organization to meet once a month to discuss religious and political problems."

The Rev. Dr. Almer Pennewell of St. John's Methodist church, chairman of the league's committee of clergymen, praised the Loesch announcement of increased league activity.

"I am glad the league attacked the snooping census questions, and I know I represent thousands of pastors and churchmen who will welcome the opportunity to coöperate in the league's evolving program," Dr. Pennewell said.

Greek-Americans Plan Independence Observance

Greek-Americans of Chicago are planning their observance of the Greek independence day—March 25. Upon that day they will join with the other Greeks of the nation in honoring their countrymen who in 1821 began the fight which brought Greek liberation from Turkish rule. Special services will be held in the Greek churches in honor of Greek heroes.

Ankles Swollen, Backache, Nervous, Kidneys Strained?

If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles.

Worry, Colds, working too hard, late hours or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and put a heavy load on your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Nature's Way

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters and the heart pumps blood through them about 200 times an hour, night and day. No man has ever made a machine that would stand up under the work that the Kidneys are asked to do, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down as you grow older.

Fourteen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three natural ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, aliveness and enthusiasm which may easily make you feel years younger.

Money Back Guarantee

Usually, in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder disorders the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess Acids, poisons and wastes. And this cleansing, purifying Kidney action, in just a day or so, may easily make you feel younger, stronger and better than in years. A printed guarantee with each package of Cystex insures an immediate refund of all your money unless you are completely satisfied. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, under this positive money back guarantee, so get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c.

Dorothy Thompson.

Robert A. Millikan.

Helen Wills Moody.

Brenda Frazier.

Lou Gehrig.

Mrs. Osa Johnson.

Chosen by Cameramen

Hollywood, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Movie cameramen, shunting to the side for the moment the glamor that is their everyday lives, came up today with a list of the 10 most photogenic personalities outside filmdom.

The ranging represents the opinions of 209 members of the American Society of Cinematographers, which is the high sounding designation for the men who train the cameras on movie stars. They chose:

1. Helen Wills Moody.
2. Paul V. McNutt.
3. Robert A. Millikan.
4. Dorothy Thompson.
5. Brenda Frazier.
6. Edgar A. Guest.
7. Mary Roberts Rinehart.
8. Lou Gehrig.
9. Osa [Mrs. Martin] Johnson.
10. Rex Beach.

"This was in no sense a beauty contest," explained Joe Valentine. "The selections were made to designate those whose personality always stands out in their pictures."

ROOSEVELT RUNS OUT OF FIGHT ON CENSUS SNOOPING

Pushes Hopkins Into Feud with Tobey.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. March 16.—President Roosevelt today ducked out of the feud with Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] over questions inquiring into personal income in the 1940 census, as Tobey threatened to carry his fight into the courts.

Stephen T. Early, White House secretary in charge of press relations, told reporters that a telegram from Tobey, asking Mr. Roosevelt what law Tobey was breaking in advising citizens not to answer the personal income questions, has been referred to Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins for reply.

Calls It a Sit Strike.

Hopkins forthwith accused Tobey of leading "an informational sit-down strike against the government" by urging citizens to refuse to tell census takers about their personal income.

Unperturbed by the criticism, Tobey replied that Hopkins was engaged in mudslinging and completely avoided the real issue. He promised to use "every means available to me as a United States senator to bring this issue to a head.

"Many citizens, including Democrates, are planning to seek court injunctions against this census snooping," he added.

Tobey sent a telegram to President Roosevelt yesterday after the chief executive, without naming Tobey, said a senator was advising people to "violate the law" by refusing to answer the income questions.

Leads Drive on Snooping.

Tobey asked the President whether burocratic rulings now are to be considered the law of the land. The senator has been the spearhead of a determined drive against using the census as a tool for governmental snooping, particularly concerning inquisitiveness into incomes of less than $5,000.

Charles Tobey Jr., the senator's son and secretary, told reporters today that citizens in all sections of the country have written to the senator suggesting that they were willing to seek court injunctions against the income questions as a violation of constitutional rights.

Senator Tobey is returning to the capital to campaign for senate approval of his resolution for elimination of personal income questions from the census.

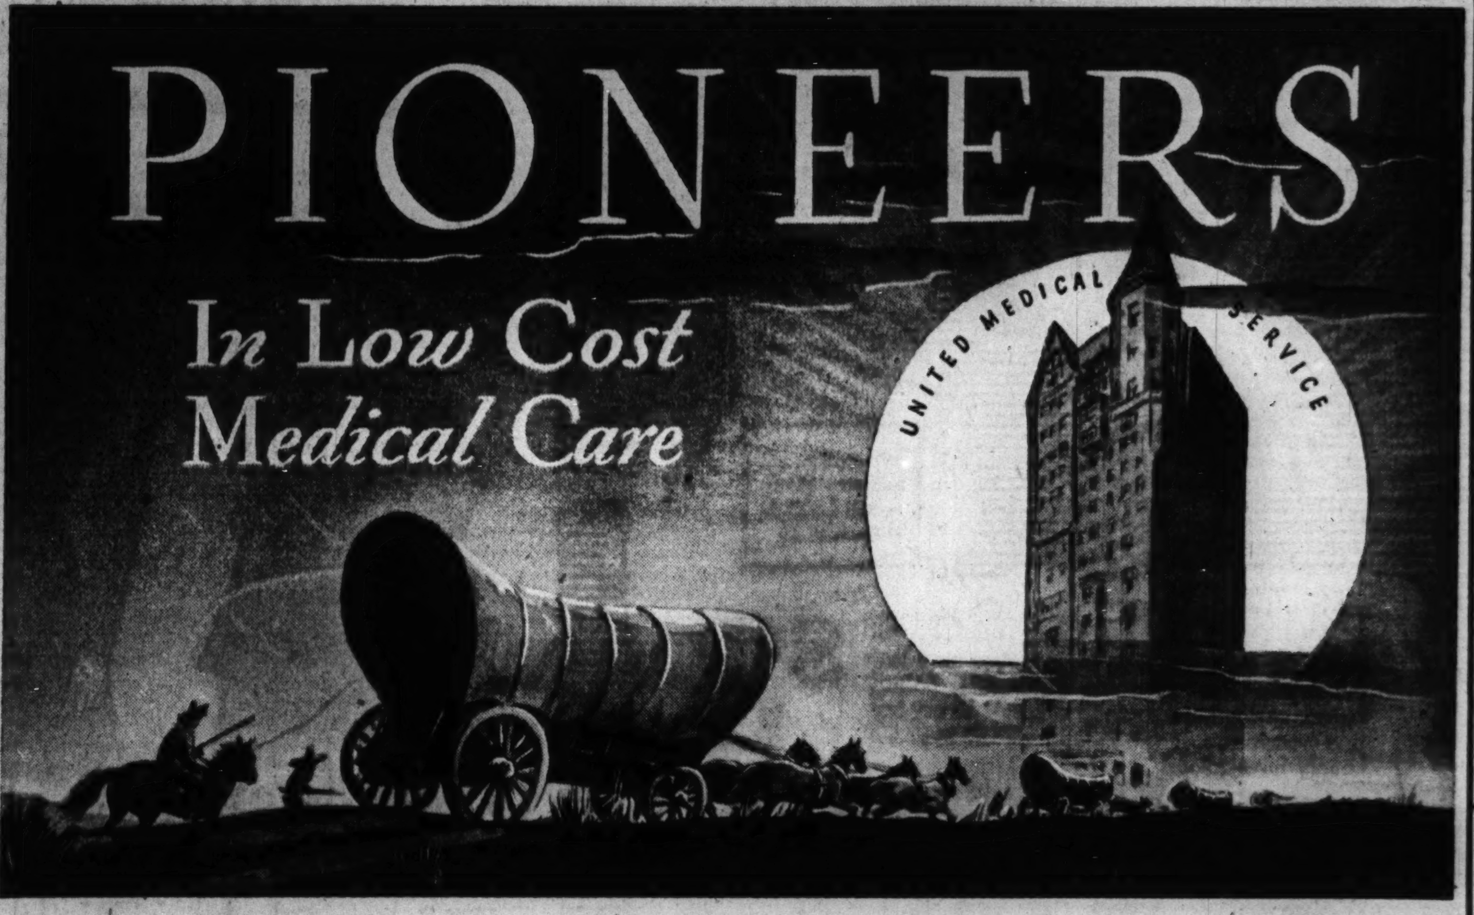
MDSE NATIONAL BANK
Personal-Auto Loan Dept., 2nd Floor, MERCHANDISE MART



OF the pioneers who contributed so generously to the progress of this nation none deserve greater glory than the pioneers in medicine. Their discoveries, particularly during the past 50 years, represent one of the greatest achievements of all time . . . victory over disease. The big problem in medicine today is not one of accuracy in diagnosis or treatment, but one of making it more accessible to the public. For while medicine advanced in knowledge and skill, costs also advanced until only the well-to-do could afford to pay for these necessary services.

A United Medical Service was Chicago's first pioneering effort to make all of the discoveries in medicine available to greater numbers of people through drastic reductions in costs. Its success during the past seven years has proven that this plan of providing low cost medical care is fundamentally right. With less money to spend more people have been able to obtain complete medical care. Between 100,000 and 150,000 men, women and children have been examined and treated . . . and over 65 per cent of these patients came through the recommendations of others.

Our complete facilities and low fees are available to the public direct or through physicians in private practice. This accounts for the fact that over 5,000 physicians in private practice have used our X-ray and medical laboratory facilities as well as counsel of our medical staff for more than 25,000 of their patients.

Those who need medical care for existing ailments as well as those who wish to protect their health against the encroachment of disease are invited to visit our offices and personally inspect our facilities and services.

The greatest value medicine can provide is the prevention of disease through early diagonis and care. We therefore offer the following medical procedures at low cost so that every person can have this protection: a complete physical check-up by the physician, an X-ray of the chest showing condition of heart and lungs, an electrocardiogram of the heart, blood pressure estimation, a basal metabolism test and a urological or gynecological examination, including medical laboratory tests of the blood, urine and other secretions for $10.00

Responsible Medical Care for All Ailments

In addition to the attending physicians' knowledge and skill, special medical laboratory tests are provided routinely with every examination. Competent treatment is impossible without accurate diagnosis. Be examined!

Diseases of Women often present a serious medical problem and the sooner they receive medical attention the better chances are for recovery. A gynecological examination by a trained physician including a regional and colposcopic examination and Schiller's test to detect infected tissue that may cause cancer of the cervix, microscopic examinations of all secretions and discharges, urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests is. $3.50

often cause serious disturbances in the heart, blood vessels, kidneys, bladder, and the prostate gland. An accurate diagnosis should be made without delay, as chronic conditions may develop and cause serious consequences. A urological examination for men that will provide the greatest protection includes a regional and clinical examination by a trained physician, microscopic examination of all secretions and discharges, urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests, the fee is. $3.50

Have Your Eyes Examined Medically If you are subject to headache, nervousness, inflammation of the eyelids, pain in the eyeballs, floating objects before the eyes, crossed eyes, impairment of vision, have your eyes examined by an oculist, a physician specializing in diseases which affect the eyes . . . Such conditions may result from iritis, retinitis, conjunctivitis, glaucoma, cataract, and cause serious damage to sight. Our oculist can diagnose and prescribe proper treatment. A complete medical examination of the eyes including refraction, special tests for vision, urinalysis, and blood tests, is. $3.50

Ear, Nose and Throat Troubles Those who suffer from repeated colds, sore throat, pain, or chronic discharge from the ears, impaired hearing, dripping at back of throat, should have a thorough examination by our ear, nose, and throat physician. Such symptoms indicate inflammation of the tonsils, adenoids, nose, ears, or connecting sinuses, and unless properly treated may cause deafness or other serious disabilities. The examination with tests for hearing, urinalysis, and complete blood tests is. $3.50
Tonsils and Adenoids Removed by Experienced Surgeon for $15.00

Have Your Teeth X-Rayed
Many medical problems are solved through an X-ray of all the teeth. A diseased tooth may cause arthritis, serious heart trouble, kidney disorders, indigestion, and other troublesome ailments. An X-ray at regular intervals will provide protection against these dangerous and frequently painful conditions. A full mouth X-ray, 14 films, is available here for. $1.50

Stomach Disorders Are Dangerous
It is especially dangerous to neglect stomach complaints. An accurate diagnosis should be made before any medication is attempted. A special gastro-intestinal examination including a physical and clinical examination by trained physicians, blood pressure, urinalysis, a complete blood examination, and serological tests is. $3.50
In addition, if necessary, there is a laboratory examination of the gastric contents and of the stool for mucus, blood, and parasites, for. $3.50
A fluoroscopic examination following a barium meal, repeated at intervals necessary to watch the barium pass through the entire gatro-intestinal tract, including necessary X-ray film, for. $5.50
A special X-ray examination of the gall bladder, which may be necessary, is. $4.50

Rectal Troubles such as piles, hemorrhoids, fistula, are dangerous and often cause pain and discomfort in other parts of the body. Have a complete rectal examination by a trained physician, including the use of the proctoscope, urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests, and microscopic examination of the stool for blood, mucus, and amoebae. The fee for this service is. $3.50

X-Ray and Laboratory Services
X-ray of the kidneys, pelvis and bladder ...$3.00
X-ray pictures of the sinuses (3 views) .$3.00
An X-ray picture of ankle (2 views) ...$2.50
An X-ray of the chest showing the heart and lungs ...$3.00
A complete basal metabolism test is $2.50
Electrocardiogram of the heart is...$2.00

Stylish Glasses
When glasses are necessary to protect your eyes they need not detract from your appearance. Let us fit you with this fine engraved, gold-filled mounting, in Ful-Vue style from our own optical shop, including best quality single vision lenses, for $6.95
Bifocals are slightly higher.
Other styles as low as. $4.50
No Charge for Sight Test

Obstetrical Care
is no longer a financial burden. Under our plan of budgeting all costs, the fee is paid before the baby arrives. Our complete service includes full term pre-natal care—and two months post natal care—necessary X-ray films—routine laboratory tests—delivery—delivery room—infant respirator if necessary—care of child—nursing, medication, and hospitalization for. $60.00
First examination. $3.50

GRANITE CITY HIGH WINS STATE BASKETBALL TITLE

DEFEATS HERRIN QUINTET, 24-22, AT CHAMPAIGN

Moline Takes Third Place in Tourney.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 16.—A cool band of husky lads from Granite City, in Madison county across the Mississippi from St. Louis, won the 1940 Illinois high school basketball title tonight, defeating Herrin in the final game of the 33d annual state tournament, 24 to 22.

In the consolation game between sime-final losers, Moline defeated Champaign for third place, 51 to 33. Champaign led at the first quarter, 12 to 9, but Moline went in front at half time, 22 to 16, and increased it margin to 36 to 25 at the third quarter.

As in the quarter-finals yesterday and the semi-finals this afternoon, Granite City trailed going into the final period. But persistency in rebounding finally was rewarded in each instance. Herrin was heading for the title, leading by three points with less than five minutes to play. The lads from Williamson county remained in front, 22 to 20, with 45 seconds remaining, and then the lightning struck.

Scores in Last 10 Seconds.

Andrew Philip, star of all Granite City's tournament victories, tied it up at this point and after Fred Campbell of Herrin missed two free throws Evon Parsaghian scored the winning goal on the end of a three-on-one fast break with just 10 seconds left. Parsaghian was fouled on the shot, but Granite City declined the free throw. Herrin finally got one desperate shot that sailed over the back board as the game ended.

It was the lowest state final score since 1933 when Thornton of Harvey beat Springeld, 14 to 13, and a far cry from last year's windup when Rockford whipped Paris, 53 to 44. And there were several other firsts, including the first state title for Granite City and the first time Herrin qualified for the final round. And it was the first All-Southern Illinois final in history and the first title for the southern part of the state since Johnston City won in 1929.

First Runner-up to Win.

What's more important to coaches and schools thruout the state, it was the first time in history that a regional runner-up ever gained the title. This would have happened even had Herrin won. Two weeks ago tonight Granite City lost to Wood River, 33 to 28, and Herrin lost to Marion, 33 to 30, in the finals of regional tourneys. But both teams advanced to sectional tourneys. Granite City gained revenge over Wood River in a sectional final a week ago, 36 to 22, for an even break in four games between these two rivals.

Granite City is coached for the 13th season by Byron Bozarth, a graduate of the University of Illinois; Herrin for the fourth year by Russell Emery, product of Southern Illinois Teachers college in Carbondale. Granite City tied with Wood River for the championship of the southwestern conference. Herrin tied West Frankfort for second in the Southern Seven league race, which was won by Centralia.

The champions finished with a record of 29 victories in 34 games.

An overflow crowd of 7,032 witnessed the state finals, running the official four day total to 46,256. This was the second largest in history, exceeded only by 48,265 in 1938.

The new champions are a cosmopolitan collection of young Americans. Most of their parents are of foreign extraction. Andy Phillip is a Magyar. Evon Parsaghian, Andy Hagopian and George Gages are Armenians. Daniel Eftimoff, Bulgarian; Edward Hoff, German, and Everett Daniels, Scotch-Irish.

Herrin led at the first quarter, 10 to 5, at half time 16 to 11, and at three-quarters 16 to 15. Until Parsaghian's winning goal in the last ten seconds Granite City led only for a 15 second stretch at the start of the fourth quarter.

Phillip scored 15 of the champions' 24 points. Fred Campbell got 13 of Herrin's 22.

Herrin Starts Strong.

Herrin got away to a 4 to 0 lead in the first two minutes of the title game on goals by Fred Campbell and Dallas Lillich. Andy Phillip gave Granite City its first basket after four minutes. Campbell scored again and Phillip converted a free throw. Then George Gages of Granite City closed the gap to 6 to 5. Campbell

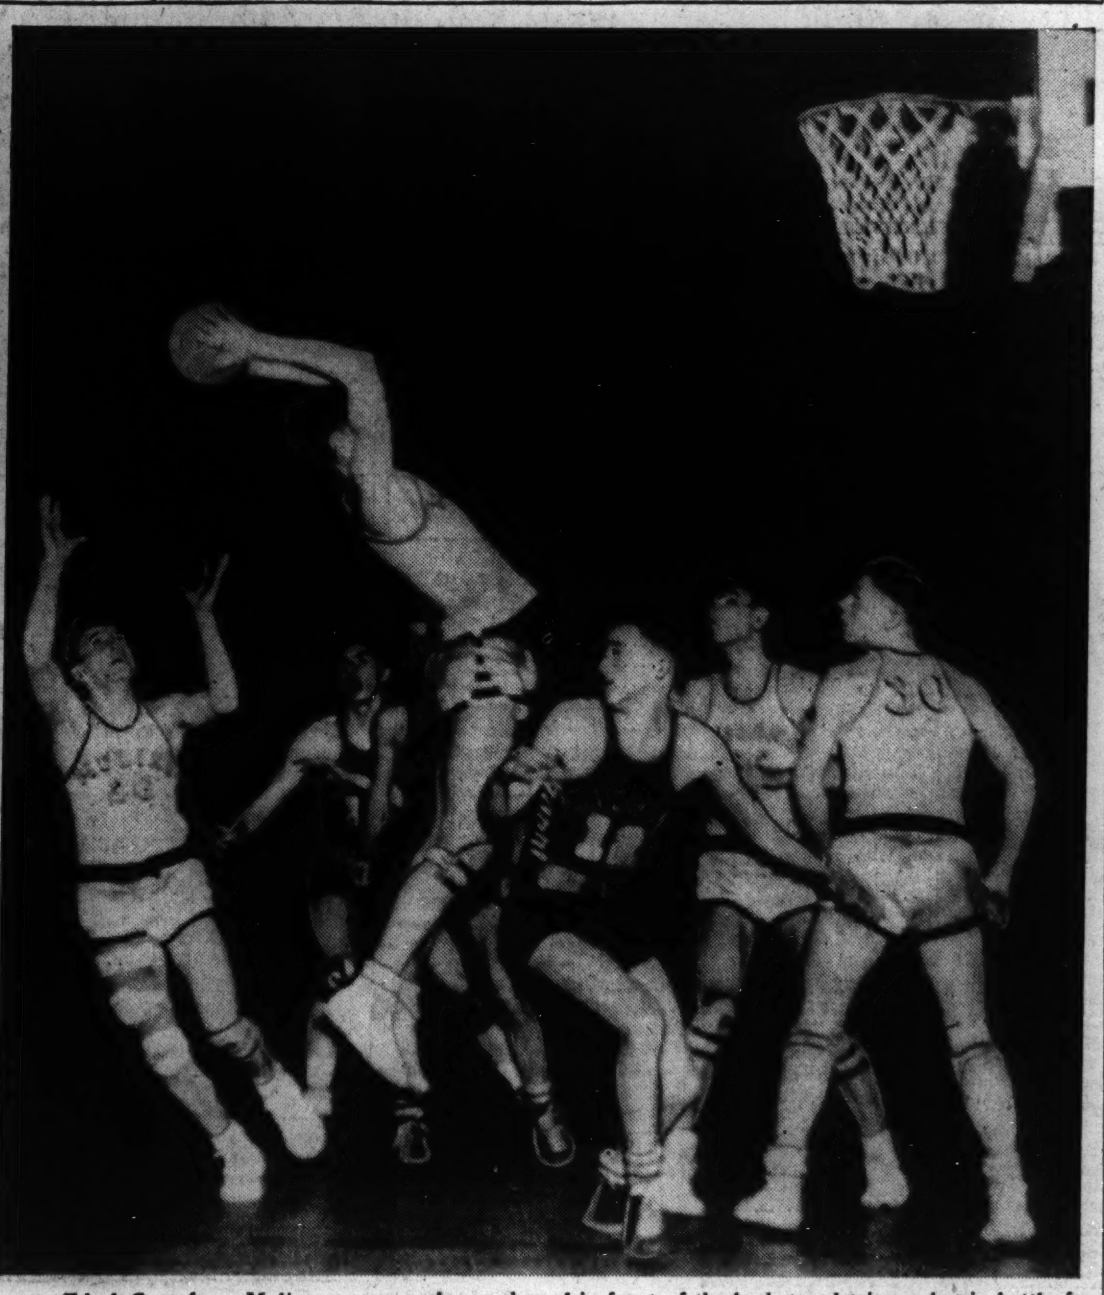
A BATTLE TO THE LAST GOAL IN ILLINOIS PREP TOURNEY

Brisk action under the basket as Granite City and Herrin fought for the Illinois high school basketball championship last night in Champaign. Daniel Eftimoff of Granite City takes a rebound out of a cluster of players. Others are Dallas Lillich (6), Herrin; George Gages (42), Granite City; Leon Davis (10), Herrin; Junior Newlin (4), Herrin; Fred Campbell (7), Herrin. Granite City won the game and title, 24 to 20.



Edsel Gustafson, Moline center, grabs a rebound in front of the basket and tries a shot in battle for third place with Champaign. Jack Turner (26) backs him up, ready to capture ball if his teammate had missed. No. 12 is Sidney McAllister of Champaign and No. 30 is Henning Olson of Moline. Moline won, 51 to 33.

Three Jockeys Hurt in Pileup at Tropical

Miami, Fla., March 16 (AP).—Jackie Flinchum, currently the nation's leading rider, and two other jockeys were slightly injured today in a pileup during the sixth race at Tropical Park.

The spill was a spectacular accident midway around the last turn in a claiming race and the horses were so closely clustered it was hard to tell what happened. Apparently Nutty, ridden by Apprentice Charles Wells, stumbled and two others with Flinchum and Irving Anderson up tumbled on top. Flinchum was bruised only on one leg and cheek, Wells was bruised about the face, and Anderson was merely shaken up.

In the featured Orange Blossom stakes, half mile test for 2 year old colts and geldings, the crowd of about 10,000 saw one of the biggest upsets of Florida's winter racing season.

Double Call Folds Up.

C. Leroy King's Double Call, which recently established a world record of :46 flat for the half mile, held a five length lead going into the final furlong and then was beaten by a head by N. L. Nathanson's General Jack.

Coupled with Socratic, Double Call was a 45 cents on the dollar betting favorite and of the $20,609 wagered in the straight pool, $12,785 was on the King entry.

Double Call broke in his usual lightning fashion but folded up in the stretch to let General Jack, $11.90 for $2 second choice, go thru to win. The time was :46 3-5. Socratic was third.

MATCHUP SCORES.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 16.—Matchup, 4 year old gelding owned by the Le Mar Stock farm, crossed up the form players today to win the Governor's handicap at Oaklawn park.

Consistently in the money but seldom a winner, Matchup ran the 5¾ furlongs in 1:08 4-5 to beat out Rough Time and Night Editor and pay $19.10.

Akron Firestones Beat Oshkosh, 61-60; Take Title

Kent, O., March 16 [Special].—The Akron Firestones tonight won the National Professional Basketball league title in a five game east-west playoff series by defeating the Oshkosh All-Stars, 61 to 60. Oshkosh had taken a two game lead in the first two games played in Oshkosh, Wis., but the Firestones came thru to take the last three contests here and in Akron.

Haslin Threatens to Quit Baseball in Salary Dispute

San Diego, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Major Charles Lott, president of the San Diego baseball club of the Pacific Coast league, said today Mickey Haslin, holdout third baseman, had wired him from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that he preferred retirement to acceptance of terms offered by San Diego. Lott said he would make no further effort to change Haslin's mind.

FENSKE BREAKS THREE-QUARTER MILE RECORD IN ARMOUR MEET

Charles [Chuck] Fenske of Wisconsin raced three quarters of a mile in 2:59.7 at the Armour Tech relays last night in the University of Chicago fieldhouse to become the first man ever to run that route under the three minute mark.

Bulwarking his right to recognition as No. 1 successor to the fading Glenn Cunningham, Fenske clipped 3.7 seconds off the listed world mark of 3:03.4, set in 1925 by Lloyd Hahn of Nebraska, and knocked a second and one half off the unofficial record time turned in Thursday night at Dartmouth by John Borican, who ran on a board track.

Fenske Runs Like Machine.

Fenske, paced by two Wisconsin runners, ran like a machine. Winner of seven straight mile races this winter, Fenske was clocked in 29 seconds for the 220, 58.7 for the quarter mile, 1:30 for the 660 yards, 2 minutes flat for the half mile and 2:30 at the five-eighths point.

The performance of the Wisconsin graduate student bettered the existing outdoor record for the three quarters mile, set at three minutes, three-tenths seconds at Princeton in 1939 by Wayne Rideout. Because Fenske's race was paced, however, doubt was expressed by amateur Athletic union officials at the meet that his time would be accepted as a new record.

In college competition on the program Michigan State Normal won the two mile relay in meet record breaking time of 8:05.3.

Kansas State Is Second.

Normal's team of Ralph Gildenstein, Bob Lee, Russell High, and Sterling Paris clipped one and two-tenths seconds off the mark Normal had set in the 1939 meet. Kansas State Teachers finished second.

Gene Littler, Nebraska star, won the university 70 yard dash in the meet record equaling time of 7.1 seconds, beating the defending champion, Walter Shelton of Marquette.

Marquette captured the university two mile relay in meet record time of 7:52.4 against the mark of 7:52.2 set in 1939 by Michigan State college. Bob Monohan, John Hohler, Don Vosberg and Len Pruski ran for Marquette. Summaries:

Michigan Wins Butler Meet; 7th Straight

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16—[Special].—University of Michigan scored its seventh straight victory in winning the eighth annual Butler university relays tonight. The last event on the program—the university 1 mile relay—decided the meet. The Wolverines beat out Pittsburgh, last year's mile relay winner, as Indiana, needing at least a second to win the meet, finished fourth.

Michigan scored 37 1-5 points; Indiana, 34 3-20; Pittsburgh, 21½; Ohio State, 14½; Notre Dame, 13 19-20; Michigan State, 9; Wisconsin, 5; Illinois, 4½; Purdue, 4 1-5, and Drake, 2, in the university class.

Butler won the college class title for the third consecutive time with 32 points. Michigan Normal of Ypsilanti had 29; Western State Teachers of Kalmazoo, 11; Wayne, 10; Miami, 10; DePauw, 4; Wichita, 4; Indiana State, 2, and Ohio university, 1. Toledo, Emporia Kansas Teachers, Earlham, Wabash, Ball State, Rose Poly and St. Joseph's of Collegeville, Ind., also competed.

In a special mile and half race, Gregory Rice, former Notre Dame star, finished four feet ahead of Walter Mehl, former Wisconsin ace. Joe McCloskey former Fordham veteran, tired at the finish but was able to beat out Ed Holderman of Purdue for third. The time was 6:42. Summaries:

CHICAGO NAMES INTERCITY TEAM; 5 EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS ADVANCE

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 16.—Sixteen fighters were picked from a squad of 30 today to represent Chicago in the 13th annual intercity Golden Gloves matches with New York Monday night in Madison Square Garden. Upon the shoulders of these youngsters rests the responsibility of carrying on where their predecessors left off after establishing a record of five consecutive meetings without a defeat. The New York team of 1934 was the last which beat Chicago, tho the 1936 encounter ended in a tie.

The selections follow:

112 pounds—No. 1, Harold Dade; No. 2, Walter Cavalieri.

118 pounds—No. 1, Jimmy Joyce; No. 2, Ray Brown.

126 pounds—No. 1, Roy Lewis; No. 2, Leon Haire.

135 pounds—No. 1, Tony Ancona; No. 2, Ed O'Connell.

147 pounds—No. 1, Savior Canadeo; No. 2, Anthony Jones.

175 pounds—No. 1, James Richie; No. 2, Shelton Bell.

Bases Choice on Performances.

These selections were made by Head Coach Johnny Behr, who based his choice on the perfomances the boys had delivered in the Golden Gloves tournament and in their sparring matches during the last two weeks.

Under the rules of intercity competition champions must fight champions and alternates must meet alternates, so the pairings for the No. 1 positions are already definite, even tho New York has not yet announced its complete team.

One of the outstanding bouts in the history of intercity competition is expected to develop in the lightweight division, where Ancona will go up against the New York title holder, Ray Robinson. These two met last year when both were featherweight champions, the eastern boy winning. Both repeated their march to titles this year in the next heavier weight division. They have come back with more skill as well as more power.

Robinson Is New York's Best.

Robinson was considered the outstanding fighter of New York's recent tournament. He scored nine knockouts in ten starts. Ancona, therefore, will need every bit of his skill to stay out of trouble when his eastern opponent starts shooting those sharp left hooks to the body and thumping rights to the jaw.

Chicago is considered particularly strong in the welterweight class with Canadeo and Jones in top form. The bout between these boys was one of the closest in the entire Chicago-

NOVARA, Italy, March 16.—A 17 year old rice field worker and five defending champions today led the way into the semi-final round of the Italian national boxing tournament. Among the 32 survivors from the original field of 130 are five of the leading contenders for places on the European team which meets Chicago's champions in the annual International Golden Gloves matches in Chicago Stadium on April 10.

The champions of the national meet will enter the special elimination tournament in Rome Wednesday to fight against representatives of three other neutral countries, Norway, Sweden, and Hungary. The European champions and officials will sail for America the following day.

Ciombolini Beaten in Upset.

Only one upset marked today's activity. Mario Ciombolini, a highly regarded featherweight who is a member of the Battalion of Sports in Rome, was given an artistic beating in a three round encounter that was the outstanding bout of the night.

His conqueror was the young rice field worker, Duilio Biachini. It was Biachini's 11th fight. He came to the tournament at his own expense and lived for three days on a loaf of bread with which his mother had sent him to the city.

Ciombolini, a stocky lad of four years' boxing experience, came to the tournament with a reputation as a puncher, but in Biachini he met a youngster with a natural aptitude for boxing. Biachini's triumph brought his plight to the attention of officials and Count Gerardo Leonardi, mayor of Novara, who is sponsoring the tournament. They immediately arranged for him to eat steak three times a day thruout the rest of his visit.

Five Champions Still in Meet.

Champions still in the tournament include Guido Nardecchia, international flyweight favorite; Frederico Cortonesi, featherweight; Egisto Peire, the lightweight champion, who made such an impressive showing in Chicago last year; Agusto Bonadio, a middleweight, and Nemesio Lazzari, the heavyweight who was beaten in Chicago a year ago.

Ulderico Sergo, former International Golden Gloves and Olympic champion, entered the bantamweight semi-final by slugging out a well earned decision over Faust Jemma, an excellent boxer, but no match for the experienced Sergo.

Nardecchia started slowly against Aldo Facelli, but when he discovered Facelli was unwilling to lead he carried the fight to him in a superb exhibition of two fisted punching. Facelli was bewildered thruout the third

NORTH SIDERS HELD TO 6 HITS BY 3 PITCHERS

Bryant Is Injured by Line Drive.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16.—The White Sox and Cubs devoted today's training effort to airing their diamond specialties. The Sox furnished their part of the act by administering a 15 hit, 9 to 4 spanking to their Chicago enemies whom they have been paddling for years. And the Cubs gave alarming symptoms of being close to midseason form by compiling only six hits—two in the last inning. The American leaguers now have a 2 to 1 edge in the series.

The beating also caused some real pain for one member of the Cub entourage. Clay Bryant, hoping to show his crippled arm of 1939 holds some promise, lasted only for the first inning, which was a busy one. Joe Kuhel slammed him for a two run homer and Luke Appling plunked him with a line drive in the last play of the inning. The drive bumped against Bryant's calf and he was carried from the field, but examination revealed that no real damage had been done. However, he will rest for a few days.

Appleton's a Little Wild.

Of three Sox pitchers who took a hand only one suffered to any extent. Jack Knott stopped the north siders on one hit for three innings. During the next three they piled up three hits against Pete Appleton, who was extremely kind about dispensing free transportation. Pete handed out three walks before anybody was retired in the fifth and each of these gifts blossomed into runs. The last of the Sox mound trio was Eddie Smith, the towheaded lefty, and, while he too was wild, he didn't yield a hit until the ninth when a pair of rookies dented him. None of the Cubs' so called regulars, Bob Mattick excepted, contributed a safety.

From the standpoint of Manager Dykes the hitting efforts of his choice rookies were highly satisfactory, altho Julius Solters, in charge of cleaning up, had another near profitless day. Bob Kennedy, who was at third from start to finish, ripped off a pair of singles. Don Kolloway, filling in for Hayes at second, singled once in two attempts. And Shortstop Jimmy Webb, whose triple helped to rout the Cubs yesterday, came thru with another extra base item. He doubled to score a pair in the ninth and add to the consternation of Julio Bonetti, the Cub rookie who yielded eight hits in the last four innings.

Clay Has Troubles.

Hayes opened the game with a single to left. Bryant hadn't recovered from this jolt before another came in the form of Kuhel's drive which cleared the right field bricks. Kreevich and Solters popped out, then Clay made the mistake of not getting out of the path of a low, whistling drive dispatched by Appling. The ball caromed off the pitcher's right leg and traveled straight to Rogell, whose throw to first base ended the inning as well as Bryant's stay.

The Cubs had so little sport during

Two records were tied and one broken as Tilden retained its senior division title, and Austin won the junior championship in the 28th annual Chicago public high school indoor track meet at the University of Chicago fieldhouse yesterday.

Austin scored 28 points to top the junior entries, with Senn placing second by scoring 21, and Du Sable third with 17½. Tilden had an easy time annexing the senior crown, piling up 45 points, while Du Sable was second with 17½, and Sullivan third with 16½.

Robert Bily of Austin won the 60 yard junior dash in :06.6, tying the record made by Harry Tyree of Tilden in 1938. The Schurz 830 yard junior relay team composed of Victor Schwall, Martin Sullivan, Thomas Smith, and Robert Trost, established a new mark, clipping six-tenths of a second off the old mark of 1:41.2 made by Schurz in 1935.

Tyree, running in the 60 yard senior dash, crossed the finish line in :06.5, tying the mark he made last year.

WHITTEN QUITS AS HIGH SCHOOL A. A. MANAGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 16.—C. W. Whitten of Chicago, for 18 years manager of the Illinois High School Athletic association, resigned tonight, effective Jan. 1, 1941, due to ill health.

Whitten, former principal at De Kalb High school, was responsible more than any one else in the growth of the association membership 400 schools in 1922 to 918 in 1940. Much of the work in recent years has been handled by Henry V. Porter, assistant manager, who resigned earlier in the month, effective Sept. 1, to become secretary-treasurer of the National Association of State High School Athletic associations.

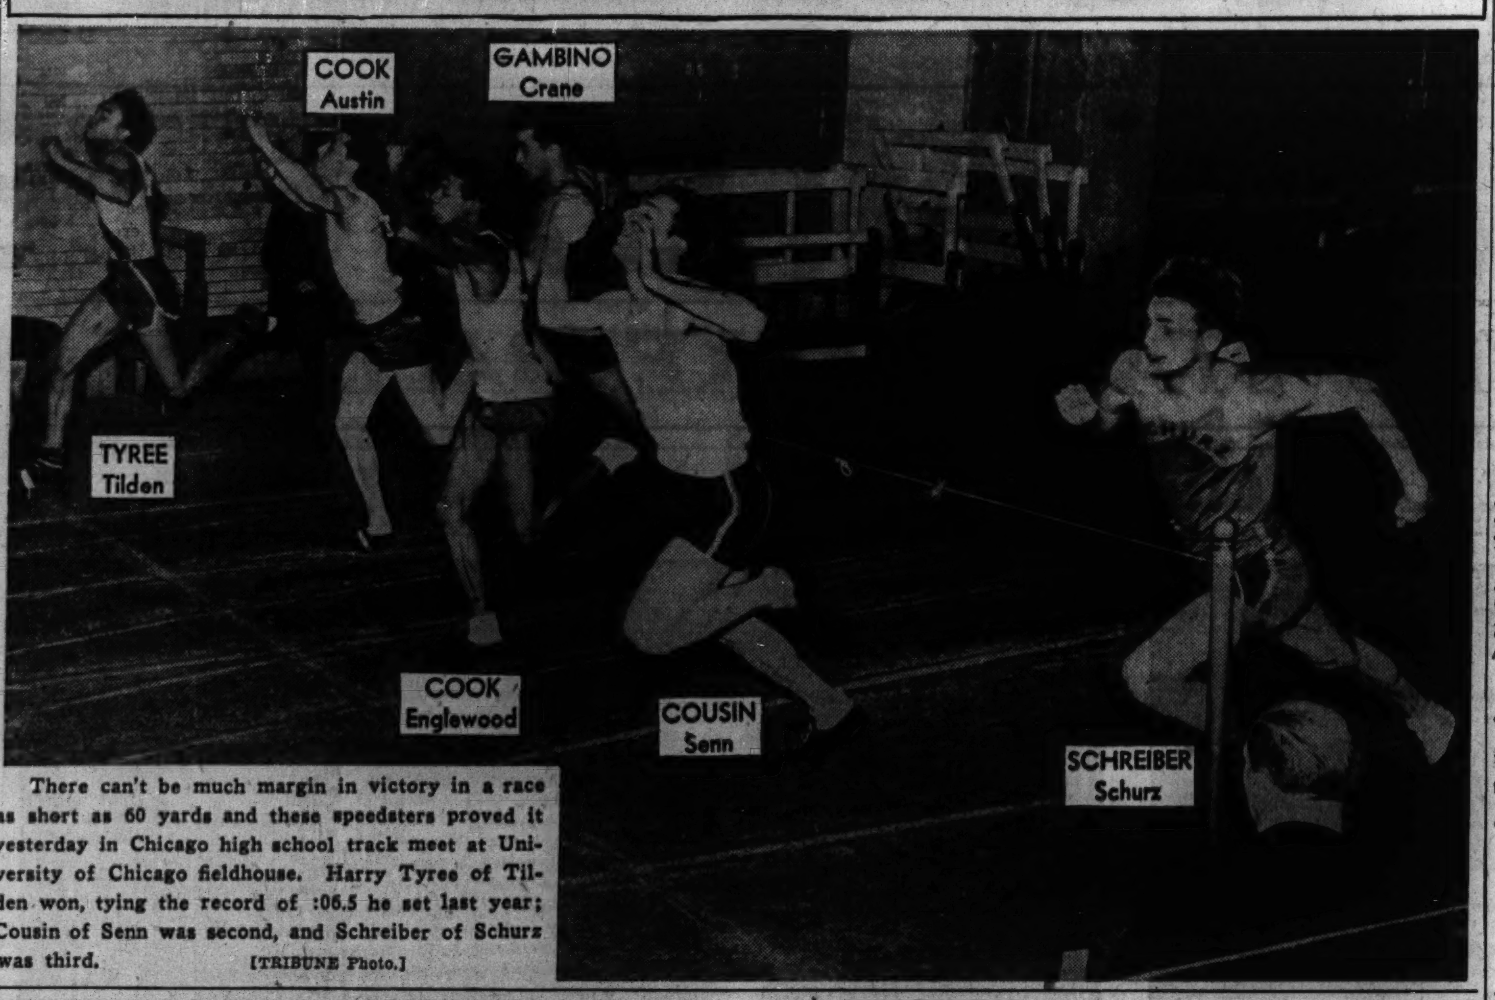
ALMOST A BLANKET FINISH IN PREP DASH



There can't be much margin in victory in a race as short as 60 yards and these speedsters proved it yesterday in Chicago high school track meet at University of Chicago fieldhouse. Harry Tyree of Tilden won, tying the record of :06.5 he set last year; Cousin of Senn was second, and Schreiber of Schurz was third. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Fergus Stars as 124th F. A. Wins PoloTitle

With Lieut. Bill Fergus scoring the winning goal in overtime, his ninth of the game, the 124th Field Artillery polo team defeated Oak Brook, 13 to 12, last night in the 124th armory to clinch the Metropolitan league senior championship.

The victory was the seventh for the Artillery trio of Lieut. Fergus, Lieut. Don Rice and Lieut. Russell Rasmussen, as against one defeat. It also brought the 124th its third senior title in three years.

Getting off to a 5 to 2 lead in the first period, Oak Brook maintained the margin at half time, but the 124th players evened matters at 9 to 9 in the third chukker.

The wild final period saw two goals in a row by Fergus and Rasmussen, after which Jack Armstrong accounted for three in succession to give Oak Brook a 12 to 11 lead. Then Fergus came thru with the tying point as the final session ended.

Steve Healy's goal just before the final gong broke a tie to give the Ranchers an 8 to 7 decision over the Chicago Shamrocks in the first game. The Ranchers' victory put them a full game ahead of the second place Woodland Polo club in the Junior division. Lineups:

Maple Leafs Triumph Over Americans, 8-6

TORONTO, Ont., March 16 (AP).—Closing their home schedule the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the New York Americans, 8 to 6, tonight in the highest scoring game of the National Hockey league season.

Held to a 3 to 3 deadlock thru the second period, the Leafs broke loose in the third and were ahead, 8 to 4, when they turned off the heat with less than three minutes to play. The game played before 9,480 was the first of a week-end double header for the clubs, which wind up the schedule in New York tomorrow.

The newly formed Toronto line of Red Heron, Sweeney Schriner, and Pep Kelly showed brilliant promise for the Stanley cup playoffs, contributing three goals. Lineups:

BADGER BOXERS WIN, 6½ TO 1½, OVER PENN STATE

Madison, Wis., March 16 [Special]. —Defeated a week ago for the first time since 1937, the University of Wisconsin boxing team came back by whipping Penn State, 6½ to 1½, tonight.

Capt. Omar Crocker of the Badgers, who never has been defeated in the college ring, stopped Homer Hoffman of Penn State after one minute and five seconds of the first round, marking the 17th time in 23 fights that Crocker has won in less than the three round limit.

The results:

127 POUNDS—Clay Hogan, Wisconsin, beat Capt. Mike Cooper, Penn State [3].

Mason City Defeats Ames for Iowa Title

Iowa City, Ia., March 16 [Special]. —A throng of 13,500 saw a new Iowa State basketball champion crowned in the Iowa fieldhouse tonight as Mason City's undefeated Mohawks crushed Ames, 41 to 30, in the final round of the state tournament.

Mason City had all it could do to maintain an 8 to 6 lead at the end of the first quarter. Bill Colloton and Don Pickel took up the offense at the start of the second quarter, however, and boosted the lead to 17 to 8 before Woodward's two baskets put Ames back in the running. Mason City led, 21 to 13, at the half and 32 to 19 at the three-quarters.

Colloton took scoring honors with 11 points while Bill Barbour made 10.

Holstein took the consolation title by upsetting Muscatine, 36 to 25, largely on the work of Roy Wehde and Don Asprey, who between them made 20 points.

MICHIGAN FINALS

East Lansing, Mich., March 16 [Special].—New champions were crowned in three classes tonight before a crowd of 7,500 at Jenison fieldhouse in the annual state high school basketball tournament. Flint Northern was the lone defender able to retain its laurels and became the first team in many years to hold the title for three consecutive seasons.

Traverse City, northern Michigan's sole representative in the finals, sprang an upset, toppling a highly favored St. Theresa five of Detroit, 26 to 23, in the class B final. It was the first time Traverse City had ever reached the finals. St. Theresa was the winner in 1935 and 1936.

Williamston, paced by Ron Stover, who racked up eighteen points took the class C crown with a 37 to 35 victory over Keego Harbor in the last second. Williamston held a 26 to 12 margin at the half, but Keego Harbor tied the count in the last minute only to have Dick Hagerman decide the issue with a one handed shot.

Weidman won the class D title by defeating Peck, 30 to 21. It was Weidman's 23d victory of the season and its first state championship.

FORT WAYNE MAN TAKES 2D PLACE IN A. B. C. SINGLES

Detroit, Mich., March 16 (AP).—Three men hit totals good for places among the first fives in singles and all-events in the American Bowling congress today.

Emil Freistroffer, Fort Wayne, Ind., led the attack in taking second in the singles with a 670 series, 12 pins back of his boyhood chum, Henry Halfman, Milwaukee, whose 682 has topped the tourney for a week. He rolled games of 235, 234, and 201.

Bruce Palkowski, Syracuse, rolled up 665 for third in the singles on games of 257, 232, and 176. Syracuse bowlers led the assault in the doubles competition, two combinations tying for second place. John Pennizotto-Sam Piraino, and Reed Casler-Carl Hier both hit identical 1,227 totals.

Harley Garman, Dayton, O., moved into a third place tie in the all-events on a nine game aggregate of 1,804.

The leaders:

Hammond One of 4 Indiana Meet Winners

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16 (AP).—Three teams new to the late rounds and a former champion won their way to the finals of the Indiana state high school basketball tournament tonight in a semi-final flurry full of upsets.

South Side of Fort Wayne, favorite in the poll of sports writers, turned in a 39 to 37 victory over Newcastle at Muncie, but Washington, another well liked club, toppled before an underrated Mitchell five, 20 to 19, at Vincennes.

Little Lapel, conqueror of Anderson, in sectional play, beat the big North Vernon quintet at Anderson, 42 to 25, and Hammond Tech's slow breaking team eliminated Logans port on the Logansport court, 39 to 33.

The draw for the finals at Butler fieldhouse in Indianapolis, March 30, sends Lapel against Hammond Tech at 1:30 p. m. and South Side against Mitchell an hour later. The winners clash at 8 p. m. The finals were postponed from next Saturday because of Holy week observance.

STANFORD STAR RUNS 100 YARDS IN 9.4 SECONDS

Long Beach, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford university claimed a world record equaling performance today by winning the 100 yard dash in 9.4 seconds in the Long Beach relays. Jeffrey broke the tape four yards in front of Mickey Anderson of Southern California, with Jim Ruffin, unattached, third.

A. A. U. officials said they would petition the national governing committee to place it alongside the marks of Frank Wykoff and Jesse Owens, coholders of the world record. Relay authorities for the first time in the 12 year history of the meet had an official meteorologist on hand to measure the wind velocity. It was approximately 2¾ miles per hour.

Four major meet records were bettered, and Louis Zamperini, University of Southern California, gained possession of the Frosty Martin mile trophy after his third successive triumph in the event. He limped across the line an easy winner in time of 4:22.2. He showed the effects of an arch injury rehurt a week ago in New York.

Amateur Fencers' League Sponsors 2 Meets Today

The Amateur Fencers' League of America will sponsor two meets today, a saber meet for fencers of junior rank, and an epee meet, also for juniors. The meets will be held in Bartlett gymnasium, University of Chicago. The saber meet will start at 11 a. m., and the epee meet at 2:30 o'clock. These meets are the last before the Illinois divisional tournament for which the preliminaries next Sunday, and continue until the finals, April 6.

WHEATON WRESTLERS WIN.

Wheaton college closed its wrestling season with a 28 to 8 victory over Beloit in Wheaton last night.

HOPPE DEFEATS RUBIN, 50 TO 37; TAKES CUE LEAD

Arthur Thurnblad	1	5	8	56	302	278

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Jake Schaefer beat Art Thurnblad, 50-49, in 53 innings.

TODAY'S GAMES.

1 p. m.—Allen Hall vs. Art Rubin.
2:30 p. m.—Jay Bozeman vs. Johnny Layton.
4 p. m.—Welker Cochran vs. Jake Schaefer.
8 p. m.—Willie Hoppe vs. Otto Reiselt.
9:30 p. m.—Joe Chamaco vs. Tiff Denton.

The first week's competition of the 25 day world three cushion billiard tournament ended last night in Bensinger's Wabash Recreation and the man known as Mr. Billiards, otherwise Willie Hoppe, was in an old familiar position—first place.

Hoppe stroked his way to the top of the 11 man field yesterday afternoon by making a fellow New Yorker, Art Rubin, his fourth consecutive victim. The score was 50 to 37 in 49 innings and the 52 year old former champion had the match under control all the way.

Chamaco Seeks Tie Today.

Hoppe's triumph broke a tie with Joe Chamaco of Mexico City, who won the national title in Chicago last year. This was held in lieu of a world tournament, and the Mexican laid claim to the world title. Welker Cochran, one of the current contestants, is regarded as such, however, having won the last world competition in 1938. Chamaco has won three straight matches and will have a chance to win his fourth match tonight when he meets Tiff Denton of Kansas City. Hoppe will go after his fifth triumph against Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia.

Before the grind ends April 4 each of the rivals will have played 20 games, so while Hoppe and Chamaco have made a good start, others have a chance to battle to the front.

Bozeman Continues Pace.

One of them, Jay Bozeman, Vallejo, Cal., stayed on the pace yesterday afternoon by whipping Denton, 50 to 33. He required only 37 innings, which is the second shortest contest of the tournament. In an earlier match, against Rubin, Bozeman concluded hostilities in 30 frames. Yesterday he ran 9 in the 11th inning. He made 29 billiards in the first 18 innings.

Bozeman has scored 195 points in 162 innings to 200 by Hoppe in 194 innings.

Cochran Wins; Tied for Third.

In the first night game Cochran went into a third place tie with Bozeman by defeating Reiselt, 50 to 46, in 56 innings. The victory was Cochran's third in four starts. The Californian had high run with a six, while Reiselt's best was five.

COLLINSVILLE BOY GETS FREE THROW AWARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 16.—Walter Evers of Collinsville tonight was awarded the Ralf Woods Memorial trophy, given annually by the Rockford Illini club to the University of Illinois basketball player with the best free throwing average. Evers, who converted 28 of 40 free throw attempts, was presented the trophy prior to the finals of the state prep basketball tournament.

Previous winners of the award were Lewis [Pick] Dehner of Lincoln, 1939; Tommy Nisbet of Harvey, 1938, and Harry Combes of Monticello, 1937. Combes now coaches the Champaign High school team, which was eliminated today in the semifinals of the state tourney.

Barney Kingston Takes 'Y' Table Tennis Title

Barney Kingston, Illinois state table tennis title holder, won the city championship by defeating Howard Lowry in the finals of the Y. M. C. A. tournament in Central Y. M. C. A. gymnasium yesterday. The scores were 21-6, 21-7, and 21-17.

Thornton Defeats Tilden, 26-25, in Lightweight Final

Thornton Fractional defeated Tilden, 26 to 25, last night to win the fifth annual Blue Island Community High school lightweight basketball tournament. In the consolation finals Parker triumphed, 31 to 19, over Calumet.

Granite City Wins Illinois Prep Crown

and Lillich added two more goals in the final minute and Herrin led at the end of the first period, 10 to 5.

Lillich dropped in a free throw to start the second quarter. Three scoreless minutes elapsed before Evon Parsaghian got a free throw for Granite City. A long shot by Lillich gave Herrin a 13 to 6 edge with three minutes left. Fifty seconds later Parsaghian swished thru a one handed corner shot. Then the tempo stepped up. Campbell dribbled in close for a basket and his free throw made it 16 to 8 with 50 seconds remaining. A basket and a free throw by Phillip reduced the score at half time to 16 to 11.

Granite City Takes Lead.

The third quarter was half gone before Gages of Granite City got the first score on a rebound. In the next two minutes there were three unsuccessful rebound barrages by Granite City and a sleeper opportunity before Phillip tapped in a rebound, cutting the margin to 16-15 as they reached the last eight minute period.

Granite City took the lead for the first time on Phillip's goal from under the net 15 seconds after the fourth period started. But Herrin was back in front 15 seconds later on Ed Parsons short shot, and made it 20 to 17 on Campbell's long one handed push. Phillip came right back with a short one for Granite City, but Campbell lost lost no time in making it 22 to 19 for Herrin. Phillip's free throw left it 22-20 with four minutes to go.

North Central Wins in State College Swim

Table of Points

North Central	38	Knox	22
Bradley	26	Augustana	20

The North Central college swimming team took the Illinois college conference title with 38 points in Naperville last night. Bradley Tech was second with 26 followed by Knox and Augustana.

Harold Henning, North Central junior, led in individual scoring with firsts in the 50 and 100 yard free style events and second in the 100 yard back stroke for 13 points. Henning set a new conference record of 1:04.2 in the backstroke in the preliminaries, breaking his own two year old record of 1:04.6. He slowed up to let his team mate, Capt. Hooper White, take the events in the finals.

The North Central medley relay team of White, Henning and Joe Scuito cut four tenths of a second off the conference record with a time of 1:29. Illinois college set the old record of 1.29.4 in 1938.

Everett Carlstrom of Augustana swam the 100 yard breast stroke in 1:13.7 in the preliminaries to break the four year old record of 1:15.9 set by Korevec of Ilinois college, Carlstrom, however, was edged out of first place in the finals by Hibbard of Knox. Summaries:

220 YARD FREE STYLE REYAL—Won by Bradley Tech [Ezold, Hippe, David, Cooper]; Knox, second; Augustana, third; North Central, fourth. Time, 1:47.7.

100 YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Hibbard, Knox; Carlstrom, Augustana, second; Hippe, Bradley, third; Muellen, North Central, fourth. Time, 1:16.1. [New Conference record, 1:13.7, set by Carlstrom of Augustana in preliminaries; old record, 1:15.9, by Korevec, Illinois college, 1936.]

50 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Henning, North Central; Davis, Bradley Tech, second; Libby, Knox, third; Vogel, Augustana, fourth. Time, 24.7 seconds.

220 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Davis, Bradley Tech; Fulle, Knox, second; Boyd, Augustana, third; Streid, North Central, fourth. Time, 2:33.4.

Three Stars Out of Midwest Golf Tourney

French Lick Springs, Ind., March 16 [Special].—The Midwest Amateur Golf tournament will miss such seasoned campaigners as Chick Evans and George Dawson of Chicago, and Wilford Wehrle, Racine, Wis., this year when the three days of play opens April 5. The three have been invited to the Masters tournament scheduled for the same period.

Evans was the first player to win the Midwest crown. That was in 1932. He repeated in 1936. Dawson is the only three time winner of the title, having won in 1933, 1934, and 1935. Wehrle last year was second to Gus Moreland, Peoria, Ill., when the latter won the Midwest trophy.

Moreland faces strong opposition in his attempt to repeat last season's performance. In the cast of 600 expected for the event there will be such players as Gus Novotny and Jack Hoerner of Chicago; Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., and M. J. McCarthy of Cincinnati, all of whom were in the upper brackets in the 1939 scoring.

The Big Ten will contribute its share to Moreland's opposition. At Northwestern university Coach Ted Payseur will pick a team to compete next week. Chase Fannon, Big Ten champion, is expected to lead the group.

Jim Ryba and Bride Are Back from Honeymoon

Montgomery, Ala., March 16 [Special].—Jim Ryba, former University of Alabama football star, and his bride, the former Frances Emily Young of Montgomery, have returned to their home here after a short honeymoon in New Orleans. Ryba, who was a member of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's College All-Star team in 1937, and Miss Young were married recently in Bay Minette, Ala. Ryba, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ryba of Cicero, Ill., now is in the insurance business in Montgomery.

'TIS A BIG NIGHT FOR AN IRISH LAD AS LEO WINS TITLE

Shure, and Kelly's Goal Beats St. Philip, 27-25.

Frank Kelly, 17 year old forward, last night became Leo High school's newest basketball hero. The young Irishman celebrated St. Patrick's eve by scoring a field goal in an overtime period to win for Leo the Catholic league senior championship, 27 to 25, against St. Philip before 2,500 in De La Salle gymnasium.

In another championship game Marshall of the west section triumphed over Manley, its neighborhood rival, 42 to 27, to win the Public School league junior title in the 132d Infantry armory.

Then in Comes Kelly.

Kelly, until a few days ago a member of Leo's junior quintet, was shifted to the senior team last night. With only a minute and a half remaining in the regulation game, Coach Vince Dowd sent the little forward into the contest for the first time to replace Norman Hawkey. There was no score in the brief period and the teams were tied, 23 to 23, at the end of the game.

In the extra period Jim Farrell, Leo's veteran guard, sank a field goal, but the score was tied again, 25 to 25, when two successive fouls were called on Kelly, Lefty Olsewski and Ed Kinsella of St. Philip making good on the free throw attempts. With only 20 seconds to play, Kelly took a hero's rôle by connecting with a long shot for the victory.

Leo Overcomes a Lead.

Leo led at the end of the first quarter, 6 to 4, but St. Philip moved ahead, 13 to 11, at the half. The champions, however, regained the lead, 21 to 18, at the end of the third period. It was St. Philip's first defeat in 12 league games. The westsiders suffered only one other setback in league competition, losing to Fenwick in their season opener.

ILLINOIS PREPS SUGGEST A NEW FIVE FOUL RULE

Champaign, Ill., March 16 (AP).—The basketball committee of the Illinois High School Athletic association voted today to allow the use of smaller backboards on an optional basis next season. The approved backboard now is 72 inches by 36. The new size board, 54 by 32, may be installed by any school wishing to give it a test for the 1941 campaign.

The committee also voted to recommend to the national rules committee that high school players be allowed five personal fouls instead of the four to which they are limited under the present rules. The national committee meets March 30 in Kansas City to discuss proposed changes in the playing code.

IS CAMPOLO ILL? ANYWAY, BOUT WITH BAER IS OFF

New York, March 16 (AP).—Promoter Mike Jacobs, rather than put in a substitute for Valentin Campolo, today canceled next Wednesday night's boxing show in Madison Square Garden. Campolo was to have met Buddy Baer in the 12 round main bout. Campolo, Argentine heavyweight, was ordered to bed with the grippe by his own doctor and told he couldn't appear Wednesday. Dr. William Walker of the New York State Athletic commission, said he could find no symptoms of anything wrong with the man.

Campolo is suffering from a fracture of the first lumbar vertebra and an infected left kidney, his manager, Jimmy Johnson, claims.

UNIVERSITY HIGH OF NORMAL WINS 6 CHAMPIONSHIPS

Bloomington, Ill., March 16 [Special].—University High of Normal has won the last six championships of the Corn Belt conference, but shared the basketball crown in 1939 with Fairbury and the track title with Pontiac.

May 3 has been set for the date of the annual Corn Belt track meet. The site will be either the municipal stadium in Bloomington or Pontiac.

Fairbury, Normal Community, Clinton, Dwight, and University High of Normal will be represented by baseball teams this spring. Pontiac and Farmer City will confine spring activity to track.

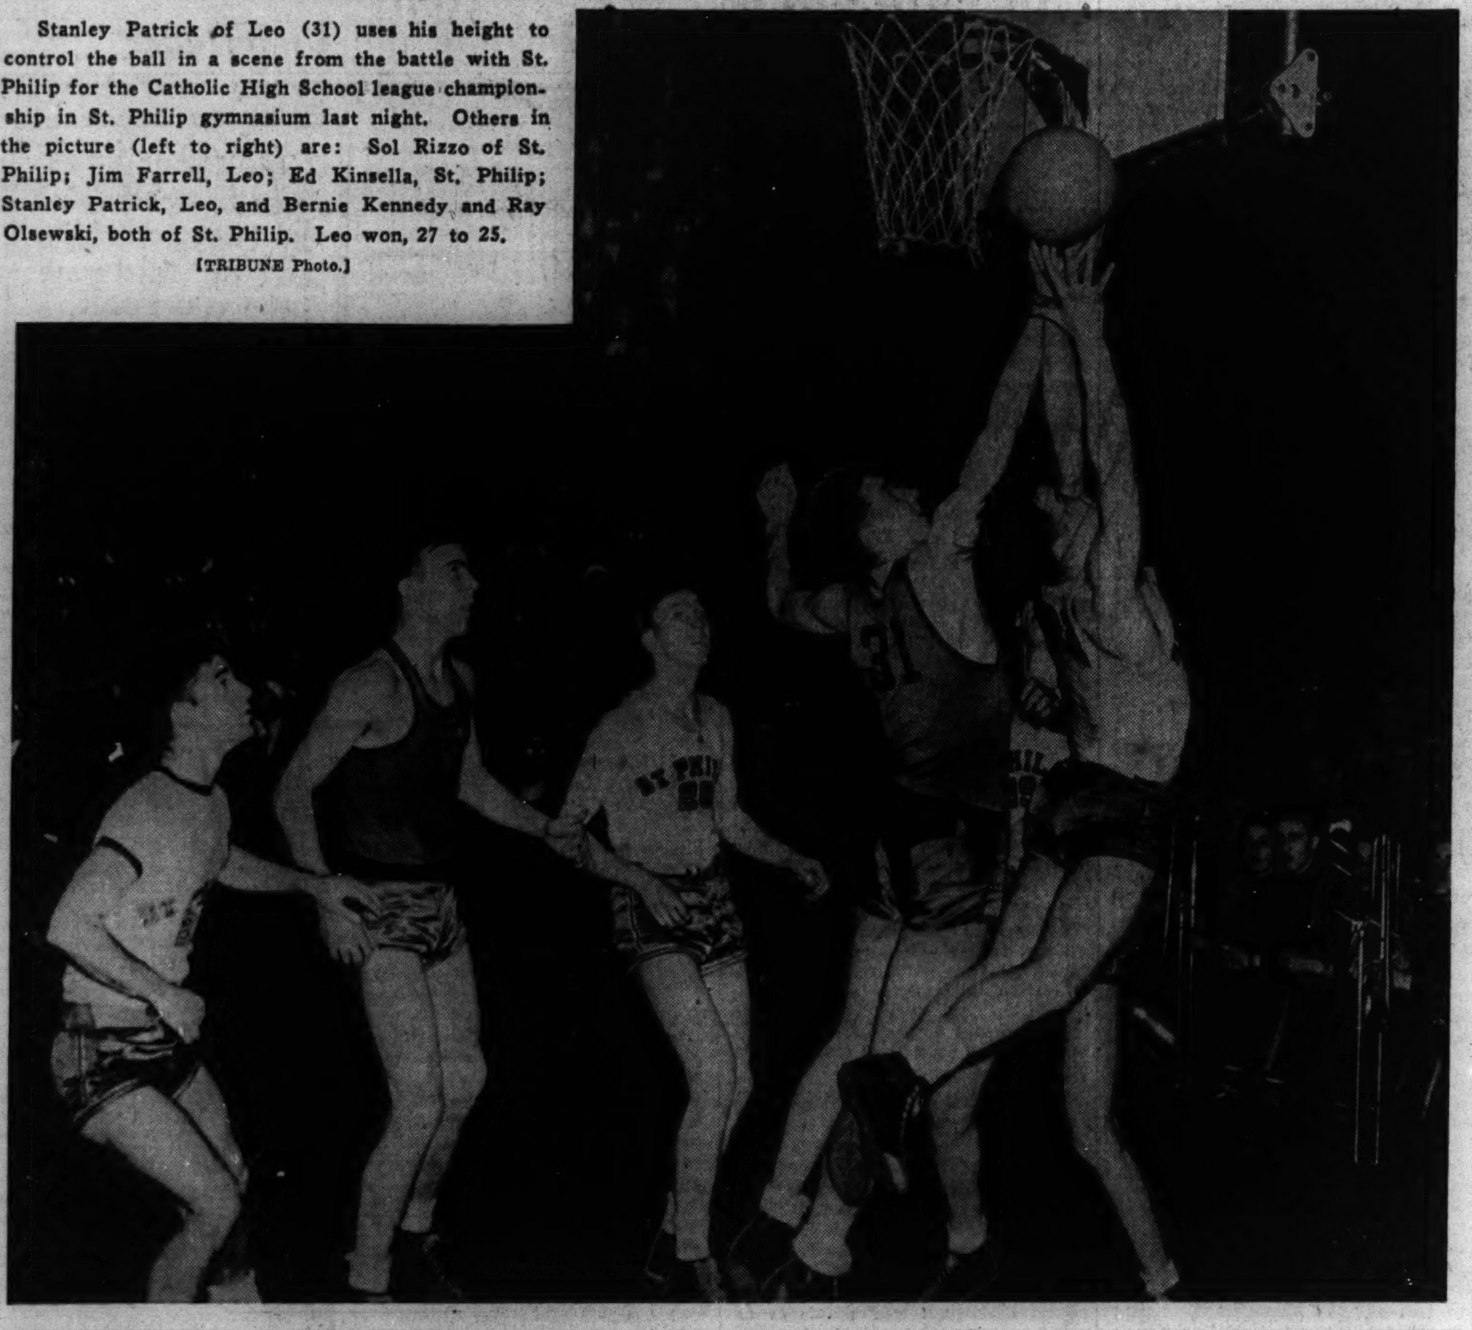
100 Out for Baseball at Wright Junior College

The second week of spring baseball practice ended at Wright Junior college yesterday with 100 players having seen action indoors. The head start on spring is made possible by the use of a regulation size league ball with a soft center. Coach Jack Rothaker's introduction of the soft ball gives the team an advantage of several weeks over its conference opponents. Last year spring practice was delayed because of rain and wet grounds.

Feigel Leaves Indiana to Coach at Terre Haute

Bloomington, Ind., March 16 [Special]. – Ted Feigel of Huntington, assistant to Coach Bob Royer of the Indiana university swimming team, today was appointed swimming director of the new Terre Haute Y. M. C. A.

WITH THE CITY TITLE IN THE BALANCE



Stanley Patrick of Leo (31) uses his height to control the ball in a scene from the battle with St. Philip for the Catholic High School league championship in St. Philip gymnasium last night. Others in the picture (left to right) are: Sol Rizzo of St. Philip; Jim Farrell, Leo; Ed Kinsella, St. Philip; Stanley Patrick, Leo, and Bernie Kennedy and Ray Olsewski, both of St. Philip. Leo won, 27 to 25.

Richmond Five Enters Loyola Prep Tourney

Benedictine High school of Richmond, Va., was admitted yesterday to the 17th National Catholic basketball tournament, to be held at Loyola from March 27 to 31, to bring the entry list up to six. Confirmation was received last week from Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Indiana state and defending national champions; Trinity High of Bloomington, Illinois title holders; St. Mary's of Menasha, Wis., champions of the Fox River Valley conference and the St. Norbert college tournament; and the Chicago representatives, Leo of the south section and St. Philips of the north.

The entry of Benedictine High brings to the Loyola tournament one of the most versatile quintets of the south. Three brothers, Ed, Charles, and George Kranitzky are regulars. Center Ed, 19 years old, and weighing 200 pounds, was selected on the all-city team this year. His 125 points in 14 games gave him scoring honors for the squad. Thirty-nine of those points were made out of 51 attempts from the free throw line for the highest foul average.

Recovers From Neck Injury.

Capt. Louis Miller and 17 year old Charles are guards. Miller suffered a neck injury in the last football game of the season and was in a cast for a month with no prospect of playing basketball. He not only recovered but was available in time to play in the school's 17 games. The forward posts belong to Alvin Dyer and 16 year old George Kranitzky.

Charles is the outstanding member of the Kranitzky family when the tennis months roll around. Last year he went to the semi-finals of the Florida junior tournament before being eliminated.

Capt. Miller, in addition to starring in football and basketball, is the regular first baseman on the school nine.

Plays in 1937 Tournament.

Benedictine appeared in the 1937 tournament and won the consolation championship from St. Mary's of Anderson, Ind., 42 to 30, after losing to Marquette of Milwaukee, 37 to 30, in the first round of championship play. In advancing to the consolation finals, Benedictine defeated Catholic of Little Rock, Ark., 45 to 20; De La Salle of Minneapolis, 46 to 26, and St. Teresa of Decatur, 37 to 27. Paul Baldacci, former football star at William and Mary, will make his first appearance in Chicago as coach of Benedictine.

Employing a fast break, Benedictine has won its last nine games to run the season's total to 13 victories and four losses. A home and home series with the University of Richmond freshmen resulted in a 41 to 34 loss and a 29 to 20 victory for the preps. Two of its other defeats were by two points.

OLYMPIC TRIALS IN U. S. LIKELY, BRUNDAGE SAYS

Final Olympic tryouts, regardless of whether the games are held in Finland this summer, probably will be held in justice to athletes who have trained with the hope of representing the United States, Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, said yesterday.

Brundage said nothing official had been learned as to whether Finland proposes to hold the games July 20-Aug. 4, as scheduled, but said he expected a decision within two weeks.

The A. O. C. president said a mail vote revealed that the members of the committee favored holding the tryouts in any case, to repay the athletes for their disappointment in case the games are not held. He said a meeting of the American Olympic committee probably would be called next month to discuss plans.

WHITE SOX WHIP CUBS AGAIN, 9-4; BRYANT INJURED

Knott's pitching act that only one of them reached base. Rogell, Herman, and Galan dropped in order in the first. It was the same for Nicholson, Dallessandro and Russel in the second. The perfect string remained intact until Todd had been tossed out in the third, whereupon Sturgeon broke it with a two bagger down the left field line. The next two Cubs folded up meekly and three of them were equally impotent against Appleton in the fourth.

Much to the surprise of everybody, the Sox were kept cool by Tubb in the second and third, but the American leaguers went back into action as soon as Page took over the Cubs' pitching chores in the fourth. Appling singled to left, went to second on Wright's infield out and home on Kennedy's single to center. Page was frisked for another run in the fifth. After two were out Kreevich made two bases on a short fly into left field. Solters singled off the left field wall to score him.

The Cubs began to get acquainted with the bases in the fifth when Appleton walked Dallessandro, Russell and Todd before an out was recorded. Mattick batted for Sturgeon and dropped a single in short center, Dallessandro scoring. Cavarretta batted for Page and hoisted a fly to Rosenthal, Russell scoring. Todd scampered home on a single by Rogell, but Merullo, batting for Herman, fouled out and Galan's grounder was gobbled by Leiter at first base.

Bonetti Is Fairly Easy.

The Sox built up their slim lead by adding two runs off Bonetti in the sixth. Cromer, the Indiana collegian, led off with a scratch single toward third. Mattick picked up Kennedy's roller. Turner poked a perfect sacrifice to advance the two runners and they rode the rest of the distance on a single thru short by Appleton. Kolloway also singled, but Leiter popped out and Rosenthal tapped to Russell.

The Cubs' sixth was an outstanding inning because they made their fourth hit, a single by Dallessandro. The two other Cub hits were recorded in the ninth. Collins, batting for Bonetti, singled, Merullo walked and Olsen singled, Collins scoring.

Four hits, one of them due to Cub fielding confusion, caused Bonetti to surrender the three ninth inning runs. Leiter slapped a rolled halfway between first and second. Rogell, Russell and Bonetti all assisted in the fielding, so first was uncovered. Rosenthal followed with a clean single to left. Solters popped out, after which Webb doubled to right center, Leiter and Rosenthal scoring. Webb went to third on a single by Cromer and scored while Kennedy was grounding to Russell.

POPE WINS FROM DIXON TO RETAIN SQUASH TITLE

J. Dudley Pope of the Dartmouth Alumni club retained his Chicago singles squash racquets championship by defeating Homer L. Dixon Jr. of the Chicago Athletic association yesterday by scores of 15-10, 15-9, 8-15, 16-17, 15-12 on the Lake Shore Athletic club court.

Bill Boysen of the Chicago Dearborn club turned back Lou Walton of the Chicago Town and Tennis club, 15-12, 15-5, 18-15, for the consolation title.

Cubs Play A's Today; First Time Since Series of 1929

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 16.—It will be Connie Mack day in Wrigley field here tomorrow, the occasion being the first meeting of the Cubs and the Philadelphia Athletics since the historic 1929 world series. Bill Lee will start for the Cubs. Pat McLaughlin is slated to get things under way for the Athletics. Lee will be succeeded by Claude Passeau and Ken Raffensberger. Tubby Dean and Lester McCrabb probably will do some pitching for the A's.

Cognizant of Dizzy Dean's timing of his arrival here tomorrow to make a dramatic entrance during the ceremonies for Connie Mack, Cub officials today were considering keeping him out of uniform and asking him to refrain from showboating in mufti.

Diz has not formally accepted terms or signed a contract. His wire to Front Man Rowland simply said he'd report to Rowland tomorrow. It is considered not unlikely that Dean will maneuver for another week of holdout publicity before he actually signs.

The Cubs put on a style parade this morning, several of the players acting as manikins in the new and revolutionary Cub 1940 uniforms. The changes include vests instead of the regulation blouses. The players say they approve the innovations, which look something like sleeveless union suits.

McNair has been unable to report any improvement in his sore arm. He'll be out indefinitely, but will continue to keep in shape with lots of running until such time as he's able to throw.

Mrs. Charley Root will throw a big birthday party for Charley tomorrow. There'll be 41 candles on the cake.

The weather man forecasts cloudy weather for today, but the sun continued to do its stuff, tho the temperature fell from the eighties in which they ranged during the first two games of the series. The weather man expects some showers for tomorrow.

The Sox will engage minor league competition tomorrow. They will play the Hollywood Stars in Hollywood. Ted Lyons or Val Grove and Ed Weiland will pitch.

Johnny Butler, former Cub third baseman, now a studio worker in Hollywood, visited the Cubs last night. Had to be introduced to everybody except Gabby Hartnett and Charley Root.

Stanley Hack signed his contract today and then took a fairly active infield workout.

125 SKATERS TO APPEAR IN ICE CARNIVAL SCENE

If practice makes perfect, the ninth annual ice carnival, sponsored by the Chicago Figure Skating club in the Chicago arena, March 28, 29, 30 and 31, is expected to prove an outstanding show.

More than 200 members of the Figure Skating club, as well as the American, Canadian and European stars who are to appear, are rehearsing daily under Lewis Elkin, senior professional skating instructor of the club, and Jose Castro, dance director. These two are assisted by Pearl Murray and Ruth Burns, junior instructors at the arena. More than 20 scenes and acts will make up the production. In some acts more than 100 skaters will be on the ice during a scene.

The more elaborate numbers include "Let's Pretend," presented by 125 junior members, ranging in age from 4 to 14 years. "Skating by the Zuyder Zee," a picture of happy couples in typical Dutch costume, "The Dance of the Hours" from the Opera La Giaconda, and by request, the repetition of "Skating in Lincoln Park in the Gay Nineties," a hit of last year's show.

The addition of Edi Scholdan, European juggler, will round out the comedy features of the carnival. He will work with Alfred Trenkler.

HORTON SMITH, BUD WARD ENTER FLORIDA FINALS

St. Augustine, Fla., March 16 (AP).—Henry Poe of Reading, Pa., and his amateur partner, Harold Mandley of Weathersfield, Conn., reached the final round of the national amateur-professional best ball golf tournament here today by defeating Herman Keiser of Springfield, Mo., and Dick Doeschler of Jacksonville, 1 up.

Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., and Marvin Ward of Spokane, Wash., won the other finals berth by ousting Clyde Usina, West Palm Beach professional, and Walter Burkemo, Evanston, Ill., amateur, 1 up.

EXPECT RECORD ON ST. PATRICK'S MIDGET PROGRAM

A new record is expected to be set in the St. Patrick's handicap on the midget automobile race program tonight in the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Last week the drivers who are competing for the indoor title supplied spectators with one of the most exciting nights of racing ever offered in the armory. Most of them will compete in tonight's main event.

Among the leading contenders for the title are Duke Nalon, Teddy Duncan, Wally Zale, Tony Willman, Paul Russo, Bob Muhlke, Myron Fohr, Ray Richards, Emil Andres, and Harry MacQuinn. MacQuinn leads in the point standing with Nalon, Duncan and Zale not far behind.

The 40 lap feature event has been won twice by Duncan. Others who have scored victories are Zale and Willman. Eight races will be contested tonight.

Rodak to Meet Salamone in Boston on March 28

Boston, Mass., March 16 (AP).—Leo Rodak of Chicago, former featherweight champion, has been matched against George Salamone of Boston for a 10 round bout here March 28. On his last appearance in this section Rodak dropped his title to Joey Archibald of Providence, R. I., in the latter's home town.

YANKEES USE OLD FORMULA; BEAT CARDS ON HOMERS

Keller's Three Run Drive Decisive in 4-3 Victory.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 16 (AP).—The New York Yankees edged out the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, today, the world champions using their regular infield for the first time.

The decision came in typical Yankee fashion in the eighth inning. With two out Red Rolfe and Tom Henrich singled and Charley Keller slammed a terrific drive that was misjudged by Harold Epps in center field and went for a home run. Earlier Joe Gordon had hit a homer. Score:

St. Louis [N.]	000 003 000—3	5	0

Batteries: Pearson, Hadley, Donald and Jorgen; Dickson, Barrett and Owen.

BARTELL'S HIT WINS GAME.

Lakeland, Fla., March 16 (AP).—Dick Bartell, who at one time and another in his National league career proved an awful nuisance to the Brooklyn Dodgers, helped beat them, 3 to 2, today for the Detroit Tigers.

In the eighth inning Bartell drove home Earl Averill with the winning run on a single off Steve Rachunok, a former Detroit pitcher freed by Commissioner K. M. Landis in his January purge. It was the fourth consecutive loss against American league foes for the Dodgers. Score:

Detroit [A.]	001 010 01*—3	7	2

PHILS TAKE 3D IN ROW.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 16 (AP).—The Phillies won their third straight game today scoring two runs in the eighth inning on four straight bases on balls and an infield out to beat Syracuse of the International league, 6 to 5.

Syracuse [Int.]	001 004 000—5	8	2

TULSA BEATS BROWNS, 9-7.

San Antonio, Tex., March 16 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns, eighth place American leaguers in 1939, opened their spring schedule today by losing to Tulsa of the Texas league, 9 to 7.

Eldon Auker, obtained from the Boston Red Sox, made his debut for the Browns and was greeted in the first inning by Stan Schino's home run with two on base. Tulsa never was headed.

St. Louis [A.]	200 221 000—7	10	4

INDIANS WHIP NEWARK, 7-2.

Sebring, Fla., March 16 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians turned in their third straight victory today, defeating the Newark Bears, 7 to 2.

The Indians made 11 hits, including five doubles and a triple. Rollie Hemsley, batting from his new left-handed stance, got two of the doubles, and Ben Chapman, Jeff Heath, and Ken Keltner contributed other two baggers. Score:

Cleveland [A.]	010 121 002—7	11	0

PIRATES WIN, 12 TO 8.

San Diego, Cal., March 16 (AP).—An eight run splurge in the second inning, starting off with Arky Vaughan's triple, aided the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 12 to 8 victory over the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast league today.

Big Pat Tobin threw a scare into the Pirates by fanning six of them in the last three innings. He looked good at a time when Pittsburgh is dickering to sign him.

Pittsburgh [N.]	080 111 001—12	12	3
San Diego [Pac.]	110 012 012— 8	18	4

Batteries — Swigart, Sewell, and Mueller; Olson, Tobin, and Salkeld.

GIANTS ROUT SENATORS, 13-2.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 16 (AP).—The New York Giants today defeated the Washington Senators, 13 to 2. While the Giants' pitchers were holding the American leaguers to nine scattered hits, the National leaguers assembled 20 safeties off four pitchers and took advantage of five errors. Score:

Washington [A.]	000 001 100— 2	9	5
New York [N.]	531 012 10*—13	20	1

Batteries—Haynes, Monteagudo and Farrell; Schumacher, Hubbell and Danning.

A'S WIN NO. 10, 3-0.

Hollywood, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Ed Heusser, Herman Beese and George Caster pitched five hit ball and Benny McCoy drove in two runs on a double as the Philadelphia Athletics shut out Hollywood of the Pacific coast league, 3 to 0, today. It was the A's 10th victory in 13 starts. Score:

Philadelphia [A.]	002 010 000—3	7	0
Hollywood [Pac.]	000 000 000—0	5	2

RED SOX, 13; CINCINNATI, 3.

Sarasota, Fla., March 16 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox today smashed out a 10 to 3 decision over the Cincinnati Reds. Emerson Dickman, Denny Galehouse and Dick Sayles held the National league champions in hand and the Sox pounded Johnny Vander Meer and Whitey Moore. Jimmy Foxx, Bobby Doerr, and Doc Cramer got doubles.

Boston [A.]	200 204 02*—10	10	0

BEES BEATEN, 5 TO 4.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 16 (AP).—Rochester of the International league took a 5 to 4 game from the Boston Bees today. Shortstop Eddie Miller of the Bees went the full nine innings, handling five chances and smashing out a triple. Lou Fette looked good in a three inning chore, limiting the Wings to two hits and holding them scoreless. Score:

Five Yanks to Start Today in All-Star Game

Tampa, Fla., March 16 (AP).—The Finnish Relief fund will be helped and baseball's pre-season publicity will be helped, but there was a general feeling tonight that what may happen to the National league in its all-star game with the American league tomorrow just can't be helped.

The expected 15,000 spectators who will contribute close to $20,000 to the fund will see an American league starting lineup which for sheer power probably has never been matched in an all-star game, with the power topped by a superb mound staff.

The two league squads of 25 men each were chosen thru a poll of sports writers from the teams in Florida.

Injuries Hurt National.

From a National league standpoint it is unfortunate that the Yankees are not training in California. Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager who will pilot the American league team tomorrow, has named five of his men as starters, with a possible Yankee pitcher making a sixth.

The Nationals are afflicted with an epidemic of holdouts, injuries, and ailments which have necessitated numerous changes. Only today Ernie Lombardi suffered a split finger which will keep him out of action.

The National league fans are taking the philosophical attitude that the game is purely an exhibition. But there is enough rivalry between the two leagues to make each player give his best. A victory will give the winning league a talking point in future arguments.

McKechnie to Use Entire Squad.

Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati manager who is in charge of the National squad, said that each of the 25 men will get into the game, and just to be sure, Morrie Arnovich, the "forgotten man" last year, is much in evidence; he will lead the batting order. McCarthy also is expected to give every man his chance.

Both pilots have been cagey about their starting pitchers. It was believed tonight McKechnie would start one of his own boys, Bucky Walters or Paul Derringer, and that McCarthy might choose Buck Newsom, Dutch Leonard or Lefty Gomez.

The game will start at 1:15 p. m. eastern standard time. It will be broadcast over the Mutual network.

The opening lineups and pitching stafs:

CULVER POLO TEAM WINS.

Culver, Ind., March 16 [Special].—The Culver military academy polo team defeated the 123d Cavalry from Covington, Ky., today, 14 to 9. Cadet Ralph Harris led the scoring with 7 goals.

BONURA TOLD BY GIANTS HE CAN HUNT NEW BOSS

Fails to Reach Agreement After Workout.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winter Haven, Fla., March 16.—Zeke Bonura, holdout first baseman and problem child No. 1 of the New York Giants, arrived in camp today, had a brief workout, a long conference with his employer, Horace C. Stoneham, and then ruefully admitted he might just as well have stayed in New Orleans.

Not only did the two parties fail to come to terms but when the session ended there seemed little likelihood of a settlement in the near future. Zeke was given permission to make a deal for himself with any club that wants him.

"I got nowhere with him," said Prexy Stoneham, "So I told him that if he wanted to try trading himself to some other club he had my permission."

Want at Least Two Players.

Manager Bill Terry, who also took part in the discussion, amplified this by stating that the only proviso was that the Giants would have to receive something worth while for Bonura.

"We would want at least two players that we could use for Jersey City," said Terry.

Bonura, after doffing his Giant uniform perhaps for the last time, said later that he hoped to make a deal for himself with Washington, the club from which the Giants obtained him a little over a year ago.

Griffith Not Interested.

But when asked whether he was interested in taking Zeke back, President Clark Griffith, who accompanied his Senators here today for their exhibition game which they dropped, 13 to 2, to the Giants, said: "I don't think Bonura would help us."

During the game, however, Stoneham and Griffith were seen in a close huddle, indicating the possibility that some sort of deal might yet develop.

Bonura, who received $15,000 from the Giants last year, was offered $7,500 this spring. This subsequently was raised to $10,000 but the offer still was spurned by Zeke.

Trustees Approve Ouster of Madigan at St. Mary's

San Francisco, Cal., March 16 (AP).—Ouster of E. P. [Slip] Madigan as head football coach of St. Mary's college was approved today by trustees of the school. The board, at a special meeting, upheld the recent decision of the five members of the board of athletic control who had ordered Madigan relieved of his duties immediately.

PRO FIVES OPEN WORLD TITLE TOURNEY TODAY

Bruins Face Fort Wayne in First Game.

The world professional basketball tournament opens with three games this afternoon and three this evening in the 132d Infantry armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

The Chicago Bruins, strengthened by the addition of Vince McGowan, and the Fort Wayne, Ind., Harvesters, will open the tournament at 2 p. m. Eddie Oram of the Bruins, who has been out with injuries, is expected to be in top shape for today's game.

Pat Kennedy and Dutch Kriznecky will be opening game officials. Kennedy is known for his colorful style as a referee.

Sheboygan Meets Rochester.

Sheboygan's Redskins, runners-up for the Western title in the National Basketball league, will meet the Rochester, N. Y., Seagrams in the second game. The Seagrams' lineup includes Wilmeth Sidat-Singh and Bob Stewart, former Syracuse university athletes.

In the final game of the afternoon, the Harlem Globe Trotters, who play chiefly in the Pacific northwest region during the regular season, will oppose Kenosha. The Globe Trotters have won 1,710 games and lost only 128 during the last 15 years. Kenosha is a combination of the Kenosha and Hollywood MGM teams of last year.

The New York Renaissance, defending champions, will present the same lineup which last year defeated a field of 11 teams to win the pro title. The Canton Bulldogs, opponents of the Renaissance in tonight's opening game, are led by Russell Cardosi, former Bradley Tech star.

Oshkosh Meets House of David.

Oshkosh's Stars, Western half winners in National league play, will face the House of Davids of Benton Harbor, Mich., in the second game. Three House of David stars are former Oshkosh Teachers college players. Le Roy Edwards, who has led the National league in scoring the last three years, will lead the Oshkosh team.

In the final game tonight, Joe Stydahar, Chicago Bears tackle, will lead the Clarksburg [W. Va.] Oilers against the Waterloo [Ohio] Wonders. The latter club has defeated the New York Renaissance, New York Celtics, and other strong traveling clubs.

The Syracuse Reds and Washington Brewers drew first round byes.

Quarter-finals will be played tomorrow night, semi-finals on Tuesday, and championship and third place games Wednesday nights. Today's schedule:

2 p. m.—Chicago Bruins vs. Fort Wayne [Ind.] Harvesters.
3 p. m.—Rochester [N. Y.] Seagrams vs. Sheboygan Redskins.
4 p. m.—Harlem Globe Trotters vs. Kenosha, Wis.
7:30 p. m.—New York Renaissance vs. Canton Bulldogs.
8:30 p. m.—House of Davids, Benton Harbor, Mich., vs. Oshkosh Stars.
9:30 p. m.—Clarksburg [W. Va.] Oilers vs. Waterloo [Ohio] Wonders.

C. Y. O. Fives Meet Today to Decide Titles

Finals in three divisions, girls, lights and heavies in the Catholic Youth organization basketball league will be played this afternoon in the Coliseum, 15th street and Wabash avenue.

Six teams will compete for three championships. The quintets playing today are the survivors of an original entry list of more than 300 quintets. They are the survivors of 98 squads which qualified for the playoff games and came thru them undefeated, earning the right to play in the title games today.

Pairings for Today.

The contests today send Immaculate Conception [North Park], against St. Columbanus for the girls' championship; St. Sylvester and St. Anselm will meet for the lightweight crown, and St. Mel and St. Columbanus will clash for the heavyweight title.

Immaculate Conception and St. Sylvester are defending champions in their respective divisions. Immaculate Conception quintet has not lost a game in two seasons in C. Y. O. competition, while the St. Sylvester five has won 30 straight games.

St. Mel Is Undefeated.

St. Mel quintet, composed of former St. Mel High school players, has gone thru the season without a loss. Last Sunday afternoon it scored one of the biggest upsets of the season, defeating last season's heavyweight champion, Immaculate Conception.

At 1:30 o'clock, the Catholic grammar school basketball championship will be decided when St. Stanislaus Kostka and St. Sabina fives meet.

SHAMROCKS AND HORNETS TO OPEN HOCKEY PLAYOFF

The C. Y. O. Shamrocks and Chicago Hornets will meet in the first of a two game series in the Chicago arena today to decide the playoff championship of the Amateur Hockey league. With total goals in the two games to decide the title, a wide open game is in prospect. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

The Hornets will depend on the goal tending of Jock Riddell behind the defensive play of Phil Shimmin and Gil Miller, and the scoring abilities of two smooth working forward lines, led by the veteran Al Soumi and the fast skating Vic Boutin.

The C. Y. O. defense pair of Moose Hallett and Art Larkin, who were mates at Dartmouth will carry most of the burden in front of young Bob Kuhn in the Shamrock nets.

The Maj. Frederic McLaughlin trophy will be given to the Hornets by Johnny Gottselig, Blackhawk veteran, before the game. The Hornets finished first in the league standings.

Purple Stars in Other Sports Turn to Baseball

Two dollar mutuels paid: Dixie Girl, $18.70 straight, $10.00 place, $7.10 show; Flag Unfurled, $32.40 place, $14.70 show; Mama Lula, $8.50 show.

DIXIE GIRL, under powerful ride, was kept close to early pace, ran into lead entering final furlong and just lasted to win. FLAG UNFURLED was taken to outside, finished with a rush, and would have won in another stride. MAMA LULA ran a good race. TONEY'S GIRL had speed for seven furlongs, then quit. STING RAY stopped to a walk.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $900. Claiming prices, $1,250 to $1,000. Four year olds and up. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 2:40½. Off at 2:41½. 36 SEEK PLACES ON BASEBALL SQUAD AT N. U.

Team Leaves Thursday on Southern Trip.

Thirty-six players, including 10 letter men and a large assortment of sophomores headed by Bill deCorrovont, outfielder, and Dick Klein, pitcher, are seeking positions on Northwestern university's baseball team, which will leave Thursday on an eight game southern trip.

DeCorrovont and Klein, respective stars of last season's football and basketball teams, will transfer their talents to the baseball diamond. De Correvont is regarded as a promising center field candidate, while Klein, who placed second in the Big Ten basketball scoring, is expected to prove a valuable addition to the Purple pitching staff.

Klores Has Large Squad.

Stan Klores, the Wildcats' new coach, inherited one of the largest squads to report for baseball at Northwestern in recent years. Eleven pitchers, 10 infielders, 10 outfielders and five catchers are candidates for the squad. Eighteen players will be selected for the southern trip.

Eight games will be played in the south, starting with a two game series with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge March 22 and 23. Two games each also will be played with Southwestern Louisiana State institute, Tulane, and Alabama.

Goldak, Rosch Head Pitchers.

John Goldak and Fred Rosch, veteran right handers, head the large pitching staff. Goldak appeared in six conference games last year, winning two and losing two, while Rosch was credited with one victory in two Big Ten starts. Klein, star hurler on last year's freshman team, is expected to be a regular starter. The 200 pound basketball star possesses exceptional speed.

Three experienced catchers will provide strength at the backstop assignment. Nick Conteas and Ash Arnold, who shared the catching position last year, are available along with Frank Collins, a lette. man from two years ago. It is probable that Conteas may be shifted to first base.

Have Problem at First Base.

Biggest infield problem is at first base, where no experienced candidate is available. Nick Conteas, veteran catcher, will be used at first along with Bob Shepard, basketball player, who is making his first bid for a baseball position. Dick Erdlitz, a sophomore and another football player, seems to have second base clinched. Two letter men, George McKinnon and Charlie Melchoir, are battling for the shortstop position, while Erwin Madsen, last year's third baseman, again is on hand. Capt. Fred Shinkevich and Alex Lustig, last year's regular left and right fielders, respectively, are back again. De Correvont appears the best of the other outfielders, and will be stationed in center field. Henry Clason, sophomore basketball player, is another outfield prospect.

B.B.Y.O. Fives Will Play Nine Games Today

Third round and quarter final games in the fifth annual B'nai B'rith Youth organization basketball tournament will be played today in the Boys' Brotherhood Republic and Columbus Park gymnasiums.

Nine games will be played divided among the 145 pound, heavyweight and lodge divisions. Five contests are scheduled in Columbus Park, starting at 11 o'clock. Four games will be held in the B. B. R. beginning at 12:30 p. m.

Finals of the B. B. Y. O. tournament will be held on Wednesday night, March 27, in St. Philip's gymnasium, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue. On Wednesday night April 3, the B. B. Y. O. will be host to the C. Y. O. in the third annual all-star contest in Lane High school gymnasium, 2501 West Addison street. Today's schedule:

BOYS' BROTHERHOOD REPUBLIC.

2 p. m.—Spilkets vs. Coteries [heavyweights].
3 p. m.—Eichners vs. Maccabees [145 pounds].

POSTMAN HOME TAKES 3 MILE STEEPLECHASE

Southern Pines, N. C., March 16 (AP).—Postman Home, 10 year old chestnut gelding entered by Mrs. Eva Spillman of The Plains, Va., with J. Harrison up, won the Sand Hills Challenge cup race, three miles over timber, at the Barber estate course this afternoon. The time was 7:8. Gil Blas, owned by Carleton S. Palmer of Southern Pines and New York, with L. Murdock up, was second.

Mansfield Park, 11 year old brown gelding entered by Geoffrey Laing of Southern Pines, an unknown, took a lead of 300 yards for more than two miles until he spilled his rider at the end of two and a quarter miles. F. Powers Jr. was the rider.

Faction Fighter, Paul Mellon's sturdy 7 year old gelding, which won the steeplechase last year, fell at the two and a quarter mile jump, with S. Watters up. Home Sweet Home, the entry of Mrs. James C. Clark of Mount Kisco, N. Y., with R. Byrne up, was holding second place up to the last jump, when he fell.

80 Per Cent of Chicago Trucks Go Thru Tests Under New Law

Eighty per cent of the trucks in Chicago have undergone comprehensive tests required under the new state motor trucking law. This announcement was made yesterday by Emanuel Solomon, local head of the division of motor carriers.

The tests have been carried on since March 1 in state approved testing lanes, most of them located in large garages. In the two previous months the city public vehicle license commission coöperated by permitting trucks to be tested in some of the city testing lanes.

Must Carry Liability Insurance.

The state trucking law provides, in addition to passing two tests a year, that trucking operators must carry public liability and property damage insurance or else provide assurance of financial liability. Trucks passing the tests—which involve examination of brakes, lights, and wheel alignments—receive yellow stickers which must be pasted on the windshield.

About thirty authorized lanes are now in operation thruout Chicago, according to Solomon. In order to operate the lanes, the garage owners were required to file applications for permits with the state motor carriers division. Department examiners inspected the testing equipment of applicants and those that proved satisfactory won permits, upon providing a $1,000 bond.

Cost of Tests Varies.

The individual tests cost from 75 cents to $2, depending on the size and weight of the truck. The garage owner is entitled to keep this as profit. He also pays for all printed matter sent to truck operators and is allowed, according to Solomon, to send whatever advertisements he wishes together with the announcement regarding his testing station.

In other parts of Illinois, especially downstate, the tests have not progressed as rapidly. Several downstate courts have under consideration efforts to have the law declared invalid on the ground of unconstitutionality. Various temporary injunctions against the tests have been granted, but they affect only those truck operators who filed petitions for the injunctions.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

CHIVALRY DYING?

Chicago, March 4.—It has long since come to pass that our stalwart guardians of the boulevards—the Chicago park police—are shooting for an all-time record of something or other in the matter of issuing tickets to a traffic offending public.

So zealously are they going about strewing their driver victims with stinging darts from their summons quivvers, and so jealously are they guarding their prey that it seems high time that somebody rose up from the battleground of dead, dying, and wounded to remind them and to ask generally if chivalry is dead. Or is it, perhaps, that the park police—whom even their brothers on the city police force look down upon with glumness when reference to them is made of policemen—do not know what chivalry, or the art of giving his prey a sporting chance, is?

Our park stalwarts seem too burdened with their packs of ticket books and too preoccupied with devious ways of unloading their burden on a most-times unconsciously offending public. It was recently suggested that perhaps this is the park police's idea of supplanting the usual charity racket with which the public is so painfully familiar. Maybe Chief James Kerr and his chief aid, Capt. Roger Shanahan, don't know what their stalwarts of the boulevards are doing, and I should like to suggest to them that humans still react more favorably to an occasional lecture or good honest talk by an understanding policeman willing to forgive an honest mistake, rather than the brusque, mailed fist method that is so briskly being employed.

This is from a house wife who has watched and listened with understanding sympathy these last three years to a husband turned sour by virtue of two minor offenses against the park police, viz: first, partly to cross to the wrong side of the boulevard in front of his home on a Sunday with two children in his car to pick up his wife to go to Sunday dinner, which was made miserable as a result, and, secondly, for making a left turn at a south side, no left turn location, again on a Sunday, while he was driving his children to the theater. In this case he honestly was unaware of his fault since it was in a residential center. For each offense he was fined $2. [Just send in by messenger or mail to 810 City Hall, to quote from the slip.]

MRS. H. L.

PROTESTS TAG SYSTEM.

Chicago, March 12.—With every movement of an automobile a driver can violate some city ordinance. Now a policeman can tag a car, without the owner's presence, which requires either a court trip or a fine from $2 up, without recourse to anything except legal resistance, time, and costs. The policeman can much easier fill his daily quota of arrest slips and become eligible sooner for promotion because he has arrested more innocent tax burdened motorists. Thus he has more time to sit in the corner café, or stall elsewhere. The motor club has sponsored many such preposterous ordinances, but I fail to see where they will benefit by this one.

L. A. WALTERS.

THE OHIO PLAN.

Newark, O., March 12.—Some 15 years ago, on our first auto trip to Chicago, we were surprised at the large number of Ohio cars on Chicago streets, and, as it was midsummer, at the large number of Illinois cars with a last year's license plate.

Evidently, from letters to this column recently, the same condition still prevails.

To an Ohio driver this seems like gross carelessness upon the part of your police system.

Ohio licenses expire at midnight March 31. After that date no cars are driven on our streets or highways with a last year's license. Police, sheriffs, and highway patrols enforce the law and no one "has a drag."

Our system of issuing licenses also is away ahead of Illinois. Our county has at least 10 places where licenses are available, and can be had in a few minutes, after March 1. Other counties also have these local offices.

Our driver's licenses issued at a later date, are obtained just as easily, if one is able to answer the questions satisfactorily and has no traffic court charge against him. Better try the Ohio plan.

O. E. COOPERRIDER.

COURTESY AT TEST.

Chicago, March 6.—There is so often criticism of the curtness and impoliteness of minor city officials when the ordinary citizen has to deal with them that I'd like to report a very courteous experience I had today.

Recently I moved to Chicago from Ohio and found it necessary to take an automobile driver's test for a license. I was notified by the state to report to Garfield park for my test. While taking the test I was very much impressed by the courtesy of the two men who gave the oral, written, and eye tests, and by the consideration of the policeman who handled the road test.

I muffed several of the questions, but the questioner was very patient about explaining the correct answers and their relation to safe driving on the highways. A man before me had difficulty with the eye test and was given sound and considerate advice in a courteous manner.

This attitude by officials certainly should go a long way toward the better understanding of the reasons why in safe driving, and the men should be complimented on the manner in which they handle the tests.

GEORGE R. BELL.

STOLEN FROM PARKED CAR.

Canton, Ill., March 8.—May I offer myself as a terrible example of stupidity to any one who might be careless enough to leave articles of value in a parked car? Last week while visiting in Chicago, my home movie equipment was stolen from my car. I'd give my right eye to recover the films, which included ones showing the first five years of my small son's life. These films, of course, are worthless to any one else. The next time before you leave your car ask yourself if there is anything in it that you wouldn't want to do without.

HUGH CROSS HITS PRESENT NEGLECT OF MAIN ROADS

Urges Deathproof Highway Building Program.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 16.—A deathproof highway construction program was advocated today by Hugh W. Cross of Jerseyville, speaker of the house of representatives and candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

As presiding officer in the lower chamber of the assembly at last year's session, Cross was responsible to a large measure for rescuing Chicago's superhighway program from a political death. The legislation a few weeks ago was nullified by a supreme court decision invalidating the financial plan enacted by the assembly.

In the position to which he aspires, Cross would be the presiding officer of the upper house of the assembly, in a post of influence for the enactment of any new plan for superhighway construction in the 1941 session.

"Reduce Motor Massacre."

"Highway construction in all sections of the state," said the speaker, "must be directed toward reduction of the motor massacre. The legislature, thru its control of highway department appropriations, can halt a policy of road building dictated by political expediency rather than the demands of motoring convenience and safety.

"The present administration, by spending money for votes, cannot dodge a responsibility for its contributions to the automobile slaughter. It has assigned funds to roads of special benefit to favorites in return for political promises. At the same time these funds have been sorely needed to remove physical hazards from the main rural and urban routes.

"In expanding the total mileage of the state highway system thru the additions of political roads, the present administration has increased the cost of operating the highway system to a point where a boost in the gasoline tax is threatened.

Main Roads Wearing Out.

"This threat would not exist had the present administration spent its revenue in rebuilding and modernizing the important cross state highways rather than playing politics with the gas tax revenue. These main roads are wearing out faster than the slab is being replaced. Every motorist has noticed that the more important routes are being allowed to crack and crumble.

"These primary routes, with their large volumes of travel, are main sources of gas tax revenue for the highway department. To modernize them would stimulate their usage and thereby increase gas tax revenue with no increase in the rate.

"Accident statistics indicate that these primary routes in need of modernization also are the main killers in the system. So a construction policy aimed at reducing accidents coincides with a construction policy aimed at preventing a gas tax boost. Safety and economy can join forces in displacing politics as dictator of road building programs."

NEWS AND VIEWS

Significant, as an index of spring business, is the fact that despite a sharp increase in new car sales, Chevrolet dealers refused their stocks of used cars during the last nine days of February, W. E. Holler, general sales manager of Chevrolet, said yesterday. He explained that a rise in used car stocks normally accompanies an increase in new car sales. Reversing this trend, Chevrolet dealers lowered their stocks by nearly 1,000 units in the nine day period.

Clyde G. Riley, for five and one-half years Pontiac zone manager in Los Angeles, on Friday was introduced to Chicago dealers at a lunch in the Drake hotel. Allen Wright, midwest regional manager, was host at the lunch at which farewell was said to W. J. Mougey, who formerly held the position which Riley has assumed. Mougey has been made advertising manager of Pontiac. Riley joined Pontiac in 1931 as city sales manager for Buffalo.

Capt. Albert B. Randall, retired commodore of the United States Lines, has a novel device on his new Dodge. He wanted an instrument that would show him the precise steering position of the car's front wheels, just as the helm indicator on a ship's bridge gives the position of the ship's rudder. K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation, had such a device built and installed on Randall's car. The apparatus consists of a dial and indicator mounted on the steering column. When the car wheels are parallel to the car the pointer is at top dead center, and when the wheels move it moves accordingly.

Cadillac-La Salle announced four new convertible models last week, the first open models in the new styling of the Cadillac Sixty Special. Power actuated tops reduce the effort of raising or lowering the covering. Power is controled through a push button on the instrument panel. The new models consist of a coupe and sedan in the La Salle special series and similar models in the Cadillac 62 series. Cushions and seat backs are upholstered in leather.

Studebaker yesterday held a nation-wide competition to see what dealer could get the most miles to a gallon of gasoline with the new Studebaker Champion. In the economy plan one carefully measured gallon of gasoline was sealed in a container. The container was connected to the fuel line and the car driven as far as it would go on the gallon. Rewards will be made to dealers making the best showing. Results are being sent to South Bend for comparison.

HAWKS WILL FLY TO TORONTO FOR PLAY-OFF OPENER

End Regular Season with Detroit Tonight.

Games Tonight

Toronto at New York Americans.
Montreal at Boston.
Detroit at Chicago.

President William J. Tobin of the Blackhawk hockey team will turn a new page in sport history when Chicago's representatives in the Stanley cup playoffs of the National Hockey league fly from Chicago to Toronto in an American Airlines' flagship to battle the Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday. The Blackhawks will leave the Chicago airport at 11:30 tomorrow.

The flight will be the first that a plane of the DC3 class ever has made to Toronto with a sports team. The flagship will remain in Toronto over Tuesday and will bring the Blackhawks back to Chicago on Wednesday for the second game of the Stanley cup series, which is booked for the Stadium Thursday.

These Will Make Trip.

Blackhawks making the trip will be:

Paul Goodman, goalie; Art Wiebe, left defense; Les Cunningham, center; Bill MacKenzie, right defense; Mush March, right wing; George Allen, left wing; Johnny Gottselig, left wing; Joe Cooper, right defense; Bill Carse, center; Phil Hergesheimer, right wing; Jack Portland, left defense; Bill Thoms, center; Doug Bentley, left wing; Cully Dahlstrom, center; Bob Carse, left wing; Earl Seibert, right defense; Johnny Chad, right wing, and Manager Paul Thompson.

The winner of two out of three games of the Hawks-Leafs series will advance to the Stanley cup semi-finals.

Tonight the Blackhawks wind up the regular season with a game against the Detroit Red Wings in the Stadium.

Max Bentley to Play.

Manager Thompson and the spectators tonight will get their first glance at Max Bentley, brother of Doug, who led the Alberta Senior league with 51 points in the season which just ended in western Canada.

Bentley is a center and was scheduled to play in the last two games of the season against the Red Wings, but missed Friday's Detroit encounter because of a threatened attack of influenza.

Tonight's lineups:

BLACKHAWKS.		RED WINGS.
Goodman	G.	Thompson
MacKenzie	R. D.	Orlando
Wiebe	L. D.	Stewart
Bill Carse	C.	Kilrea
March	R. W.	Bruneteau

ELWOOD COOKE, MRS. FABYAN WIN BERMUDA TITLES

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 16 (AP).—Elwood T. Cooke of Portland, Ore., the tournament's second seeded player, today won the Bermuda men's singles tennis championship with a 6-1, 7-5, 6-3 victory over Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Sarah Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., defeated second seeded Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4, to win the women's singles title according to form. The two singles victors then teamed up to win the mixed doubles crown by defeating Miss Betz and Henry Prusoff of Seattle, 6-1, 6-2, in a match which produced eight consecutive deuced games in the second set.

Mulloy complained of a pain in his side at one time during the men's final. He recovered, however, and continued play.

Several of the visitors who competed in the Bermuda championships will remain to participate in the Coral Beach invitation tournament next week.

NO COMPETITION IS WELL NAMED; WINS IN A ROMP

San Francisco, Cal., March 16 (AP).—No Competition lived up to his name, leading all the way to win the mile and a sixteenth $2,500 added Yerba Buena handicap at Tanforan today in 1:44.

Owned by Mrs. Ethel B. Mars' Milky Way stables of Chicago, No Competition was ridden by Frank Chojnacki, also of Chicago, and won by half a length. He paid $7.40, $3.00 and $2.40.

The crowd of 18,000 watched the favorite Heelfly make a gallant close to finish second, paying $2.80 and $2.40. Wedding Call was third and paid $2.40.

DUQUESNE AND INDIANA DRAW TOURNEY FOES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 16 (AP).—Drawings today for the National Collegiate Athletic association eastern elimination basketball tournament here Friday pair Duquesne with Western Kentucky Teachers and Indiana with Springfield [Mass.] college.

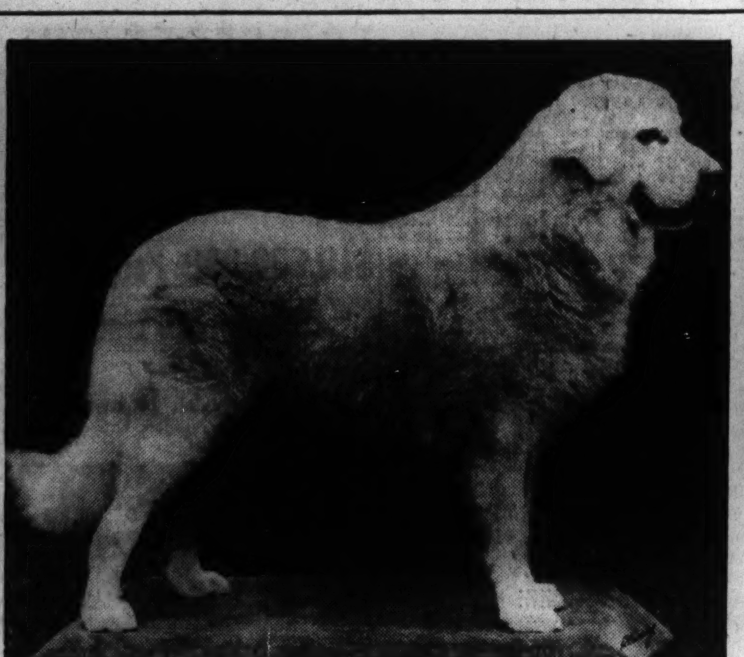
The survivors will play Saturday night for the right to engage the winner of the western eliminations in the N. C. A. A. championship in Kansas City March 30.

Galbreath Gives Up Post as Marmion Football Coach

Chuck Galbreath, captain of the University of Illinois football team in 1935, who has been coaching at Marmion Military academy in Aurora, has given up his post to start in the insurance business in Chicago. John Snook, former University of Illinois football player, will take over spring football practice at Marmion. Snook worked with Galbreath last fall.

AFTER NEW HONORS IN INTERNATIONAL KENNEL CLUB SHOW

Champion My Dash, English setter owned by Potter Palmer III. of Chicago, is a handsome example of the Blue Belton. This term indicates the coloring. Champion My Dash is ticked or spotted in deep blue-black. The dog is an entrant in the International Kennel club show which will be held in the International amphitheater March 30 and 31. Entries for the show close on Saturday.



K'Eros de Gueryeur of Basquaerie, a Great Pyrenees, will be seen in the International Kennel club show. This dog was judged best in the Eastern States exposition in Springfield, Mass., last year and was the first of its breed to win this honor in the United States. This working dog is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Francis V. Crane of Needham, Mass.

Squire of Dale, Dalmatian coach dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fentress of Libertyville, has been recording victories in recent dog shows held in the central states. The dog will compete in the International club event.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Champion Top Marc La Puce of Ochsnerhof is a Schipperke which will compete. The dog is owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Yates of Des Plaines.

Chicago Teams Take Alleys in A.B.C. Tourney Thruout Week

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Chicago area teams, among them several major league combinations, will occupy alleys at the American Bowling congress tournament in Detroit this week, particularly today and tomorrow and on the closing two days of the week. The heaviest firing will take place Saturday, when 69 doubles teams and 23 five man combinations roll.

The Ambrosias of the Classic league, Cragin Recreation of the Greater Chicago Traveling league, and Jim Tinney's Pabsts of the Gold Coast league, together with eight Chicago Tribune teams, represent most of the quintets which bowl today. Thirty-four doubles teams also will shoot. The Tribune bowlers, 60 strong, are to meet the New York Daily News' best in the third annual series of intercity matches after finishing their A. B. C. assignments today.

Schedule for Other Teams.

Chicago area teams on the alleys tomorrow will include two five man and 26 doubles teams; four sets of doubles will roll Tuesday; five-man teams from Niles Center and Fox River Grove are on Wednesday; three sets of doubles Thursday, and 26 five-man teams Friday.

Chicago's delegation Friday will be led by the M. E. Faetz & Son team of the Northwest Traveling league and Bennett's Ace Arcade of the Windy City league. Teams from Chicago Heights, Steger, Hinsdale, Waukegan, Glenview, Wilmette, Forest Park [Vogel Brothers of the Windy City league], North Chicago, and Libertyville also will be on.

Edens Bowl Saturday.

The Walter C. Edens of the Beverly and Stevenson leagues will be a leading Chicago representative Saturday. Others listed are North Town recreation of the Northwest Traveling league; J. F. Bambas, Mathieson Liquors, and Chris Bauers of the Beverly league; Wesley Smiths of Beverly and Stevenson leagues, and the Merit Cigars of the Greater Chicago Traveling league.

Spotting the Pins.

Art Vosepka set an individual record in the R. R. Donnelley and Sons league when he bowled 219-260-278—757 at Milo Wiesner's. Vosepka's team, the Linotypes, won three games from the Office five. . . . The North End Traveling league concludes its third round tomorrow night. All five matches will open at 7 o'clock. Schambergers meet Budweisers at North Town, Birks meet the Koenigs at Willow, Fox De Luxe oppose De Luxe recreation at Kaadland, the Jolly Jacks battle Chapin and Gore at Monte Cristo, and Samuelson's Kids face Pepsi-Cola at Samuelson's.

John Thelen led Loyalty Group to a three game triumph over American Glass in the Insurance league. Thelen hit 604. Jules Sowa toppled 681 for the losers. Commercial Union took two from London and Lancashire, Youngberg-Carlson took a pair from America Fore, Aetna won two from Miller's National, and H. H. Herbst won two from Pacific National. Budweisers led the Gold Coast Major league by nine games at the end of the third round, with 60 won and 21 lost. The Gills are second and Pabsts and Triangles tied for third, six games behind the Gills. Ad Carlson has a strangle hold on the individual lead with a 217 average. Herb Freitag and Joe Puccinelli are tied for second with 209.

A couple of Joes, Wilman and Sinke, are to roll off a tie in the sweepstakes at Jahneke Brothers recreation, Joliet, Friday. Moose Veterans, with 3,212, won the team event in the 14th annual Chicago Mutual tournament at Gold Coast. J. Rusek and E. Pieczinski won the doubles with 1,400, E. Smetana the singles with 744, and H. Evert the all events with 2,107. . . . Hyde Park recreation is offering a first prize estimated at $150 in its first annual sweepstakes to be held three Saturdays, starting this week. It's a handicap, four games. . . .

Sykes Thoma rolled 227-244-224-230—925 to take first place and $112 in Stack and Ryan's five dollar individual sweepstakes. Wally Genter was second with 912, good for $84, and Paul Krumske third with 901, which won $67.20. Entries totaled 140 and the prize fund $560. . . .

The Pabsts shot 3,238 at Rogers Park recreation for the season's second high total away from home to take a pair from the Schambergers—who fired 3,219—in the North West Traveling league. Pabsts' games were 1,133, 1,129, and 976 and Schambergers' 1,103, 1,097, and 1,019. Budweisers and North Center swept their respective series to go into a tie for the lead with West Ridge recreation. Joe Heinreich of the Schambergers was high individual with 715. . . .

The race in the Windy City Major league still is close with the Budweisers out in front of the Gills by a game and the Mineralites a game farther back. Ad Carlson leads the individuals with a 209-47 average, followed by Paul Krumske with 207-14, Joe Wilman with 205-44, and George Notz with 205-34. Tomorrow's schedule:

Gooderham and Worts vs. McKessons; Gills vs. Betinis Boosters; Qualitys vs. None Betters; Blazeks vs. Mineralites; Whitecaps vs. Bennetts; Vogels vs. O'Keefes; Budweisers vs. Kralovecs, and Amidels vs. Furmans.

Another record entry is anticipated in Samuelson's eighth annual Century of Progress woman's tournament to be run for four week-ends starting April 20-21. Entries close April 8 and will be accepted from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan. Already 80 team entries have been received toward a total expected to break the 1939 record of 225. Signe Walz, secretary, may be reached at Pensacola 0440.

The Classic league will bowl at 8 o'clock tonight at Windy City, 2101 South Cicero avenue. Pabst meets Michelob, Monarch opposes Koenig, Power House bowls Prager, and Schlitz opposes Ambrosia.

Entries are being accepted for the third annual Cinderella recreation men's handicap tournament which is to open April 6 at Cinderella, 5612 West Madison street. Teams will bowl Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, and doubles and singles on Fridays and Sundays. Entries close April 5. All entry fees are to be returned in prizes. Telephones are Columbus 10422 and 10423. . . .

An individual tournament, four games across eight alleys, opened yesterday and closes today at Crocombe's, 6225 Cottage Grove avenue. Top prize is $50, second prize $35, and third prize $25.

Stops Greci in Second Round.

Cortonesi, who boxed his way to an easy decision last night, opened with a two fisted attack to the body against Guido Greci of Emilia tonight and fought him into submission in two rounds. Greci threw up his hands midway in the round and walked to his corner.

It appeared tonight that Erik Agren of Sweden would be Europe's welterweight champion. Agren became the outstanding candidate for the title when Emilio Proieti, Italy's representative, suffered a broken hand in last night's fighting. Proieti was Agren's leading foe for the championship.

NEW YORK SETS RACING DATES FOR 2 TRACKS

New York, March 16 (AP).—The New York state racing commission today approved dates for spring meetings at Aqqueduct and Belmont Park, but did not consider dates for the rest of the New York season, pending the passage of pari-mutuel legislation.

The Aqueduct spring meeting of 24 days from April 15 to May 11, inclusive, and a 24-day meeting at Belmont from May 13 to June 8, were approved. No other dates will be considered at present because of the possibility that the new legislation may set up new conditions which all tracks will not fulfill or call for the establishment of new tracks.

In announcing the spring dates, the commission explained they were granted because of the emergency in which the tracks found themselves due to the early closing of stake races and the printing of admission tickets.

POLISH FIVES PLAY TODAY FOR RELIEF FUND

Champions of the Polish Roman Catholic Union and Polish National Alliance basketball leagues and their runners-up meet this afternoon in the Holy Trinity High school gymnasium, Cleaver and Division streets in two of the three games to be played for the Polish Civilian Relief fund.

Both circuits have undefeated quintets. St. James, winner of P. R. C. U. honors, won 12 straight, while St. Isadore's won seven straight for P. N. A. honors. These teams will meet in the second game on the card. The opener will be between third place teams in the respective leagues, Fauntleroys P. N. A. vs. Circuit 13 P. R. C. U.

Runners-up in both leagues, St. Louis P. R. C. U. and Craftsmen, P. N. A., have each lost two games.

Atlanta Gets 1940 Minor League Session Dec. 4

Durham, N. C., March 16 (AP).—Selection of Atlanta, Gaffi as the site of the 1940 convention of the minor leagues of baseball was announced today by President W. G. Bramham of the national association. It will be the 39th annual gathering of the minors and will open Dec. 4, continuing three days.

PAYCHECK NEAR POT O' GOLD IN LOUIS BATTLE

Two years ago Johnny Pacek, 1933 International Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, was unable to make the grade as a professional in his home town of Chicago and moved to Des Moines, Ia., in quest of fame and fortune in the ring. As Johnny Paycheck he has met with some of both, but his big chance will come when he attempts to dethrone Joe Louis as world title holder in Madison Square Garden March 29.

Paycheck turned professional after winning a diamond studded Golden Glove seven years ago, but he encountered indifferent success under Clarence Rapp, Chicago trainer and manager. Paycheck continued his campaign until June 30, 1936, when he was stopped by Art Laskey in Los Angeles. The end came in the sixth round. This setback discouraged the Chicagoan, but after a three month layoff he defeated Lou Le Page in Washington, D. C. However, his purse was insufficient to pay expenses, so Paycheck decided to retire from the ring.

Paycheck Accepts Invitation.

In May, 1938, however, Harold Steinman, Chicago manager, prevailed upon Paycheck to make a comeback under the joint management of himself and Pinkie George, Des Moines promoter. Paycheck accepted the invitation and moved to Des Moines, where George got him a job as a bellhop.

The first thing George did, however, was to change Johnny's name to John J. Paychek, after a mythical Polish uncle, because the name was catchy and because Pinkie wanted to disguise the boxer's true identity. Steinman preferred to spell the name P-a-y-c-h-e-c-k, and that is the spelling he adopted.

Bowman First Victim.

Bernie Bowman was Paycheck's first victim under his new name, the bout being held in Des Moines May 30, 1938. King Levinsky, once managed by Steinman, was No. 3 victim for Johnny. Then came victories over Al Globes, Art Oliver, Ed Wills, and Johnny Miller. In fact, Paycheck became the sensation of Iowa by compiling a string of 23 consecutive victories.

The chain was snapped when Paycheck lost a disputed newspaper decision to Maurice Strickland of New Zealand in the Des Moines ball park before an overflow crowd of 12,500, which paid a gross gate of $17,350. It was a record gate for Iowa.

Partnership Divides.

After Johnny knocked out Edward [Unknown] Winston and Charley Belanger a Strickland-Paycheck rematch was arranged for Des Moines last Aug. 8. Paycheck obtained revenge, but a dispute over money matters arose between Steinman and George, and the successful partnership split.

2 Chicago Teams Reach Y. M. C. A. Semi-Finals

The Division Street Clippers and Lawson branch, both of Chicago, yesterday advanced to the semi-final round of the Illinois state Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament in Evanston. The Division Street quintet defeated Moline, Ill., 43 to 31, and Lawson eliminated the Division Street Bullets, 27 to 23.

land tournament, Canadeo coming back to win a close decision after being floored in the first round.

Canadeo's opponent will be Al Tribuani, who distinguished himself as a hard hitter and an elusive target in winning the New York welterweight title. The identity of Jones' opponent will not be established until New York announces its lineup.

Joyce Wins No. 1 Spot.

Joyce earned his No. 1 position under the rigorous competition which set in after the battle for places in the bantamweight class was thrown wide open. This situation was brought about when Richard Menchaca, the champion, was forced to return home to Port Arthur, Tex. Menchaca is the only one of the title holders of either team who was forced to withdraw from the intercity squad. Joyce will be matched with Johnny Aeillo.

The other No. 1 pairings will bring together Young and Ted Wint in the heavyweight class; Richie and Andy Sfrisi in the light heavyweight; Maxin and Bob Jacobs in the middleweight; Lewis and Frank Donato in the featherweight, and Dade and Demetrio Carabella in the flyweight.

2 Illinois Boys Are Elected Co-Captains at Culver

Culver, Ind., March 16 (AP).—Coach Russ Oliver announced today that Todd Gooding of Kempton, Ill., and Guy McGaughey of Lawrenceville, Ill., two high scoring forwards, have been elected co-captains of Culver Military academy's 1940-'41 basketball team.

SPARTAS BATTLE DETROIT TODAY IN CUP SEMI-FINAL

BY OFFSIDE.

Soccer football's big day in Chicago has arrived. After four months of preparation, the Sparta Falstaffs, national champions two years ago, will engage the Detroit Chryslers in the semi-final round of the western division competition for the national cup in Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, this afternoon. The Sparta reserves will play the Slovaks in a preliminary game, starting at 1 o'clock.

Despite cold waves and snowstorms, the Chicagoans practiced faithfully thruout the winter and every regular will enter the game in perfect condition. The lineup will include one player who wasn't present when the Chicagoans won their quarter-final game last November. He is George Peterson, Moline, Ill., star amateur inside left, who was acquired three weeks ago.

Two Others Counted Upon.

In addition to Peterson, two other players, Center Jimmy MacDermott and Goalie Joe Silovsky, are counted upon to lead the Chicagoans into the final round. Another player Sparta's supporters are confident will Billy Fraser, who has been shifted Billy Fraser, who has been shifted from Peterson's inside left position to outside right.

The Chryslers will present a formidable lineup against the Chicagoans. The Michigan squad a few weeks ago routed the high ranking American Nickeloids, 6 to 0. Several members of the Detroit team formerly played in Chicago. They include George Hay and Johnny Neilson, who once played with the Chicago Bricklayers. Other stars on the squad are James Goodfellow, Thomas Syme, Neil Campbell, and Lester Allan.

Winner Metts Pittsburgh Club.

The winner of this afternoon's match will oppose a Pittsburgh, Pa., club, either the Morgan Sport club or the Heildelbergs, in the finals for the western championship, April 7 and 14, in a home and home series. The Morgans last year lost to the Manhattans in the western finals. The Manhattans, however, lost the cup to the Brooklyn Celtics.

The starting lineups follow:

KAUTZ IS NAMED ON PRO BASKET ALL-STAR TEAM

Ben Stephens of the Akron Goodyears, and Wilbur [Wibs] Kautz of the Chicago Bruins, last night were named on the National Basketball league All-Star team selected by coaches and sports writers. Stephens and Kautz, playing their first seasons in professional basketball, were teamed at forwards on the first team. Le Roy Edwards of Oshkosh won the center post, with the guard positions going to Howard Cable of the Akron Firestones, and Charley Shipp of Oshkosh.

WALTHER LEAGUE TOURNEY.

The Walther league basketball tournament enters the third night of play tonight as Salem, Blue Island, of the South Suburban zone meets the second place team of the zone in the feature game.

ENTRY DEADLINE IS SATURDAY IN ALL BREED SHOW

International Club Event Opens March 30.

BY BOB BECKER.

Owners of purebred show dogs not only are busy these days conditioning their top notch specimens, but they also have to think about a little clerical work during the next seven days, for this is the last week that they may file their entries for Chicago's big all breed dog show. This bench classic, one of the year's highlights for breeders and dog lovers, will be held by the International Kennel club on March 30 and 31. The roomy International amphitheater on the south side again will be the scene of this outstanding dog congress which brings together prize winning canines from all leading kennels in Chicagoland as well as from nationally known knelles in many state.

Inasmuch as the American Kennel club specifies that all entries in a licensed show must be in one week before the competition opens, Saturday is the deadline for filing the important little piece of paper which puts a dog into competition in the International. Owners wishing entry blanks or further information about the show are advised to contact William E. Ogilvie, secretary, 840 Exchange avenue.

Hound Packs Will Be Shown.

A number of entertainment features for the average dog lover are on the program of this year's show. For example, the kennel club is planning an exhibition of hound packs for the first time this year. Foxhounds, beagles, and possibly harriers, breeds which rarely are seen by city dwellers, are to be included in this exhibition. The show management has engaged Willy Necker of Wheeling to put on his trained dog act with a troupe of Dobermanns which do all kinds of tricks and also demonstrate a rare brand of canine comedy.

One of the biggest events with wide popular appeal to dog owners will be the obedience test classes which will be sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This newspaper will award handsome sungold trophies to the three highest contestants in every class. Last spring THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's obedience test classes in a midsummer show broke all American records for entries in the novice class, according to Arthur Frederick Jones of the American Kennel club. There were 40 trained dogs in the novice class alone.

Record May Be Broken.

Judging by reports from the German Shepherd Dog Training Club of Chicago, The West Point club and the North Shore Training club, this record may be broken in the coming show.

Week Marking Wild Life Will Open Today

National Wild Life week, sponsored by the National Wild Life federation, starts today. Thruout the country conservation organizations are joining in the campaign to direct attention to America's conservation needs. This is the third annual Wild Life week, and more than 36,000 organizations are coöperating in the movement. These include Izaak Walton leagues, garden clubs, 4-H clubs, Audubon societies, schools, churches, civic clubs, the American Legion, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and many similar groups.

The United States bureau of biological survey and most state conservation departments also are taking part in National Wild Life week. John M. Martin, Peoria, federal game management agent, said yesterday that National Wild Life week is observed to call attention to the need for uniting the efforts of all friends of outdoor America to the end that future generations shall have their rightful heritage of wild life. More than 1,000 regular employés and 1,300 seasonal employés of the biological survey are joining in the observance.

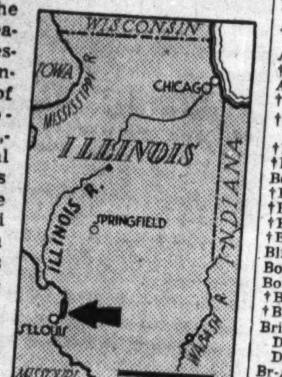
CANAL HELD NEED TO OFFSET CUT IN LAKE DIVERSION

$10,290,000 Project on Preferred List.



Arrow indicates location of Mississippi canal.

Reduced diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway is one of the chief reasons necessitating construction of the proposed $10,290,000 canal for 10 miles along the Mississippi river north of St. Louis as a navigation aid, Robert Kingery, chairman of the Illinois Planning commission, said yesterday. The executive committee of the commission has approved plans of army engineers for the project.

The normal level of the river sometimes sinks as low as four and one-half feet, he explained, and barges have great difficulty in navigating that portion, which has a sharp bend and rapids, between the Chain of Rocks bridge, 10 miles north of St. Louis, and the Merchants' bridge, one and one-half miles north.

Court Order Reduces Flow.

The flow from Lake Michigan was reduced from 5,000 cubic feet a second to 1,500, Jan. 1, 1939, in accordance with an order of the United States Supreme court.

The proposal, which is included in the river and harbors bill under consideration by congress, provides for building the canal, 300 feet wide with a minimum depth of 9 feet, on the Illinois side of the river. The project also calls for a lock at the southern end and a bridge at the approach to the Chain of Rocks bridge.

Project on Preferred List.

Realizing the necessity of the channel to aid navigation, army engineers have placed the project on their preferred list for action, Kingery said. The planning commission committee and a special committee of seven appointed by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri have worked on the plans. The commission, established by the Illinois legislature in 1931, has for its purpose the development of the state and preservation of its resources.

LIVE STOCK PRICE RELATIONSHIPS MUCH CHANGED

A study of last week's live stock prices shows that a big change has occurred in the position of the markets for cattle and lambs in relation to hogs in the last two years. The week's steer average price, at $9.40, was 84 per cent above the hog average, whereas a year ago cattle were 41 per cent above hogs and two years ago they were lower than hogs.

The lamb average, at $10.05, stood 97 per cent higher than hogs. A year ago such stock sold 21 per cent over hogs, and two years ago sold for less than hogs.

Price trends in all classes of live stock were uneven during last week. Despite declines in some classes of bovine stock the week's steer average, at $9.40, was up 10 cents and highest since the week ended Jan. 27. The final sales of steers and yearlings were steady to 25 cents lower than a week earlier. Beef cows finished 15 to 25 cents higher. Heifers were steady to 25 cents lower.

HOUSING CENSUS GETS RIGHT DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

Demands Information on Family Life, Finances.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed.

When the census bureau's enumerators begin taking the population census on April 2, they also will start work on the census of housing. The housing census will be the first of its kind. It will dig as deeply into the family life and finances of some 35,000,000 homes as the population census will dig into individual affairs.

Some of the inquiries contained in the housing schedule have been compared to the questions on individual income in the population census Representative Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.], in a speech in the house recently, termed the housing census a "national snooping expedition."

Assails Compulsion.

"The questions in the special housing form pry into every intimate concern of the citizen's life, Reed said. "This is compulsion by government in its most repugnant form."

Every person owning and occupying his own home must tell the census taker the amount of the outstanding first mortgage or land contract, and the amount of any junior lien, if the home is mortgaged.

He also must state the frequency and amount of his regular payments on the mortgage, whether the payments include reductions in principal and real estate taxes, and the amount of interest he is paying on the mortgage. In addition, he must tell whether the mortgage is held by a government or private agency, and what kind of agency it is.

Penalties for Refusal.

Refusal to answer may mean a fine of $100 or 60 days in jail. Those who give false answers are subject to fines of as much as $500, or imprisonment up to one year.

Approximate figures will satisfy the census taker, George W. Schreech, the bureau's Chicago area manager, said yesterday.

Occupants of rented dwellings will not have to answer questions concerning mortgages. But they must state the amount of monthly rent paid, the rental value without furniture of a nonfarm dwelling if the use of furniture is included in the rent, and the cost of utilities and fuel in addition to rent.

A Gauge of Indebtedness.

Schreech said the mortgage questions will provide a partial gauge of the indebtedness of that type in the United States, and also will enable the government to estimate the additional borrowing capacity of home owners. The value of the latter information he did not explain.

Two other questions require the head of each household to state whether there is a radio in the house, and whether the refrigeration equipment is mechanical, ice, or of some other type.

Digging still deeper into family life, the census enumerator will want to know if the neighbors use the family bathroom. This was indicated by the following questions on the preliminary list:

"Toilet facilities: In structure—flush toilet for exclusive use [of family], shared flush toilet, other; outside toilet or privy.

"Bathtub or shower with running water in structure, for exclusive use, shared by other households."

No Changes Made in List.

Schreech said that, to his knowledge, no changes have been made in the preliminary list of inquiries.

The enumerator also will ask whether running water or water pumped by hand is available within the dwelling or outside, and if outside, whether it is within 50 feet of the dwelling. He will want to know whether electric, gas, kerosene, gasoline, or some other type of lighting equipment is used, what fuels are used for heating and cooking, and what type of heating equipment the dwelling contains.

Chicago Steel Mills Raise Week's Schedule

Prospective operating schedules for steel mills of the Chicago area have been set at 55.3 per cent of theoretical ingot capacity for the coming week, Chicago mill executives reported yesterday. This compared with 54.9 per cent at the beginning of last week, with 59.8 per cent a month ago and 54.7 per cent a year earlier. Operations in the Pittsburgh district also will be scheduled higher this week.

REPRESENTATIVE WANTED

An established New York firm now offering expensive financial service, appealing to industrialists, banks, insurance companies and large investors desires one high grade representative (on a liberal commission basis) for Illinois. Requirements—age 30 to 50, college education, experience in economics, investments or the solicitation of investment counsel accounts desirable. Full details, please. BIGGEST 1 STORY WAREHOUSE IN WORLD PLANNED

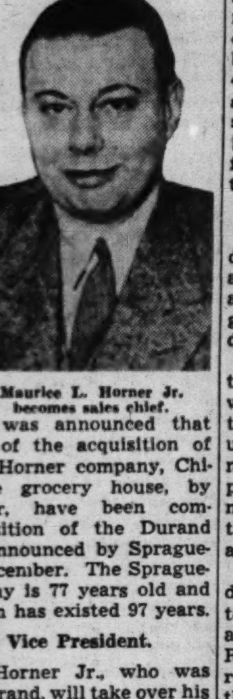
Sprague Warner Unit to Cost 1½ Million.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.



Maurice L. Horner Jr. becomes sales chief.

A warehouse costing $1,500,000 for building and land and covering a half million square feet [four city blocks] will be built in Chicago by Sprague, Warner & Co., food processing and distributing house. Company officials said yesterday it will be the largest one story warehouse in the world.

At the same time it was announced that formal details of the acquisition of Durand-McNeil-Horner company, Chicago wholesale grocery house, by Sprague-Warner, have been completed. Acquisition of the Durand business was announced by Sprague-Warner last December. The Sprague-Warner company is 77 years old and the Durand firm has existed 97 years.

Horner Is Vice President.

Maurice L. Horner Jr., who was president of Durand, will take over his new duties tomorrow as vice president and director of sales of Sprague-Warner. He is a grandson of the founder of Durand-McNeil-Horner and is a nephew of Gov. Henry Horner.

Sprague officials said the new warehouse will facilitate an expansion in the company's business following absorption of the Durand company.

The structure, they said, will have many innovations to increase operating efficiency. The only part of the structure that will be more than one story high will be a tower-like arrangement, probably at the center, providing space for certain processing operations requiring use of gravity.

In this four story tower will be handled coffee, pickle, fruit preserving and spice manufacturing operations that lend themselves to the gravity system. In the case of coffee, the roasting will be done on the fourth floor, blending will be done on the third floor, packaging on the second, and shipping on the first.

Includes Big Refrigeration Plant.

The warehouse will include the largest refrigeration and below zero storage plant used by any wholesale grocery company, officials said. This plant will handle quick frozen fresh foods such as fruit, vegetables, fish, and poultry.

A high degree of mechanization will make the warehouse the most efficient of its kind, it was said. Devices for piling and carrying merchandise will handle goods for a distance of more than 1,000 feet from the loading and unloading platforms.

The warehouse will have no windows. Light will enter thru sawtooth style skylights. All of the space used for offices and manufacturing operations will be air conditioned. The building will be of brick and steel construction.

The company is considering three sites for the building. All are within a radius of 2½ miles of the loop.

COAL ACT FIGHT IS CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—Constitutionality of the 1937 bituminous coal act was challenged today in a petition filed with the Supreme court. The Sunshine Anthracite Coal company of Clarksville, Ark., sought a review of a decision by a three judge federal District court in Arkansas upholding the legislation.

The act was designed to regulate prices in the soft coal industry. Among other things, it imposes an excise tax of 19½ per cent of the sale price of the coal at the mine. Members who subscribe to a code are exempt.

Seeking to escape payment of a $14,748 tax, the coal company contended that the legislation violated state rights.

BIG BANK'S STOCK TERMS REJECTED BY VENEZUELA

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 16 (AP).—The Venezuelan foreign office today instructed this country's representative on the inter-American economic committee at Washington to abstain from signing an agreement to establish an Inter-American bank.

An announcement said Venezuela was not in agreement with the evaluation of her foreign trade made by the committee as a basis for proposed subscription to shares in the bank.

Federal Rule of Auto Trade Held Harmful

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 16.—Governmental control or interference in the selling of automobiles would be crippling to both manufacturers and dealers and in the end would probably increase the prices of cars to the public. This opinion was expressed here today by a number of leading manufacturers in commenting on agitation among some dealers for a federal hand in dealer-manufacturer relations.

The National Automobile Dealers' association, which is said to have a membership of 15,000 dealers who do about 85 per cent of the business, is now conducting a referendum on federal control. The association's members and the other dealers among the 40,000 total in the nation are being asked whether they favor a measure sponsored by Congressman Patman [D., Tex.], and if not, whether they favor any other type of federal control over the automobile industry.

Gives Manufacturers' Argument.

In a preceding article the general differences between manufacturers and dealers were outlined. In today's article the manufacturers' position is given in more detail, and later the dealers' arguments will be reported.

The manufacturers maintain that to produce automobiles at prices which will induce the public to buy they must have volume. Should volume decline costs would rise and the manufacturer would have to boost his prices to the public. Such an action might further reduce volume because the public might not be willing or able to pay the higher prices.

In order to maintain volume production the manufacturer must maintain expensive plants and must have at hand an adequate working force. Reduction in production results in a reduction in number of workers at the factories and tends to disrupt organization.

Good Organization Needed.

A second essential is a good dealer organization to place the cars in the hands of the public. Dealers are retailers who buy their cars from the factories at wholesale and then sell them to the public. Dealers are of all types; some are efficient and are good business men, some have mediocre attainments and others may be inefficient and poor businessmen.

Manufacturers say that in order to give all their dealers as favorable an opportunity as possible they have established large field forces to help the dealers sell their cars. These field forces often supervise bookkeeping methods in the interest of efficiency, show dealers how to display their cars to the best of advantage, set up systems for maintaining good relations between dealers and their customers, and perform numerous other services.

The manufacturers say they apply to the best of their ability the experiences they have gained in selling cars over the entire nation. They decide about how many cars a dealer should be able to sell, based on the experience of others. They admit frankly that they try constantly to get a dealer to sell more cars, just as the head of a grocery store endeavors to have his clerks sell more goods to his customers.

"Do Dealer a Favor."

"When we put a spur on a dealer to sell more cars we feel that actually we are doing him a favor," one manufacturer said. "The more the dealer sells the more profit he makes.

"We want our dealers to make money and naturally to do this he must have his business on a sound financial basis. If a dealer goes broke, we get a black eye from the public and we are put to expense to replace him. We do not like to cancel contracts—that is an expensive thing for us to do.

"To be successful a dealer must have good relations with his customers. A disgruntled customer can do our entire organization a lot of harm. That is why we keep such a close watch on our dealers.

"We naturally do not favor having too many dealerships in a given area. But there frequently are differences of opinion as to what is the right number for any area. We want to have enough dealers to take care of all prospective business. Sometimes dealers object that the competition among themselves is too keen. But competition has made this business.

Face Keen Competition.

"Certainly we manufacturers have the keenest competition among ourselves. Every one of us must watch every minute what the other is doing. If we lag, our business drops. Any federal control that might stifle competition would result in penalizing the more efficient dealers to help the inefficient, which obviously would be unfair. And, of course, the public would be the goat."

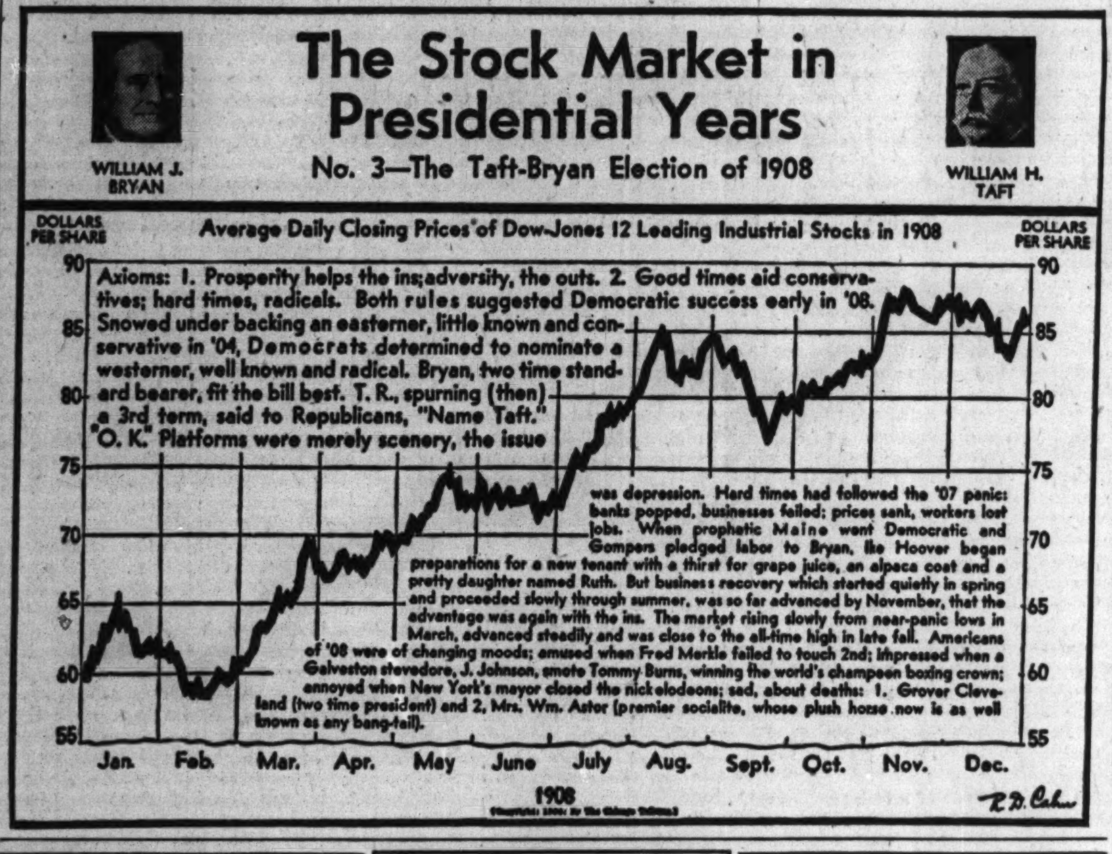
Presence of federal control would produce a new horde of bureaucrats snooping into the dealer's business, the manufacturer said. Dealers, as well as ourselves, already are burdened with various federal requirements, he said.

The manufacturer said it is recognized that there will always be differences of opinion, but the best way to end them is thru mutual cooperation.

"Should federal control arrive," he said, "I am afraid we would all find the cure to be far worse than the disease."

The Stock Market in Presidential Years

No. 3—The Taft-Bryan Election of 1908



Axioms: 1. Prosperity helps the ins; adversity, the outs. 2. Good times aid conservatives; hard times, radicals. Both rules suggested Democratic success early in '08. Snowed under backing an easterner, little known and conservative in '04, Democrats determined to nominate a westerner, well known and radical. Bryan, two time standard bearer, fit the bill best. T. R., spurning (then) a 3rd term, said to Republicans, "Name Taft." "O. K." Platforms were merely scenery, the issue was depression. Hard times had followed the '07 panic: banks popped, businesses failed; prices sank, workers lost jobs. When prophetic Maine went Democratic and Gompers pledged labor to Bryan, the Hoover began preparations for a new tenant with a thirst for grape juice, an alpaca coat and a pretty daughter named Ruth. But business recovery which started quietly in spring and proceeded slowly through summer, was so far advanced by November, that the advantage was again with the ins. The market rising slowly from near-panic lows in March, advanced steadily and was close to the all-time high in late fall. Americans of '08 were of changing moods; amused when Fred Merkle failed to touch 2nd; impressed when a Galveston stevedore, J. Johnson, smote Tommy Burns, winning the world's champeen boxing crown; annoyed when New York's mayor closed the nickelodeons; sad, about deaths: 1. Grover Cleveland (two time president) and 2, Mrs. Wm. Astor (premier socialite, whose plush horse now is as well known as any bang-tail).

Price of Lard Falls; Supplies at Record High

The price of lard futures tumbled 50 cents per hundred pounds under a heavy wave of selling on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as that commodity took the speculative spotlight from grains. The extensive liquidation forced the May delivery to $5.35 per hundred pounds and carried all deliveries to their lowest levels of the season.

Altho short covering and buying by commission houses resulted in a moderate rally, the futures closed with losses of 30 to 35 cents by comparison with Friday's prices.

Storage Supply Boosted.

Brokers attributed the selling to increased production which has boosted cold storage supplies to the largest figure on record.

Dealers offered the cash commodity at $5.40 per hundred pounds, a decline of about 75 cents within the last week. Only in eight of the last 74 years has such a low price been recorded. Cash lard sold at $5 last August, then soared to $8.25 in the speculative flurry which accompanied the outbreak of the European war the following month.

Lard in cold storage warehouses reached 258 million pounds as of March 1, more than double the total of a year earlier and twice the seasonal average for the preceding five years.

Dealers said the European war has not stimulated export demand to the extent anticipated, altho 22 million pounds were reported sold to Finland and France early this month.

Wheat Closes Higher.

Wheat futures overcame an early loss to close ¾ cent higher than on Friday. Corn closed within a range of ¼ cent lower to an equal fraction higher.

Closing prices on May delivery of principal grains yesterday were:

	Yesterday.	Friday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$1.02	$1.01¼	$0.68⅝
Corn	.55¾	.56	.47½
Oats	.40½	.40⅝	.28¾
Rye	.64½	.64½	.42½
Soy beans	1.11	1.12	.88½

A recent announcement by the department of agriculture that it would share with farmers any profit resulting from the disposal of wheat pledged as security for government loans, was regarded by grain traders as a political gesture.

CHICAGO BANK CLEARINGS RISE TO 316 MILLIONS

Bank clearings increased in Chicago last week, the Chicago Clearing House association reported yesterday. The volume was $316,500,000, compared with $304,500,000 in the preceding week and $306,300,000 in the corresponding week of 1939. The report follows:

	Clearances.	Balances.
Monday	$ 42,300,000	$ 2,800,000

STRATOLINERS CAUSE BOEING AIRPLANE CO. $3,284,074 NET LOSS

New York, March 16 (AP).—The Boeing Airplane company and subsidiary companies reported for the year 1939 net loss of $3,284,074, compared with the previous year's net loss of $544,958.

P. G. Johnson.

P. G. Johnson, president, said most of the loss had been due to excess of cost over sales price in the development and manufacture of four engine Clippers and Stratoliners. He reported unfilled orders of $23,002,574 of the year-end, compared with $14,894,918 at the previous year-end.

Current unfilled orders consist of Stratoliners, Stearman primary trainers, Canadian government planes [being built by Boeing Aircraft of Canada, Ltd.], six additional Model 314 Clippers at substantially higher prices, and four engine army bombers.

POUND RALLIES AFTER STRIKING SEVEN YEAR LOW

The British pound sterling rallied 2¾ cents in the unofficial market at New York City yesterday after having touched the lowest level in seven years on Friday. The final quotation was $3.73½, compared with $3.70¾ the day before and $3.86 at the beginning of the week.

The week's series of declines resulted from the British government's tightening of exchange restrictions to require foreign buyers to pay for British goods in sterling purchased at the official rate of $4.03½. This action limited the use of the unofficial pound and lessened the demand for it.

The Canadian dollar rose ⅛ cent yesterday to 81.87½ cents. The French franc declined 0.0124 cent. Other currencies showed little change.

Mexicans Will Go to Japan to Arrange Trade Pact

MEXICO CITY, March 16 (AP).—A Mexican trade commission of 11 government officials and business men will leave tomorrow for Tokio, where they expect to negotiate commercial commitments involving both barter and capital. One official said a Mexico-Japan trade agreement would reduce Mexico's imports from the United States, which amounted to about $97,200,000 last year.

Joneses Just Can't Keep Up with Smiths

New York, March 16 (AP).—The Jones family is slipping from power in the United States, but the Smiths and Browns are still forging ahead.

The new 1940 editions of Poor's Register of Directors and Executives shows that the number of Joneses in places of corporate prominence and power slipped from 386 in the 1939 edition to 383 in the new one. The Smiths, however, increased from 920 to 925 and the Browns from 466 to 469.

Indication of business expansion was given in the addition of 3,633 new names, which was 1,471 more than withdrawals due to death.

Food Director in One Company.

There was also some indication of a tendency of topmost business business leaders to get away from the interlocking directorships, once so popular. Henry Ford is a director of one company, his own. Edsel B. Ford limits his business interest to the automobile industry, with two exceptions. George Washington Hill sticks to tobacco. J. P. Morgan is actively connected with only eleven companies. Pierre S. du Pont and Walter P. Chrysler each is limited to six corporations. Alfred E. Smith and Alfred P. Sloan are in five each.

But there are still some long lists of affiliations under individual names.

Francis Fell Tops List.

Francis J. Fell Jr., vice president and director of Pennsylvania railroad, tops this list with 107 corporate affiliations. Frederick Godberg, managing director of Shell Transport and Trading company, London, is second as director of 103. Arthur L. Rae, controler of American Water Works and Electric company, officer and director of 97 corporations, is third.

Others in the running, according to the directorships they hold, are: Harold B. Franklin of R-K-O corporation; George W. Biggs Jr., public utility official; David Bernstein of Loew's, Inc.; Frederick Ely Williamson of the New York Central railroad; Rudolph P. Ahrens of the same line; Lorenzo Semple Jr. of American Communities company, and, tied for tenth place, Harry Hanson of New England Power association and William W. Scheer of the Reading company.

Legislature May Take Up Coal Processing Aid

Springfield, Ill., March 16 (AP).—Representative Calvin D. Johnson [R., Belleville] predicted here today that legislation to permit counties to build smokeless coal processing plants would be included in the call for a special session of the Illinois legislature. Johnson said the proposal was designed to increase the market for Illinois coal.

NEW YORK CITY IS ALARMED BY BUSINESS FLIGHT

Firms Driven Away by Union Activities.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 16.—Leaders in finance, industry, and real estate in New York City are manifesting growing concern over bad business conditions and the flight of many manufacturing firms from the metropolitan area.

Surveys of departed concerns and those preparing to pack up and go recently unearthed evidence that the motivating factor was an unfavorable labor situation. Illicit strikes, violence, racketeering, work stoppages over picayunish controversies, and unwarranted picketing are cited by manufacturers as reasons why they cannot continue in business at a profit in New York City.

These business refugees are being received with open arms by neighboring Connecticut, New Jersey, and other states.

Harmed by Union Rules.

One of the most exhaustive studies of the business flight was revealed by Leon R. Spear of the garment center section of the Real Estate Board of New York. In a canvass conducted by the Midtown Realty Owners association, the executives of 181 of 300 women's wear manufacturers, which had left New York during the last five years, were contacted.

The officials explained, according to Spear, they moved away because of high labor costs, but that wages in themselves were secondary to irksome and costly union rules and regulations. He said some manufacturers told him they were willing to pay 50 per cent more wages than they do out of town, but union rules sometimes ran the differential up as high as 150 per cent, which they could not weather.

Their departure was caused by "the lower cost of manufacturing as a whole outside of New York, due to willingness of labor there to be more flexible and coöperative in emergency situations and to interpret working agreements more generously," Spear said.

More Comfortable Elsewhere.

"Most of these manufacturers were quite frank as to their unwillingness to continue manufacturing garments under conditions which now prevail in the city, with the constant stoppages and more or less continuous picketing for minor infractions of agreements. Elsewhere, they claim, they are spared the round of petty annoyances to which they are subjected in New York."

In the "low dress" group, according to Spear, most of the manufacturers had been driven out of New York because they could not meet out of town prices under New York costs. This segment of the industry manufactures dresses to sell as low as $4.75, wholesale. It is said out of town firms are able to sell New York department stores for $2.87½ the same dress for which manufacturers in the city have to get $3.75 to cover costs.

One result of the business flight to which Spear called attention, was the creation of a "vicious circle." He said factories moved away, space was thus vacated in the garment section of the city, local employés were thrown out of work, relief rolls increased, retail sales dropped, and property values were adversely affected.

Racketeering Is Influence.

An earlier study by Frenk J. Taylor, former city controler, declared that officials of concerns moving away from the city gave "racketeering in business and labor" as the chief reason, with high taxes and rents a secondary cause.

Fansteel's Net Profit Largest in Nine Years

Reports detailing the most profitable operations in several years were included in yesterday's annual corporation statements to shareholders.

Robert J. Aitchison.

The Fansteel Metallurgical corporation of North Chicago, manufacturer of a variety of metal products, reported consolidated net earnings of $238,660, equal to $1.02 a share on the common stock after provision for preferred stock dividends. The 1938 earnings were $11,739, or $1.56 on the preferred, with nothing left for the common.

Robert J. Aitchison, president of the company, indicated an increase of 75 per cent in sales volume was the principal factor in boosting 1939 profits to the highest level since 1930. Altho the European war and an election year make predictions hazardous, Aitchison said 1940 prospects for Fansteel "appear hopeful."

Supplies Are Plentiful.

"The company is in excellent position to carry on so far as its basic and essential ore requirements are concerned," he said. "Inventories of high grade tungsten and tantalum ores on hand or under contract have been sharply increased. In addition, the company has consummated a favorable contract assuring large stocks of tantalum ore suitable for its requirements for an extended term."

Curtis Lighting company of Chicago also reported its 1939 results were the most satisfactory in nine years. The report showed net income of $58,167 after federal taxes and other charges, equal to 34 cents a share. Provision for a $60,850 loss on the liquidation of a European subsidiary was charged directly to surplus. In 1938 the company, which manufactures various types of lighting fixtures and equipment, had a consolidated net loss of $25,970, including the results of the European unit.

Propose Stock Change.

Curtis Lighting's proxy statement for the annual meeting March 26 sought stockholders' approval of a plan to change the 170,160 shares of no par value stock to $2.50 par value, which, it was explained, will reduce the carrying value of the stock from $1,302,611 to $425,400.

Birtman Electric company of Chicago, manufacturer of vacuum cleaners, toasters, and other products, listed its 1939 net earnings at $355,629, compared with $223,798 in 1938. The earnings were equivalent to $2.58 and $1.53 a share in the respective years.

BUSINESS GAINS ON 7 FRONTS IN LAST WEEK

Easter Buying Aids Retail Trade.

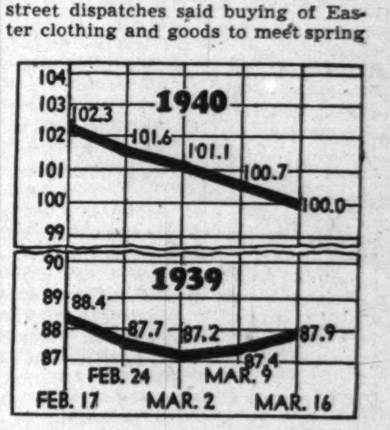
Seven out of nine of the immediately available measurements of business activity last week registered gains as compared with the preceding week, but the increases were so small in some cases that they indicated little except a possible reversal of the 1940 decline from late 1939 levels.

Steel mill operations, which had declined for eight straight weeks, barely edged upward to 64.7 per cent of capacity, from 64.6 per cent in the preceding week. Trade publications said there was little gain in domestic demand for steel, and that export business offered the best prospects. Production was above the level of a year ago, when mills were operating at 55.7 per cent of capacity.

Auto Production Up.

Automobile production totaled 105,720 units, compared with 103,560 in the preceding week and 86,725 in the 1939 week. The industry expects a small increase in output in the next two weeks.

Associated Press and Dun & Bradstreet dispatches said buying of Easter clothing and goods to meet spring household needs stimulated retail trade to lively activity. Volume was estimated at 6 to 12 per cent larger than a year ago for various regions. This was partly due to the unusually early Easter date, it was said.



The chart traces the course of industrial activity in recent weeks, as measured by the Associated Press' seasonally adjusted composite index, which is based on 1929-'30 activity as 100, and shows a comparison with the corresponding weeks of last year.

Numerous rush orders for Easter goods were reported in the wholesale trade, but merchants were said to be cautious about purchases in some other lines.

More Textiles Turned Out.

Cotton mills turned out more textiles than in the preceding week. Engineering construction awards expanded as compared with the preceding week, but were in smaller volume than a year earlier, and the same tendency prevailed in bank clearings.

Residential construction held about steady for the week. The volume of new financing declined. Figures available on railroad freight volume and output of electricity were for the week ended March 9. In both cases they showed declines from the preceding week, but gains as compared with the corresponding 1939 period.

Meantime followers of business news were led into many fields by the week's miscellaneous develop-

STOCK MARKET ENDS BAD WEEK WITH SETBACKS

Several Issues Hit New 1940 Lows.

New York, March 16 (AP).—With so-called "war babies" again under pressure, the stock market today ended a generally unsatisfactory week on the downside.

Aircrafts and steels were under pressure from the start. Losses ranged from 1 to more than 2 points, altho a little buying in the final hour enabled a number of issues to reduce extreme losses.

As in Friday's relapse, the day's setback was attributed mainly to persistent "peace fears" in Wall street, many traders shelving commitments on the thought that a sudden cessation of the major overseas conflict would halt purchases of war materials in this country and hit profits of numerous corporations.

Largest Saturday Turnover.

The list was on the skids at the opening. Dealings, fast for a while, slowed on recovery attempts, but the turnover was the largest for any Saturday this year. An assortment of new year's lows were in evidence.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 of a point at 49.3, making a net recession for the week of .8. A month ago the composite stood at 50.4 and a year ago at 49.2. It was the second severest weekly setback in the last two months. Transfers totaled 478,970 shares against 331,080 last Saturday.

Several Hit New Low.

Shares touching new 1940 lows included Sperry, United States Steel, Western Union, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern railway, and United States Rubber.

Prominent on the downside were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Dow Chemical, Loft, American Tobacco "B" and Johns-Manville. Among the few issues managing to come back for gains were Westinghouse and du Pont.

Among losers in the curb of as much as a point or more were Jones and Laughlin, Brewster Aero, American Cyanamid "B" and Electric Bond and Share. Volume here was around 100,000 shares compared with 89,000 a week ago.

NEW PLANT ACQUIRED.

Johns-Manville corporation has acquired a new plant at Zelienople, Pa., 40 miles north of Pittsburgh. The production of insulating brick, refractory cements, and permacoustic tile will be begun there late this year.

PREPARING FOR DEATH—1.

The human instinct to shelter one's family from adversity is thwarted often by death taxes. Federal estate and state inheritance taxes can fall so heavily upon unprotected estates that little is left to provide for dependents.

There have been instances, especially during periods of declining values, when these taxes have consumed the liquid portion of estates. Depreciation in security and real estate values has caused estates to dwindle in value or become insolvent.

Estates shrink rapidly when assets have to be sold hurriedly to pay such unavoidable expenses as death and income taxes, probate costs and creditors' claims, before the residue can be divided among the beneficiaries.

The primary need, therefore, in attempting to conserve an estate for dependents is to make provision for sufficient cash or other liquid assets to safeguard the estate against unnecessary dissipation. This can best be arranged, according to estate experts, by creating an irrevocable life insurance trust under the terms of which the proceeds are made payable to a trustee for named beneficiaries. The proceeds from such an irrevocable life insurance trust are not taxable.

By an irrevocable trust is meant one in which the person creating it renounces all ownership rights to the property which, in this instance, would be the cash surrender value of the insurance policy.

If the trust is not made irrevocable or if the insurance is made payable to named beneficiaries, the proceeds over $40,000 would be subject to estate taxes. If the insurance is made payable to the estate itself, the proceeds would be mingled with the rest of the estate without the $40,000 special exemption and become subject to creditors' claims and higher federal estate taxes.

The cash proceeds of a carefully drawn life insurance trust are essential in paying taxes and probate expenses. Such a cash fund would obviate forced liquidation of securities and real estate in the estate.

When a large part of an estate consists of stock in a family business, or of other nonliquid assets, the life insurance trust can be used to retain control in the family. This is done by naming a fiduciary as trustee of both the trust estate and the insurance trust.

He would then be able to use the proceeds from insurance to acquire the company stock from the estate. From the sale of the stock the estate then would have sufficient cash to pay necessary taxes and expenses. Sale of the company stock to outsiders therefore would be unnecessary.

[Several suggested methods of minimizing death taxes on estates will be discussed next Sunday.]

FINNISH PEACE BRINGS DECLINE IN COMMODITIES

Many 'War Staples' End Week Lower.

Commodity prices struck a snag Wednesday in the Finnish-Russian peace and ended last week in a long decline. Leading the downturn were such war favored staples as rubber, sugar, and copper.

Rubber quotations, which bucked the main trend of trading earlier, dropped as much as ¼ cent a pound later last week. Major item of interest to traders in the commodity came in reports Friday that domestic consumption of crude rubber declined 9.4 per cent last month from January's total, but was 17.6 higher than a year ago. Reclaimed rubber consumption was estimated at 17,019 tons, production at 19,060, and stocks on hand at 27,019.

Sugar Prospects Duller.

Traders' hopes of an active world sugar market seemed temporarily blasted when general peace rumors filtered thru the markets Friday. A European peace, the trade said, would bring with it a sharp decline in foreign demand for the commodity.

Earlier last week, however, transactions with Turkey and Greece involving the sale of 7,000 tons of export refined sugar had indicated larger interest in the export division of the market.

New peace rumors put commodity futures buyers on guard yesterday and prices in most trading centers dropped. Hides lost around ¼ cent a pound. Prices follow:

BRITAIN'S WAR COSTS RUNNING BELOW BUDGET

Income Is Exceeding the Original Estimate.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—The British government overestimated its budget deficit for the financial year 1939-'40 by more than 200,000,000 pounds [about $741,500,000], treasury estimates on the national revenue and expenditure issued this week indicate.

Sir John Simon.

The reasons are: [1] War costs so far have been on a smaller scale than Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon led the public to believe last September, and [2] the income from several sources is exceeding the original estimates. The picture, despite this, is not too cheerful as leading economists agree the treasury will need to raise at least 1,200,000,000 pounds [about $4,449,000,000] from loans yearly to cover the gap between income and expenditure during wartime.

Spend 6 Billions So Far.

With a bare three weeks to go before the end of the fiscal year, the total government expenditure stands at 1,635,000,000 pounds [about $6,061,762,000] and as direct war spending is being maintained at an average of between 5,000,000 pounds [about $18,537,000] to 6,000,000 pounds [about $22,245,000] daily, financial observers estimate the outgoings for the full 12 months will be around 1,773,500,000 pounds [about $6,575,251,000].

With ordinary revenue already 114,250,000 pounds [about $423,581,000] higher than last year at 947,028,000 pounds [about $3,511,106,000] and the rate of inflow now at the crest, informed quarters calculate the year end will show a total income of 1,067,000,000 pounds [about $3,955,902,000].

On the basis of this figure, the year's deficit will be around 231,000,000 pounds [about $846,432,000] less than Chancellor Simon's estimate of 938,000,000 pounds [about $3,476,231,000], which he planned to raise thru loans.

War Cost Under Estimate.

This result, treasury statistics show, is largely attributable to the failure of the fighting services and supply departments to spend up to the estimate. Present indications are that the services will fall short in this connection by approximately 160,000,000 pounds [about $593,200,000]. At the same time the exchequer's position has been helped by an unexpectedly heavy inflow of revenue which in the first 49 weeks piled up to within 1,000,000 pounds [about $3,707,500] of the chancellor's estimate for the full financial year.

On the other side of the picture of Britain's national finances, as presented by treasury statistics, is the fact that the last week closed with the biggest revenue deficit since the beginning of 1940. The total expenditure last week amounted to 45,749,873 pounds [about $168,609,000], whereof the war and supply services accounted for 44,706,000 pounds [about $165,747,000]. A revenue total of 30,708,616 pounds [about $84,200,000] left a deficit for the week of 15,041,257 pounds [about $53,745,460] and expanded the deficit for the financial year to date to 660,996,905 pounds [about $2,451,645,000].

12,000 TO ATTEND MIDWEST HOTEL EXPOSITION HERE

About 12,000 hotel executives are expected to register at the annual Midwest hotel show at the Sherman hotel March 26 thru 29, W. C. Robinson, managing director of the show, said yesterday. More than 150 manufacturers of hotel supplies and equipment will display their wares.

The jump in registrations from last year, when 8,000 attended, is partly due to the fact that the Chicago show is rapidly exceeding New York's National Hotel exhibition in importance, Robinson said. He credited Chicago's favorable geographic location with the increase.

The executive council of the American Hotel association, consisting of 84 leading hotel men from all parts of the country, will open a session at the Palmer House March 25. Two days later the Chicago Restaurant association will hold its annual banquet and election in the Sherman hotel.

OPEN TWO NEW ILLINOIS OIL POOLS IN WEEK

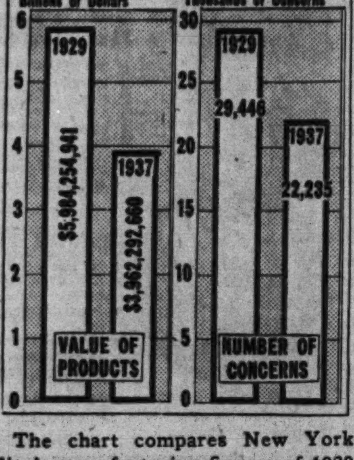
Centralia, Ill., March 16 (AP).—Two new oil pools were opened, saturation was recovered in a third wildcat test, and the state's second largest well was completed in Illinois oil developments this week.

One pool opener was the Pure Oil company's No. 1 Warren Consolidated, in south Jasper county, which began flowing 20 barrels an hour from the McClosky lime without acid treatment. It was nine miles from nearest production.

The other pool opener was Henry Mode & Others' No. 1 Keneipp heirs a half mile west of Mount Carmel in Wabash county. The well was producing from the Rosiclaire lime, the first such production in the county.

Hailed as a potential pool opener was Noah & Morrison's No. 1 Houston Barnes, which recovered six feet of saturation in the McClosky lime below 3,100 feet, two miles southeast of Albion in Edwards county.

N. Y. Loses Business



The chart compares New York City's manufacturing figures of 1929 peak with 1937 levels.

business lost by New York City was brought to light by Thomas H. Doyle, president of the Midtown Real Estate association. He made a survey of reports from 54 leading industrial cities in the country to compare with New York.

According to the biennial census of manufacturers reports by the department of commerce, Doyle said, most of the 54 cities had recovered 85 to 100 per cent of their 1929 value of manufactured products by 1937, but that New York City recovered only 66 per cent. In 1937, New York City had only 75 per cent of the number of concerns engaged in manufacturing here in 1929, while the other cities had 90 to 100 per cent.

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, whose administration has condoned much of the labor violence in the taxicab strikes and other controversies, has denied reports of the business loss with characteristic "righteous indignation."

According to the mayor these reports are "rash," "wild," and "do a great deal of damage to the city." The mayor's attitude is similar to that of the previous Tammany administration which defended any criticism of conditions by asserting they were "attempts to besmirch the fair name of our great city."

Business leaders are arriving at the conclusion that it will be better in the long run to examine these conditions in the open.

TWO OFFICIALS OF CUDAHY FIRM QUIT POSITIONS

J. W. McElligott and D. J. Donohue, both of whom had been employed by the company for about 25 years, have resigned as vice presidents of the Cudahy Packing company, it was announced yesterday at company headquarters in Chicago.

Victor T. Norton, employed as a sales research expert about a year and a half ago, has been appointed vice president in charge of sales and merchandising, it was announced. Norton, employed previously by the Jewel Tea company, will supervise Cudahy's merchandising and distribution of packing house products thru its national branch house and car route sales organizations. McElligott was formerly in charge of sales and Donohue in charge of merchandising. No announcement was made regarding their plans. The announcement said Norton is widely known in the sales research field.

EXPORTS DOWN IN FEBRUARY; GAIN FOR YEAR

Washington, D. C., March 16 (AP).—The Commerce Department said today that United States merchandise exports, which had been rising rapidly since the war started, receded somewhat in February, but still stood 57 per cent higher than a year ago.

The February total was figured in a preliminary estimate at $339,000,000, compared with $368,550,000 in January. The course of exports after the $250,484,000 total of August, the last peace month, was $288,379,000 in September, $332,151,000 in October, $292,536,000 in November, and $367,819,000 in December.

The February decline was attributed partly to the smaller number of business days in that month, and partly to decreased purchases of certain commodities like cotton.

COTTON

Liquidation in American cotton markets yesterday plunged closing prices to losses of 0.05 to 0.13 cent a pound.

Mills were reported willing to shade prices of textiles on large orders. They are expected to start to curtail production early in April unless heavy orders are booked in the balance of this month.

Spot cotton closed .11 to .15 cent lower, with New York, 10.77 cents; New Orleans, 10.53; Houston, 10.30 cents, and Galveston at 10.32 cents a pound. Prices follow:

BRITAIN WARNED OF GOVERNMENT RAILS CONTROL

Operations Jeopardized, Says Director.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16.—Altho the government is reimbursing the stockholders of five leading railroads taken over for the war at the earning rate of three prosperous years, the directors at their annual meetings warned against government control as not being for the best welfare of the nation.

Sir Josiah Stamp fears government rule of railroads.

Lord Stamp, director of the London, Midland, and Scottish railroad, which is exhibiting one of its most modern locomotives in the United States, and who is now the chief economic adviser to the government, told stockholders he yielded to none in admiration "of the government service methods for their normal ends. But I do not believe the railways can be run with efficiency from Whitehall."

Jeopardizes Operation.

He declared government operation was jeopardizing the railroad organization.

Sir Ronald W. Matthews, chairman, told the London and North Eastern railroad stockholders at another meeting that four days preceding the declaration of war this railroad ran no less than 1,172 special evacuation trains. He declared the financial arrangements with the government were not unduly favorable to the railways.

Urges Protective Laws.

He said it is a matter of gravest concern that the government vote protective legislation so, when the hostilities are over, mechanized units of transportation competing with the railroads will not be thrown on the market to "jeopardize the effective existence of the whole transport industry."

One indication that the government operation of the railroads is responsible for the coal shortage thruout the country was seen in pictures showing thousands of empty coal trucks on sidings which had not moved for three weeks.

Only 224 pounds of coal are allowed weekly for each household, if you are lucky enough to get that and this condition, the government announces, will continue indefinitely.

ments. Here are some of the things that were reported:

Snow White, the Seven Dwarfs and other fanciful characters, got into Wall street news when Walt Disney Productions took steps to raise new capital.

A broadcasting company plans to build television stations in Chicago, Philadelphia, and Washington.

A cut in rates for telephone calls of 420 miles or more, to save the public about $5,500,000 a year, was announced.

The New York Produce exchange said it will establish a soy bean oil futures market, because of the "phenomenal" growth of the industry.

Small Combine to Be Built.

A new small grain harvesting combine with a four foot cut is to be put on the market.

The British pound sterling tumbled to the lowest level in seven years.

Living costs went up one-half of 1 per cent in February, a survey disclosed.

The United States and other nations in the western hemisphere took steps to set up an inter-American bank to facilitate trade thru cooperative effort.

United States exports to South America in January were double the year ago volume.

Inventory Stocks Increase.

American manufacturers increased inventory stocks 2½ per cent in January.

Corporation earnings reports disclosed record profits for some companies for 1939, and large gains for many others.

On the basis of statistics available last week, the Associated Press combined index of industrial activity, which is calculated on 1929-'30 levels as 100, showed another decline. The index, with its seasonally adjusted components, follows:

	Latest week.	Preceding week.	Year ago.

BUILDERS BANK GROUP NAMES 6 NEW DIRECTORS

Three Board Members Are Retained.

Election of six new directors of National Builders Bank of Chicago, which has changed hands and will be moved to the Field building, was announced yesterday by John R. Nicholson. Nicholson, senior member of the law firm of Nicholson, Snyder, Chadwell & Fagerburg, became one of the principal stockholders of the bank under a stock purchase option exercised Friday.

Laurance Armour.

The new directors are:

Laurance Armour, who was elected chairman of the board on Friday; C. Ray Phillips, who was elected president of the bank; G. E. Rose, vice president of International Harvester company; Wade Fetzer, president of W. A. Alexander company; Nicholson, and Carl J. Weitzel of the Marshall Field estate. Three directors were retained.

Personnel to Remain.

With the exception of the election of Armour as chairman and Phillips as president, no change in the officer personnel is planned, Nicholson said. Reuben B. Fuessle is vice president and Leonard C. Phillips is cashier.

William Schlake had been president of the bank since the death in July, 1939, of W. G. McLaury. McLaury's widow is one of the three directors who were retained.

According to stock certificates approved by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, holder of the stock in escrow under the agreement by which control of the bank changed hands, control now rests with Nicholson, John Nuveen Jr., bond dealer; Armour, Marshall Field III., and Phillips.

Hold 1,200 Shares.

The certificates show Nuveen and Nicholson hold 1,200 shares each, the largest individual holdings; Armour 1,000 shares and Field 660 shares.

Last January Nicholson, Nuveen, and associates offered to buy 60 per cent of the bank's stock at $75 a share. The bank has 8,000 shares of $50 par value common. On Friday Nicholson and Nuveen announced that more than 59 per cent of the stock had been deposited for sale and that their group had exercised an option to buy it.

"We found it thru the TRIBUNE Want Ad Section"
The apartment you want at the rent you want to pay

Have you found the apartment you want at the rent you want to pay? Consult Chicago's all-price-range apartment directory—the Tribune want ad section.

Listing more apartments than all other Chicago newspapers combined, the Tribune want ad columns offer a wide selection at practically every rent and in practically every neighborhood and suburb.

Before you start your search make up a list of apartments to inspect from the offers in the Tribune want ad section. You will save time and avoid disappointment. You will climb no stairs to see places which could not possibly interest you. You will waste no time searching thru the neighborhoods hoping by chance to find an attractive apartment.

To get the apartment which will make you happiest, consult Chicago's all-price-range apartment directory—the Tribune want ad section.

● To simplify your search, the Tribune classifies Apartments to Rent want ads by locations in the city and suburbs, and by numbers of rooms. This permits you to turn immediately to the group which offers apartments of the size and in the location you prefer.

Because they get better results, apartment owners and rental agents place more Apartments to Rent want advertising in the Tribune than in all other Chicago newspapers combined. To reach Chicago's largest constant audience, Call Superior 0100, and ask for a Want Ad-Viser.

Suburbs Have Most Active February Building in Decade

EXCEEDS LAST YEAR'S VOLUME BY 191 PER CENT

Tops Building in Chicago by $1,201,252.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Building permits for all types of construction in 77 Chicago suburbs last month amounted to $3,517,451. This is the largest February volume since the beginning of suburban building records in 1931, according to Arthur G. Erdmann, president of the Bell Savings, Building and Loan association, which makes the surveys.

It is 191 per cent above the figure of February, 1939, when permits totaled $1,207,243, and is 123 per cent ahead of January, 1940, when the total was $1,574,660. Last month's suburban building also was $1,201,252 larger than the entire city of Chicago, which had a total of $2,316,199 in permits.

List Totals Since 1931.

Following are the February totals since 1931:

1931	$2,529,000	1936	513,000
1932	397,000	1937	1,889,000
1933	305,000	1938	1,185,000
1934	240,000	1939	1,207,000
1935	306,000	1940	3,517,451

During February permits were issued for 262 residences to cost an estimated $1,736,147. Last year permits for new homes totaled 139, costing $941,550. In January, 1940, there were 131 permits for homes. The increase over February, 1939, is 88 per cent in number of units and 84 per cent in value.

Hammond, Ind., led in buildings of all types. Joe P. Guy, building commissioner, said that permits amounting to $833,830 were issued. While Hammond has been active in home building, February construction consisted chiefly of municipal projects—three buildings for the sewage disposal plant, to cost $417,000, and a new $381,000 postoffice.

Evanston Second on List.

Evanston was second in the suburban list with February building of all types valued at $711,850, comprising a large volume of home construction; $150,000 for two business buildings, and $400,000 for the Patten gymnasium of Northwestern university.

Forty-one houses were built in Evergreen Park costing $205,000. In Niles Center there were 22 homes built costing $200,100. The average value of the Niles Center homes is slightly more than $9,000, and that of the Evergreen Park homes $5,000. These communities ranked first and second in home construction.

Evanston ranked third in February home building with 18 permits issued for homes valued at a total of $148,500.

Other Towns Listed.

Other towns with home permits exceeding $25,000 were Blue Island, with 7 houses to cost $35,416; Crete, 5 homes, $37,000; Des Plaines, 9, $43,200; Elmhurst, 5, $33,850; Elmwood Park, 9, $66,850; Gary, 17, $63,650; Griffith, 6, $25,500; Highland Park, 4, $34,050; Lincolnwood, 12, $89,200; Palatine, 2, $27,000; Palos Heights, 5, $28,500; Park Ridge, 10, $85,200; Wilmette, 10, $110,500, and Winnetka, 4, $71,500.

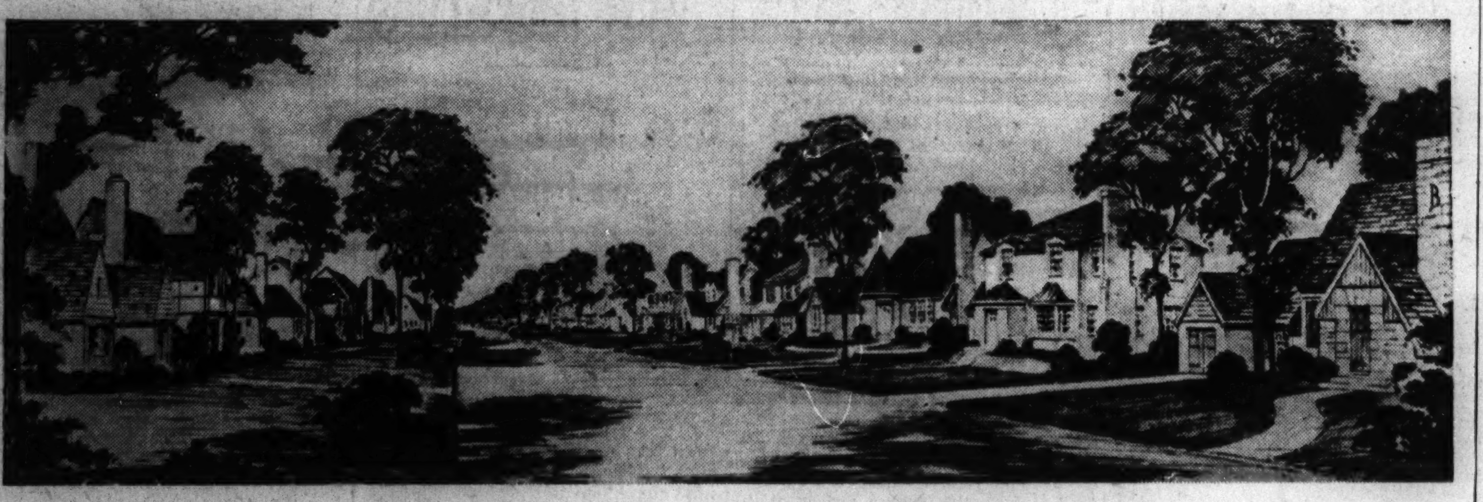
The United Charities and the Legal Aid society yesterday leased for a term of years the entire 12th floor and part of the 13th, containing 8,288 square feet, in the Insurance Center building, 330 South Wells street. According to Arthur Rubloff & Co., agents for the property, the space leased will be remodeled for use as executive offices of the two agencies. They now are at 203 North Wabash avenue.

Twenty-One Homes Built Since Last May



This is a reproduction of an etching made by E. H. Olstead showing 21 homes in the Fred J. Walsh company development of Lincolnwood Estates in the town of Lincolnwood (formerly Tessville) at the northeast corner of Cicero and Pratt avenues. The project was started on May 1, 1939. The view is north on Knox avenue, from Pratt. These houses cost $6,500 to $10,000. All were built to order. There is no speculative building in this development.

Plan Two New Additions to Notre Dame High School

Plans are being drawn by McCarthy, Smith & Eppig for a school wing and convent addition to the Notre Dame High school, Wellington and Mango avenues. The wing will contain a library and class rooms. The convent will have accommodations for forty-five. The school is conducted by the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur.

Assessment Methods Told by Realtor

J. Soule Warterfield.

Methods used in spreading the 1939 quadrennial assessment of real estate in Cook county were outlined by J. Soule Warterfield in an address last Tuesday before the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers at the Chicago Real Estate board. Warterfield, a former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, is serving as real estate adviser to the county assessor, John S. Clark. He is vice president of Starrett Brothers, Inc., general contractors.

Before making the 1939 assessment the assessor made his own land use survey of all properties in Chicago, platted on 165 maps, Warterfield said. These were then transferred in detail and color on 1,956 one hundred foot to the inch scale maps. These maps show zoning and use, type of construction, size and kind of structures, and dimensions of properties.

"The 1939 quadrennial assessment was made after considering, among other things, present and possible economic factors and use affecting property in Cook county," Warterfield said. "Many thousands of economic studies were made on all types of properties thruout the county.

"Over 55,000 sales were recorded and checked back against valuations. Rental surveys in many neighborhoods were made covering thousands of apartment buildings as spot checks, and these were checked back against assessor's valuations.

Gollos Brothers Lease Movie for Twenty Years

The Ark Theater Company, Inc., has leased from the Bartholomae estate the 650 seat Drexel theater at 858 East 63d street, for 20 years at a reported $200,000 for the term. George N. and Harold M. Gollos of Gollos Brothers, who own the leasing corporation, already operate the Midway, Ray, and Woodlawn theaters, and have leased one to be built in Morgan Park. The Ark theater will be remodeled from plans by Architect Erwin G. Frederick. Walter Zittenfield was attorney for the lessee and Carl Waldron for the lessor. Swan-Lorish, Inc., was broker.

Harry L. Drake, one of Chicago's most active buyers of apartment properties, yesterday purchased the Casa Bonita apartments at 7338-52 Ridge avenue, for $400,000 according to the revenue stamps on the deed. Of this amount $348,000 was a purchase money mortgage and the balance, $52,000, was in cash. Alex B. LaZoris was the only broker in the transaction.

The building was sold by the Royal Neighbors of America of Rock Island, Ill. It contains 66 unfurnished apartments of three, four, five, six, and eight rooms. The English basement has a swimming pool.

The three story structure is U shaped and of Spanish design. The lot fronts 170 feet on Ridge avenue, is 332 feet deep on the south side and 303 feet deep on the north side, and is 166 feet across the rear. The court is 40x176 feet.

John A. Nicholson of Nicholson, Snyder, Chadwell & Fagerburg, was attorney for the buyer. David Levinson of Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann, Levinson & Morse, was attorney for the seller.

OLIVER BURTON BUYS LAND NEAR LAKE FOREST

Oliver M. Burton of the Burton-Dixie corporation, yesterday purchased 80 acres south of and adjoining his seven acre estate at the intersection of Conway road and Burton lane, one half mile west of the Lake Forest city limits. The seller was Fred D. Sadler, who bought the land in 1929. Frank J. Hoffman, of John Griffith, Inc., of Lake Forest, negotiated the sale. The price was not disclosed. The 80 acre tract is bounded on the east and south by property owned by Louis F. Swift.

FIELD BUILDING LEASE.

The Coledrinx corporation, maker of automatic soft drink dispensers, has leased space for its general offices in the Field building.

Outline Plans for 155 Homes in Lincolnwood

Fred J. Walsh, head of the Fred J. Walsh company, yesterday outlined the 1940 program for his Lincolnwood Estates development at the northeast corner of Cicero and Pratt avenues, in the town of Lincolnwood. He expects to build 155 homes in addition to the 95 residences already sold. Of the 95 sold 75 are either completed or under construction.

In addition about 20 other homes are sold and being processed, either in the architectural department or the FHA, according to Walsh.

Lincolnwood Estates was started on May 1, 1939. It comprises 50 acres platted into 255 homesites. All of the lots are 60 feet in width except those on Pratt avenue, which have a frontage of 50 feet each. Each lot is to be landscaped with two large elm trees in front, two cherry trees in the rear, and shrubbery, Walsh announced when he opened the subdivision.

The houses, with five and six rooms, have a price range of $6,500 to $10,000, Walsh said. Every house is built to order; that is, it is sold before it is erected. There is no speculative building in the development.

"Due to the low tax rate in Lincolnwood these homes are purchased under FHA payments, including taxes, of $38 to $50 per month," Walsh said.

"From indications during the last week we're very strongly of the opinion that we'll be entirely sold out this year."

REALTY FIRM LEASES FORMER BANK BUILDING

Charles H. Brandt & Co., for several years at 10956 South Michigan avenue, has leased for ten years the building at 1108 South Michigan avenue, formerly occupied by the Wiersma State bank. The lessor is James H. Gately.

On completion of alterations the lessee will occupy the main floor on next Saturday, March 23. A part of the space leased will be occupied by the Peoples Savings and Loan Association of Roseland, of which Charles H. Brandt is secretary.

INVESTMENT FIRM EXPANDS.

Dempsey Detmer & Co., investments, has leased additional offices in the Field building, doubling the space formerly occupied.

RECALL JESUS' TRIUMPH TODAY IN PALM RITES

Churches Begin Holy Week Observance.

> "And many spread their garments in the way: and others cut down branches off the trees, and strewed them in the way. And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, 'Hosanna, blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord'."
> —Mark 11: 8-9.

Such is the story of what the crowd did when Christ rode into Jerusalem on the back of a donkey—one of the most humble and triumphant entries in all history. Again today, in observance of the annual custom that was begun four or five centuries later, crowds of worshipers will receive twigs of olive, or palm branches, or sprouting willow, in holy celebration of Palm Sunday.

With today's palm ceremonials, north side churches will open Holy Week services that will come to a climax next Sunday, Easter—the day that Christ, crucified, rose up from the dead.

Early Services Today.

Throngs will enter north side churches for communion services and choral programs this morning. White robed choirs will drama[illegible] the Christ story in classical song. [illegible] Catholic churches masses and processionals will be held from 6 o'clock to noon. Three services will be held today at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Michigan avenue and Delaware place. At the 11 o'clock service this morning, Dr. John A. Mackay, president of Princeton Theological seminary, Princeton, N. J., will preach the Palm Sunday sermon. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, pastor, will be heard this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and Dr. Mackay will speak at a youth program this evening.

Students of the catechetical classes will be graduated this morning at the 11 o'clock services at the Second Evangelical church, Sedgwick and Wisconsin streets. The Rev. La Roy Huntley, pastor, will take for his topic, "Bitter Triumph."

St. Mark's Confirmation.

Thirty-two Sunday school members of St. Mark's English Evangelical Lutheran church, 6045 North Rockwell street, will be confirmed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Two Palm Sunday services will be held this morning, at 8:30 and 11 o'clock. The Rev. Kenneth A. Hurst is pastor.

A carol processional service will be given this morning at the Fullerton-Covenant Presbyterian church, Fullerton parkway and Geneva terrace, by the church choirs. The Rev. Eldon G. Lindberg, pastor, will preach on "Triumphs: Temporary and Permanent."

The Rev. M. A. Darroch, assistant director of the Moody Bible Institute Extension department, will deliver the Palm Sunday sermon this morning at 11 o'clock at the Edgewater Baptist church, 1401 Hollywood avenue. The Rev. Howard A. Hermensen is pastor.

Baptism This Morning.

A baptismal and confirmation service will be held this morning at the Lake View Lutheran church, Kenmore avenue and Roscoe street. The Rev. O. L. Grefthen, pastor, will take for his subject, "The King Cometh." A reception for new members will be held at the 11 o'clock services this morning at the Lane Park Evangelical church, Roscoe street and Bosworth avenue. The Rev. Fred W. Deutsche is pastor.

Fifty-one youngsters will be confirmed at the 10 o'clock services this morning at St. James' Evangelical Lutheran church, Fremont street and Dickens avenue. The confirmation will be followed by Palm Sunday hymns by the mixed choir under the direction of John G. Schmid. The Rev. Arthur C. Dahms, pastor, will preach the sermon. The church, one of the oldest Lutheran houses of worship on the north side, was founded in 1857.

An annual reunion service of members who have been confirmed in the Ascension Lutheran church, Wolcott and Cornelia avenues, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning. Eighteen Bible students will be confirmed by the Rev. E. O. Wannagat, pastor.

Services in Evanston.

In Evanston at the First Congregational church the Jnnior and Senior choirs will take part in a processional service. Dr. Hugh Elmer Brown, pastor, will preach on "Jesus in Our World." "Jesus Comes to Evanston" is the Palm Sunday theme of two morning services at the Covenant Methodist Church of Evanston. The services will be at 8 and 11 o'clock. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the church will hold a vesper concert. part in a solemn palm procession

At the Immanual Lutheran church, Sherman avenue and Lake street, Evanston, new members will attend a reception following the service at 10:45 o'clock. The Rev. Carl W. Sodergren, pastor, will speak on "The Resurrection Life."

Members of St. Luke's Pro-Cathedral church, Evanston, will take part in a solemn palm procession and choral Eucharist at 11 o'clock this morning. A choral evensong

EASTER FLOWER DISPLAY OPENS NEXT SATURDAY

10,000 Lilies Are Chief Feature of Show.

Eight hundred shamrocks, many dozens of gayly painted eggs, and some 10,000 lily plants will go to make up an Easter week offering at two north side parks this week.

The 800 shamrocks growing as a park district tribute to St. Patrick make up a little patch of Erin in the Lincoln park conservatory. They went on display Thursday and will be on exhibit until tomorrow evening, growing in a large trifoliate leaf design.

On Saturday the park district's 28th annual Easter and spring flower snow will open at both Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories. A total of 85,000 plants will be on display. The stars of the show will be 10,000 Easter lilies.

175,000 Visitors in 1939.

The show will continue thru April 7. Last year the display drew more than 175,000 spectators, according to William Blaesing, park district acting chief horticulturist.

An Easter egg hunt that will tax the deduction processes of youngsters thruout the community will be held Saturday afternoon at Welles park, Montrose and Western avenues. The eggs will be carefully hidden all over the grounds of the park, and children who find them can exchange them for prizes. All youngsters in the neighborhood not yet 14 years old are eligible for the hunt. Prizes will be given by local business men.

Members of Committee.

Members of the arrangements committee include Mrs. Nora Kampfer, 2554 Cullom avenue; Mrs. Marie Uebersax, 4509 North Oakley avenue; Mrs. Marie Engle, 2168 Windsor avenue; Mrs. Lillian Kelly, 4326 Kenmore avenue; Mrs. Mary Smith, 5058 North Claremont avenue; Miss Eleanore Shaeffer, staff instructor in physical education, and Emmanuel Schwartz, park supervisor.

Sacred Heart Household Sponsors Party Thursday

The Sacred Heart household of the Order of Martha will give a bridge party at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Sovereign hotel, 6200 Kenmore avenue. Mrs. Arthur Navarre will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edward Fitzmaurice, Mrs. William Landers, Mrs. William Arnoldi, Mrs. Lorne Rupay, Mrs. James O'Conner, and Mrs. John Devereux, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Arnoldi is president of the club.

St. George Mothers.

The St. George Mothers' club of Evanston will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the school library. A board meeting will be at 1 o'clock.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About People You May Know

FIVE Our Towners are busy rehearsing for a play at the Goodman theater on April 2. The production, "The Melody That Got Lost," is a fantasy by Kjeld Abell. Proceeds will go to benefit the chapel fund of Principia college, Elsah, Ill., and the play will be sponsored by the Chicago Alumni association. North siders who will appear in leading rôles are Carol Jane Hinchcliffe, 1061 Rosemont avenue; Mrs. Frank J. Dyer, 735 Buckingham place; Miss Florence May Snow, 242 Prospect avenue, Highland Park; Ben Thayer, 1418 Lake Shore drive, and Mrs. Robert A. Cooper, 4901 North Wolcott avenue. Mrs. Cooper will play the leading feminine rôle. Members of the theater program committee in charge of tickets are Mrs. Sally Braniger, John Power, and Mrs. Louise Spoor MacQueen.

ACCORDING to Mrs. F. T. Wilson, 567 Ash street, Winnetka, there is a new dance craze on the north shore. It's the Jiminy Cricket, a descendant, Mrs. Wilson believes, of the Gay Ninety lancers' dance. A half dozen couples or more promenade in a circle, clapping hands as they move, sometimes spinning their partners and improvising swing steps. After the promenade the dancers whistle, swing their partners, and suddenly they rush to the center of the circle shouting "Jiminy Cricket."

OUR TOWNERS, whose hobby is walking, are invited by the park district Outing club to take part in an eight mile hike today thru Deer Grove, near Barrington. Members will meet this morning at the North Western station, Canal and Madison streets, at 9 o'clock. William Smutcher will be hike leader and Perezella Munro will be the guide.

Ann Hunter Hearne, 734 Foxdale avenue, Winnetka, student of Wheaton college, Norton, Mass., recently was elected secretary of the campus Young Women's Christian association for the 1940-'41 term.

Five north shore students of the University of Rochester have been cited for high scholarship this semester. Three are Evanstonians, Richard Hoff, 2677 Prairie avenue; Robert Woods, 326 Dempster street, and Charlotte Gunton, 328 Dempster street. The other two are Richard Wade, 100 Green Bay road, Winnetka, and Clinton Carpenter Jr., 601 Washington avenue, Wilmette.

1,080 STUDENTS PLACED IN JOBS BY OFFICIAL AID

High School Unit Offers Figures on Work.

How many north side high school students get jobs after leaving school? To those who don't go to college, what happens? How many join the ranks of the unemployed?

Answers to those questions were revealed last week by directors of the Coöperative Placement service, job bureau maintained jointly by the board of education and the Illinois State Employment service.

Figures show that in the last six months of 1939 2,697 students from six north side high schools applied for jobs thru the placement service. Of these, 1,080 found work. The applicants are from Amundsen, Lake View, Senn, Lane, Waller, and Sullivan schools.

Finds Jobs for 8,929.

Applicants from Chicago's 37 high schools were 17,558. The bureau placed 8,929 students.

The bureau was formed in April, 1938, as an experiment in five high schools. It was a result of a meeting called by Superintendent of Schools William Johnson of representatives from the school and state department of labor. They met to discuss the placement problem as it applied to junior workers.

A full time placement counselor has been assigned to each high school. One of the counselor's duties is to interview all prospective graduates and students who plan to drop out of school. The results of the interview are placed on a card, which is sent to the state employment service.

Does Field Work.

This agency, after another interview, then does special field work in an effort to place junior workers in jobs.

Counselors at north side high schools are Belle G. Engelstein, Amundsen; Miriam Hartman, Lake View; Joseph O'Rourke, Lane; Charles D. Satterfield, Senn; Stanley E. Engstrom, Sullivan, and Natalie S. Newman and Mary Fitzgerald, Waller.

Delta Kappa Phi Holds Its Annual Dance Today

Members and guests of Delta Kappa Phi fraternity will hold their annual spring dinner dance at the South Seas club, Lincoln avenue and Pratt boulevard at 3 o'clock this afternoon. More than 400 are expected to attend. Tom O'Brien, James Ward, Frank Long, and Robert Kennedy handled arrangements.

Aids of Medical Society Will Play Cards Tomorrow

The women's auxiliary to the North Side branch of the Chicago Medical society will hold its annual card party at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Belmont hotel. Mrs. Clyde Geiger is to be chairman.

CITE TRICKERY IN 7TH DISTRICT BALLOT STRIFE

Efforts to Confuse Voters Shown.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Odoriferous political machinations in the 7th district continued last week to hold the spotlight in the congressional primary contests on the north and northwest sides. Discovery of the connivance that resulted 10 days ago in the withdrawal of four Republican candidates had its aftermath last week in the Superior court.

Judge John C. Lewe, after hearing evidence that indicated efforts were being made to confuse the voters in this area, directed County Clerk Michael J. Flynn to remove the name of another Republican candidate—this time for state auditor—from the ballot. Altho involving candidates for different offices, the two incidents were linked.

Withdrawal of the congressional candidates came after Better Government association investigators learned that all four of the men had been entered as extra candidates by Joseph Porcaro, Republican committeeman of the 28th ward. The purpose, it appeared, was to divide the vote against Alex Loeffler, tavernkeeper, who is favored by the Porcaro organization.

Examine Another Petition.

Attention to the extra candidates was drawn by former Congressman M. A. Michaelson, and James C. Moreland, nominee in 1938, both of whom are candidates again. And while in the course of examining petitions circulated by Porcaro, the B. G. A. men examined one circulated for Edward A. O'Connor, 7818 Langley avenue, who sought nomination as state auditor.

Among those named as circulators of the petitions were Edward Todd, his wife, Mae, and daughter, Dorothy, all of 63 North Central avenue.

Todd was reached by telephone and he immediately declared that he and his family had never seen nor heard of the petitions. Todd, it later was learned, is a brother-in-law of Roy T. Saxon, who is running for committeeman against Porcaro in the latter's ward.

Many Names Forged.

Further investigation disclosed that most of the names on the petitions for Edward A. O'Connor were forged. According to Frederik W. Blaisdell, executive secretary of the B. G. A., Edward A. O'Connor's name was filed in order to confuse voters who might seek to cast their ballots for Edward T. O'Connor of Peoria, a Republican candidate for the same office.

Edward A. O'Connor, it was learned, is a milk wagon driver. Ultimately he agreed to withdraw his name from the ballot, but the county clerk refused to do so. Edward T. O'Connor then joined with Edward A. and the injunction suit was filed. Judge Lewe issued the restraining order after hearing evidence showing that Edward A. O'Connor's petitions were forged.

FIRST DISTRICT

The spotlight here still is on the fight that Willard S. Townsend, international president of the Redcaps' union, is waging to seize the Democratic nomination from Arthur W. Mitchell, first Negro Democrat sent to congress and a three time winner in this district. Townsend, altho a newcomer to politics, is being conceded an excellent chance to topple Mitchell despite the latter's machine backing.

Mitchell's do-nothing record in congress and his action in supporting an extension of the so-called nuisance taxes are regarded as not beneficial to him, as was his recent anti-Dies vote. At the same time Townsend, college trained and with the experience gained in organizing and administering his union behind him, is campaigning vigorously.

Last week Townsend continued to appeal for the votes of labor. His platform is devoted almost entirely to labor planks, and in speeches he said that the Negro's greatest current need is opportunity in the trade crafts field. He has pledged himself to the work of obtaining these opportunities for his people and the economic security they will bring.

G. O. P. Race Broadening.

The Republican race in this district is broadening. The fight was considered to be confined to three of the eight candidates, but a fourth serious contestant has appeared. He is Carl A. Hansberry, real estate operator who seems to be making a serious fight. The other principals are former State Senator William E. King, former Congressman Oscar de Priest, and Patrick B. Prescott, all of whom are Negroes.

Platforms of all four of these candidates are substantially alike. All of them advocate passage of anti-lynching laws, passage of legislation intended to promote business and employment, and social security, unemployment compensation, and old age assistance within the bounds of a sound national budget.

King and De Priest are stressing their experience. Prescott, who, like King, is an attorney, has announced himself as favoring a strong federal anti-goon bill; adequate national de-

PLANS TO SEEK TWO SEATS IN ILLINOIS HOUSE

Party Aimed at Only One in 1938.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Brightening Republican hopes are reflected in the fact that the party will seek two seats in the Illinois house of representatives for the 31st district, which took the easy way out by applying for only one in 1938. This is the Edgewater, Uptown, Belmont Harbor district, which includes the 48th ward and parts of wards 42, 43, 44, 46, and 49.

William B. Greene.

The two Democratic state representatives were elected with a total of 161,389 votes while the single Republican nominee got 143,994 votes in the 1938 election. Now that the district has been taken out of the so-called setup class, four nominees will battle over the three house seats in the fall.

An immediate result of the change has been to attract eleven Republicans into the race, compared with only two in the last primary. Heaviest regular organization backing has been awarded to Representatives Edward P. Saltiel and George A. Williston, G. O. P. committeeman of the 49th ward. Saltiel has the valued top position on the ballot list.

In Another Fight.

Williston, however, is engrossed in his fight for reëlection as ward committeeman, and little has been heard about his legislative aspirations. He served three terms as alderman and has six years' experience as a legislator to his credit. His home is at 1245 Early avenue.

Second position on the G. O. P. list is held by Wilfred J. J. Wahler, 746 Wrightwood avenue. His vote getting ability is increased by that circumstance, since voters may mark for one or two. Wahler attended the University of Illinois, Northwestern university, and Chicago Kent College of Law. He has practiced law for five years.

"If elected, I will strive for the removal of the sales tax from food," said Wahler, who is in the speakers' bureau for Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for governor. "I want to do my bit to cut out overlapping state bureaus and halt the giving of judicial powers to state commissions."

Wahler is concentrating his efforts in the 43d, 44th, and 48th wards. He has been indorsed by the United Societies of America, a federation of citizens of German and Austrian ancestry.

Sponsored Marriage Laws.

Representative Saltiel, whose home is at 3318 Lake Shore drive, sponsored the pre-marital and pre-natal examination laws. A member of the house since 1934, he was chairman of the important judiciary committee in the 1939 session.

The Legislative Voters' league recently reported that Saltiel has "much ability" but that his voting record in the house was not satisfactory. He voted to kill the city manager enabling legislation and failed to support the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform law in 1939.

"I am pointing out the defects of the New Deal in my many appearances before the voters in organization meetings," Saltiel said.

Philip Horvitz, 930 Margate terrace, is in the wholesale fruit and produce business. He attended Northwestern university and the University of Chicago law school, and was graduated from Lake Forest college.

"The Flagg bill, forbidding the employment of relatives by state officials, should be passed at the next session," Horvitz said. "And certainly Chicagoans should have the right to choose the form of city government they want under the city manager enabling bill which was defeated again in 1939."

Another Lawyer Running.

Fred C. Nonnamaker Jr., 1400 Lake Shore drive, is another lawyer. Active in the Young Republicans' association of the 43d ward, he is pledged to reduction of the sales tax and state spending. He said that he would oppose diversion of the state gasoline tax if elected.

Paul F. Pomeroy, 924 Belmont avenue, is making an active campaign for a seat in the legislature. He is a former assistant city prosecutor.

The other G. O. P. challengers are Carl E. Liedberg, 3114 Clifton avenue; Adam J. Herres, 1743 Hudson avenue; Theodore Roosevelt Pickard, 5050 Sheridan road; Anthony Penovich, 2629 Hampden court, and Francis L. Gaglian, 1658 Mohawk street.

The Democratic track is less crowded. Representatives William B. Greene, 1802 Lincoln Park West, and Pierce L. Shannon, 915 Buena avenue, have the regular party organization backing. The split at the top of the state ticket, causing Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, Benjamin S. Adamowski, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett to CHALLENGES STATEMENT.

I noted with great interest the boosting of a candidate for Republican ward committeeman of the 48th ward by the sister-in-law of this candidate's law clerk or associate, Allan Freeman. I wonder how many members comprise her big named civic club and how many of them are Democrats as is she. Her family enthusiasm and bias has made her handle the truth very lightly in some political facts of the 48th ward. But that is the makeup of her candidate's entire campaign so we will have to excuse her. I have been a Republican precinct captain of the 48th ward for over 12 years and I know whereof I speak. His precinct, the Edgewater Beach apartments, normally is a strong Republican precinct, was not the best precinct in the ward; he was never the president of the Young Republicans; he was not only the first but the last president of the North Shore Hamilton league as it crumbled under his excellent leadership; he was never secretary either by election or appointment of the executive committee of the 48th ward Republicans; his promises to be a policeman and fireman of the ward are ridiculous and cannot be fulfilled; he is sponsoring but not being directly sponsored by a gubernatorial candidate.

His sincerity in his statements and promises are so pronounced that he has allowed his clerk or associate, Allan Freeman, to sign objections to the petitions of all the candidates of the ward including himself. Is he trying to be kiddishly facetious or is he trying to make a farce of the proceedings before the county judge and the board of election commissioners?

A casual investigation of the methods being used by this candidate should prove to our voters his real qualifications.

LEROY J. NEIMAN.

STREETS OR AVENUES.

How do people in Chicago, particularly on the north side, tell whether a street is an "avenue" or "street"?

There is no rhyme nor reason, that I can see, for the avenue or street designations as they are today. I used to think, when I first moved to the city, that all "avenues" ran east and west and all "streets" were north and south. I soon discovered that I was wrong.

If such were the case there would be less confusion, less bother, in finding an address without consulting half a dozen maps and street guides. Think how simple it would be!

I wonder if something can't be done about this by some useful civic organization.

BAFFLED.

SMOKING ON CAMPUS.

I am a resident of Evanston and I moved out here because I was under the impression it would be a wonderful place to bring up my daughters.

But what do I find? The other day I passed by the Frances Willard hall on the Northwestern university campus and saw a group of girls—co-eds I guess they were—smoking cigarets.

I have no intention of sending my daughters to Northwestern. I have picked out a nice Baptist college in the south for them.

But where is the Evanston I had been led to believe existed? We might as well have open saloons and be done with it. It's enough to make a mother despair of ever bringing up a daughter to be a lady.

SUBURBANITE.

VETERANS' UNIT IS TO INSTALL NEW COMMANDER

Capt. Michele Butera, national commander of the Italian World War Veterans' association, will be installed commander in chief of the Allied World War Veterans' council on the night of March 27 in the home of the Polish Army Veterans' association, 1239 North Wood street.

The council is made up of veteran organizations of the world war armies of France, Italy, Belgium, Jugo-Slavia, British empire, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Greece, and the United States.

Robert Baird, commander of Medill Tribune post, announces that the post will hold an Americanism program in the W-G-N studio March 27.

The 8 and 40 Cook county salon, No. 1, will entertain the state chapeau, Mrs. Lucille Melner, at a dinner tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at the Stevens restaurant.

fense, particularly in the air, and a continued separation of powers of government as far as possible. Prescott, a specialist in constitutional law, also declared for "the inviolability of the Supreme court as the guardian and expounder of our constitution."

EIGHTH DISTRICT

The Democratic situation here was quiet last week with Congressman Leo Kocialkowski's only serious opponent, Albert E. Bucciere, too busy attending his law business to devote himself to campaigning. Bucciere has aligned himself with the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett organization and the spade work in the district precincts in his behalf is being done by this outfit.

Altho five Republican candidates have filed in the district, none of them is waging a strenuous fight. The situation is comparable to that existing two years ago when Mrs. Rena Pikiel ran unopposed for the Republican nomination.

NINTH DISTRICT

Congressman James McAndrews, known as the roaming congressman because he has been elected from four different Illinois congressional districts, appears a certainty to regain the Democratic nomination here. Vincent Paul Ducey, McAndrews' only real opposition, was continuing his fight with the assistance of some of the regular ward organizations in the area, but late reports were that he would not carry quite enough weight to win.

Ducey, however, was not holding his fire, and charged in speeches last week that McAndrews was a do-nothing in congress and that he never had spoken from the floor of the house of representatives nor sponsored legislation there. Ducey declared that the 9th district needs a legislator with a voice, and with energy, intelligence, and sincerity.

Charles S. Dewey's nomination on the Republican ticket was virtually conceded last week by his two opponents, Don Donnelly and T. McCormick Hartford, who was a candidate for the same nomination in 1936. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the treasury and nominee in 1938, expects to win in November because he was barely defeated by McAndrews two years ago. An increase of 11 votes in each precinct this year over the 1938 count would assure election for him.

TENTH DISTRICT

The battle here is in full swing between George A. Paddock, treasurer of the Cook county Republican central committee, and State Representative Drennan J. Slater. Both men are Evanstonians and at the moment the odds are about even between them to fill the post left by Congressman Ralph Church, who withdrew from the congressional race to run for the United States senate.

Paddock, an investment banker, is the regular organization candidate and has received the pledged support of virtually every north shore political organization, among them the Evanston township Republican central committee, Women's Republican club, Evanston Young Republican club, and others. He is a member of the north shore harmony slate for the 10th district.

During the last week Slater has been identified as the candidate of Hill Blackett, Republican national committeeman. Letters written by Blackett to officers of a north shore Republican club, identify Slater as "outstanding material" and as a man "who has earned the right to stand before fellow citizens for election to congress." Blackett's deviation from the harmony program is interpreted as evidence of discord between him and the regular Republican organization in Chicago.

Another candidate in the 10th district who is expected to make an excellent showing is John F. Harris of Waukegan. Harris was pursuaded to file by fellow townsmen who have pledged him 22,000 votes in his own township. Harris was a candidate in the 1936 and 1938 primaries and is backed by a number of Waukegan Republican organizations.

The Democratic nomination is assured to John Haderlein, real estate broker and president of the Melrose Safety Deposit corporation, who is unopposed. He was an aldermanic candidate in the 45th ward last year.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

The battle in the 11th is between Walter T. Woodcock, 624 Lincoln avenue, Elgin, the 40 year old publisher of the Elgin Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Congressman Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, who is seeking his fourth term. Woodcock, altho a newcomer to politics, is waging a lively campaign thru the four counties included in this district.

Reed continues to campaign "on his record." He was for 14 years, prior to his election in 1932, the state's attorney of Du Page county and has been content to make a quiet effort. His boast is that he voted at 295 out of 297 roll calls at the last session of congress.

A many point program is Woodcock's speaking foundation. He favors "more jobs in industry — less in WPA"; "protection of the American workman against competitive labor"; "cessation of sandbagging business through government interference"; "less government control of radio"; "no war at any cost, by keeping money, men, and ships at home."

The Democratic nomination is assured for Attorney Edgar O. Eakin of Elgin because he is unopposed.

In Congress Race

John Haderlein [Dem., 10th District]

John Fay Harris [Rep., 10th District]

Chauncey Reed [Rep., 11th District]

J. M. Crume [Rep., 10th District]

With primary elections only three weeks distant, candidates for party nominations in the congressional race are starting the windup maneuvers of their campaigns. Among the rivals in the 10th and 11th districts are these four.

OLD ST. PETER'S CHOIR TO GIVE SACRED CONCERT

The choir of Old St. Peter's church, Polk and Clark streets, will give a sacred concert under the direction of Vivian Abell, organist and director, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Composed of professional singers and voice students of the city, the choir will sing a wide variety of classical church music. It will include selections by Gounod, Owen, Palestrina [16th century], Frank, Arcadelt [1550], Byrd [1610], Dubois, Mozart, Lotti, Verdi, and Montani.

Vivian Abell.

Soloists will be Johanna Mangamoli, Lorena Anderson, Fred Mueller, D. O'Sullivan Lynch, Daniel Cutting, and Marion Lubera. The organist will play as a solo Bach's Tocatta and Fugue in D minor. The Rev. Leander Conley is pastor.

PETITION RULINGS CLEAR WAY FOR COMMITTEEMEN

Surviving Candidates in Home Stretch Now.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Candidates for ward committeemen in both parties in north side wards are giving their organizations the "go ahead" signal this week. The preliminary steps to deciding what candidates' names shall appear on the April 9 ballots were concluded last week when the board of election commissioners announced its findings on objections which had been filed against petitions.

The objections were filed with County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. Generally they contained charges that signatures on the petitions were invalid, or were of persons who belonged to the opposing political party or did not even live in the ward.

Frequently such objections result in ill feeling between candidates which is not easily patched as the campaign progresses. In north side wards the board examined 16 objections. Of that number one was sustained, three candidates were disqualified, and five names were withdrawn. The remainder of the objections were declared invalid and the candidates will be listed on the ballot.

Hollerbach Is Ousted.

One disqualified candidate was Joseph C. Hollerbach, opposing Mathias Bauler, the alderman and incumbent 43d Democratic committeeman. Due to the election board ruling, Bauler is now without opposition. "It is the first time I have ever had a 'free ride' when running for office," Bauler remarked when notified of the decision.

In the 44th ward Democratic Committeeman Raymond W. Moore was also relieved of opposition on the ballot. The board approved the objection filed against his opponent, Joseph J. Hurley.

In the 47th ward, where Democratic Committeeman Joseph H. Donahue is opposed by Edward P. Burke, objections against Donahue were withdrawn and the board held invalid those filed against Burke.

Burke has the support of the incumbent 47th ward alderman, Frank O. Hilburn, a Democrat who was elected to office last year in opposition to the Donahue forces.

Twelve Republican candidates had objections filed against them. None of them were disqualified and in five cases objections were withdrawn before the election board ruled. The board held the objections filed against both 1st ward Republican candidates, the incumbent, Daniel A. Serritella, and William F. Gailing, invalid.

Make Same Ruling.

The same ruling was handed down as to the objections filed against both candidates in the 42d ward. There the incumbent Republican committeeman, Charles E. Peace, is receiving active opposition from Samuel L. Workman.

In the 44th objectors withdrew their charges against the petitions of the incumbent Republican, Robert W. Dunn, and one of his opponents, Richard A. Donnellan. The third candidate, Lionel G. Thorsness, had no objections filed against him.

Paul F. Pomeroy, candidate against the incumbent, Max Landesman, in the 46th ward, was disqualified by the board on the basis of objections. Landesman now has no opposition.

All Republican candidates in the 48th ward were targets of objections. Those against Emerson C. Whitney were withdrawn and the board ruled invalid the objections against Edgar A. Jonas and Robert E. Owens. Owens last week declared himself in the Brooks-Lyons camp of the Republican party.

Objections which had been filed against Gunner Olson and William C. Bausch, candidates opposing the 49th ward Republican committeeman, George A. Williston, were withdrawn.

Hostess

Miss Marianne Donahoe, 6361 Sheridan road, will be one of the hostesses to some 500 high school seniors who will take scholarship examinations Saturday, March 30, at Mundelein college. She is president of the freshman class. The examinations will be in liberal arts subjects.

ART INSTITUTE ON RAVENSWOOD CLUB PROGRAM

Member to Exhibit Work at Session Tomorrow.

The Ravenswood Woman's club will devote itself exclusively to art tomorrow, when it conducts an all day institute in the Ravenswood Masonic temple, 4605 North Paulina street. Probably more delighted by this turn of events than any other club member present will be Mrs. Sadie Lowes.

Mrs. Lowes lives at 4615 North Hermitage avenue, but members of the club who wanted to know if she would be on their art program had difficulty in finding her at home. She virtually never stays home, and she will be on the program, she finally told them. Moreover, she will exhibit a number of her still life paintings.

Her activity is endless. Having always wanted to paint and having her desire stimulated by early art activities in the Ravenswood club, she made up her mind she would paint and began to take lessons after reaching middle age.

She exhibits regularly in the Hoosier salon, the while she stoutly declares that she was not born in Brown county, never was in Brown county, and thinks it just as well that she was born in Indianapolis.

She exhibited at the Art institute [Chicago Artists' show in 1935 and 1937], and the All-Illinois exhibit at the Stevens hotel usually contains some of her still life paintings. Moreover, she knows most of the artists in Chicago, attends all exhibits, is an indefatigable about-towner.

Initiates Tour for Club.

Mrs. Lowes joined the Ravenswood Woman's club in 1906. She initiated the club's annual "view day," when members tour the Art institute. This was substituted for the previous practice of letting one member visit the Art institute, return to the club, and report on her findings.

For many years her only outlet for her creative urge was in painting china, as it was with so many women who yearned to express themselves. In 1918 some of her hand painted china was exhibited in the institute with entries from the Atlan Ceramic Art club.

About 15 years ago she began to take lessons. Today critics attribute her perfection of detail and meticulous performance to her early painting of china.

The institute will be conducted by Mrs. Thomas Butler, chairman of the club fine arts department. Mrs. Robert L. Floyd will preside.

Guests in the morning will be Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, vice president, Municipal Art league; Mrs. Richard C. Johnson, chairman of the art department of the 10th district, Illinois Federation of Women's Club; Mrs. P. M. La Rose, 10th district music chairman, and Sue Ann Wilson of the Chicago Drama league. Her subject will be "The Theater in Chicago Today."

On the program will be Mrs. Charles C. Drake, division of literature; Mrs. Daniel G. Ramsay, division of art; Mrs. Donald B. Ward, division of drama; Mrs. Robert N. Wessling, division of music, and Mrs. Lowes.

Mrs. Frank G. Logan of 1150 Lake Shore drive, wealthy art patron, known for her outspoken criticism of much modern art, will be the guest in the afternoon. Her book, "Sanity in Art," will be reviewed by Mme. Elizabeth Guion Hess.

North End Woman's Club.

Mrs. O. S. Heide will review Lin Yutang's "Moment in Peking" at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the club's last reading circle of the year. Luncheon will be at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Arthur Cook will be chairman. Mrs. Edward C. Riley will introduce Leon Saveiz, violinist, who will play. Mrs. Harold Tatro, literature chairman, will present Mrs. Robert L. Sibold, who will review "Huntsman, What Quarry?" by Edna St. Vincent Millay.

Rogers Park Woman's Club.

Gwen Bristow, novelist, will speak on "The American Tradition" at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Constance Merrill, soprano, will sing. Mrs. H. A. Boehmer will be in charge of the program. At 10:30 o'clock in the morning Capt. William A. Rogers will talk on fingerprinting. Mrs. N. Lorne Davis will review "Johann Strauss: Father and Son," by H. E. Jacob at 12:45 o'clock.

North Town Woman's Club.

Preparations for the annual Easter party the club gives crippled children of Cook County hospital will be made by members of the philanthropy department in the home of Mrs. George Callaghan, 2222 Greenleaf avenue, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. They will fill Easter baskets and the next morning a group of members will give them to the children. Each child will receive a basket of candy and colored eggs, a stuffed rabbit, and ice cream and cake.

The art and literature department will meet at 1:15 o'clock Thursday in Indian Boundary park fieldhouse. Mrs. John Balms, 2638 North Shore avenue, will talk on current literary events, and Mrs. Richard Beeson of 6254 North Whipple street on midwestern art.

James Dexter will talk of theater personalities and plays at a meeting of the club at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mrs. Harris Wilson of Wilmette will preside.

Aids in Celebration

Miss Gladys Seaberg, 2122 Pioneer road, Evanston, is co-chairman of the student program committee of the Parents' day celebration to be held Tuesday on the campus of the National College of Education in the suburb. Parents will attend classes with the students and be their guests at an afternoon tea and at dinner in the evening.

KAPPA ALUMNAE TO VIEW STYLES AT BRIDGE PARTY

The Kappa Kappa Gamma North Shore Alumnæ association will meet at the Shawnee Country club at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for a luncheon bridge party and spring fashion show.

Miss Peg Parker.

Among the members who will model the clothes are Miss Peg Parker of 465 Adams avenue, Glencoe; Mrs. Charles Phillips, Mrs. William Racine, Mrs. Walter Colbath, Mrs. Richard Fenel, and Miss Beverley Roach.

Mrs. Richard Howell will act as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Ebersole, Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. E. L. Hahne, Mrs. J. Marshall Ling, Mrs. William Raub, Mrs. Charlotte Thompson, and Mrs. Alvin Ehreman.

Kappa Alpha Theta.

Kappa Alpha Theta alumnæ of Evanston and the north shore will meet at luncheon at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marshall M. Branch, 422 Abbottsford road, Kenilworth.

Helen Hedges, soprano, will sing. Olga Sandow will play the piano accompaniment. Miss Hedges is Mrs. Herbert W. Stoetzel of Glencoe in private life. She is a Theta.

Mrs. Leslie A. Wood, president, will preside. Officers will be elected.

Gamma Phi Beta.

North Shore alumnæ of Gamma Phi Beta will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Swann, 521 Jackson avenue, Glencoe, at a 12:30 o'clock luncheon and bridge Wednesday. Luncheon hostesses will be Mrs. Godfrey L. Jacobi, Mrs. Burton Smith, Mrs. L. L. Scott of Winnetka, and Mrs. Lawrence Hass and Mrs. Ralph Laue of Evanston.

A nominating committee headed by Mrs. David Sanders will present a slate of officers for election at a business meeting.

The Joy of Dancing

Dancers get a great deal more enjoyment out of life than do the non-dancers. Learn to dance well. It costs little but pays big.

We teach people to dance from the BRAIN DOWNWARD, and NOT from the FEET UPWARD as is generally presumed.

We put our efforts to get DANCE KNOWLEDGE to our pupils way above our efforts to take their money.

Adults' Ballroom Classes:
Mon. and Thurs., 8 P. M.
High School Class: Fri. 8 P. M.
All Classes 50c a Lesson

Children's Classes Daily in all Styles of Dancing
All Phones: Ravenswood 7230

GOOD DANCERS employ no physical effort below the shoulders. The man leads his partner through his arms and she takes his lead through her arms.

WE EMPLOY NO METHOD. No two people have the same aptitude, therefore a stereotyped method could not be employed successfully. We always fit our efforts to each individual's ability to grasp dance knowledge, but we succeed.

ALL BETTER DANCERS turn toes out a bit. Standing in a closed dance position right foot should be between partner's both feet to get the most attractive stance. Better dancers also step on heels when completing steps This gives you a great deal better balance and poise. In fact, that is how the better dancers are recognized.

Girls who have not learned to dance well usually stay home with MAMA a lot longer than the ones who have learned to dance well. The poorer dancer stays at home, or is allowed to "SIT IT OUT" at a dancing party, and she loses so much of life's joys. Men who become the BETTER DANCERS meet hundreds of attractive girls to every one they can otherwise meet.

41 SEEK POSTS AS DELEGATES TO CONVENTIONS

Opening rounds were fired last week in a fight among 41 candidates seeking seats as delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions and another 31 aspiring to the posts of alternates from the five congressional districts within Chicagoland's north and northwest sides.

As always, the election, not the nomination, of the delegates and alternates for both parties in the April 9 primary is involved in the broader and more complex gubernatorial campaign. The Democrats are more stable, with only two candidates filed as delegates in all but one of the north and northwest districts, but the Repubicans can be expected to wage exciting battles among themselves.

Both the Green and Brooks-Lyons camps are bargaining in virtually every district of the state in connection with the delegates and alternates in efforts to increase their strengths. And additional interest is being shown as a result of the controversy over the efforts of Hill Blackett, Chicago advertising executive, to win reëlection to the Republican national committee, an honor he was handed last June by the state central committee.

Gains in Strength.

Blackett was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the death of George F. Harding. He is said to have won considerable organization strength during the months since last June, but his retention of the job will depend upon his strength among the new delegates. Those chosen in April will elect the national committeeman for the four years following the 1940 convention.

The primary duties of delegates, and of alternates who will serve only if one or both the delegates is unable to act thru illness or death, is the choosing of a presidential candidate at the national convention. The delegates also take part in the work of the convention, particularly in the drafting of a national party platform.

They also draw up state platforms, determine which of their members shall serve on the various convention committees, and they usually elect a delegation secretary and oftimes a treasurer and sergeant at arms. They have one other important duty, that of choosing the delegates at large at a state caucus to be held prior to the national convention.

At both the Democratic and Republican conventions Illinois is given a total of 58 votes, based on population. In the state each party chooses two delegates and two alternates from each of the 25 state congressional districts. The 50 elected then choose the remaining eight delegates at large from anywhere in the state.

FIRST DISTRICT

Election of Ald. Mike Kenna [1st] and Joseph P. Geary, 5006 Ellis avenue, 4th ward committeeman, as Democratic delegates is a foregone conclusion, for they are unopposed. Roscoe Conkling Simmons, Negro candidate for congress in 1930 and delegate in 1932 and 1936, is probably the strongest Republican. He will be opposed by George Hellmann, 2631 South Michigan avenue, and Jacob R. Tipper, 3538½ South Park way, regular organization candidates.

Other Republicans on the ballot will be Mrs. Cora A. Graham, 4033 Ellis avenue, who has done much social service work and was a leader in the establishment of the Marden Park institution; James R. Zinn, 3801 Wentworth avenue; Edward Houston, 461 East 41st street; Robert E. Giles, 3759 South State street, a druggist, and Byron H. Davies, 2209 South Michigan avenue.

EIGHTH DISTRICT

William V. [Billy] Pacelli, Republican committeeman in the 20th ward, and State Representative Robert Petrone are the party candidates for delegates on the Republican ticket. Their four opponents are Clarence Tomaszewski, 1506 North Paulina street; Peter G. Urban, 1418 Blackhawk street; Leon C. Wolkowicz, 1540 Chestnut street, and John Wach, 1016 Erie street. Pacelli was a delegate in 1932 and 1936.

The two Democratic candidates unopposed for delegates are Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski [32d] and Sanitary District Trustee John H. Touhy.

NINTH DISTRICT

A pretty fight has developed here among Republican candidates. Robert McCormick Adams, 936 Lake Shore drive, and former Ald. James B. Waller, 43d ward committeeman, are the regular organization favorites. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., steel dealer, also is a strong contender. Another conceded to have a chance is Orville J. Taylor, personal friend of Herbert Hoover and active in the Hoover camp. The other Republicans are Edward R. Litsinger, former member of the board of review, and Nathan William MacChesney, 568 Hawthorn place.

TENTH DISTRICT

Three of the five Republicans seeking delegate seats are strongly in the running here. They are Albert D. Lasker, head of the United States shipping board in 1918; James S. Kemper, 945 Sheridan road, Winnetka, and County Commissioner William N. Erickson of Evanston. Lasker and Kemper are organization favorites. Erickson, who won his seat in the Democratic landslide of 1934 and 1936, boasts that he never has been beaten in a race for public office.

Alternates are: Republican—Adolph E. Kowalske, 1211 Melrose street; George D. Dodge, 1314 Wesley avenue, Evanston; Raymond H. Schumzcher, 2937 North Ashland avenue, and Edwin R. Eckersall, 1636 West Rascher avenue. Democratic—George P. Wagner, 1525 Cullom avenue, and John J. Kelly, 5507 Lakewood avenue.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

Frank R. Reid of Aurora, former congressman and delegate in 1936, and Hayes Kennedy, Joliet attorney, appear to be the favored pair for the Republican delegate seats. Other candidates are Harrison H. Robillard of Elmhurst and James C. Bell of Joliet.

Former Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet, Emmett McGuire, also of Joliet, and Charles Leonard of Woodstock will fight it out for the two Democratic places.

Candidates seeking alternates' seats are: Republican—T. Merle Paul of Harvard and Maurice Shurtleff of Elgin. Democratic—Eugene Roberts, Villa Park; Elmer D. Anderson of Wheaton, and Adolf J. Meadel of Lisle.

Grandson Now a Templar

John Taylor Cunningham of 3030 Sheridan road, a pioneer in the ice cream industry in Chicago, congratulates his grandson, John Taylor Cunningham III., on being created a Knight Templar after ceremonies of Chicago commandery last Monday. The young man's father, Allan D. Cunningham, 156 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth, looks on with fatherly pride. The grandfather, who is also a past president of St. Andrew's society, has retired from business, but the grandson now is secretary of the firm with his father. The grandfather has been a member of Chicago commandery for 40 years and the father has 26 years' membership.

Addison St. Baptist Church to Hear 4 Guest Preachers

Addison Street Baptist church, 1242 Addison street, will have four guest preachers of the Swedish Baptist faith at the 8 o'clock evening services during holy week. Tomorrow night the Rev. Howard Hermansen of Edgewater will preach; Tuesday the Rev. A. J. Stormans of Bethel; Wednesday the Rev. Ernest Hall of Lakeview; Maundy Thursday the Rev. Joseph A. Carlson of Ravenswood, and on Good Friday the pastor, the Rev. Henry C. Wingblade.

DR. HAROLD W. RUOPP TO BE SPEAKER AT SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp.

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp, who began his ministry at Central church last September, succeeding Dr. Frederick Shannon, will make his first appearance before the audience of the Sunday Evening club tonight in Orchestra hall. The subject of his address will be "A Strategy for Life." Clarence B. Randall will preside in the absence of Clifford W. Barnes, and the scripture will be read by Bernard E. Sunny, trustee of the club and president of the board of Central church.

Dr. Ruopp was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1921. For a year he taught in Miami university and then entered the school of theology at Boston university, graduating in 1926, the while serving as assistant minister at Central Congregational church, Boston, Mass. He spent the following year abroad, Berlin and Oxford, studying under a fellowship, and returned to this country for two Methodist pastorates in Ohio—Dayton and Delaware. In 1935 Dr. Ruopp was called to the Congregational church of Stoneham, Mass.

The music at the informal hour preceding the main meeting will be furnished by the Coe college band of Cedar Rapids, Ia., under the direction of Stanley Vesely.

JEWS CELEBRATE PURIM HOLIDAY NEXT SATURDAY

Purim, one of the happiest holidays on the Jewish calendar, will be celebrated Saturday evening. On the north side temple organizations will acclaim the downfall of Haman, ancient Persian tyrant whose plot to massacre all Jews was exposed by Queen Esther.

A masquerade ball will be held by the Temple Sholom Men's club in the community hall, 3480 Lake Shore drive. Awards will be presented to those wearing the most original and comical costumes. Louis B. Hoffing is chairman of the arrangements committee.

The Religious school of Temple Emanuel, 701 Buckingham place, will observe Purim Sunday afternoon. Youngsters will take part in a costume contest. Another carnival will be held Saturday evening by the Junior Alliance under the direction of Stanley H. Levin, president.

The Ner Tamid Men's club will hold its monthly dinner meeting Tuesday evening in the congregation community hall, 2752 Rosemont avenue. Rabbi S. Felix Mendelsohn of Temple Beth Israel will be guest speaker. His topic will be "Can the Jew Still Laugh?" Harry S. Shapiro is president of the men's club.

HOPES OF G. O. P. BRIGHTENING IN 31ST DISTRICT

Plans to Seek Two Seats in State Assembly.

run independently, has not greatly affected the race for lower offices.

Favored Parole Reform.

Greene aided the movement for reform of the parole situation during his first term last year but Shannon failed to support the Ward-Schnackenberg measure.

Green, also an attorney, presented bills to the legislature to increase salary exemptions from garnishment, to put a cent a bottle tax on soft drinks, and to allow jail sentences for minor violations to be served on week-ends to avoid the loss of employment.

Representative Shannon, who was seriously wounded while an artillery captain in the world war, is an auditor. He was termed "active and earnest" by the L. V. L.

These incumbents have only two opponents. Bernard B. Wolfe, 5123 Sheridan road, 25 years old, is an attorney who assisted in organizing the Co-Operative Club of Uptown Chicago. In 1939 he was secretary of the 48th ward Courtney organization. He advocates removal of the sales tax from food, compulsory automobile insurance laws, and economy in government. Matthew L. Johannes, 960 Cuyler avenue, completes the roster of candidates.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

Half a dozen "outs" who seek to take the seats of the three representatives of this country towns district are up against strongly entrenched candidates who are not resting on their laurels. Nomination April 9 will be equivalent to election, since voters will name a number of nominees equal to that to be presented in November.

Representative Emmett McGrath of Brookfield, superintendent of golf courses in the Cook county forest preserves, is supported by virtually all Democratic district leaders. Ending his sixth term at Springfield, McGrath is described as "experienced and sagacious" by the L. V. L.

"I burn a lot of gasoline covering my district in a campaign," said McGrath, who was formerly president of an oil products company. "The 7th district measures about 60 miles, from the outskirts of Evanston to the Indiana state line."

Opposing him as independents are John J. Ryan, 1407 South 17th avenue, Maywood, who is in the real estate and insurance business; William F. Donahue, 14843 Main street, Harvey, an attorney, and Raymond W. Smith, 311 Wa-Pella, Mount Prospect.

Aided by Organization.

Representatives Arthur W. Sprague of La Grange and Mrs. Bernice Van Der Vries of Winnetka have regular Republican organization support. They are opposed by Lester D. Wilcox, 427 South 22d avenue, Bellwood, editor of a suburban newspaper and a police magistrate; William Kretschmar, 4007 North Olcott avenue, and Attorney Thomas Mathiesen, 1712 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge.

Sprague, a police magistrate who made a good record in his first term at Springfield, initiated the fight in the house which blocked and eventually killed a $100,000 appropriation sought by the late F. Lynden Smith, director of public works.

"I contend that 75 per cent of the ills of Illinois' state government can be cured by refusing to spend money wastefully," Sprague said. "That automatically takes care of the excess pay rollers and slush. But it is essential that we get a real, working Republican majority in the house."

Mrs. Van Der Vries has been almost too busy to campaign because she is chairman of the Illinois commission for intergovernmental coöperation—the only woman to hold such a position among 34 states having such commissions.

Assigned to the important task of removing trade barriers, her group has been meeting with the others here and in Buffalo in recent months.

In the 1939 session Mrs. Van Der Vries, a widowed homemaker, sponsored bills for compulsory budgets by local governments and extending boundaries of the Chicago sanitary district. Of her the L. V. L. said recently: "Active, energetic, capable, well poised; good voting record."

All of the incumbents supported the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill.

OLD FIRST ST. PAUL'S CHURCH RECALLS ITS 1ST EASTER SERMON

The Rev. Henry Kowert.

Old First St. Paul's church, 10301 North La Salle street, commemorates today the 95th anniversary of the first Lutheran sermon preached in the building which then stood at the southwest corner of La Salle and Ohio streets. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. C. August T. Selle on Easter day, April 12, 1846, and tonight there will be a reunion of those confirmed in St. Paul's since that date. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Henry Kowert, pastor since 1917. The Rev. Louis Grother, appointed assistant two years ago, will participate.

The Missouri synod was organized in St. Paul's church in 1847, which makes it the mother church of Lutheranism in Chicago. In 1851 the Rev. Henry Wunder was called to this pastorate which he administered for 62 years. The Rev. John Baumgartner was made his assistant in 1896, assuming full charge in 1913 upon the death of Dr. Wunder.

St. Pauls' third structure was destroyed in the fire of 1871, and beside the altar in its present location, whither it moved in 1910, stands the statue of an angel rescued from the flames.

GARDEN LECTURE SERIES TO START FRIDAY EVENING

Horticulture instructions ranging from growing a house plant to landscaping and tending a large garden will be given weekly beginning Friday evening at the River park fieldhouse, 5100 North Francisco avenue.

The garden lectures are part of a series to be given in five sections of the city by horticulture staff members of the park district. The talks will include practical demonstrations of actual plant life and soil material.

The speaker at Friday evening's lecture will be Troy Standard of the horticultural staff. He is in charge of the outdoor flower gardens in the west side parks. He will discuss "Growing Your Own Plants from Seeds," and demonstrate the various gardening steps.

Each lecture will start at 8 o'clock. Admittance is free.

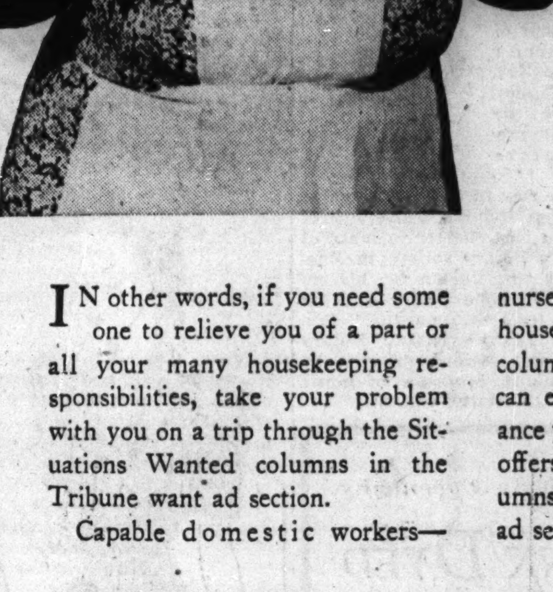
"IMAGINE — TIME TO SEW ON WASHDAY!"
"Why didn't we think to get a washer before?"
Is housework robbing you of time you might otherwise spend doing the things you really want to do?

A good used washer can add hours of leisure to your week. With an ironer, the laundry is even easier. And a good vacuum cleaner can make quick work of the cleaning.

These and other good used appliances are offered at attractive prices in the Household Appliances column of the Tribune want ad section. Review these offers today.



WHO LIKES BISCUITS?

If cooking is beyond you,
If the children make you grouse,
If the laundry gets you down,
And you're tired of cleaning house . . .

IN other words, if you need some one to relieve you of a part or all your many housekeeping responsibilities, take your problem with you on a trip through the Situations Wanted columns in the Tribune want ad section.

Capable domestic workers—nursemaids, governesses, gardeners, housekeepers, couples—use these columns to seek employment. You can easily find the type of assistance you need among the variety of offers you will find in these columns. Read them now in the want ad section of today's Tribune.

WHAT IS IT WORTH TO YOU?

• That old chair—that discarded pingpong table—those rugs you don't want—what are they worth to you? A set of golf clubs? A baby buggy? Fishing tackle? These are typical exchanges effected by readers of the Tribune Barter and Exchange offers in the want ad section.

Look over your attic or basement storeroom soon and list the things you find for which you no longer have any use. Then watch the interesting opportunities to trade for things you do want which you will find in the Tribune Barter and Exchange column.

★ Because they get better results, want ad users place more total want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

SIX RADIO SETS P.-T. A. GIFT TO BUDLONG SCHOOL

Will Be Used to Extend Classroom Work.

Six radios costing in all about $100 were purchased by the Budlong P.-T. A. last week after months of work in raising funds. They will be used to extend the radio classroom work of the school.

"The board of education does not supply radios," said Miss Evelyn F. Colby, principal, "and in the 13 classes where we now have weekly radio lessons, thru the board's broadcast, we have depended on borrowed sets. The children lug them to school in the morning and home that night. With the P.-T. A. gift we will now have 19 classes using the radio."

The P.-T. A. will meet Tuesday in the school auditorium. Officers will be elected. The mothers' chorus, newly organized under the direction of Anne Post Bergh, will sing. Mrs. Sora Barth Loeb of the Association for Family Living will speak on "Guiding the Adolescent." Mothers of the sixth and seventh grades will assist Mrs. Carl Anderson, social chairman, as hostesses.

At a meeting in the River Park field house April 5 Mrs. M. J. Thue will review "Show Me the Land," by Clark McMeekin.

The Lake View High school P.-T. A. will hold its annual spring luncheon and card party at 3239 Lincoln avenue at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Jacob Press of 4538 Beacon street is chairman. Mrs. Benjamin Hyman of 4217 North Greenview avenue is ways and means committee chairman.

Officers will be elected at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the school assembly hall, 4015 North Ashland avenue. H. L. Sistrunk, secretary, Wilson Avenue Y. M. C. A., will speak on "Life Buoyance through Play." Leaders in school gymnasium classes will demonstrate some youthful buoyance for their parents' benefit.

Mrs. Lee Crandell, 4056 Greenview avenue, president, will preside. Mrs. R. James Larsen, 516 Briar place, is program chairman.

A discussion of religion will be held by three members of the Chicago Round Table of National Conference of Christians and Jews at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening before the Sullivan High school P.-T. A.

The meeting will be in the school assembly hall, 6631 Bosworth avenue. Dr. James M. Yard, executive secretary of the Chicago Round Table, Rabbi Benjamin Birnbaum and Dean William F. Clarke, dean of law at De Paul university, will speak.

Mrs. T. J. Ahlberg will preside Jack Everett will lead community singing. The senior chorus, led by Miss Winifred Sheel, will sing. Mrs. Florence Morrison, accompanied by Dayton Graffman, a high school pupil, will sing. Officers will be elected at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Walter C. Hart, consulting psychologist, Northwestern university, will speak on "Why We Are the Way We Are" at a meeting of the Waters school P.-T. A. at 1 o'clock Tueday afternoon in the school auditorium, 2517 Wilson avenue. Officers will be elected.

Bread, cake, and various delicacies, products of P.-T. A. members' kitchens, will be displayed at the unit's annual bake sale. Mrs. H. Ray McDermitt and Mrs. H. M. Snowden are in charge. Program chairman for the day is Mrs. F. M. Brokaw.

Judge John Gutknecht of the Safety court will speak on "Safety and Civic Responsibility" at the final parents' night program of the Waller High school P.-T. A. at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow night in the school assembly. The mixed choir will sing, directed by Miss Margaret Gallagher. Members of the student council will describe activities under the leadership of Dorothy Sell, their president, and James Stevens, vice president.

Leander Stone P.-T. A. will hold its annual card party in the Rogers Park Woman's club, 7707 North Ashland boulevard, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mrs. Arthur Ellison, general chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. J. M. Cashmore, Mrs. William Wenrich and others. The unit's study group will meet at 1 o'clock in the afternoon to hear Alma G. Foss of the Elizabeth McCormick foundation discuss "Social Development." Mrs. P. E. Horton will be chairman.

Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Creger, 4412 Sheridan road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia Victoria, to Arnold Handzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salomon Handzel, 946 North Oakley boulevard.

[Hoffman Photo.]

Mrs. Romona Backus, of the Elizabeth McCormick foundation will speak on "The Adolescent" at a child study class of the Swift P.-T. A. in the school assembly at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The Central-Laurel P.-T. A. will hear a discussion of "Your Child and the Movies" by Dr. Frank M. Mc Kibben, chairman of the division of religious education, Northwestern university, at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Stolp gymnasium. He will show several excerpts from sound motion pictures and interpret emotional responses elicited from children in connection wih them.

The Chappel P.-T. A. will celebrate its first birthday at 1:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a party in the school. Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson, director of P.-T. A. district 24, and Mrs. Guy A. Millard, president, North Side Council of P.-T. A., will be guests of honor.

CLEANUP DRIVE TO HAVE INITIAL RALLY TOMORROW

Civic and Garden Clubs Join in Campaign.

Chicagoans imbued with the philosophy of beauty and the scrub brush will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Palmer House to devise news plans for keeping their city spick, span, and green with neatly trimmed lawns.

They are members of two committees in charge of the annual "Save the Lawn" and "Help Beautify Chicago" movements. This year the two have been welded into one civic endeavor to increase the scope and effectiveness of the committees. Their joint purpose is to encourage their fellow citizens to throw rubbish into the ashcans, to help keep the city's parks, schools, beaches, and other public property clean, and to encourage the growing of lawns.

Park District Sponsor.

Both committees are fostered by the park district in coöperation with various garden clubs, improvement groups, Parent-Teacher associations, school faculty members, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, and other civic organizations.

R. J. Dunham, president of the park district, will be principal speaker at tomorrow afternoon's meeting of the committees. Karl Eitel, chairman of the "Beautify Chicago" committee, will preside. Paul Schulze, president of the Municipal Art league, heads the lawn committee.

Forty eight north side civic leaders have been invited to the joint meeting. They include Rabbi Louis Binstock, Mrs. Harold Blair, Miss Rosalie W. Bross, the Rev. D. H. Browne, John Brunton, Mrs. Robert Byron, Mrs. Helen O. Cotharin, I. N. Chellew, Mrs. Albert J. Cox, the Rev. D. F. Cunningham, Mrs. R. L. Floyd, Mrs. William Heintz, and Roy B. Hill.

More on Committee.

Others are Louis Holst, Mrs. Ralph H. Jewell, Burt R. Kiely, Miss Lillian Krier, Mrs. F. F. Kiesgan, Arthur Kruggel, Mrs. Gust Kulo, Mrs. George L. Lehle, Joseph Lowitz, Mrs. W. E. Machamer, Mrs. Pauline Madden, Mrs. S. A. Mallard, Mrs. Gordon Martin, Oscar G. Mayer, Mrs. George V. Mc Intyre, and Henry G. Miller of Evanston.

Mrs. George H. Nippert, the Very Rev. Michael O'Connell, Ernest F. Olson, Mrs. J. H. Parks, Jurgen Peterson, F. W. Posselt, Mrs. W. B. Pratt, Mrs. W. T. Radsdale Jr., E. A. Riemer, Miss Lorraine Seiffe, Oscar R. Smith, Mrs. I. J. Sweeney, E. A. Sporrow, Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, D. A. Uretz, Mrs. B. D. Warner, Mrs. J. G. Waters, Mrs. William Wilkinson, and J. L. Zender.

Russian Singer to Give Recital for Club Women

Why Be Fat

Thousands of women have discovered way to lose excess weight—without following strict diet lists, or taking exercises or drugs.

Irene Rich, lovely star of the screen and radio, now past 40, weighs the same as she did at 16. She recommends the easy Welch way to reduce.

IF you want to take off ugly fat easily and pleasantly all you have to do is—

First . . . eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating. Second . . mix ¼ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¾ of a glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Thus you reduce caloric intake considerably. But you do not suffer a hungry moment. There are no strict diet lists, strenuous exercises or taking drugs. Yet!—in a test conducted by Dr. Damrau of New York, with this method among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, an average weight loss of seven pounds was registered per month. This remarkable method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men as it is for overweight women. There is only one thing to watch. Eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating; and be sure to use Welch's Grape Juice—always made from the pick of the grape crop; always full strength; always pure.

Try This Amazing Welch's Tomato Juice
If you think all Tomato Juice is alike, try Welch's new, vitamin-rich Tomato Juice. It is so rich and thick you can add ⅓ water or ice and still have a most delicious Tomato Juice.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels, and Also Pepsin-ize Stomach!

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

MARSHALL TO BE GUEST TODAY ON 5TH ROW CENTER

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Everett Marshall, noted concert and operetta baritone, and the famous Glee club of 40 voices of Notre Dame university will be co-starred in a special St. Patrick's day program on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network at 5 p. m. today. The entire program will be a musical salute to St. Patrick's day under the direction of Harold Stokes.

Prof. D. H. Pedtke.

The Notre Dame Glee club is directed by Dr. Daniel H. Pedtke, head of the Notre Dame music department. Dr. Pedtke has declared this year's Notre Dame Glee club the best singing group he has coached in many years. The club will journey to the W-G-N studios in a special bus.

To Sing Three Songs.

Marshall will sing three numbers: "Danny Boy," "Wagon Wheels," which he introduced in the Ziegfeld Follies, and "Where the River Shannon Flows," in which he will be accompanied by 16 selected voices of the Glee club.

Marshall is cutting short a vacation in Cuba to come to Chicago for the broadcast. Following the program, he will go to Texas for a show there.

In addition to his concert and radio work, he has appeared as Franz Schubert in "Blossom Time" and has sung in such shows as the "Follies" and in George White's "Scandals."

With Metropolitan Opera.

He sang with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York for four seasons. He also has been starred in three of Billy Rose's greatest successes, the last being the Aquacade at last summer's New York World's fair.

The Glee club, one of the best known organizations of its kind in the country, will sing several Irish songs. They will do two medleys, "Minstrel Boy" and "Snowy Breasted Pearl," comprising the first, with "Kerry Dances" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in the second group. The group will also sing two of the great Notre Dame songs, "Irish Backs," and the "Victory March."

Musical background will be provided by Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra. The orchestra will play Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody" and will join Marshall and the Glee club in the finale. In it, Marshall and the club will sing "Where the River Shannon Flows," the orchestra will play a set of Irish dances, and the Glee club will bring the show to a conclusion with "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls."

Book a Week Broadcast.

"In the Steps of St. Francis," by Ernest Raymond, will be read by Margery Graham on the program, "Book-a-Week," from 3:45 to 4 p. m., tomorrow thru Friday, on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

NORTHERNERS PRESENT IRENE VERNER, NEW SOLOIST, TUESDAY

The Northerners introduce a new soprano soloist, Irene Verner, on their program which will be heard from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Tuesday on W-G-N.

Miss Verner will make her debut in "Norwegian Echo Song," by Thrane. Born in Minneapolis, Miss Verner received her first training from her mother, who was head of the voice department at Bethany college.

During high school she organized a trio of girl singers and joined Bernie Cummins' orchestra. During engagements with leading dance orchestras, Miss Verner turned from the popular dance style of music to the operetta and classical field—an experience which qualifies her to sing the semiclassical and ballad type of music offered by The Northerners.

In Tuesday night's program, the Northerners' octet will sing "Goodbye Jonah," "All Through the Night," "Ridin' High," and "Careless." The entire Northerners cast will join in singing selections from "Pinocchio."

On W-G-N

Everett Marshall, musical comedy and concert baritone, who will make a guest appearance on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 5 to 5:30 p. m. today.

PALM SUNDAY IS THEME TODAY OF DE PAUL PROGRAM

"Meditation and Melody," aired by De Paul university in coöperation with the University Broadcasting council, will dedicate its program to Palm Sunday, from 2 to 2:30 p. m., today on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The Rev. Joseph Phoenix and the Rev. Frank Murphy will give readings on the topic of Palm Sunday. Richard Czerwonky, violinist, and Sergei Tarnowsky, pianist, both members of the De Paul school of music faculty, will present two movements from Cesar Franck's Sonata in A major for piano and violin.

FIND LISTENERS KNOW ONLY SOME OF CELEBRITIES

The American public knows its political leaders, its movie comedians and its radio singers, but it has something less than a nodding acquaintance with its scientists, its writers, and its artists.

That is the indication from responses of listeners to radio's newest game, "Play Broadcast." The game, broadcast each Monday from 7 to 7:30 over W-G-N and the Mutual network, asks listeners to identify leading personalities in all fields of American life.

Americans are the best informed people in the world, but a number have written the "Play Broadcast" sponsor expressing their own amazement at being unable to identify even prominent persons in the fields of science, literature, and art. In nearly every letter the same persons predict that they will be harder to trip up next time—that they have started a bit of self-education work between broadcasts. Sixteen "stumpers" are presented on each "Play Broadcast" program and listeners are given clews thru dramatizations, impersonations, sound effects, and music.

Chicago Baritone Sings on Opera Audition Hour

Emery Darcy, baritone of Chicago; Lydia Summers, Benton Harbor, Mich., contralto, and Gertrude Gibson, Hawthorne, N. Y., soprano, will compete in the second round of the finals of the Metropolitan opera auditions of the air, Sunday, March 17, at 4:30 p. m., central standard time, over the NBC-blue network.

Pierre Andre's Son Stanch Follower of Orphan Annie

David André, son of Announcer Pierre André, has been listening to "Little Orphan Annie" for almost eight years now on W-G-N. It is one of his proudest boasts that he has rarely missed a broadcast. David is 12 years old. His father has announced the program for nine years.

EASTER MUSIC TO BE AIRED ON W-G-N PROGRAMS

Baggiore, Love and Octet to Be Featured.

Sacred music dedicated to Easter will be broadcast on the programs, the Pageant of Melody and the Concert Revue, under the direction of Henry Weber, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday and from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. Thursday, respectively.

In the Pageant of Melody Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Mark Love, basso, and the octet will be featured. Four selections from Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" will be presented. Mr. Love will sing "The Saviour Low Before His Father Bending," "At Evening Hour of Calm Rest," and "And Now the Lord to Rest Is Laid," and the octet and string section doing "Thou with Hate Surrounded."

Baggiore will sing "The Holy City," by Adolphe Charles Adam, and will join the octet in Albert Malotte's arrangement of the Lord's Prayer. The orchestra will play the Russian Easter Overture, by Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Intermezzo," from Pietro Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Raphael Spiro, violinist, will be featured in the Concert Revue, directed by Mr. Weber.

Miss Witwer will sing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," by Richard Hageman; "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Anton Rubinstein, and "Church Scene," from Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Spiro will play the Gounod arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria."

The orchestra will play "Easter Chimes in Little Russia," by S. Votichenko, and "Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and, with the octet, will do "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach.

WOMAN'S CHOIR IS FEATURED ON 'AND ANGELS SING'

"And the Angels Sing," new musical show featuring Edna O'Dell, an eight-woman choir, and the dance orchestra under the direction of Harold Stokes, will present a program of specially arranged popular selections from 8 to 8:30 tonight on W-G-N.

The woman's choir, which provides a vocal accompaniment for the instrumental music, will sing "'Way Back in 1939, A. D."; "How High the Moon," with Miss O'Dell singing in the solo rôle, and "You and the Night and the Music," with Joseph Stepansky, violinist. Miss O'Dell will sing for her solo, "To You Sweetheart Aloha."

"Romance in Rhythm," directed by Mr. Stokes, will feature a medley of songs from "Roberta" in the variety program of popular music, with the singing of Lawrence Salerno, Wesley Summerfield, Miss O'Dell, and the Four Shades of Blue, from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. tomorrow on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

CARTERS' SCRIPT HAS VITALITY, SAYS ACTRESS

Some script programs get a little boring after a while to the people who act in them. What these shows need is a new lease on life. One program that has continuous vitality is "The Carters of Elm Street," on which there is never a dull moment—not only for the members of the cast but, naturally, for the audience, too.

These are the views of Ginger Jones, who plays the ingénue rôle on the "Carters" program. The show is aired daily, Monday thru Fridays, from 11:45 a. m. to 12 p. m., over W-G-N and 84 other stations of the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system. This is the largest network hookup ever achieved for a daytime script show.

"The Carters" stars Virginia Payne and Vic Smith.

Milwaukee Students on Music and Youth Hour

Students of Milwaukee schools will be featured in Music and American Youth at 10:30 a. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. The Washington High school orchestra, 85 strong, will play "Entrance March of Montezuma" from the opera, "Azora," and Bach's Air on the G String. An 85 piece band from the North Division High will play Slovenia Rhapsodie No. 1, the Intermezzo from "Pagliacci" and "The Skyrider March." The West Division High a cappella choir will sing.

News and Queries
Within and Without the Church
—A Religious Voice of the People—
Edited by the Rev. John Evans

Chicago's new Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, not only has a pleasant smile, but a hearty laugh. He delighted 5,000 persons with both last Sunday night at the Auditorium theater when the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield, Irving Park Methodist pastor and president of the Chicago Church federation, told the archbishop that the Methodist church would be glad to take his auxiliary bishop, the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, off his hands if the Catholic church wanted to get rid of him. Another happy laugh came from his excellency, as well as from the throng, when Dr. Wakefield said: "We Irish will run the world yet. I heartily approve the recent suggestion that the United States trade the Philippines for Ireland so we can raise our own policemen."

Archbishop Stritch.

There's no doubt about it but that your pastor's advice about that proposed trip over the Easter holidays is right. You should be in your own church on that day, of all days, just as he urges.

But, if you are among the 200,000 or 300,000 restless Chicago souls who—weatherman permitting—will take off over next week-end in the good old jalopy, the Chicago Motor club has taken the trouble to tell you where you can find sunrise Easter services all over the country.

[Be warned in advance, however, that Bert Vanderwarf, the club's tour manager, predicts heavy traffic movements on all highways, and that at least 75,000 automobile loads of Easter tripsters will leave Chicago, to say nothing of increased localized traffic everywhere.]

The club's list of sunrise services begins with the great service in Soldiers' field at 6:30 o'clock, where 50,000 worshippers are expected. Dr. John Zoller of Detroit will be the preacher, and Chief Whitefeather, descendent of Siting Bull, Sioux chieftain, will sing. Glancing down the long list of other services, we see that the famous Catholic shrine at Holy Hill, Wis., will hold Easter masses at 6, 7, 8:30, and 10 o'clock.

It's a little far away, but if California is on your Easter travel itinerary, the motor club shows that folks out there go for the sunrise service in a big way. There are Hollywood bowl, Forest Lawn park at Glendale, Death Valley, La Jolla, Palm Springs, San Francisco, San Diego—but why go on? Looks like you couldn't miss one anywhere out there.

Alluring is the call of the 5:30 service in the Garden of the Gods, near Colorado Springs, Col. But we would pick the one on the rim of Grand canyon. Dr. Endicott Peabody, retiring headmaster of Groton school, Groton, Mass., will be the preacher at Tombstone, Ariz. Mind you, an Easter sermon at Tombstone!

It's a bit confusing, but the Rev. Frederick W. Wright of the Methodist church in Waterloo, Wis., is preaching a Palm Sunday sermon this morning on the subject, "The Church's Funeral."

"Three gardens . . . Eden, Gethsemane, the Resurrection garden . . . on Easter morning man looks fearfully into the third garden and sees, as Adam saw in Eden, an angel. . . . But there is no longer any sword in the hand of the angel. . . . There is no longer any closed door. . . . There is no longer any death."

From the Easter message of Prof. Otto P. Kretzmann, 6438 Eggleston avenue, in the Walther League Messenger.

HERNE TO QUIZ COL. YASCHENKO ON NEWS HOUR

Capt. E. D. C. Herne, W-G-N news announcer, will interview Col. W. W. Yaschenko, Chicago restaurateur and one-time imperial Russian army officer, on the Herne news show from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. Thursday. On Tuesday Capt. Herne will interview Hugh Studebaker, outstanding character actors.

SERIES OF OPERA PROGRAMS BEGINS ON MUSIC HALL

Verdi's "Rigoletto" will be broadcast by the Radio City Music Hall Opera company at 11 a. m. today over WCFL. This is the first of a series of opera broadcasts to continue until late spring. Robert Weede, baritone, will sing the title rôle and Jan Peerce, tenor, will be heard as the Duke of Mantua. The rôles of Gilda and Maddalena will be sung by Rosemarie Brancato and Edwina Eustis. Erno Rapee will conduct.

GLENCOE JEWISH WOMEN TO HEAR VIOLIN RECITAL

Three Share in Program Tomorrow in Suburb.

A musical will feature the meeting of the North Shore Sisterhood of Glencoe at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Community house of the temple. Beatrice Teller Spachner and Ruth Ray will play the violin. Olga Sandor will accompany them on the piano. Mrs. Spachner is vice president of the Women's Symphony orchestra.

Beatrice Teller Spachner.

In the morning the sisterhood will sew. At noon Rabbi Charles E. Schulman will lead a discussion of current events. A round table box luncheon will be followed by a business meeting.

Women of Mizpah.

Dr. Jacob Singer will conduct a sabbath eve service at 8:15 o'clock Friday evening in Temple Mizpah, 1615 Morse avenue. Mrs. Harry J. Iverson, president, will speak on "The Sisterhood's Place in the Synagogue." Mrs. Joseph Slottow will give "The Blessing of the Lights." Dr. Singer's sermon will be on "The Heroines in the Drama of Israel."

Assisting in the services will be Mrs. Abe Buchman, Mrs. A. Chester Green, Mrs. A. L. Salzman, and Mrs. Phillip Weinstein. A choir of 20 voices will sing, accompanied by Abba Leifer at the organ.

The Women of Mizpah will meet at 2 o'clock Wednesday in Temple Mizpah. Mrs. Oscar Plotkin is in charge of the program. The Woman's Aid players will present a play. Mrs. S. J. Ostiller will be chairman at a tea to follow.

B'nai Zion Sisterhood.

Mrs. David Wollinger will discuss Aldous Huxley's "After Many a Summer Dies the Swan" at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday in Congregation B'nai Zion. This is one of the major earning fund activities of the sisterhood. Mrs. Martin Blumberg, Mrs. L. J. Silver, and Mrs. J. L. Goldberg are active in planning the event.

Lake View Auxiliary.

Pending antialien bills will be discussed at an open forum of the Lakeview Women's auxiliary 214, B'nai B'rith, to be in the home of Mabelle Shlensky, 3500 Lake Shore drive, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Ruth Greenberg, culture chairman, is in charge. Rhoda Nedwick is president.

Clara Salisbury will direct the performance. The cast includes Betty Cairney, Louise Sutherland, Mary Johnson, Charles Bertsch, Wayne McKusick and Kenneth Howell.

Assignments at Waller

Ever mindful of the value of discipline, Sergt. Alfred Fulton, military instructor (seated), initiates his new battalion staff at Waller High school by giving orders and distributing responsibility. The boys who accept it willingly are (left to right) Captains Lawrence Lindh, Allan Andresen, and Davan Schultz, company commanders, and Second Lieutenant Ted Padgett, in charge of publicity. Technical Sergeant A. D. Lee is military instructor.

—Waller—

Eighty freshmen have been enrolled in the R. O. T. C. at Waller High school this semester, according to Sergt. Alfred Fulton, military instructor. This figure is in addition to 150 cadets in sophomore, junior and senior years.

A choir of R. O. T. C. cadets is being organized under the direction of Lieut. Theodore C. Padgett. A cadet musical program is to be given later on in the semester.

Appointments of staff officers as announced last week include Capt. Lawrence Lindh as plans and training officer, Lieut. Padgett as publicity officer, Lieut. Lon Dawson as supply officer, and Capt. Davana Schultz as range officer.

Hospital Service Guild.

The Service guild of the Bethany home and hospital will meet at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday in the home, 5015 North Paulina street.

—Lane—

Leaders of the Officers club of the Lane High school R. O. T. C. were elected recently. They are Maj. Warren Mortonson, president; Maj. John Kragie, vice president; Maj. Robert Johnson, secretary; Capt. Dwight Guilfoil, treasurer; Maj. Warren Nichols, sergeant at arms, and Capt. William Wake, publicity officer.

TWO MEETINGS TO HAVE TALKS ON TOLERANCE

Two programs to advance the cause of racial and religious tolerance will be held this week on the north side by the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews.

A Protestant, a Jew, and a Catholic will speak on "Democracy Begins at Home" tomorrow evening at a meeting of the Sullivan High school Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium, Bosworth and North Shore avenues. Speakers are Dr. James M. Yard, executive secretary of the round table; Dr. Benjamin H. Birnbaum, rabbi of the Logan Square congregation, and Dean William F. Clarke of De Paul university.

Dr. Yard will appear at a dinner meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the North Shore Christian church, 1226 Ainslie street, Tuesday evening. He will discuss "The Intolerance of Tolerance."

D. A. R. Unit in Evanston to Offer Rummage Sale

The Page group, youngest members of Fort Dearborn chapter, D. A. R., will hold a rummage sale from 9 to 5 o'clock Saturday at 821 Davis street, Evanston. Proceeds will go to a philanthropic project. Miss Edith Guyton, of the Oakcrest hotel, Evanston, is chairman. Assisting her are Miss Barbara Crampton, Miss Betty Jane Case, Miss Catherine L. Reeling, Miss Betty Stokes, and Miss Evelyn Miller, all of Evanston; Miss Shirley Bradford, of Wilmette, and Miss Joyce and Miss Eleanor Petty, of Niles Center.

Miss Stella Koenig, Miss Dorothy Hartnett, and Miss Ethel Korthesier are on the committee.

CHURCH WOMEN TO HEAR ANALYSIS OF JOB PROBLEM

"Illinois Unemployment Problems in the Light of British Experience" will be the topic of Dr. Martin Hayes Bickham, sociologist, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the First Methodist church junior guild at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Bickham visited Great Britain last summer to study programs for reducing unemployment. Since 1929 he has studied unemployment problems in every section and city of Illinois.

William E. Diez, director of the Midwest League of Nations association, will speak on trade agreements at a meeting of the church guild's study and discussion class at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in Glenna hall. Mrs. Kirk D. Holland will lead the class. After a box luncheon Mrs. L. F. W. Lesemann will read from "Yellow Dog," by A. W. Harris, and Mrs. Edward Wray will review John R. Mott's "A Forward View."

'Intolerance of Tolerance' Is Church Lecture Topic

Dr. James M. Yard, executive secretary of the Chicago Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will speak Tuesday evening at the North Shore Christian church, Ainslie street and Magnolia avenue. His topic will be "The Intolerance of Tolerance." The program will be under the sponsorship of the Men's Brotherhood of the church.

WILMETTE HOME GIVEN NEW LIFE IN REMODELING

Wide Shingles Supplant Old Rough Siding.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

It seems that almost any house, of any size or shape, can take a refreshing drink at the fountain of youth if it is only led up to that fountain by expert architectural guidance.

An instance of this is the residence of Frank G. Watson, 1341 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

The architects, Chatten and Jacobson, 127 North Dearborn street, Chicago, remodeled this house in a number of ways for improvement of its exterior appearance, with no serious structural changes. Indeed, the remodeling of the house resulted in an increase in house value far in excess of alteration costs.

The architects found a house which had a roof with an exceedingly heavy overhang and an oversize attic dormer window, not required for attic lighting. And both roof and dormer were out of proportion to the size of the house.

Rough Siding Replaced.

The roof was simplified and dormer removed, thus giving the effect of greater width to the residence. And the former bay window on the second floor was developed to become a special feature of the exterior and of the large front bedroom.

Then, too, the siding on the exterior walls, which was of rough, sawed boards, had proved an unsatisfactory surface for painting and had given evidence of collecting dust and dirt too rapidly for its own good or for the comfort of the owners. This rough siding was replaced with wide shingles, which were coated with a special mixture of white paint to give a weathered effect in contrast with the painted white trim. New entrance steps of handsome stone of selected colors and a wrought iron railing added to the attractiveness of the entrance.

Siding for Simple Lines.

This spring and summer will see many improvements made on home exteriors, and for those who are interested in "doing things" for their frame houses, or in building a new frame house, it is interesting to note that exterior siding is available in numerous sizes and pleasing patterns.

There is a friendly quality in wood siding. It is a warm, attractive material, with the beauty of simple lines and solid colors, and this modern siding is offered to the home owner thoroly seasoned, properly graded, and carefully machined.

Emphasis on wall "textures" is important in home architecture, and these are possibilities for these textures thru the various patterns in wood siding and its different methods of application.

If you wish you can employ such long used types as drop siding and narrow bevel siding. You can also avail yourself of several types of vertical wood siding, as well as different rustic and wide bevel sidings. And you can combine various types of siding with shakes, shingles, and even with rough stonework to obtain interesting effects.

Almost Like Clapboards.

Bevel siding today is in different widths and is closely similar to the clapboards of nearly 300 years ago; drop siding, usually thicker than bevel siding, makes a strong, durable wall, and flush siding, which offers a flat surface, offers a contrasting accent to patterned walls.

Cottage types of architecture are bringing into wider use the vertical siding, and many interesting effects are possible with its use. Likewise, there are unusual sidings to give a small rustic atmosphere, while shakes, with thick butts, make possible widely spaced, heavy, horizontal shadow lines, without the ordinary texture between.

Seasoning Is Important.

With all that is known now in regard to the protection of wood from deterioration, there is no reason to let your wood walls fall victim to decay or the ravages of weather.

Proper construction of a wood house is vitally important. Use of well seasoned lumber is equally worthwhile. Proper height of foundation means that the home is carried well above the ground, and if care has been taken that the water does not run into the walls, but off of them, there will never be decay trouble.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, March 18.

Annual flowering plants are unexcelled for the person who rents his home does not care to buy permanent plants. They may be used for colorful, mass planting, as cut flowers, to fill in bare spaces among the shrubs, and in window boxes. Certain kinds are used as climbers. Some annuals should be started early indoors. March is an excellent time to start these plants; soil can be obtained from the greenhouse man. Soil need not be rich, but it should be rather loose, a mixture of loam, sand, and leafmold or peat. Do not sow thick. This invariably causes trouble and loss of many plants. It is wise to prepare the soil, giving suitable drainage by covering the holes in the bottom of the flat or box, and water well before sowing. Allow time for full drainage. The soil should moist but not wet. Most annuals are easily transplanted, but the heliotrope, sweet sultan, nigella and poppylike kinds are not. Some seeds like the portulaca and petunia are so small they should be pressed into the soil, not covered with it.

Tuesday, March 19.

Some annuals will not stand frost after germinating. Among these are the amaranth, celosia, nemesia, torenia and gourds. The sensitive plant is so very interesting a small lot should be sown. It may be listed under the botanical name, Mimosa pudica. The children will get a thrill from touching the leaves and watching them close. Thin seedlings before they get too large; some should have from 18 to 24 inches of space between them; the dwarf kinds will take no more than 6 inches. Edge a bed of cannas with fountain grass. Grow a little cloud grass for use in bouquets. The annual baby's breath is useful with sweet peas in bouquets. California poppies and pot marigold look well together; also snapdragons and dusty miller. Solid beds of verbenas are very fine. Combinations must be carefully arranged for color effect.

Wednesday, March 20.

Lobelia and verbena seeds should be sown now for they require a long season. Just as soon as ground is suitable and the trash is removed from the perennials, spray around the peonies, delphiniums, and many other kinds with Bordeaux mixture to aid in the control of fungous diseases. Many perennials can be divided and transplanted. If the plants are doing well do not disturb them. Some trees do best when spring planted. Examples are magnolias, beech, ornamental cherries and crabs, and flowering dogwood. A magnolia stellata will look well in the back yard borders. Roll the lawn with a heavy roller to even the surface and sow a bit of grass seed on bare spots.

Thursday, March 21.

Do not neglect to give the lawn a feeding with a complete, high grade plant food. Do this early to stimulate the grass and start it into vigorous growth before hot weather. The perennial and shrub borders will be much benefited by application of the same material. Remove all water sprouts that appear after pruning fruit trees. As soon as the nursery stock arrives heel it in the garden and, when the ground is ready, plant carefully. Never hurry with planting. Dig the holes large enough to easily accommodate the roots, and fill in with good soil.

Friday, March 22.

Sow sweet peas as early as possible for they delight in cool conditions. Here are a few carpeting plants that do well in the rockery: Alyssum saxatile compactum, Arabis, Aubrietia, Cerastium, Dianthus, deltoides, Coronilla varia, perennial candytuft, toad flax, and creeping phlox. Try a few of the interesting edelweiss in a sheltered place among the rocks. Formerly, many gardeners planted a few herbs. Many of these can be sown in spring, such as Angelica, which is cooked and the seeds used in flavoring; balm, used as a decoction in fevers; sweet and bush basil, used in flavoring; borage, used for flavoring beverages; chervils, used for salads; fennel, used in sauces; lavender, for making lavender water, and sage, sweet marjoram, summer and winter savory, and thyme for flavoring. Buy roots of mint, thyme, and tarragon.

Saturday, March 23.

The Easter and spring flower show at Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories opens today. Hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. It is free. See that all plants are labelled. Record the name, date of planting, and any other useful information. A garden record book is so valuable that every gardener should keep one. The experiences recorded will be of real worth from year to year. House plants can be transplanted now, but do not overpot. Use good soil. Do not overwater.

[Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.]

5 TONS OF FOOD DUE AS GIFTS FOR CRIPPLES

Shrine Benefit Pageant Set for Wednesday.

Cases of canned vegetables, sides of bacon, baskets of potatoes and other nonperishable foodstuffs will be collected next Wednesday night as the price of admission to the fifth annual pageant and variety show for the benefit of the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children. It will be staged in Medinah temple, 14 East Ohio street.

Last year the audience contributed more than four and one-half tons of eatables. William N. Boller, illustrious potentate of Medinah temple, said that five tons are expected to go into the larders this year.

Children on Program.

The program will be organized around Easter themes with children who have or are benefiting from the care of the hospital performing as singers, musicians, and actors. Will H. Wade, chairman of the board of trustees of the Chicago hospital unit, will be master of ceremonies.

Among the members of the benefit committee are: Charles J. Retterer, 1219 Sherwin avenue; Will Erickson, Evanston; R. O. Hedberg, 5347 Lakewood avenue; Fred B. Swanson, Antioch; J. G. Rowley, Winnetka; Harty S. Walsh, 4423 North Hermitage avenue; Earl Maxham, 1707 North Wells street; A. M. Gullickson, 934 Cuyler avenue; F. T. Renshaw, 1827 Leland avenue; C. E. Norris, 1462 Bryn Mawr avenue; G. A. Rolfes, 3240 Lake Shore drive; J. B. Seanor, 4500 North Hermitage avenue.

Others Lending Aid.

Arthur P. Boller, Oak Park; L. A. McAlpin, Oak Park; J. C. Pollock, Oak Park; Will J. Bell, Oak Park; Walter Floreen, Oak Park; Norman J. Kissick, La Grange; C. C. Lohman, Riverside; H. K. McEvoy, Oak Park; A. H. Vincent, River Forest; Harry J. Chidley, 238 North Mayfield avenue.

D. A. Verity, Park Ridge; Frank C. Roundy, 5317 North St. Louis avenue; O. C. L. Milburn, 6218 North Sacramento avenue, and A. S. Wells, 6201 North Kilpatrick avenue.

Hospital Auxiliary.

The woman's auxiliary of Ravenswood hospital will meet at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the hospital solarium.

ZION RESIDENTS OBSERVE 63D WEDDING DATE

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mill, residents of Zion for 25 years, observed their 63d wedding anniversary recently at their home in the town. The Mills have two sons, Herbert, who resides in Zion, and Vinton of Antler, N. D., and one daughter, Mrs. Roy Burgess of Pekin, Ill. They have 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Mr. Mill, a former highway commissioner of Benton township, is 86 years old. Mrs. Mill is 84. Both were born in Ontario, Canada.

Chapter of Rho Delta Pi Is to Hold Easter Dance

Members of De Paul university chapter of Rho Delta Pi sorority will hold an Easter dance next Sunday evening at the Chicago Towers club, 505 North Michigan avenue. Helen Sonnenberg and Kathleen Bates are co-chairman of the event.

Sokol Chicago to Present Annual Exhibition Tonight

Sokol Chicago, a physical education organization, will hold its annual exhibition this evening in Sokol Chicago hall, 2341 South Kedzie avenue. Richard Molcar, director of physical education, is in charge. There will be sword drills presented by the women, calisthenic numbers and demonstrations on the horizontal bars and flying rings.

BISHOP WILL CLOSE EPISCOPAL LENTEN SERVICES IN LOOP

Bishop Stewart.

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, will be the Holy week speaker at the noonday services in the Harris theater, sponsored by the Church club. The series this week will mark the close of 44 consecutive years of Lenten addresses in the loop. Since his elevation to the episcopate 10 years ago, Bishop Stewart's Lenten addresses have been an outstanding feature of the annual program. Stewart A. Cushman has been chairman of the committee in charge of the 1940 season.

MARTYNOWSKI MAY LOSE IN 27TH

CHURCH RITES TODAY USHER IN HOLY WEEK

Special Music Will Mark Programs.

BY JUANITA DALY.

Christ, the humble man of Galilee, rode into Jerusalem in triumph on the first Palm Sunday nearly 2,000 year ago. No king or conqueror was ever received with more rejoicing by the multitudes. Men, women, and children followed their leader thru the streets, waving palms and singing praises.

But the masses are unpredictable. In five days Christ has been accused, condemned and crucified by those who had honored him. But the martyrdom of Jesus, followed by the miracle of his resurrection, made an unforgettable climax to the greatest story ever told.

Thru the years all Christendom has relived the Holy week, and today will start this year's observances. Palms that have been blessed will be passed out to all Catholics who attend the noon mass today. Special masses will be said on Holy Thursday. Protestant churches on the northwest side will celebrate the day with music, song services, cantatas and special sermons.

Bishop to Speak.

Bishop E. L. Waldorf will deliver the sermon at 8 o'clock this evening in Irving Park Methodist church, 3801 North Keeler avenue. The senior choir, directed by Harry S. Walsh, will sing special numbers and also present a program at the morning service when the pastor, Dr. Ralph Wakefield, will preach on "Cheers and Jeers."

A Lenten mediation in music will be presented by the four choirs of Christ English Evangelical church, Wilson and Spaulding avenues, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Erhardt Bergstrasser, choirmaster, is arranging the program, which will feature Lillian Chookasian, and Lillian Gangler, contraltos; Thomas Zurich and Ernst Brodack, baritones; June Johnson Ziehm, Garnet Rhode, and Alice Wortinger, sopranos, and Elsa Bichel, incidental contralto soloist. Anthony Koolker will assist the director.

Bethany Presbyterian church, Humboldt boulevard and Cortland street, will hold its services at 11 o'clock this morning, with confirmation exercises and a reunion of all former confirmands. The Rev. William J. Ohan, pastor, will preach on "Christ and the Crowd." The choir will sing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," by Galbraith, and James D. Cameron, baritone soloist, will offer "The Palms," by Faure. There will be an 8 o'clock communion service on Holy Thursday.

Rites at St. Ann's.

Services at St. Ann's Episcopal church, 2016 North Kimball avenue, will be held at 7:30, 9:30 and 11 o'clock this morning, with the Rev. William W. Reed in charge. Maundy Thursday services are scheduled for 7 and 10:30 o'clock in the morning for communion and an evensong and sermon at 8 o'clock in the evening.

To accommodate the congregation, two services will be held at Gethsemane Evangelical church, Belle Plaine and Monticello avenues, this morning. The sunrise service at 6:30 o'clock will be followed by a confirmation service at 10:30 o'clock when 30 young people will be received. The sacrament of baptism will be made for the children. Holy week observances will include German services on Wednesday night and the next evening the choir will sing "The Seven Last Words," under the direction of J. Edgar Joseph, closing with a memorial communion.

Twenty-four catechumens will be received into the membership of Mount Olive Evangelical Lutheran church, Tripp avenue and Byron street, by the pastor, the Rev. Bernard H. Hemmeter, this morning. At 4 o'clock a reunion communion will be held. The Rev. Paul Roeder, district Christian Service secretary of the International Walther league, will preach. Half hour devotions will be conducted from tomorrow thru Thursday evening on the theme, "Behold Your King."

"Kingship of Jesus."

"The Kingship of Jesus" is the topic of the Rev. E. E. Morrill's sermon this morning in the Grand Avenue Congregational church, 1305 North Hamlin avenue, at 11 o'clock. There will be appropriate music and baptism of children.

Miss Lucille Day, missionary to the near east and India, will be guest speaker on the 8 o'clock program for the church school's parents' night Tuesday. Wednesday there will be a silver offering supper at 6:30 o'clock, served by the Woman's association and a worship service at 8 o'clock. A communion service will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Du Bois' "Seven Last Words of Christ" will be sung by the First Lutheran choirs at 8 o'clock this evening, directed by Edgar A. Lundberg. Guest artists will be Robert Spiro, baritone; Raymond Anderson, tenor, and Albert J. Strohm, organist. The Rev. Lewis Moe is pastor of the church, Fullerton and St. Louis avenues.

Will Offer Pageant.

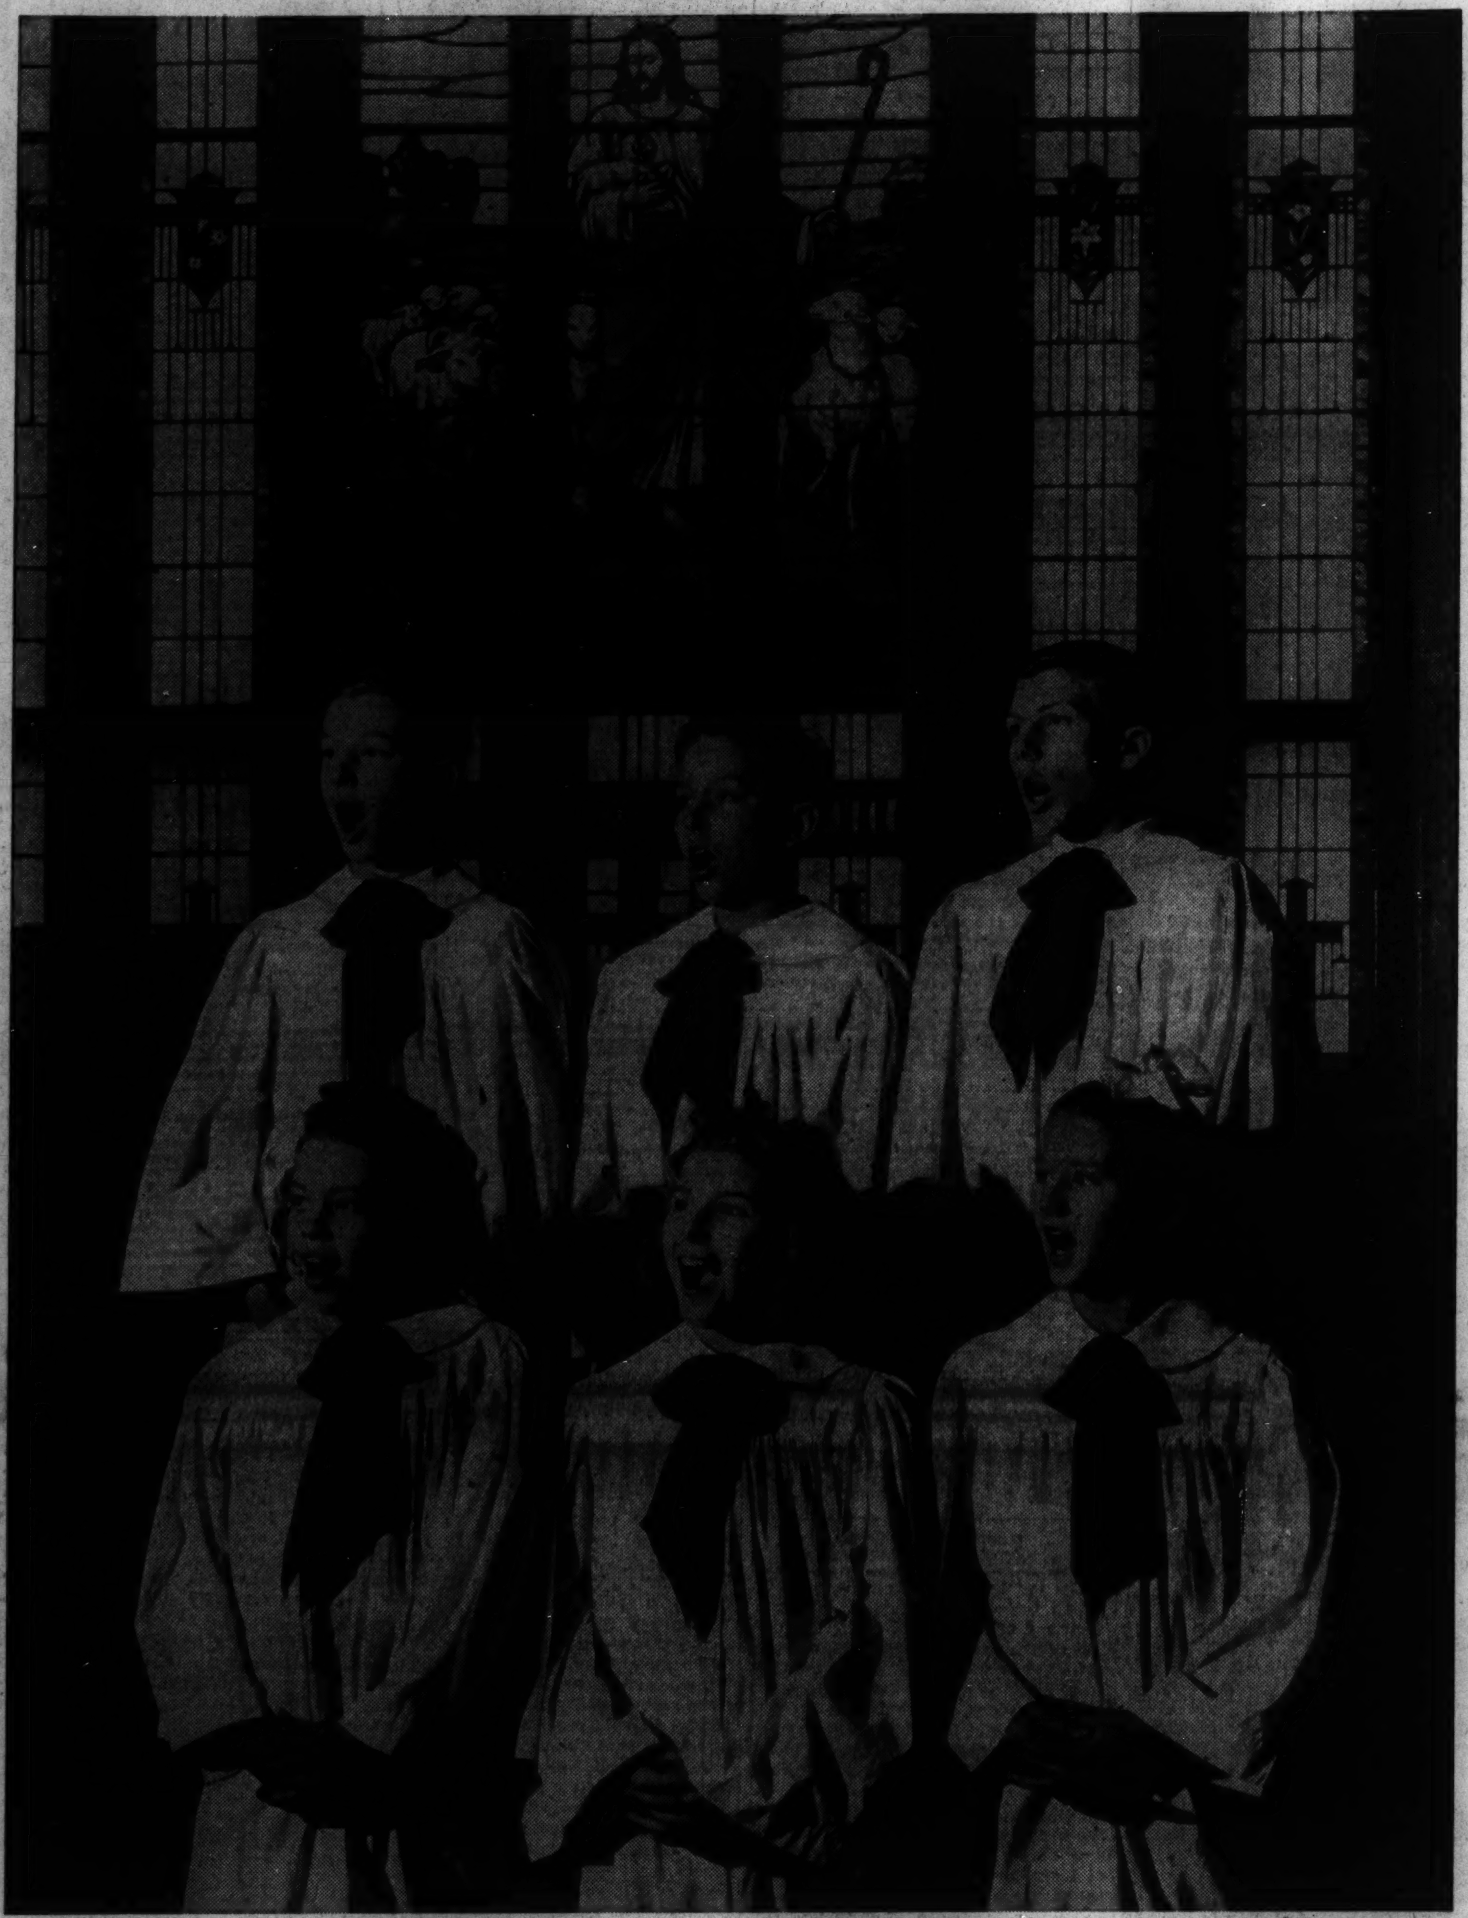
Sing the Praises of Their Savior



Against the gentle scene of Christ, the Shepherd, carrying the lamb that had strayed from its flock, stand these young members of the children's a cappella choir of Tabor Evangelical Lutheran school as they sing the praises of their Savior. The colors in the stained glass give life to the scene as the children's voices and the expressions on their faces give meaning to the words they sing. John Rieck, director, will present the choir in a concert from 4 to 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon over W-G-N and they will sing with the male chorus on Easter in the Tabor church, Sunnyside and Drake avenues. Among the numbers will be Mendelssohn's "Lift Thine Eyes," Mr. Rieck's arrangement of "Rock of Ages," and "O Morn of Beauty," by Sibelius. "Beautiful Savior," by Christiansen, will be the choir's radio theme song. This group includes (left to right, front) Lenore Wenseritt, Rose Rasmussen, Ruth Linzing, and, in the rear, James Rasmussen, Harold Heldt, and Luther Roehrs. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

DIVERSEY AVENUE TO HAVE BETTER SIGNAL SYSTEM

The Northwest Area council of the Chicago Motor club was informed at a meeting last week that the city traffic and safety department has begun the installation of a progressive signal system on Diversey avenue.

Joseph J. Butler, superintendent of streets, sent word that seven lights between Clark street and Damen avenue and nine between Western avenue and Cicero avenue will be synchronized to facilitate the flow of traffic. They will be adjusted to permit speeds of 26 to 27 miles an hour. Work is expected to be completed in about 30 days.

Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] told the council that the city council has approved an application to the state highway department for $300,000 in motor fuel tax funds to modernize street lighting.

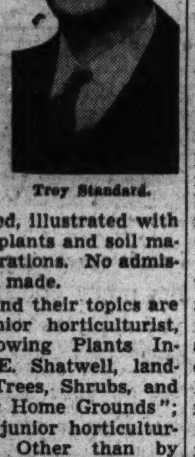
The importance of adequate street lighting was emphasized by Vincent C. Rozycki. He pointed out that changing the street lights on one street in Detroit for a distance of one and three-fourths miles cut traffic fatalities from 13 in three years to two in three years.

A letter commending the city council committee on traffic and public safety for its efforts to improve street lighting was ordered sent. The council also adopted a resolution favoring the opening of Bryn Mawr avenue between Kostner and Elston avenue.

Those attending the meeting were John H. Kerr, chairman; Bernard S. Molay, Frank N. Block, Edward F. Boyle, Walter H. Miller, J. E. Bulger, James S. Davis, Hugh Donaldson, George H. Eck, George J. Eckhoff, Edward R. Hansen, Glenn W. Johnson, F. Russell Lyon, Harold W. Moore, A. F. Matzick, William Pasche, Otto B. Stunkel, Judge Oscar K. Stahle, Frank J. Tomczak, Frank Trojanowski, and Harry G. Weimer.

SECRETS OF FLOWER GROWING ARE TO BE REVEALED BY EXPERT

The Chicago Park district's annual spring lecture series on gardening topics will begin on the northwest side tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Portage Park fieldhouse, Berteau and Central avenues. The speaker will be Troy Standard, chief floriculturist at the Garfield park conservatory, and his topic will be "Growing Your Own Plants from Seeds."



Troy Standard.

On succeeding Monday nights four other lectures will be offered, illustrated with colored slides and plants and soil materials for demonstrations. No admission charge will be made.

Other speakers and their topics are Eldred Green, junior horticulturist, "Methods of Growing Plants Indoors"; William E. Shatwell, landscape designer, "Trees, Shrubs, and the Lawn on Your Home Grounds"; Rudolph J. Mohr, junior horticulturist, "Propagation Other than by Seeds," and Frank K. Balthis, horticulturist, "Perennials and Annuals for the Chicago Garden."

85,000 Plants to Be Shown at Parks' Annual Display

Eighty-five thousand plants, including 10,000 Easter lilies, will be on display next Saturday when the Chicago park district's 28th annual spring flower show opens in Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories. Last year 175,032 persons visited the show.

SCHOOLS PLACE 8,929 GRADUATES AS WAGE EARNERS

High school graduates next June will have better than an even chance to get a job suited to their talents and inclinations. This was indicated last week by statistics released by administrators of the coöperative placement service initiated last year in the city's 37 high schools.

Of the 17,558 applicants registered between the first of July last year and the first of January, 8,929 obtained work. Because the bureaus are now more perfectly organized and students are more familiar with the services an even greater percentage is expected to be placed this year.

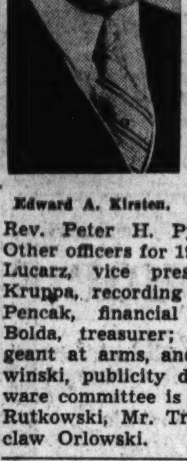
Operating the bureaus is the joint enterprise of the Chicago board of education and the Illinois state employment service. L. J. Schloerb, director of educational research for the board of education, explains the difference in the functions of the two agencies this way: "The state employment service finds the job, and the school finds the student qualified for it."

The first bureaus were set up on an experimental basis in the spring of 1938 after Superintendent William H. Johnson had conferred with officers of the state employment service. Only five were established at first. Success with these led to the extension of the idea to the entire high school system in December, 1938.

Directors of the bureaus are teachers selected for their experience and skill in personnel work. Those in charge in northwest side high schools are: Irene M. Hirons, Foreman; Samuel Barth, Kelvyn Park; Helen A. Hutton, Roosevelt; Walter F. Hanselman, and Martha L. Butler, Schurz; Herbert A. Jackson, Steinmetz; Mary H. Farrell, Taft; George E. Lawley, Tuley; Marion Cole, Von Steuben, and Maurice Paton and Mary Barron, Wells.

ELECTED 20TH TIME TO HEAD CIVIC CLUB OF ST. HELEN CHURCH

Edward A. Kirsten, 1006 North Western avenue, recently was reinstalled as president of King Casimir the Great Civic club, composed of 500 members of St. Helen Roman Catholic church. This is the twentieth year that Mr. Kirsten has conducted the organization which he started. The club sponsors civic and social welfare work in the vicinity of the church, 2315 Augusta boulevard, where the Rev. Peter H. Pyterek is pastor. Other officers for 1940 include Joseph Lucarz, vice president; Frank J. Kruppa, recording secretary; Julian Pencak, financial secretary; Paul Bolda, treasurer; John Czaja, sergeant at arms, and Chester T. Trawinski, publicity director. The welware committee is composed of Jack Rutkowski, Mr. Trawinski, and Waclaw Orlowski.



Edward A. Kirsten.

Shamrocks, Irish Symbol, Will Be Shown in Parks

The symbol of the Irish national virtues, love, heroism, and wit, will be displayed in the Garfield park and Lincoln park conservatories today and tomorrow. Eight hundred shamrocks will be shown in the form of a large trifoliate leaf in Lincoln park and a smaller group will be exhibited at Garfield park. Both conservatories are open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

CITE TRICKERY IN 7TH DISTRICT BALLOT STRIFE

Efforts to Confuse Voters Shown.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Odoriferous political machinations in the 7th district continued last week to hold the spotlight in the congressional primary contests on the north and northwest sides. Discovery of the connivance that resulted 10 days ago in the withdrawal of four Republican candidates had its aftermath last week in the Superior court.

Judge John C. Lewe, after hearing evidence that indicated efforts were being made to confuse the voters in this area, directed County Clerk Michael J. Flynn to remove the name of another Republican candidate—this time for state auditor—from the ballot. Altho involving candidates for different offices, the two incidents were linked.

Withdrawal of the congressional candidates came after Better Government association investigators learned that all four of the men had been entered as extra candidates by Joseph Porcaro, Republican committeeman of the 28th ward. The purpose, it appeared, was to divide the vote against Alex Loeffler, tavernkeeper, who is favored by the Porcaro organization.

Examine Another Petition.

Attention to the extra candidates was drawn by former Congressman M. A. Michaelson, and James C. Moreland, nominee in 1938, both of whom are candidates again. And while in the course of examining petitions circulated by Porcaro, the B. G. A. men examined one circulated for Edward A. O'Connor, 7818 Langley avenue, who sought nomination as state auditor.

Among those named as circulators of the petitions were Edward Todd, his wife, Mae, and daughter, Dorothy, all of 63 North Central avenue.

Todd was reached by telephone and he immediately declared that he and his family had never seen nor heard of the petitions. Todd, it later was learned, is a brother-in-law of Roy T. Saxon, who is running for committeeman against Porcaro in the latter's ward.

Many Names Forged.

Further investigation disclosed that most of the names on the petitions for Edward A. O'Connor were forged. According to Frederik W. Blaisdell, executive secretary of the B. G. A., Edward A. O'Connor's name was filed in order to confuse voters who might seek to cast their ballots for Edward T. O'Connor of Peoria, a Republican candidate for the same office.

Edward A. O'Connor, it was learned, is a milk wagon driver. Ultimately he agreed to withdraw his name from the ballot, but the county clerk refused to do so. Edward T. O'Connor then joined with Edward A. and the injunction suit was filed. Judge Lewe issued the restraining order after hearing evidence showing that Edward A. O'Connor's petitions were forged.

Developments in congressional contests in other districts that include parts of north and northwest Chicago follow:

FIRST DISTRICT

The spotlight here still is on the fight that Willard S. Townsend, international president of the Redcaps' union, is waging to seize the Democratic nomination from Arthur W. Mitchell, first Negro Democrat sent to congress and a three time winner in this district. Townsend, altho a newcomer to politics, is being conceded an excellent chance to topple Mitchell despite the latter's machine backing.

Mitchell's do-nothing record in congress and his action in supporting an extension of the so-called nuisance taxes are regarded as not beneficial to him, as was his recent anti-Dies vote. At the same time Townsend, college trained and with the experience gained in organizing and administering his union behind him, is campaigning vigorously.

Last week Townsend continued to appeal for the votes of labor. His platform is devoted almost entirely to labor planks, and in speeches he said that the Negro's greatest current need is opportunity in the trade crafts field. He has pledged himself to the work of obtaining these opportunities for his people and the economic security they will bring.

G. O. P. Race Broadening.

The Republican race in this district is broadening: The fight was considered to be confined to three of the eight candidates, but a fourth serious contestant has appeared. He is Carl A. Hansberry, real estate operator who seems to be making a serious fight. The other principals are former State Senator William E. King, former Congressman Oscar de Priest, and Patrick B. Prescott, all of whom are Negroes.

Platforms of all four of these candidates are substantially alike. All of them advocate passage of anti-lynching laws, passage of legislation intended to promote business and employment, and social security, unemployment compensation, and old age assistance within the bounds of a sound national budget.

King and De Priest are stressing their experience. Prescott, who, like King, is an attorney, has announced himself as favoring a strong federal anti-goon bill; adequate national de-

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

FOR the first time in her life Miss Phyllis Umbach, a senior at Maine Township High school, mounted a speaker's platform recently, but she spoke more convincingly about "How Our Constitution Preserves Americanism" than a dozen experienced orators. Her performance will be rewarded with a free trip to Washington, D. C., given by the auxiliary of Mel Tierney post of the American Legion, sponsors of the contest.

Phyllis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Umbach of Des Plaines. She has been a member of the a capella choir at Maine for three years, and last November was chosen as one of three to represent her school in the all-state chorus at Urbana. Her hobby is photography.

Miss Anna Melle and Miss Jeanette Rittmueller placed second and third in the contest respectively. Others who entered were Yvonne Ellwitz, Arthur Peterson, June Hoffman, Fern Wunluck, Donald Goll, Erwin Hirschberg Jr., Dorothy Jiencke, Russell Johnson, Edward Nissen, and Shirley Spiegler. Mrs. Redman Davis, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Walter Hoffman, Americanism chairman, had charge of the contest.

If you want to be president of the 4B class at Lane Technical High school, the first step is joining the R. O. T. C. That was the boast of cadets last week after Sergt. Robert Heilman became the second "soldier" in two semesters to head the graduating class. Bob is what his classmates call an "all around" boy. He plays baseball, football, and soccer, collects stamps, makes knickknacks out of scrap wood, swims, and rides a bicycle. For relaxation he finds playing a guitar and listening to Dick Jurgens' orchestra very satisfying. A better than average student, he has an average of 89 for his first three years at Lane. He hopes to become an expert machinist and eventually an executive. He is 17 years old and resides at 4518 Wellington avenue.

Robert Heilman.

Frank J. Tomczak, northwest side civic leader and president of the Park View Citizens' Improvement club, recently was elected president of the United Councils of the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America, a national fraternal organization. Mr. Tomczak resides at 3325 North Harding avenue.

David Graubart, rabbi of the Humboldt Boulevard temple, is the author of a book of literary essays in Judaica, issued last week by a Chicago publishing house. His book contains essays on "This Historic Function of the Synagogue," "Israel's Sanctuary," "Universalism in the Mishnah and the "Agada," "Judaica," "Judaism Past and Present," "In the Tradition," "Worlds That Vanished," and "Thru Jewish Eyes." Rabbi Graubart is a graduate of Garrett Biblical institute and Northwestern university. He is vice president of the Federation of Polish Jews in America, a member of the rabbinical assembly of the Jewish Theological Seminary, of America, and an active worker in the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He is recognized as one of the leading exponents of the reconstructionist school in conservative Judaism.

THE name of Our Towner Alfred Oppegard, 3230 North Keating avenue, was included on the honor list published recently at Grinnell college. His high marks entitle him to the privilege of taking unlimited class cuts for the remainder of the semester.

Mrs. Bertne C. Petersen, 4014 Newport avenue, first vice president of the Woman's Progressive Club of Chicago, left last week for a three week visit to her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Blackburn, in Madison, Wis. While there she expects to attend several meetings of the Madison Progressive Woman's club.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Frerksen, 2719 North Troy street, entertained some 200 friends and relatives last Tuesday night at a banquet in the Terminal restaurant, 2529 North Kedzie avenue. It was their golden wedding anniversary. Both Mr. and Mrs. Frerksen were born in Germany and both are 77 years old. Mr. Frerksen is a linotype operator.

Among the 76 Chicago women who received Red Cross service pins last week were nine from the northwest side. They are Mrs. A. M. Garrison, Mrs. Helen Chojnowski, Mrs. Mary Jurkowski, Mrs. Charlotte Kowalczyk, Mrs. Clara Krawiec, Miss Rose Romanowski, Mrs. Marion Orczyk, Miss Josephine Krason, and Mrs. M. E. Uznanski.

FLORIST FIGHTS FOR OPPONENT'S ASSEMBLY SEAT

Bases Onslaught on Voting Record.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Ballots are bullets in the northwest section fighting over who will be nominated in the state legislature April 9. In at least one of the battles in the 27th district, the present state representative is faced with defeat.

Eugene P. Dukes, a florist, threatens to displace his neighbor, Representative Stanley E. Martynowski, who is accused of having been too friendly with the Democrats in his first term at Springfield. Dukes' home is at 1237 Noble street while Martynowski lives at 1226 Noble street.

Casimir Gorny, Republican committeeman of the 32d ward, claims 34 of the 48 precincts in the district for Dukes. Gorny aided in electing the present representative but said he now must be ousted because of his record. Martynowski failed to support the Ward Schnackenberg parole reform bill.

Mother a Polish Leader.

Dukes is 34 years old. His mother, who was Rose Wanderski, was a well known leader in Polish-American circles. He has been prominent in activities of neighborhod youth. Pledged to reduction of the sales tax, Dukes says he will make a serious study of all proposed legislation.

Martynowski's only bill in Springfield was one increasing from 200 to 1,000 feet the offshore distance within which fishing nets may not be used in the Illinois portion of Lake Michigan. It was passed, amid the laughter of his colleagues in the legislature.

Winning at the primary is equivalent to election in this district, where only one Republican and two Democrats are to be nominated for the three house seats.

On the Democratic side, the multiplicity of independent candidates promises easy going for the two men having regular party endorsement. Former Representative A. L. Auth, 1100 West Van Buren street, and Representative John Kuklinski, 1813 Armitage avenue, head the list.

Auth has had six terms in the house. He is a member of the Chicago Typographical union, Local No. 16. The Democratic organization chose him to replace Representative Edward J. Petlak, who recently withdrew from the contest.

Both Kuklinski and Petlak had unsatisfactory voting records in the 1939 session of the general assembly, according to the Legislative Voters' league. Neither supported the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill. Kuklinski, a graduate of the University of Illinois, is a manufacturer of proprietary medicines.

"I'm for adequate relief and old age assistance," Kuklinski said.

Grid Player in Field.

The most picturesque of the challengers is Stanley J. Mondala, 1436 Cortez street, a former All-American football player. Mondala is determined to advance slum clearance legislation to revive the district.

"Residents have seen a once prosperous and flourishing district dwindle until it is an unsightly and slowly deteriorating mess," said Mondala, who is a graduate engineer. "Our representatives seem to relish the sight of the local element hovering between starvation and relief.

'They could have brought about a change long ago thru the right type of legislation, such as that authorizing the creation of publicly owned corporations to rehabilitate the district."

Others in the contest include Roy J. Golson, 1074 Milwaukee avenue, an attorney; Henry S. Pietrzak, 1650 West North avenue; Felix S. Lowandowski, 1636 Greenview avenue; Zachary G. Pallasch, 1149 Noble street; Edmund J. Bawalek, 1247 Cleaver street; Frank J. Mytnik, 1657 North Paulina street; Anton Grzybowski, 1806 North Wood street; Frank J. Quirk, 1140 West Madison street; Joseph P. Przywarski, 1644 Cortland street, and Joseph Kosinski, 1418 West Division street.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

Half a dozen "outs" who seek to take the seats of the three representatives of this district fringing in the city are up against strongly entrenched candidates who are not resting on their laurels. Nomination April 9 will be equivalent to election, since voters will name a number of nominees equal to that to be presented in November.

Representative Emmett McGrath of Brookfield, superintendent of golf courses in the Cook county forest preserves, is supported by virtually all Democratic district leaders. Ending his sixth term at Springfield, McGrath is described as "experienced and sagacious" by the L. V. L.

"I burn a lot of gasoline covering my district in a campaign," said McGrath, who was formerly president of an oil products company. "The 7th district measures about 60 miles, from the outskirts of Evanston to the state line."

Opposing him as independents are John J. Ryan, 1407 South 17th avenue, Maywood, who is in the real estate and insurance business; William

FEAR NEW NUISANCE.

Action of the finance committee of the city council at its meeting Tuesday, March 5, in authorizing Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt to install two public dumping grounds and a garbage loading platform on the northwest side is viewed with a great deal of uneasiness by citizens of Mayfair.

It will be recalled that during the month of August last year the commissioner was considering the installation of a garbage loading platform at Wilson and Cicero avenues, but the high tide of public opinion against such a procedure caused the project to be abandoned. Whether or not the commissioner is giving any thought to this location at this time is a question that is paramount in the minds of a great many people on the northwest side.

President Carl Thomas of the Mayfair Community club and Samuel M. Sopocy, president of the North Mayfair Improvement association, promise that the matter will receive the attention of both organizations and any move seeking to create a nuisance of this kind will be met with concerted resistance.

E. L. BARR.
Publicity chairman, North Mayfair Assn.

RATS ON MILWAUKEE.

Riding or walking along Milwaukee avenue is both disgusting and dangerous. I use this route daily, and frequently I see rats whose size and boldness frighten cats and dogs, men, and women. Such a condition is not merely a disgrace, but a serious threat to the health of our city. With rats so plentiful a plague is likely soon to occur. Here is a real job for our sanitation and health department. MOLLIE GREENBERG.

DIVISION STREET DANGER.

I notice that they are putting up more traffic lights in Chicago in their crusade against accidents. I would like to mention that they ought to put up traffic lights at Division street and Homan avenue. In the last five years there were two auto deaths and at least 12 persons injured there. Still nothing is done about it.

I would like to mention another complaint. Before any election there is always some one who is running for a position who will always mention that he will get continuous bus or street car service on Division street where it is now interrupted by Humboldt park. This section is 10 blocks from one end of the line to the beginning of the other. By looking at a street car transfer you will notice that you have to transfer three times in order to get from one side of the park to the other. There is heavy traffic going across on Division street, but no cars or buses. If we're to keep Chicago ahead let's work together and do something about this. WILLIAM W. KARPA.

WANTS BUS SERVICE.

Now that the viaduct at the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad tracks on Wrightwood avenue is completed, why doesn't the Chicago Motor Coach company extend its service westward? We taxpayers who live west of Pulaski road deserve the fine, direct-to-the-loop transportation that this company offers residents in other localities in Chicago. Give the people on the northwest side a "break" and extend the Wrightwood avenue coach service west of Pulaski road. ALFRED W. BRANDT.

SEEK LOW DAM ON DES PLAINES AT FULLERTON

Leaders in a campaign to have a low dam built across the Des Plaines river at Fullerton avenue predict that more than 3,000 persons living on the northwest side and in Leyden township will have indorsed the project before the end of this week.

Martin L. Enger, president of River Grove, said petitions which have been in circulation a little more than a week already contain 2,000 signatures. They will be submitted to the board of Forest Preserve commissioners before the end of the month.

Under present conditions, the river is more of a detriment than an asset to the recreation facilities in the forest preserves west of River Grove, Mr. Enger said. Flood waters in the spring drain off within a few days, he asserted, and in summer the stream shrinks to little more than a shallow creek where some of the pools are so stagnant as to be offensive to visitors in the woods.

"A low dam," he declared, "would insure a more constant flow. At the same time it would make the river suitable for boating and swimming. It might even provide proper living conditions for fish. Putting in a dam at Fullerton avenue would be a major step in restoring the river to its former beauty.

Assisting Mr. Enger in canvassing with the petitions are John Cullerton, president of Elmwood Park; Barney Reeves, president of Franklin Park, Charles Ziese, president of Schiller Park, and members of the boards of trustees in each village.

Charles C. Estes, chief engineer of the forest preserve, said last week that if the board of commissioners act favorably on the petitions a joint survey will be made with the waterways division of the state department of public works and buildings.

41 SEEK POSTS AS DELEGATES TO CONVENTIONS

Opening rounds were fired last week in a fight among 41 candidates seeking seats as delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions and another 31 aspiring to the posts of alternates from the five congressional districts within Chicagoland's north and northwest sides.

As always, the election, not the nomination, of the delegates and alternates for both parties in the April 9 primary is involved in the broader and more complex gubernatorial campaign. The Democrats are more stable, with only two candidates filed as delegates in all but one of the north and northwest districts, but the Repubicans can be expected to wage exciting battles among themselves.

Both the Green and Brooks-Lyons camps are bargaining in virtually every district of the state in connection with the delegates and alternates in efforts to increase their strengths. And additional interest is being shown as a result of the controversy over the efforts of Hill Blackett, Chicago advertising executive, to win reëlection to the Republican national committee, an honor he was handed last June by the state central committee.

Gains in Strength.

Blackett was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the death of George F. Harding. He is said to have won considerable organization strength during the months since last June, but his retention of the job will depend upon his strength among the new delegates. Those chosen in April will elect the national committeeman for the four years following the 1940 convention.

The primary duties of delegates, and of alternates who will serve only if one or both the delegates is unable to act thru illness or death, is the choosing of a presidential candidate at the national convention. The delegates also take part in the work of the convention, particularly in the drafting of a national party platform.

They also draw up state platforms, determine which of their members shall serve on the various convention committees, and they usually elect a delegation secretary and oftimes a treasurer and sergeant at arms. They have one other important duty, that of choosing the delegates at large at a state caucus to be held prior to the national convention.

At both the Democratic and Republican conventions Illinois is given a total of 58 votes, based on population. In the state each party chooses two delegates and two alternates from each of the 25 state congressional districts. The 50 elected then choose the remaining eight delegates at large from anywhere in the state.

FIRST DISTRICT

Election of Ald. Mike Kenna [1st] and Joseph P. Geary, 5006 Ellis avenue, 4th ward committeeman, as Democratic delegates is a foregone conclusion, for they are unopposed. Roscoe Conkling Simmons, Negro candidate for congress in 1930 and delegate in 1932 and 1936, is probably the strongest Republican. He will be opposed by George Hellmann, 2631 South Michigan avenue, and Jacob R. Tipper, 3538½ South Park way, regular organization candidates.

Other Republicans on the ballot will be Mrs. Cora A. Graham, 4033 Ellis avenue, who has done much social service work and was a leader in the establishment of the Marden Park institution; James R. Zinn, 3801 Wentworth avenue; Edward Houston, 461 East 41st street; Robert E. Giles, 3759 South State street, a druggist, and Byron H. Davies, 2209 South Michigan avenue.

Alternates are: Republican—Adolphus N. Gordon Sr., 3560 South Park way; Obie Creed, 3247 South La Salle street; Milton J. Hanna, 473 West 27th street, and John G. Nettleton, 3639 South Park way. Democratic—State Senator William A. Wallace [3d district]; Joseph Munizzo, 325 West 31st street; Carl G. Collier, 355 West Madison street; Philander S. Neville, 516 East 34th street.

EIGHTH DISTRICT

William V. [Billy] Pacelli, Republican committeeman in the 20th ward, and State Representative Robert Petrone are the party candidates for delegates on the Republican ticket. Their four opponents are Clarence Tomaszewski, 1506 North Paulina street; Peter G. Urban, 1418 Blackhawk street; Leon C. Wolkowicz, 1540 Chestnut street, and John Wach, 1016 Erie street. Pacelli was a delegate in 1932 and 1936.

The two Democratic candidates unopposed for delegates are Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski [32d] and Sanitary District Trustee John H. Touhy.

NINTH DISTRICT

A pretty fight has developed here among Republican candidates. Robert McCormick Adams, 936 Lake Shore drive, and former Ald. James B. Waller, 43d ward committeeman, are the regular organization favorites. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., steel dealer, also is a strong contender. Another conceded to have a chance is Orville J. Taylor, personal friend of Herbert Hoover and active in the Hoover camp. The other Republicans are Edward R. Litsinger, former member of the board of review, and Nathan William MacChesney, 568 Hawthorn place.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, are unopposed for the Democratic delegate seats.

Alternates are: Republican—Paul J. Randolph, 244 East Pearson street, the only candidate filed. Voters will write in their second choice as alternate. Democratic—Ald. John J. Grealis [44th], Bernard P. Jung, 1941 Mohawk street, and Albert Lagerstedt, 25 West Ontario street.

TENTH DISTRICT

Three of the five Republicans seeking delegate seats are strongly in the running here. They are Albert D. Lasker, head of the United States shipping board in 1918; James S. Kemper, 945 Sheridan road, Winnetka, and County Commissioner William N. Erickson of Evanston. Lasker and Kemper are organization favorites. Erickson, who won his seat in the Democratic landslide of 1934 and 1936, boasts that he never has been beaten in a race for public office.

Alternates are: Republican—Adolph E. Kowalske, 1211 Melrose street; George D. Dodge, 1314 Wesley avenue, Evanston; Raymond H. Schumacher, 2937 North Ashland avenue, and Edwin R. Eckersall, 1636 West Rascher avenue. Democratic—George P. Wagner, 1525 Cullom avenue, and John J. Kelly, 5507 Lakewood avenue.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

Frank R. Reid of Aurora, former congressman and delegate in 1936, and Hayes Kennedy, Joliet attorney, appear to be the favored pair for the Republican delegate seats. Other candidates are Harrison H. Robillard of Elmhurst and James C. Bell of Joliet.

Former Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet, Emmett McGuire, also of Joliet, and Charles Leonard of Woodstock will fight it out for the two Democratic places.

Candidates seeking alternates' seats are: Republican—T. Merle Paul of Harvard and Maurice Shurtleff of Elgin. Democratic—Eugene Roberts, Villa Park; Elmer D. Anderson of Wheaton, and Adolf J. Meadel of Lisle.

Weds on Parents' Anniversary

The engagement of Miss Edna Herzberg to Herbert Belz has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herzberg of Franklin Park. In Congress Race

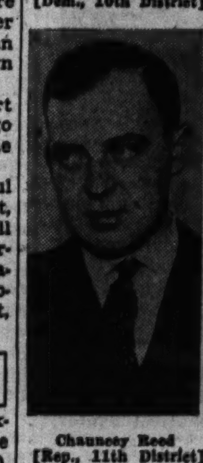
John Haderlein [Dem., 10th District]

John Fay Harris [Rep., 10th District]



Chauncey Reed [Rep., 11th District]

J. M. Crume [Rep., 10th District]

With primary elections only three weeks distant, candidates for party nominations in the congressional race are starting the windup maneuvers of their campaigns. Among the rivals in the 10th and 11th districts are these four.

Form Young Voters Forum for Study of Government

The Young Voters' forum, organized to assist young people in studying their government, has been organized in Des Plaines. Meetings are held at 8 o'clock each second and fourth Monday night in the American Legion home.

fense, particularly in the air, and a continued separation of powers of government as far as possible. Prescott, a specialist in constitutional law, also declared for "the inviolability of the Supreme court as the guardian and expounder of our constitution."

EIGHTH DISTRICT

The Democratic situation here was quiet last week with Congressman Leo Kocialkowski's only serious opponent, Albert E. Bucciere, too busy attending his law business to devote himself to campaigning. Bucciere has aligned himself with the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett organization and the spade work in the district precincts in his behalf is being done by this outfit.

Altho five Republican candidates have filed in the district, none of them is waging a strenuous fight. The situation is comparable to that existing two years ago when Mrs. Rena Pikiel ran unopposed for the Republican nomination.

NINTH DISTRICT

Congressman James McAndrews, known as the roaming congressman because he has been elected from four different Illinois congressional districts, appears a certainty to regain the Democratic nomination here. Vincent Paul Ducey, McAndrews' only real opposition, was continuing his fight with the assistance of some of the regular ward organizations in the area, but late reports were that he would not carry quite enough weight to win.

Ducey, however, was not holding his fire, and charged in speeches last week that McAndrews was a do-nothing in congress and that he never had spoken from the floor of the house of representatives nor sponsored legislation there. Ducey declared that the 9th district needs a legislator with a voice, and with energy, intelligence, and sincerity.

Charles S. Dewey's nomination on the Republican ticket was virtually conceded last week by his two opponents, Don Donnelly and T. McCormick Hartford, who was a candidate for the same nomination in 1936. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the treasury and nominee in 1938, expects to win in November because he was barely defeated by McAndrews two years ago. An increase of 11 votes in each precinct this year over the 1938 count would assure election for him.

TENTH DISTRICT

The battle here is in full swing between George A. Paddock, treasurer of the Cook county Republican central committee, and State Representative Drennan J. Slater. Both men are Evanstonians and at the moment the odds are about even between them to fill the post left by Congressman Ralph Church, who withdrew from the congressional race to run for the United States senate.

Paddock, an investment banker, is the regular organization candidate and has received the pledged support of virtually every north shore political organization, among them the Evanston township Republican central committee, Women's Republican club, Evanston Young Republican club, and others. He is a member of the north shore harmony slate for the 10th district.

During the last week Slater has been identified as the candidate of Hill Blackett, Republican national committeeman. Letters written by Blackett to officers of a north shore Republican club, identify Slater as "outstanding material" and as a man "who has earned the right to stand before fellow citizens for election to congress." Blackett's deviation from the harmony program is interpreted as evidence of discord between him and the regular Republican organization in Chicago.

Another candidate in the 10th district who is expected to make an excellent showing is John F. Harris of Waukegan. Harris was pursuaded to file by fellow townsmen who have pledged him 22,000 votes in his own township. Harris was a candidate in the 1936 and 1938 primaries and is backed by a number of Waukegan Republican organizations.

The Democratic nomination is assured to John Haderlein, real estate broker and president of the Melrose Safety Deposit corporation, who is unopposed. He was an aldermanic candidate in the 45th ward last year.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

The battle in the 11th is between Walter T. Woodcock, 624 Lincoln avenue, Elgin, the 40 year old publisher of the Elgin Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Congressman Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, who is seeking his fourth term. Woodcock, altho a newcomer to politics, is waging a lively campaign thru the four counties included in this district.

Reed continues to campaign "on his record." He was for 14 years, prior to his election in 1932, the state's attorney of Du Page county and has been content to make a quiet effort. His boast is that he voted at 295 out of 297 roll calls at the last session of congress, and that he has been a consistent proponent of free enterprise and less government meddling.

A many point program is Woodcock's speaking foundation. He favors "more jobs in industry — less in WPA"; "protection of the American workman against competitive labor"; "cessation of sandbagging business through government interference"; "less government control of radio"; "no war at any cost, by keeping money, men, and ships at home." Woodcock's appeal in this rockribbed Republican district is to the mature vote.

The Democratic nomination is assured for Attorney Edgar O. Eakin of Elgin because he is unopposed. Two years ago he was the losing candidate for state senator.

COLLEGE FORUM IS DUE TO HEAR DR. A. L. SACHAR

Dr. Abram Leon Sachar's lecture on "Ten for My Party" on Tuesday evening in North Park college, Foster and Kedzie avenues, will close the college forum series for the fifth season. In his talk Dr. Sachar invites 10 world leaders to an imaginary party and gives the reasons for his choice. In the last Chicago Sinai forum poll on speakers, Dr. Sachar was voted first preference for the fourth successive year. Edgar Ansel Mowrer received second; Norman Thomas, third; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, fourth, and John Haynes Holmes, fifth.

COMMITTEEMAN PETITION RULINGS CLEAR PATHWAY

Surviving Candidates on Home Stretch.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Candidates for ward committeeman in both parties in northwest wards are giving their organizations the "go ahead" signal this week. The preliminary steps to deciding what candidates' names shall appear on the April 9 ballots were concluded last week. Thursday the board of election commissioners announced its findings on objections which had been filed against petitions.

The objections were filed with County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. Generally, they contained charges that signatures were invalid, or were of persons who belonged to the opposing political party, or did not even live in the ward of the candidate.

Frequently such objections result in an ill feeling between candidates which is not easily patched up as the campaigns progress. In northwest wards the board scanned 34 objections. Of that number seven candidates were disqualified, 18 objections were held to be invalid, 5 objections were withdrawn before the board ruled, and four candidates withdrew from the contests.

One Is Disqualified.

Eleven of the objections were against Democratic candidates. In the 26th ward the election board disqualified Walter Pociask but kept the name of Joseph T. Baran, the regular organization candidate, on the ballot. Anton A. Pociask also remains a candidate, no objection having been filed against him.

In the 32d ward objections were placed against Stanley C. Guziec and Alvin G. Kolski. Both protests were held to be invalid and the candidates' names will appear in opposition to the incumbent, Joseph P. Rostenkowski.

One Democratic objection filed in the 35th ward against Stanley A. Bezdon, the only opponent of the incumbent, John A. Szumnarski, was held invalid and Bezdon's name will be on the ballot.

Four Objections Filed.

In the 36th ward objections were filed against Michael R. Barrett, Frank R. Burke, Ald. Richard M. Walsh, and John Martin Walsh. George J. Robinson, former alderman and regular organization candidate, had no objection filed against him.

The Burke protest was held valid and he was disqualified. Those against Barrett and Ald. Richard Walsh were ruled invalid and their names will be on the ballot. John Martin Walsh withdrew from the contest.

In the 38th ward Henry W. Ronel, the only opponent of the incumbent, Ald. P. J. Cullerton, withdrew from the contest after objections had been filed against him.

Objections were filed against candidates in virtually every ward on the Republican side. Walter Ozimek, the only candidate opposing Robert Petrone, Republican 26th ward committeeman, was disqualified by the election board, leaving Petrone without opposition.

Protests Held Invalid.

In the 28th ward protests filed against both candidates, Joseph A. Porcaro, the incumbent, and Raymond T. Saxon, were declared invalid.

In the 30th ward Edward F. Moore, the incumbent, is left without opposition. The board disqualified one opponent, Edward V. Sowa, and the third candidate, Arthur W. Taylor, withdrew from the contest.

Objections against two candidates in the 31st ward, Anthony J. Rado and George Kurfirst, were declared invalid. No objections were filed against the incumbent, Daniel A. Roberts.

In the 32d ward objections against Casimir J. Gorny, the incumbent, and Stanley Davies, were both declared invalid. No objections were filed against the third candidate, Anthony Pateroski.

Dempsey's Path Cleared.

The election board ruling in the 33d ward eliminated opposition for the incumbent, John T. Dempsey, one of the Green organization leaders. Objections against John B. Brandt were held valid.

In the 34th ward objections had been filed against three of the four candidates. Before the board ruled all objections were withdrawn and all candidates' names will appear on the ballot.

The board created another unopposed candidacy in the 35th ward when it disqualified Alexander J. Ross, the only opponent of the incumbent, Frank Peska. Objections against Peska were ruled invalid.

In 36th Ward.

Four 36th ward Republican candidates had objections filed against them. Those against James J. Christopher and Arthur M. Romme were declared invalid. Those against the incumbent, Eden T. Brekke, and Joseph F. Gubbins were withdrawn.

In the 37th ward protests against Eugene W. Rogers and James H. Taylor were ruled invalid. No objections were filed against Francis A. Horrigan, the incumbent.

One 38th ward candidate, William Jerome, was disqualified by the board and objections against another, J. Walter Duever, were held invalid. Duever will now be the only opponent of the incumbent, Frank M. Kalteux.

Frank B. Cheever, the only 39th ward candidate against whom objections were filed, withdrew from the contest.

DIES COMMITTEE HEAD TO TALK TO CLUB WOMEN

Proceeds Will Aid Loan Fund for Students.

Congressman Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the Dies committee, will speak on Wednesday evening in the Schurz High school auditorium, 3601 Milwaukee avenue, under the auspices of the 7th district, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. The lecture will benefit the district's student loan fund.

The program will open with the presentation of the colors by the Schurz R. O. T. C. Members of the Schurz Ushers club will seat the audience. After Mr. Dies' lecture, there will be a discussion period. Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, chairman of the ways and means committee for the fund, is in charge of general arrangements.

Aid for Graduates.

The fund provides financial help for deserving high school graduates in the district, according to Mrs. Charles R. Holton, district president. Applicants must need financial assistance, be sincere in purpose and have a good scholastic rating. Their three references must include two district club members. The students sign notes for security and repay the money after leaving school and obtaining employment.

Members of the student loan fund committee are Mrs. Holton, Mrs. Burton A. Noyes, district first vice president; Mrs. Shaw, Norwood Park club; Mrs. James Graham, Irving Park; Mrs. John Dignon, Franklin Park; Mrs. Norwood Jones, Edison Park; Mrs. Charles A. Claus, Wicker Park, and Mrs. W. Earle Adams, Albany Park.

Wicker Park Woman's Club.

An all day session for literature day will be held Tuesday. At 10:45 o'clock, the literature class will convene, under the direction of Mrs. George F. Dicke, who will present the guest speaker, Mrs. Samuel James. The latter will review "Ararat," by Groseclose. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Assisting Mrs. Dicke will be Mrs. F. M. Gallop, Mrs. Eugene Payne, Mrs. Edwin Whiteway, Mrs. Oliver Olson, and Mrs. John Dybdahl.

Mrs. David Scott, president, will conduct a short business meeting at 1:30 o'clock. Florence Bourke Ellis, guest speaker, will review a recent book, give her impressions of current events and relate some experiences of her visit in European countries last summer. Mrs. Oliver O. Olson, 7th district literature chairman, will address the club briefly.

Edison Park Woman's Club.

A tea celebrating the golden jubilee birthday of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will be given by the club on Tuesday between 2 and 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Kinsey O. English, 6800 Oriole avenue. Hostesses will be gowned in styles of 1890 and the tea table will be set with old silver, china and glassware, and an old fashioned flower centerpiece. As the birthday cake is being cut, a member will play old songs on the piano.

Mrs. George A. Harriman, state press chairman, Mrs. Burton A. Noyes, district first vice president, and Mrs. L. M. Stewart, member and district chairman of the foundation fund, will be guests.

Irving Park Woman's Club.

Don Blanding, American poet, artist and actor, will reveal some of his personal history in "Drifter's Gold," the title of his talk for the Reciprocity day meeting of the club at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Myrtle Masonic temple.

Among the expected guests are Mrs. Fred M. Tuckerman, state vice president; Mrs. Charles R. Holton, district president, all the district officers and the presidents and board members of district clubs.

The American home department is planning a tour of the testing laboratories at Arthington and Homan avenues for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. E. C. Watson, chairman, in charge. Wednesday the public health and welfare department will meet for a 1 o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. A. N. Cigrand, 5529 Wilson avenue. Mrs. A. L. Conlon, chairman, will lead a discussion on future programs.

Mrs. Clarence R. Dennis will be hostess to the radio department for a 1:15 o'clock dessert luncheon Wednesday in her home in Wilmette. Mrs. Charles Mates, American citizenship chairman, will meet with her group at 1:15 o'clock.

Kelvyn Park Civic Club.

Members will repeat garden poems in response to roll call at the 1:15 o'clock meeting Wednesday. Mrs. Harry Belle, district garden chairman, and Mrs. W. H. Tallant, district art chairman, will be guests. Mrs. Walter Schick and Mrs. Raymond Paul, program chairmen, will present the Glee club of St. Charles School for Boys in a concert under the direction of Miss Juanita Sponenbarger. Mrs. Nick Salvesen and Mrs. Claus Thielsen will be hostesses.

Irving Park Catholic Club.

The literature class will meet at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. B. Ziegler, 3837 North Ridgeway avenue. Mrs. Edward McHugh will review "Miss Susie Slagle's," by Augusta Tucker and Mrs. Buelah Gawlas will sketch the author's life. Miss Irene Kluth will discuss current events.

Members will tour a fur company at 162 North State street at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and at 2 o'clock they will visit a second furrier's at 166 North Michigan avenue.

Belmont Woman's Club.

"Fashions in Contemporary Writings" will be discussed by Miss Florence Hudson and the group at the meeting Wednesday. A program and dessert luncheon preceding the meeting are being arranged by the literature chairman, Mrs. Harry Rowe, and her department. Mrs. G. M. Johnson, delegate to the Friends of American Writers, will report on the annual awards made by that group in recognition of achievements by midwestern authors.

Portage Park Woman's Club.

Peter G. Drautzburg of the government secret service will be guest speaker at the club meeting Friday. Mrs. Carl P. Moyen will conduct the business at 1:30 o'clock and then introduce Mr. Drautzburg, who will lecture on "How to Spot Bad Money."

Physician's Fellowship Club.

The auxiliary will hold Guest day at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the clubrooms at 2512 North Kimball avenue. Mrs. A. J. Alcorn, legislation chairman, will lead the roll call discussion on "Queer Laws." Dr. Jerome R. Head, president of the Evanston branch of the Chicago Medical society, will talk on "Medicine and Legislation." Hostesses will include Mrs. C. W. Epsy, Mrs. K. F. Sandberg, Mrs. Louis Larsen, Mrs. J. H. Hollison, and Mrs. A. H. Krueger.

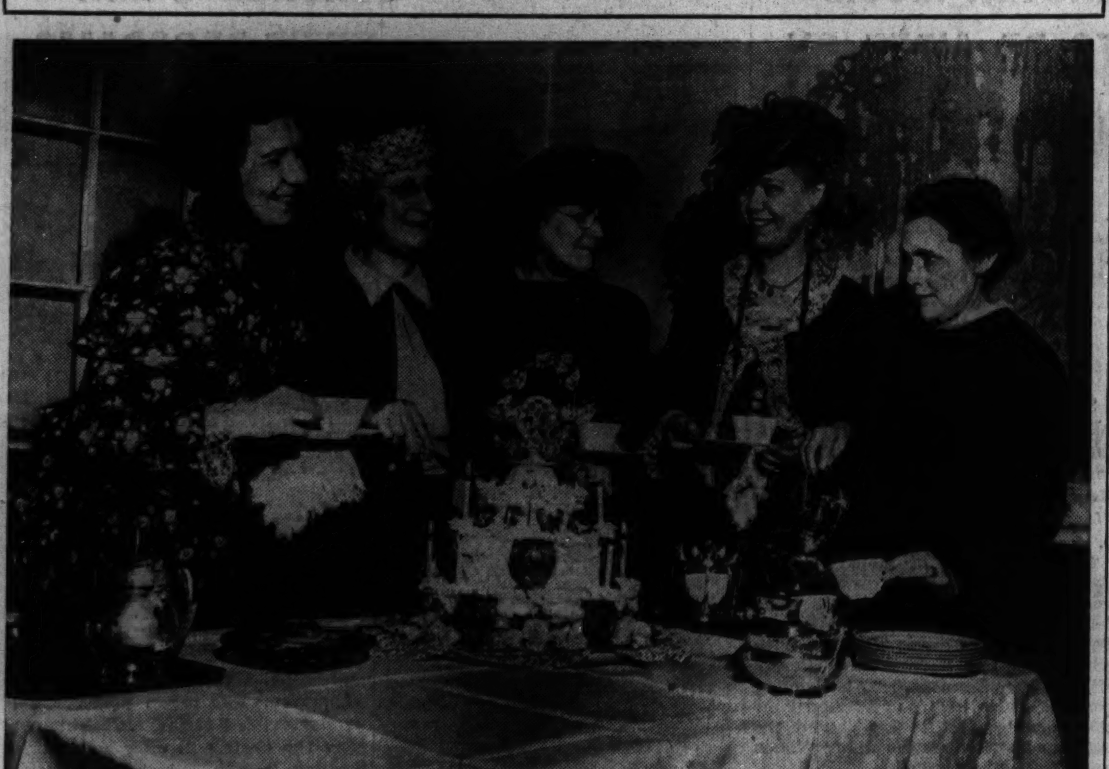
Mayfair Woman's Club

The literature class will meet for a dessert luncheon tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Walter T, MacInnes, 4601 North Kenton avenue, with Mrs. Gust Kulo as assistant hostess. Mrs. Walter D. Amaden will review "Maud," the autobiography of Maud Rittenhouse and a general discussion will follow.

Norwegian Woman's Club.

Current events will be discussed at the 1:30 o'clock club meeting Wednesday. A speaker will explain the city manager plan of government and the signature drive. Dr. Helga Ruud and Mrs. G. A. Vennesland will lead the discussion on current topics.

Celebrate Golden Jubilee of Clubs



Fashions of 1890 in table settings, birthday cakes, and ladies' gowns will take members of the Edison Park Woman's club back to the days when the General Federation of Women's Clubs was founded. A tea celebrating this golden jubilee birthday will be held on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Kinsey O. English, 6800 Oriole avenue. Here the hostess, Mrs. English, is pouring for several of her guests as Mrs. Eugene Brengle, club president, cuts the anniversary cake. Mrs. Winfield Scott (left to right) is fine arts chairman, Mrs. L. M. Stewart district chairman of birthday parties, and Mrs. Harold Cross garden chairman.

MOTHERS, do you realize that almost 90 per cent of grown-ups suffer from foot trouble caused by incorrectly fitted shoes in childhood?
The bones of children's feet are soft and pliable so that little feet quickly take the shape of the shoes they are wearing. If these shoes are wrong, the soft little foot bones easily become distorted, and foot troubles begin.
Realizing the great importance of correctly fitted shoes, Buster Brown has developed a new scientific fitting service that tends to eliminate guesswork and assures correct fit at all the vital points of the child's foot.
We are proud to be headquarters for the 6-Point Fitting Plan. It means that we are able to do a perfect fitting job for your child every time you bring him in for Buster Browns.
Your child needs or will soon need new shoes. Come in for Buster Browns. You'll get the fit children need and the style they like.

Why Be Fat

Thousands of women have discovered way to lose excess weight—without following strict diet lists, or taking exercises or drugs.

If you want to take off ugly fat easily and pleasantly all you have to do is—First . . . eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating. Second . . mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Thus you reduce caloric intake considerably. But you do not suffer a hungry moment. There are no strict diet lists, strenuous exercises or taking drugs. Yet!—in a test conducted by Dr. Damrau of New York, with this method among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, an average weight loss of seven pounds was registered per month. This remarkable method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men as it is for overweight women. There is only one thing to watch. Eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating; and be sure to use Welch's Grape Juice—always made from the pick of the grape crop; always full strength; always pure.

Irene Rich, lovely star of the screen and radio, now past 40, weighs the same as she did at 16. She recommends the easy Welch way to reduce.

Try This Amazing Welch's Tomato Juice
If you think all Tomato Juice is alike, try Welch's new, vitamin-rich Tomato Juice. It is so rich and thick you can add ⅓ water or ice and still have a most delicious Tomato Juice.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels, and Also Pepsin-ize Stomach!

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

MARSHALL TO BE GUEST TODAY ON 5TH ROW CENTER

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Prof. D. H. Pedtke.

Everett Marshall, noted concert and operetta baritone, and the famous Glee club of 40 voices of Notre Dame university will be costarred in a special St. Patrick's day program on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network at 5 p. m. today. The entire program will be a musical salute to St. Patrick's day under the direction of Harold Stokes.

The Notre Dame Glee club is directed by Dr. Daniel H. Pedtke, head of the Notre Dame music department. Dr. Pedtke has declared this year's Notre Dame Glee club the best singing group he has coached in many years. The club will journey to the W-G-N studios in a special bus.

To Sing Three Songs.

Marshall will sing three numbers: "Danny Boy," "Wagon Wheels," which he introduced in the Ziegfeld Follies, and "Where the River Shannon Flows," in which he will be accompanied by 16 selected voices of the Glee club.

Marshall is cutting short a vacation in Cuba to come to Chicago for the broadcast. Following the program, he will go to Texas for a show there.

In addition to his concert and radio work, he has appeared as Franz Schubert in "Blossom Time" and has sung in such shows as the "Follies" and in George White's "Scandals."

With Metropolitan Opera.

He sang with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York for four seasons. He also has been starred in three of Billy Rose's greatest successes; the last being the Aquacade at last summer's New York World's fair.

The Glee club, one of the best known organizations of its kind in the country, will sing several Irish songs. They will do two medleys, "Minstrel Boy" and "Snowy Breasted Pearl," comprising the first, with "Kerry Dances" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in the second group. The group will also sing two of the great Notre Dame songs, "Irish Backs," and the "Victory March."

Musical background will be provided by Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra. The orchestra will play Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody" and will join Marshall and the Glee club in the finale. In it, Marshall and the club will sing "Where the River Shannon Flows," the orchestra will play a set of Irish dances, and the Glee club will bring the show to a conclusion with "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls."

Book a Week Broadcast.

"In the Steps of St. Francis," by Ernest Raymond, will be read by Margery Graham on the program, "Book-a-Week," from 3:45 to 4 p. m., tomorrow thru Friday, on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

NORTHERNERS PRESENT IRENE VERNER, NEW SOLOIST, TUESDAY

The Northerners introduce a new soprano soloist, Irene Verner, on their program which will be heard from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Tuesday on W-G-N.

Miss Verner will make her debut in "Norwegian Echo Song," by Thrane. Born in Minneapolis, Miss Verner received her first training from her mother, who was head of the voice department at Bethany college.

During high school she organized a trio of girl singers and joined Bernie Cummins' orchestra. During engagements with leading dance orchestras, Miss Verner turned from the popular dance style of music to the operetta and classical field—an experience which qualifies her to sing the semiclassical and ballad type of music offered by The Northerners.

In Tuesday night's program, the Northerners' octet will sing "Goodbye Jonah," "All Through the Night," "Ridin' High," and "Careless." The entire Northerners cast will join in singing selections from "Pinocchio."

CHICAGO PIANIST TO PLAY WITH N. Y. PHILHARMONIC

Rosalyn Tureck to Be Soloist Today.

Rosalyn Tureck, young concert pianist, and Simeon Bellison, first clarinetist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, will be soloists with the orchestra on its broadcast over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. John Barbirolli will conduct and Deems Taylor will be the commentator.

The program contains two novelties. First of these is Ruggero Vene's transcription of the Concerto in A minor by the 17th century Italian Vivaldi. Vene's arrangement is for chamber orchestra and is based on the organ transcription made by Bach.

The other is the work in which Bellison is to be heard, his own setting for clarinet and orchestra of the Mozart Concerto Rondo in D for piano and orchestra [K. 382]. Bellison has made similar arrangements from works by several older masters in an effort to enlarge the literature of the clarinet.

By contrast, Miss Tureck has chosen one of the great piano concerti, Beethoven's well known Fifth, or "Emperor," in E flat. A former Chicagoan she gave her first public concert at the age of 9. She studied at the Juilliard School of Music, where she now teaches, and made her New York debut in 1935.

Milwaukee Students on Music and Youth Hour

Students of Milwaukee schools will be featured in Music and American Youth at 10:30 a. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. The Washington High school orchestra, 85 strong, will play "Entrance March of Montezuma" from the opera, "Azora," and Bach's Air on the G String. An 85 piece band from the North Division High will play Slovenia Rhapsodie No. 1, the Intermezzo from "Pagliacci" and "The Skyrider March." The West Division High a cappella choir will sing.

Baggiore, Love and Octet to Be Featured.

Sacred music dedicated to Easter will be broadcast on the programs, the Pageant of Melody and the Concert Revue, under the direction of Henry Weber, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday and from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. Thursday, respectively.

In the Pageant of Melody Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Mark Love, basso, and the octet will be featured. Four selections from Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" will be presented. Mr. Love will sing "The Saviour Low Before His Father Bending," "At Evening Hour of Calm Rest," and "And Now the Lord to Rest Is Laid," and the octet and string section doing "Thou with Hate Surrounded."

Baggiore will sing "The Holy City," by Adolphe Charles Adam, and will join the octet in Albert Malotte's arrangement of the Lord's Prayer. The orchestra will play the Russian Easter Overture, by Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Intermezzo," from Pietro Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Raphael Spiro, violinist, will be featured in the Concert Revue, directed by Mr. Weber.

Miss Witwer will sing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," by Richard Hageman; "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Anton Rubinstein, and "Church Scene," from Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Spiro will play the Gounod arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria."

The orchestra will play "Easter Chimes in Little Russia," by S. Votichenko, and "Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and, with the octet, will do "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach.

FIND LISTENERS KNOW ONLY SOME OF CELEBRITIES

The American public knows its political leaders, its movie comedians and its radio singers, but it has something less than a nodding acquaintance with its scientists, its writers, and its artists.

That is the indication from responses of listeners to radio's newest game, "Play Broadcast." The game, broadcast each Monday from 7 to 7:30 over W-G-N and the Mutual network, asks listeners to identify leading personalities in all fields of American life.

Americans are the best informed people in the world, but a number have written the "Play Broadcast" sponsor expressing their own amazement at being unable to identify even prominent persons in the fields of science, literature, and art. In nearly every letter the same persons predict that they will be harder to trip up next time—that they have started a bit of self-education work between broadcasts. Sixteen "stumpers" are presented on each "Play Broadcast" program and listeners are given clews thru dramatizations, impersonations, sound effects, and music.

CARTERS' SCRIPT HAS VITALITY, SAYS ACTRESS

Some script programs get a little boring after a while to the people who act in them. What these shows need is a new lease on life. One program that has continuous vitality is "The Carters of Elm Street," on which there is never a dull moment—not only for the members of the cast but, naturally, for the audience, too.

These are the views of Ginger Jones, who plays the ingénue rôle on the "Carters" program. The show is aired daily, Monday thru Fridays, from 11:45 a. m. to 12 p. m., over W-G-N and 84 other stations of the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system. This is the largest network hookup ever achieved for a daytime script show.

"The Carters" stars Virginia Payne and Vic Smith.

Pierre Andre's Son Stanch Follower of Orphan Annie

David André, son of Announcer Pierre André, has been listening to "Little Orphan Annie" for almost eight years now on W-G-N. It is one of his proudest boasts that he has rarely missed a broadcast. David is 12 years old. His father has announced the program for nine years.

Easter Song

Evelyn Lynne, NBC contralto, as she appeared in a pre-Easter broadcast of the Breakfast club. Miss Lynne also sings on Club Matinee. She is a contralto.

KEMP, WILLIAMS, WELK JOIN MBS DANCE PARADE

Art Kassel Orchestra Opens April 2.

Three outstanding dance orchestras will join the W-G-N-Mutual network "Dance Parade" this week. They will be heard on nightly schedules from Chicago dancing places. They are orchestras directed by Hal Kemp, Griff Williams, and Lawrence Welk.

Kemp's orchestra opens on Thursday evening in the Empire room at the Palmer House.

Kemp first rode the air lanes to fame seven years ago over W-G-N on the original "Midnight Flyers" program, a guest night program from the Blackhawk restaurant.

With Kemp's orchestra are his great singing stars, Bob Allen, Janet Blair, and the vocal trio, the Smoothies.

Griff Williams' orchestra begins an engagement in the colorful Continental room at the Hotel Stevens next Saturday with his "Music That Sings as It Swings" orchestra. Williams' crew of entertainers is headed by personable Buddy Marino. Featured on the Williams programs are piano choruses by Griff himself.

Lawrence Welk brings his popular orchestra into the Trianon ballroom and to W-G-N-Mutual on Saturday. This is Welk's first long time engagement at the Trianon and will mark his first music over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network on a regular schedule.

On Tuesday, April 2, Art Kassel and his "Kassel's in the Air" orchestra and singers take over the bandstand at the Bismarck hotel and join the W-G-N-Mutual dance parade.

Continuing the dance cavalcade on Mutual's coast-to-coast "Show of the Week" during March will be the orchestras of Everett Hoagland and Jan Savitt. From 5:30 to 6 p. m. today Hoagland gets the spotlight. This west coast orchestra has won many followers because of their emphasis on music for dancing. On Easter Sunday Savitt will be heard.

Chicago Baritone Sings on Opera Audition Hour

Emery Darcy, baritone of Chicago; Lydia Summers, Benton Harbor, Mich., contralto, and Gertrude Gibson, Hawthorne, N. Y., soprano, will compete in the second round of the finals of the Metropolitan opera auditions of the air, Sunday, March 17, at 4:30 p. m., central standard time, over the NBC-blue network.

CHURCHES MAP THEIR PROGRAMS FOR HOLY WEEK

Special Rites and Music Are Prepared.

Northwest suburban churches will hold extensive services thru Holy week. Community church in Park Ridge will present a special program of music by two choirs of 75 voices, under the direction of Esther Beckllinger Hawkins, at 11 o'clock this morning.

After the organ prelude, the choirs will sing "All Glory, Laud, and Honor," by McKinley; "Hymn of the Seraphim," by Waghorne and "Ride On! Ride On!", by Van Denman Thompson. The organ postlude will be Hartman's "Hosannah." This evening the choir will offer an oratorio entitled "From Olivet to Calvary." Other services are:

Old-Fashioned Dances Hold Popular Place at Park

Old fashioned square dancing holds an equal place with modern dancing at Shabbona park, 6935 Addison street, Park Supervisor Arthur L. Schultz announced last week. To match the modern dancing period on Tuesday evenings the Square Dance club has reserved a similar period on Thursday night. Sessions begin at 8 o'clock both evenings.

ASSEMBLY SEAT OF MARTYNOWSKI IS IN THE BALANCE

Florist Attacks Record in Springfield.

Have Organization Aid.

Representatives Arthur W. Sprague of LaGrange and Mrs. Bernice Van Der Vries of Winnetka have regular Republican organization support. They are opposed by Lester D. Wilcox, 427 South 22d avenue, Bellwood, editor of a suburban newspaper and a police magistrate; William Kretschmar, 4007 North Olcott avenue, and Attorney Thomas Mathiesen, 1712 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge.

Sprague, a police magistrate who made a good record in his first term at Springfield, initiated the fight in the house which blocked and eventually killed a $100,000 appropriation sought by the late F. Lynden Smith, director of public works.

"I contend that 75 per cent of the ills of Illinois' state government can be cured by refusing to spend money wastefully," Sprague said.

Mrs. Van Der Vries has been almost too busy to campaign because she is chairman of the Illinois commission for intergovernmental cooperation—the only woman to hold a like position among 34 states having such commissions.

In the 1939 session Mrs. Van Der Vries, a widowed home maker, sponsored bills for compulsory budgets by local governments and extending boundaries of the Chicago sanitary district. Of her the L. V. L. said recently: "Active, energetic, capable, well poised; good voting record."

All of the incumbents supported the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill.

TWENTY-THIRD DISTRICT

Two members of each party are to be nominated, so that the decisive battle goes over to the fall campaign. The district is made up of Oak Park, ward 31, and parts of wards 26, 30, 32, 36, and 37.

Daniel A. Roberts, 1451 North Ayers avenue, Republican 31st ward committeeman, has the top spot on the ballot. Former Representative Roberts won this accolade from the L. V. L. in 1935: "He won recognition not usually accorded to a first term member by his level headedness and his effective work on the floor of the house and in committee."

Representative William G. Thon, 432 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park, has second position on the G.O.P. list. The L. V. L. said of him recently: "Active, able, earnest. Voting record good." He is tied with one other member for the honor of serving longer in the house than any other member from Cook county except Frank Ryan.

Thon is talking to the people in his district about reducing the sales tax and about parole reform legislation, which he supported.

The G.O.P. opposition includes John J. Maypole, 128 Washington boulevard, Oak Park; Nat F. Grusin, 425 South Maple avenue, Oak Park, and Frank C. Wilkinson, 5500 Walton street, an attorney who was nominated for state senator in 1938. Maypole is a nephew of State Senator George M. Maypole, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor. Grusin got 941 votes in the 1938 primary.

Large Field a Factor.

A large field of candidates is a factor which will work in behalf of the two Democratic incumbents by dividing the independent voters. Representatives A. M. Kaindl, 2600 West Chicago avenue, and Stanley A. Halick, 1216 North Maplewood avenue, have the approval of the regular party organization.

Kaindl has a good voting record at Springfield and showed independence, according to the L.V.L. report. He aided the cause of parole reform. On the other hand, Halick's "voting record is hopelessly muddled by neglect to vote on a host of important measures," the L.V.L. stated. He failed to support parole reform.

Regarded as the leading challenger is Peter J. Skiodowski, 1017 North Campbell avenue, because he rolled up 15,076 votes in the 1938 primary. The most aggressive Democratic candidate is Chester J. Trawinski, 24 years old, 2428 Walton street, editor of "Kometa"; one of his planks calls for licensing handbooks and other forms of gambling.

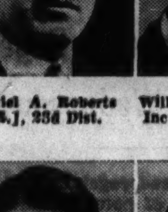
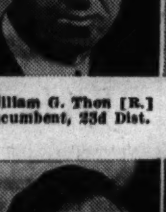
In Lead for Assembly



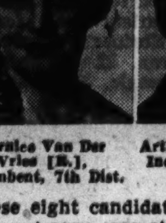
Daniel A. Roberts [R.], 23d Dist.



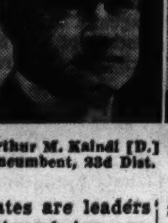
William G. Thon [R.] Incumbent, 23d Dist.

A. L. Auth [D.], 21st District.

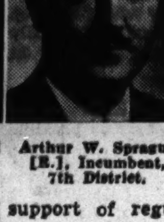
John C. Kukilnski [D.], Incumbent, 21st District.



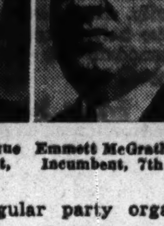
Bernice Van Der Vries [R.], Incumbent, 7th Dist.



Arthur M. Kaindl [D.] Incumbent, 23d Dist.



Arthur W. Sprague [R.], Incumbent, 7th District.



Emmett McGrath [D.] Incumbent, 7th Dist.

These eight candidates are leaders in the primary campaigns being conducted for seats in the Illinois house of representatives from the 7th, 21st, and 23d senatorial districts. All have support of regular party organizations and highly valued first or second places on the ballot for this office.

JEWS OF ALBANY PARK TO GREET RABBI TONIGHT

Plan Welcome Dinner in Loop Hotel.

Members of the Hebrew Institute of Albany Park, 4858 North Lawndale avenue, will greet their new Rabbi, Adam Neuberger, at 6 o'clock tonight at a dinner in Hotel La Salle. He will be introduced by Rabbi B. A. Daskal, his friend for many years.

Among the guests invited to the banquet are Dr. Leo Honor, dean of the College of Jewish Studies; Rabbi Saul Silber, president of Hebrew Theological college; Rabbi Jacob Greenberg, dean of Hebrew Theological college; Rabbi Chaim Rubinstein, professor of Talmud at the Hebrew Theological college, and Rabbi A. E. Abramowitz of the Albany Park Hebrew congregation.

Maurice J. Nathanson is general chairman of the banquet committee and Mrs. Joseph Levinthal is co-chairman. Assisting them are Mrs. A. B. Gellman, Mrs. Fred Greenberg, Mrs. Samuel Wolf, Mrs. M. A. Axelrod, Mrs. Al Malitz, Mrs. Edith Weiss, Al Malitz, and Max L. Coleman. A. B. Gellman is president of the synagogue and Fred Greenberg is vice president. Morris A. Axelrod is secretary.

The Feast of Purim, commemorating the triumph of Israelites over oppressors in Persia 2,300 years ago, will be celebrated at Humboldt Boulevard temple, 1908 Humboldt boulevard, beginning next Friday. At the evening service Rabbi David Graubart will preach a Purim sermon on the subject, "Assemble All the Jews." Cantor Louis Goldzweig and the choir directed by Sally Torgoff will offer Purim music.

A 7 o'clock on Saturday night a children's service will be held. The Book of Esther will be read and children will chant the songs and hymns of the Purim. Next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a Purim carnival under the auspices of the religious schools of the temple. Samuel Handler will direct a Purim play.

SILOAM CHURCH CLOSES GOLDEN JUBILEE TODAY

Three anniversary services today will climax the celebration of the golden jubilee of Siloam Lutheran church, Lowell avenue and Cortland street. The Rev. Paul G. Rasmussen has invited Dr. N. C. Carlsen, president of the United Danish Evangelical synod in America, to speak at 10 a. m., 4 p. m., and 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. Paul G. Rasmussen.

Last Thursday and Friday nights the Rev. William Goldbeck, a former pastor, spoke at anniversary meetings, and a jubilee banquet was served last night.

Mother Church of Synod.

Siloam Lutheran is the mother church of the United Danish Evangelical synod in Chicago. It was organized by the Rev. P. C. Trandberg, who came here as the pioneer missionary of his synod in 1882.

On March 16, 1890, a group of 33 of these Danish-Americans met at the Rev. Mr. Trandberg's home at 504 Fulton street and signed articles of incorporation. Since the Rev. Mr. Trandberg was occupied with teaching duties at the seminary, he turned the congregation over to the Rev. I. M. Hansen a few months after it was organized.

It was four years before sufficient funds were accumulated to build a church on a site purchased early on Ada street near Chicago avenue. It was completed at a cost of $6,700, and dedicated on Nov. 11, 1894. In 1910 the congregation elected to move further west and north. Two lots were purchased and the present church was erected at a cost of $4,500.

Has 200 Members.

During its first decade the church served as a center for missionary activities that extended as far as Geneva and St. Charles.

The present congregation numbers 200 members, with a Sunday school enrollment of 85. Officers are M. P. Madsen, president; Carl Pedersen, vice president; Aage Johnson, secretary; Samuel Hyldahl, treasurer; Christian Holm, assistant treasurer; Carl Ankersen and Christian Nielsen, deacons; Christian Johnson, Albert Nielsen, and Emil Johnson, trustees, and Arnold Hyldahl, superintendent of the Sunday school.

WILMETTE HOME GIVEN NEW LIFE IN REMODELING

Wide Shingles Supplant Old Rough Siding.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

It seems that almost any house, of any size or shape, can take a refreshing drink at the fountain of youth if it is only led up to that fountain by expert architectural guidance.

An instance of this is the residence of Frank G. Watson, 1341 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

The architects, Chatten and Jacobson, 127 North Dearborn street, Chicago, remodeled this house in a number of ways for improvement of its exterior appearance, with no serious structural changes. Indeed, the remodeling of the house resulted in an increase in house value far in excess of alteration costs.

The architects found a house which had a roof with an exceedingly heavy overhang and an oversize attic dormer window, not required for attic lighting. And both roof and dormer were out of proportion to the size of the house.

Rough Siding Replaced.

The roof was simplified and dormer removed, thus giving the effect of greater width to the residence. And the former bay window on the second floor was developed to become a special feature of the exterior and of the large front bedroom.

Then, too, the siding on the exterior walls, which was of rough, sawed boards, had proved an unsatisfactory surface for painting and had given evidence of collecting dust and dirt too rapidly for its own good or for the comfort of the owners. This rough siding was replaced with wide shingles, which were coated with a special mixture of white paint to give a weathered effect in contrast with the painted white trim. New entrance steps of handsome stone of selected colors and a wrought iron railing added to the attractiveness of the entrance.

Siding for Simple Lines.

This spring and summer will see many improvements made on home exteriors, and for those who are interested in "doing things" for their frame houses, or in building a new frame house, it is interesting to note that exterior siding is available in numerous sizes and pleasing patterns.

There is a friendly quality in wood siding. It is a warm, attractive material, with the beauty of simple lines and solid colors, and this modern siding is offered to the home owner thoroly seasoned, properly graded, and carefully machined.

Emphasis on wall "textures" is important in home architecture, and these are possibilities for these textures thru the various patterns in wood siding and its different methods of application.

If you wish you can employ such long used types as drop siding and narrow bevel siding. You can also avail yourself of several types of vertical wood siding, as well as different rustic and wide bevel sidings. And you can combine various types of siding with shakes, shingles, and even with rough stonework to obtain interesting effects.

Almost Like Clapboards.

Bevel siding today is in different widths and is closely similar to the clapboards of nearly 300 years ago; drop siding, usually thicker than bevel siding, makes a strong, durable wall, and flush siding, which offers a flat surface, offers a contrasting accent to patterned walls.

Cottage types of architecture are bringing into wider use the vertical siding, and many interesting effects are possible with its use. Likewise, there are unusual sidings to give a small rustic atmosphere, while shakes, with thick butts, make possible widely spaced, heavy, horizontal shadow lines, without the ordinary texture between.

Seasoning Is Important.

With all that is known now in regard to the protection of wood from deterioration, there is no reason to let your wood walls fall victim to decay or the ravages of weather.

Proper construction of a wood house is vitally important. Use of well seasoned lumber is equally worthwhile. Proper height of foundation means that the home is carried well above the ground, and if care has been taken that the water does not run into the walls, but off of them, there will never be decay trouble.

BISHOP WILL CLOSE EPISCOPAL LENTEN SERVICES IN LOOP

Bishop Stewart.

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, will be the Holy week speaker at the noonday services in the Harris theater, sponsored by the Church club. The series this week will mark the close of 44 consecutive years of Lenten addresses in the loop. Since his elevation to the episcopate 10 years ago, Bishop Stewart's Lenten addresses have been an outstanding feature of the annual program. Stewart A. Cushman has been chairman of the committee in charge of the 1940 season.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, March 18.

Annual flowering plants are unexcelled for the person who rents his home does not care to buy permanent plants. They may be used for colorful, mass planting, as cut flowers, to fill in bare spaces among the shrubs, and in window boxes. Certain kinds are used as climbers. Some annuals should be started early indoors. March is an excellent time to start these plants; soil can be obtained from the greenhouse man. Soil need not be rich, but it should be rather loose, a mixture of loam, sand, and leafmold or peat. Do not sow thick. This invariably causes trouble and loss of many plants. It is wise to prepare the soil, giving suitable drainage by covering the holes in the bottom of the flat or box, and water well before sowing. Allow time for full drainage. The soil should moist but not wet. Most annuals are easily transplanted, but the heliotrope, sweet sultan, nigella and poppylike kinds are not. Some seeds like the portulaca and petunia are so small they should be pressed into the soil, not covered with it.

Tuesday, March 19.

Some annuals will not stand frost after germinating. Among these are the amaranth, celosia, nemesia, torenia and gourds. The sensitive plant is so very interesting a small lot should be sown. It may be listed under the botanical name, Mimosa pudica. The children will get a thrill from touching the leaves and watching them close. Thin seedlings before they get too large; some should have from 18 to 24 inches of space between them; the dwarf kinds will take no more than 6 inches. Edge a bed of cannas with fountain grass. Grow a little cloud grass for use in bouquets. The annual baby's breath is useful with sweet peas in bouquets. California poppies and pot marigold look well together; also snapdragons and dusty miller. Solid beds of verbenas are very fine. Combinations must be carefully arranged for color effect.

Wednesday, March 20.

Lobelia and verbena seeds should be sown now for they require a long season. Just as soon as ground is suitable and the trash is removed from the perennials, spray around the peonies, delphiniums, and many other kinds with Bordeaux mixture to aid in the control of fungous diseases. Many perennials can be divided and transplanted. If the plants are doing well do not disturb them. Some trees do best when spring planted. Examples are magnolias, beech, ornamental cherries and crabs, and flowering dogwood. A magnolia stellata will look well in the back yard borders. Roll the lawn with a heavy roller to even the surface and sow a bit of grass seed on bare spots.

Thursday, March 21.

Do not neglect to give the lawn a feeding with a complete, high grade plant food. Do this early to stimulate the grass and start it into vigorous growth before hot weather. The perennial and shrub borders will be much benefited by application of the same material. Remove all water sprouts that appear after pruning fruit trees. As soon as the nursery stock arrives heel it in the garden and, when the ground is ready, plant carefully. Never hurry with planting. Dig the holes large enough to easily accommodate the roots, and fill in with good soil.

Friday, March 22.

Sow sweet peas as early as possible for they delight in cool conditions. Here are a few carpeting plants that do well in the rockery: Alyssum saxatile compactum, Arabis, Aubrietia, Cerastium, Dianthus, deltoides, Coronilla varia, perennial candytuft, toad flax, and creeping phlox. Try a few of the interesting edelweiss in a sheltered place among the rocks. Formerly, many gardeners planted a few herbs. Many of these can be sown in spring, such as Angelica, which is cooked and the seeds used in flavoring; balm, used as a decoction in fevers; sweet and bush basil, used in flavoring; borage, used for flavoring beverages; chervils, used for salads; fennel, used in sauces; lavender, for making lavender water, and sage, sweet marjoram, summer and winter savory, and thyme for flavoring. Buy roots of mint, thyme, and tarragon.

Saturday, March 23.

The Easter and spring flower show at Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories opens today. Hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. It is free. See that all plants are labelled. Record the name, date of planting, and any other useful information. A garden record book is so valuable that every gardener should keep one. The experiences recorded will be of real worth from year to year. House plants can be transplanted now, but do not overpot. Use good soil. Do not overwater.

[Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.]

5 TONS OF FOOD DUE AS GIFTS FOR CRIPPLES

Shrine Benefit Pageant Set for Wednesday.

Cases of canned vegetables, sides of bacon, baskets of potatoes, and other nonperishable foodstuffs will be collected next Wednesday night as the price of admission to the fifth annual pageant and variety show for the benefit of the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children. It will be staged in Medinah temple, 14 East Ohio street.

Last year the audience contributed more than four and one-half tons of eatables. William N. Boller, illustrious potentate of Medinah temple, said that five tons are expected to go into the larders this year.

Children on Program.

The program will be organized around Easter themes with children who have or are benefiting from the care of the hospital performing as singers, musicians, and actors. Will H. Wade, chairman of the board of trustees of the Chicago hospital unit, will be master of ceremonies.

Among the members of the benefit committee are: Charles J. Retterer, 1219 Sherwin avenue; Will Erickson, Evanston; R. O. Hedberg, 5347 Lakewood avenue; Fred B. Swanson, Antioch; J. G. Rowley, Winnetka; Harty S. Walsh, 4423 North Hermitage avenue; Earl Maxham, 1707 North Wells street; A. M. Gullickson, 934 Cuyler avenue; F. T. Renshaw, 1827 Leland avenue; C. E. Norris, 1462 Bryn Mawr avenue; G. A. Rolfes, 3240 Lake Shore drive; J. B. Seanor, 4500 North Hermitage avenue.

55 ENTER RACE FOR NATIONAL DELEGATE SEATS

Primaries to Decide Party Lineups.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Fifty-five candidates for seats as delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions, and another 38 who seek honors as alternates, opened their campaigns last week in the six congressional districts totally or partially within the area of Chicagoland's west side. Lively contests for these coveted posts already are in progress.

As always the election — not the nomination—of the delegates and alternates for both parties in the April 9 primary, is involved in the broader and more complex gubernatorial campaign. Evidence of the machine nature of the Democratic party in seen in the control that has prevented wholesale filings, but the competition among the Republicans is wide open.

Both the Green and the Brooks-Lyons camps are bargaining in virtually every west side district in connection with the delegates and alternates. Both sides, of course, are seeking to increase factional strength.

Blackett Post at Stake.

And additional interest is being shown this year as a result of the controversy over efforts of Hill Blackett, Chicago advertising executive, to retain the job of Republican national committeeman—a post he was given last June by the state central committee. He was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the death of George F. Harding.

Blackett is said to have won considerable organization strength during the months since his appointment, but his retention of the job for the next four years will depend upon the support he can gather among the new delegates. Those chosen in April will elect the national committeeman for the four years following the 1940 convention.

The fundamental duties of delegates—and of alternates in case one or both of the delegates is unable to act thru illness or death—are the choosing of a presidential candidate at the national convention, and the drafting of a national party platform.

They also draw up state platforms, determine which of their members shall serve on the various convention committees, and they usually chose a delegation secretary and oftimes a treasurer and sergeant at arms. They have one other important duty, that of picking the delegates at large at a state caucus to be held prior to the national convention.

50 Are Elected.

Illinois is givin a voting strength of 58 delegates—based on population—at both the Democratic and Republican conventions. The election of delegates in the state is limited to two for each party and an alternate for each delegate, from each of the 25 congressional districts in Illinois. The remaining eight delegates are chosen by the elected delegates.

FOURTH DISTRICT

Republican organization candidates as delegates are Arthur W. Sullivan, 3335 South Union avenue, and John H. Sturm, 4632 South Talman avenue, both of whom were delegates in 1936. Independents are: Marion Owcarz, 2354 South Whipple street; Anton Haas, 5033 South Ashland avenue; Irene A. Tomas, 3201 Morgan street; Patrick McCarthy, 2630 West 42d street, and Ignatius Zwarycz, 4555 Justine street.

Two aldermen, Henry Sonnenschein [22d] and Hugh B. Connelly [11th] are the only Democratic candidates. Ald. Connelly was a delegate in 1936.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican — Otto A. Richter, 251 West 43d street, and Andrew Toman, 3822 South Winchester avenue.

Democratic—William J. Lynch, 509 West 43d street, and Joseph Palka, 4816 South May street.

FIFTH DISTRICT

Republican organization favorites for delegates here are Samuel R. Ballis, 1313 South Halsted street, a delegate in 1936, and Paul W. Rothenberg, Republican minority member of the state liquor control commission, who also was a 1936 delegate. Their opponents include: George F. Barrett, 2000 Cermak road, committeeman in the 21st ward; Irving M. Zimmerman, 3239 Douglas boulevard; James L. Kostka, 1918 South Ashland avenue, and John R. Lamb, 1856 South Ashland avenue.

Congressman A. J. [Anti-Dies] Sabath, and State Representative Carmen Vacco [17th] are opposed for the Democratic delegates' seats only by Frank Skubnik, 1942 May street.

Alternates are:

Republican—John Conley, 1718 West 13th street; Leo J. Jankowski, 3022 West Cullerton street, and Paul M. Komarec, 1843 South Racine avenue.

Democratic — Fred Fischman, 3239 West Douglas boulevard, and Robert Romano, 1012 South Ashland boulevard.

SIXTH DISTRICT

The fight for delegates' seats seems to be a three way affair among the Republicans with Julius H. Miner, 3435 West Adams street; Philip E. Gilbert, 1315 South Independence bou-

8,929 Youths Get Jobs Thru School Bureau

BY MILDRED WILDS.

A few weeks ago thousands of young people with diplomas in their hands were turned out of 37 Chicago high schools. When the last note of the recessional had died out, they and thousands of parents asked, "What next?" This has happened every February and every June.

Last year the Chicago board of education extended its service to students beyond the valedictory of graduation night. Thru a coöperative," placement service introduced in April by Supt. William H. Johnson, the board now knows what happens to its graduates. Out of 17,558 who applied for jobs at the placement bureau between June and December, 8,929 got jobs.

State Helps in Work.

In December after the half year trial period approved a success, Supt. Johnson made the placement service a definite part of every high school. One faculty member in each school suited for personnel work was appointed placement director.

"The plan is called coöoperative," explains L. J. Schloerb, director of educational research, "because the Illinois State Employment service finds the jobs thru its scouts and the schools and the board find the student who is qualified and who wants the job."

More of the west area graduates and also nongraduates who applied for jobs received them than youth in any other part of the city except the south side. There were 2,065 placed out of 3,817 applications. With counselors now working in each of the nine west side schools explaining the service and interviewing prospective graduates, Mr. Schloerb expects there will be more applications and more jobs obtained this year.

16 Per Cent to Factories.

During the first six months of the coöperative placement service, the 8,929 young people who got jobs became factory workers, craftsmen, office clerks, sales people, waitresses, or dish washers, and a few entered the professions. Of the total, 2,852, or 16.25 per cent became factory workers doing semiskilled labor, bench work, and manning machines.

There were 2,376, or 13.53 per cent, who gained employment in offices doing clerical, stenographical and other detailed work demanding a knowledge of school commercial subjects.

The third highest number, 1,426, found jobs as service workers in hotels and restaurants. This was 8.12 per cent of the total employed. There were 1,054, or 6 per cent, placed at unskilled physical labor; 741, or 4.22 per cent, became salesmen, and 348, or 1.98 per cent, received jobs in various crafts. One half of 1 per cent became professional workers, and one-quarter of 1 per cent were in the miscellaneous classification.

Operate Loop Bureau.

In addition to the rooms and desks given over to interviews for placement work in the high schools, there is a downtown bureau in the Chicago board of education headquarters. 228 North La Salle street. Mrs. Olivia Allen is in charge of the office. In the local school bureaus and in this office are all types of occupational information and significant employment trends for use by the counselor in advising his students and alumni.

The counselors serving in west side high schools since their appointment in December are: Austin, Harold C. Ritter; Crane, George Grimes; Farragut, Laura L. Schultz; Flower, Florence Schilling; Harrison, Maurice E. Giles, and Manila Cheshire; McKinley, Bertha Hansen; Manley, E. Adair Sylvances; Marshall, William Wiebe; Medill, Ernestine V. Oldham.

The Illinois Placement service helps conduct school conferences of vocational nature, has a testing service providing for classification of beginning typists and stenographers, reviews job orders for junior workers to discover requirements peculiar to juniors, and continues the research aspects of placement work.

Founded as Experiment.

The placement plan was founded in the spring of 1938 when Supt. Johnson called a meeting of representatives from the schools and from the state department of labor to discuss the placement problem as it applied to junior workers. The complete plan sometime later was tried out experimentally in only five schools. Already figures at the board office include some 35,000 classifications and 10,000 placements of junior workers.

SUBURB ALUMNAE WILL CELEBRATE FOUNDERS' DAY

The founding of Delta Gamma sorority in 1874 at Oxford, Miss., will be commemorated by the Oak Park alumnæ chapter with its annual Founders' day banquet and reunion at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Blue Parrot patio, Oak Park.

Mrs. Frank J. Platt, newly elected president of the chapter, is in charge of arrangements. She is assisted by Mrs. Ralph Hatch, Mrs. D. V. Peacock, Mrs. Estelle Hadden, Miss Harriett Von der Heydt, Miss Virginia Hafner, Miss Jessie Linden, and Miss Jean Kerr. Mrs. A. W. Towner will be toastmistress.

The program will include harp selections by Mrs. Kittredge Brown, a play, and the singing of Delta Gamma songs.

Plan Bake Sale.

The Woman's auxiliary of the Good Samaritan Episcopal church, Oak Park, will hold a bake sale at 8 o'clock Friday evening, March 29, in the parish hall.

Twins in School Concert

MISS EDNA KINGDON.

MISS ETHEL KINGDON.

Miss Edna Kingdon, violinist, and Miss Ethel Kingdon, cellist, twin sisters, will join Miss Mary Birch, pianist, in playing "Trio in D Minor," by Mendelssohn, at the first joint concert of the Proviso High school choir and alumni choir to be presented in the school auditorium this afternoon. The Kingdon twins were members of the class of '35.

CITY BEAUTIFUL DRIVE IS BEGUN BY COMMITTEES

Cleanliness Also Part of Campaign.

Before the first blade of green has appeared, the Help Beautify Chicago and Save the Lawn committees are getting together to encourage neighbors to keep off the lawn this summer and to throw their rubbage in the waste basket instead of the parks. Karl Eitel, hotel owner, and Paul Schulze, president of the Municipal Art league, are chairmen of the respective committees.

Mr. Eitel has conducted an intensified campaign for a cleaner city for many years, and Mr. Schulze has promoted contests and made awards for the best lawns around police and fire stations, schools, homes, and apartments.

Coöperating groups will send representatives to a city beautiful meeting which will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Palmer House. Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, will be principal speaker.

From West Side.

West side residents expected to be present are Mrs. Marion H. Biel, Mrs. Anna Boe, Robert W. Bongartz, John P. Brooks, Mrs. William T. Bruckner, James H. Burdett, Mrs. Robert R. Daum, John Dooley, Mrs. George C. Erhardt, Mrs. Herman Freevol, Mrs. O. G. Grenzebach, Justine L. Ham, F. F. Hartman, William Kabaker, Dr. E. J. Lusk, Auguste Mathieu, Ray McCarthy, Frank W. Mrkvicka, Mrs. Henry Moyer, Miss Irene Nelson, Mrs. David O'Connor, Mrs. Edward W. Piehl, Mrs. John Harper Rooke, A. H. Rosenstiel, Mrs. Burt E. Tuck, Mrs. Bertha Van Wakeman, and Mrs. William Foster West.

Suburban representatives will be Mrs. O. W. Dynes, Hinsdale; Mrs. J. W. Heylmun and Mrs. George Plamondon, president of the Garden Clubs of Illinois, Wheaton.

Residents who want to beautify their lawns and parkways may enroll in a course of lectures free of charge which will begin this week.

West Side Lectures.

For west area men and women there will be a series at Austin Town hall, Lake street and Central avenue. The first lecture, "Growing Your Own Plants from Seeds," will be presented Thursday evening by Troy Standard of the Chicago park district horticultural staff.

Delta Kappa Phi Holds Its Annual Dance Today

Members and guests of Delta Kappa Phi fraternity will hold their annual spring dinner dance at the South Seas club, Lincoln avenue and Pratt boulevard at 3 o'clock this afternoon. More than 400 are expected to attend.

St. Philip's High School Students to Hold Dance

Students at St. Philip's High school will hold a St. Patrick's day party and dance tonight in the auditorium, 320 South Albany avenue. Proceeds will be added to the building fund. The Rev. Terence A. Seery is chairman of the committee.

THRONGS TO BOW IN PALM SUNDAY SERVICES TODAY

Holy Week to Open on Joyous Note.

Thru nearly 2,000 years men and women have sung mighty oratorios or simple hymns about the death and resurrection of a carpenter from Galilee. All the interpretations of the sacred story will be told again in all languages beginning today when churches, cathedrals, and home prayer circles thru the west side observe the holy week.

Palm Sunday commemorating the triumphal entry of the Messiah into Jerusalem will be marked by palm decorated churches, confirmation services, and musicals. The prayer circles will go deeper into the spirit of Golgotha to climax the week with Good Friday's sorrow.

Denominational differences will be removed this week as all Christian churches unite in one theme. There will be Catholic masses in the richness of ritual, and prayer meetings with no music at all by the Mennonites. Lutheran children will be received into the church at solemn confirmations. Methodists, Presbyterians, Evangelical, and Congregational churches will have song festivals, cantatas, and pageants.

Special Music Thru Week.

At 7:45 o'clock every evening this week the story of the Passion week will be unfolded at services in the Central Church of God, 425 South Kedzie avenue, where the Rev. John E. Kolar is pastor. Special services will be held at 10:45 o'clock this morning and at 7:45 o'clock this evening. Pre-Easter music will be sung by the choir thru the week.

The Rev. M. Clyde Horst of the First Church of the Brethern, Congress street and Central Park avenue, will ask and answer "Who Is Jesus?" at 11 o'clock this morning. His sermons at 8 o'clock from Monday thru Thursday will be on the topic "Cruciality of the Cross," "The New Birth," "Victorius Life," and "Tragedy of Judas." The choir will sing

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

THE woman who began her life as an artist closer to 50 years old than 40 will celebrate her 70th birthday at 5 o'clock this afternoon. She is Signe Palmblad, from whose studios at 1119 North Mayfield avenue have come landscapes of note and Swedish peasant art. Her day is started with ballet dancing, for once Mrs. Palmblad was a dancer on the Swedish stage.

Signe Palmblad.

The party arranged by her friends at the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street, is called an artistic frolic and will be held in the club. The toastmaster will be Attorney Hjalmar Carl Lundquist. Mrs. Palmblad never had an art lesson before her 49th birthday. Today prize paintings are among the many bearing her name that hang in homes in Chicago.

As 21 cases of surgical dressings and garments were started on their journey to Europe to ease the suffering of both soldier and civilian, the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, awarded 76 service pins to men and women who have given 144 hours of service. A total of 207 awards have been made since the chapter started production of war relief materials last September.

West side workers recently awarded the pin are Mrs. Genevieve Schallawitz, 4933 West Hubbard street, Austin unit; Mrs. Robert Carpenter, Downers Grove, and Mrs. R. D. Malm, La Grange.

THE highest award of the National Y. M. C. A. aquatic committee, the title of aquatic director, has been awarded to H. C. Trangenstein, program director of the Austin Y. M. C. A. Mr. Trangenstein was one of the leaders in formulating a new program of progressive swimming tests in the "Y." He also passed tests at the recent aquatic leadership training institute which demonstrated a technical knowledge of water safety, a knowledge of how to demonstrate swimming skills, and how to administer standard swimming tests.

Other men at the Austin "Y" who passed the tests and acquired the award of leader-examiner are George Page, Paul Nickels, Stewart Friend, and John Pastor, members of the Austin swimming instruction staff. Nearly 300 Austin boys have passed tests under the direction of these men since the national program went into effect last fall.

The Men's club of the Knesses Israel Nusach Sfard congregation is organizing a Friday Evening Service club for those attending the evening services. Louis W. Shapiro is president, assisted by Miss Ida Feinstein, secretary; S. Yale Fischman, treasurer, and Mrs. George Apel, publicity chairman. Meetings are held every other Wednesday in the community hall of the synagogue, 1308 Independence boulevard.

A meeting of the Men's club will be held at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow evening, when William Katz will be guest speaker.

OFFER PARODY AS SECTION OF PURIM FESTIVAL

The ancient holiday of Purim, a celebration of the Jews in tribute to Queen Esther will be observed by a Purim carnival arranged by the Students' Organization of the College of Jewish Studies on Saturday evening. The festival will be held in the Grand ballroom of the Midland hotel, 172 West Adams street.

Lillian Barach.

A parody on the "Wizard of Oz" story, written by Ben Aronin, will be the feature of the carnival. Characters in the story will be Queen Esther, Mordecai, the queen's uncle; and Hamen, the Persian dictator. In addition to the playlet the 1940 Queen Esther will be crowned. She will be chosen because of her beauty and personality.

The west side entry is Miss Lillian Barach, 1851 South Hamlin avenue. Members of the arrangements committee for the contest are Sara G. Turner, chairman; Jerome J. Greenberg, and Charles Levin.

The carnival has been given the name "Adloyada" because it will resemble an ancient fair in the near east, with booths for games. The ballroom will be decorated to give this atmosphere.

Bowling Tourney On Today by the Ladies of Isabella

The 15th annual bowling tournament of the Ladies of Isabella will be held from 1:45 o'clock to 7:45 o'clock this afternoon and evening in the Bensinger bowling alleys, 29 West Randolph street.

MAY LOSE HIS ASSEMBLY SEAT TO E. P. DUKES

Record Is Attacked in Campaign.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Ballots are bullets in the west section fighting over who will be nominated to the state legislature April 9. In at least one of the battles, in the 27th district, the present state representative is faced with defeat.

Eugene P. Dukes, a florist, threatens to displace his neighbor, Representative Stanley E. Martynowski, who is accused of having been too friendly with the Democrats in his first term at Springfield. Dukes' home is at 1237 Noble street while Martynowski lives at 1226 Noble street.

Casimir Gorny, Republican committeeman of the 32d ward, claims 34 of the 48 precincts in the district for Dukes. Gorny aided in electing the present representative but said he now must be ousted because of his record. Martynowski failed to support the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill.

Mother a Polish Leader.

Dukes is 34 years old. His mother, who was Rose Wanderski, was a well known leader in Polish-American circles. He has been prominent in activities of neighborhood youth. Pledged to reduction of the sales tax, Dukes says he will make a serious study of all proposed legislation.

Martynowski's only bill in Springfield was one increasing from 200 to 1,000 feet the offshore distance within which fishing nets may not be used in the Illinois portion of Lake Michigan. It was passed, amid the laughter of his colleagues in the legislature.

Winning in the primary is equivalent to election in this district, where only one Republican and two Democrats are to be nominated for the three house seats.

Easy Going for Two.

On the Democratic side, the multiplicity of independent candidates promises easy going for the two men having regular party endorsement. Former Representative A. L. Auth, 1100 West Van Buren street, and Representative John Kuklinski, 1813 Armitage avenue, head the list.

Auth has had six terms in the house. He is a member of Chicago Typographical union, local No. 16. The Democratic organization chose him to replace Representative Edward J. Petlak, who recently withdrew from the contest.

Both Kuklinski and Petlak had unsatisfactory voting records in the 1939 session of the general assembly, according to the Legislative Voters' league. Neither supported the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill. Kuklinski, a graduate of the University of Illinois, is a manufacturer of proprietary medicines.

"I'm for adequate relief and old age assistance," Kuklinski said.

Grid Player in Race.

The most picturesque of the challengers is Stanley J. Mondala, 1438 Cortez street, a former All-American football player. Mondala is determined to advance slum clearance legislation to revive the district.

"Residents have seen a once prosperous and flourishing district dwindle until it is an unsightly and slowly deteriorating mess," said Mondala, who is a graduate engineer. "Our representatives seem to relish the sight of the local element hovering between starvation and relief.

"They could have brought about a change long ago, thru the right type of legislation, such as that authorizing the creation of publicly owned corporations to rehabilitate the district."

Others in the contest include Roy J. Golson, 1074 Milwaukee avenue, an attorney; Henry S. Pietrzak, 1650 West North avenue; Felix S. Lewandowski, 1636 Greenview avenue; Zachary G. Pallasch, 1149 Noble street; Edmund J. Bawalek, 1247 Cleaver street; Frank J. Mytnik, 1657 North Paulina street; Anton Grzybowski, 1806 North Wood street; Frank J. Quirk, 1140 West Madison street; Joseph P. Przywarski, 1644 Cortland street, and Joseph Kosinski, 1418 West Division street.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

Half a dozen "outs" who seek to take the seats of the three representatives of this district are up against strongly entrenched candidates who are not resting on their laurels. Nomination April 9 will be equivalent to election, since voters will name a number of nominees equal to that to be presented in November.

Representative Emmett McGrath of Brookfield, superintendent of golf courses in the Cook county forest preserves, is supported by virtually all Democratic district leaders. Ending his sixth term at Springfield, McGrath is described as "experienced and sagacious" by the L. V. L.

"I burn a lot of gasoline covering my district in a campaign," said McGrath, who was formerly president of an oil products company. "The 7th district measures about 60 miles, from the outskirts of Evanston to the Indiana state line."

Opposing him as independents are John J. Ryan, 1407 South 17th avenue, Maywood, who is in the real estate

WANTS BUS SERVICE.

Now that the viaduct at the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad tracks on Wrightwood avenue is completed, why doesn't the Chicago Motor Coach company extend its service westward? We taxpayers who live west of Pulaski road deserve the fine, direct-to-the-loop transportation that this company offers residents in other localities in Chicago. Give the people on the northwest side a "break" and extend the Wrightwood avenue coach service west of Pulaski road. ALFRED W. BRANDT.

FOR INDOOR POOLS.

Whenever a park board puts up a new building nowadays it includes a year round swimming pool in it. These buildings in Chicago are found in the better neighborhoods. The poorer neighborhoods have only outdoor pools for use in summer. As swimming is a very refreshing exercise and private pools are rare, why not transform these numerous outdoor pools into year round pools.

DANGEROUS INTERSECTION.

Can't something be done about putting up a traffic light or stop light signal at Hubbard street and Oakley boulevard? Hardly a day goes by that some one isn't injured in an accident, some very seriously. A policeman is on duty on this corner from 4:30 to 6 o'clock every afternoon, but it could use either a policeman or a light all day. E. S.

PROVISO ALUMNI JOIN PUPILS IN CONCERT TODAY

Twins to Play Feature String Number.

[PICTURE ON PAGE 1.]

Palm Sunday music, Negro spirituals, and choral masterpieces will be sung by 150 members of the Proviso Township High school choir and alumni choir in their first annual joint concert at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon in the high school auditorium in Maywood under the direction of R. Lee Osburn.

As a highlight of the program, the Kingdon twins, Miss Edna and Miss Ethel, class of '35, playing violin and cello, will join Miss Mary Birch, '38, pianist, in "Trio in D Minor," by Mendelssohn.

The combined choirs will sing Brahms' "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," "Listen to the Lambs," by Dett, and Rubinstein's "Seraphic Song." The closing group will include the well known Negro spirituals "Dark Water," by Will James, and "Were You There?" by Burleigh.

Members of the high school choir are:

CALLS SABATH RECORD WORST IN CONGRESS

H. G. Green Presses Fight to Gain Seat.

Increasing heat marked the struggles for congressional nominations among candidates of both parties in most of the west and west suburban areas of Chicago last week. The severest firing occurred in the 5th and 7th districts.

Harry G. Green, principal Democratic opponent in the 5th district of Congressman A. J. Sabath's machine, renewed charges that Sabath's record in Washington was the worst in point of service of any congressman in the United States.

Green charged that house Democratic leaders frequently have stated privately that Sabath's chairmanship of the important rules committee—a job given him only because of seniority rules—is a definite handicap to the legislative program.

Also cited in Green's speeches was the refusal of the house of representatives to accept the bulky report drawn up by the house committee to investigate real estate bondholders' committees—a committee of which Sabath was chairman. The house, with the indorsement of Speaker Bankhead, declared the report was loaded with libelous statements and rejected it, Green declared.

Demands an Answer.

Green demanded that Sabath answer specifically the charges made by his colleague, Representative Ralph E. Church of Evanston, that the investigating committee had been used to throw business to the Chicago law firm of Sabath, Perlman, Goodman, and Rein. Sabath made a general denial in congress that the firm had profited from the activities of the committee, said Green, but never answered Church's specific charges.

Green declared himself for reapportionment of the Illinois congressional districts because of conditions that exist in the 5th district. The area has a population of only 140,481 persons by the 1930 census, altho the average population of Cook county districts is 408,000.

"The area is so small that Sabath's machine is able to deliver it for him in spite of the wishes of the majority of thinking voters," Green declared. "The result is that the district is represented by a communist supporter. The best evidence of this is his recent vote against continuance of the Dies investigation into un-American activities.

"Furthermore the support of the communists for Sabath has been openly stated by the Daily Workers, official Red party organ. The paper has freely tossed bouquets to Sabath for his blind acceptance of every New Deal proposal."

A summary of activities in other districts in this area follows:

FOURTH DISTRICT

The quiet of this district has yet to be disturbed by campaigning. Congressman Harry P. Beam has no opposition for the Democratic nomination. And neither Joseph F. Wronski nor Henry F. Schmudde, the Republican candidates, are making strong fights. The history of the district shows it to be overwhelmingly Democratic.

SIXTH DISTRICT

Altho there are nine Democratic candidates in this district, F. A. [Whitey] Maciejewski, Cicero's political boss for the last 10 years, is a certainty to receive the nomination. Maciejewski's machine politics are believed more than sufficient to override charges that he has padded pay rolls, increased city costs, tripled the city's water bills, and generally created financial chaos there. Maciejewski denies charges that he has entered a number of "pushover" candidates to split the Irish vote in the district.

The Republican fight appeared to center between Joseph Wagner, Berwyn dairy owner, and Michael J. Creighton, an independent candidate in 1938. David M. Jacobson, young 29th ward attorney, is also making a strong fight. Last week he advocated establishment of a congressional bureau to provide assistance to young people who contemplate marriage. Funds for this purpose are available under the social security act and no further taxation would be required, he said.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

The machinations of the Joe Porcaro 28th ward Republican organization continued to hold the attention of voters in this district. Further investigation of the conditions which resulted in the withdrawal 10 days ago of four Republican congressional candidates had its aftermath last week in Superior court.

Judge John C. Lewe, after hearing evidence that indicated efforts were being made to confuse the voters in the area, directed County Clerk Michael J. Flynn to remove the name of another Republican candidate—this time for state auditor—from the ballot. Altho involving candidates for different offices the two incidents were linked.

Withdrawal of the congressional candidates came after Better Government association investigators learned that all four of the men had been entered as extra candidates by Porcaro, Republican committeeman of the 28th ward. The purpose, it appeared, was to divide the vote against Alex Loeffler, tavern keeper, who is favored by the Porcaro organization.

Attention to the extra candidates was drawn by former Congressman M. A. Michaelson, and James C. Moreland, nominee in 1938, both of whom are candidates again. And while in the course of examining petitions circulated by the Porcaro the B. G. A. men examined one circulated for Edward A. O'Connor, 7818 Langley avenue, who sought nomination as state auditor.

Activity Is Denied.

Among those named as circulators of the petitions were Edward Todd, his wife, Mae, and daughter, Dorothy, all of 63 North Central avenue. Todd was reached by telephone and he immediately declared that he and his family had never seen nor heard of the petitions. Todd, it later was learned, is a brother-in-law of Roy T. Saxon, who is running for committeeman against Porcaro in the latter's ward.

Further investigaion disclosed that most of the names on the petitions for Edward A. O'Connor were forged. According to Frederik W. Blaisdell, executive secretary of the B. G. A., Edard A. O'Connor's name was filed in order to confuse voters who might seek to cast their ballots for Edward T. O'Connor of Peoria, a Republican candidate for the same office.

Edward A. O'Connor, it was learned, is a milk wagon driver. Ultimately he agreed to withdraw his name from the ballot but the county clerk refused to do so. Edward T. O'Connor then joined with Edward A. and the injunction suit was filed. Judge Lewe issued the restraining order after hearing evidence showing that Edward A. O'Connor's petitions were forged.

EIGHTH DISTRICT

The Democratic situation here was quiet last week, with Congressman Leo Kocialkowski's only serious opponent, Albert E. Bucciere, being too busy attending to his law business to devote himself to campaigning. Bucciere has aligned himself with the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett organization and the spade work in the district precincts in his behalf is being done by this outfit.

Altho five Republican candidates have filed in the district, none of them is waging a strenuous fight. The situation is comparable to that existing two years ago when Mrs. Rena Pikiel ran unopposed for the Republican nomination.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

The battle here is between Walter T. Woodcock, 624 Lincoln avenue, Elgin, 40 year old publisher of the Elgin Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Congressman Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, who is seeking his fourth term. Woodcock, altho a newcomer to politics, is waging a lively campaign thru the four counties included in this district.

Reed continues to base his appeal for votes on his record. He was, for 14 years prior to his election in 1932, the state's attorney of Du Page county and he has been content to make a quiet campaign. His boast is that he voted at 295 out of 297 roll calls at the last session of congress, and that he has been a consistent proponent of free enterprise and less government meddling.

A many point program is the foundation of Woodcock's speeches. He favors "more jobs in industry—less in WPA," "Protection of the American workman against competitive labor," "Cessation of sandbagging business thru government interference," "Less government control of radio," "No war at any cost, by keeping money, men, and ships at home." Woodcock hopes to poll the mature vote in this rockribbed Republican district.

Attorney Edgar O. Eakin of Elgin is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Two years ago he was the losing candidate for state senator.

Candidates

William J. Mink [Rep., 6th District]

Chauncey W. Reed [Rep., 11th District]

Walter T. Woodcock [Dem., 11th District]

G. M. Roszczynialski [Rep., 8th District]

With primary elections only three weeks distant, candidates for party nominations in the congressional race are starting the windup maneuvers of their campaigns. Among the candidates in the west area are these four.

COLLEGE GROUP WILL GIVE OAK PARK CONCERT

Miss June Clark.

The fifty-five piece symphony orchestra of Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., will give a concert Tuesday evening, April 2, in the First Methodist church, 324 North Oak Park avenue. Altho it is the orchestra's 35th tour, it will be its first appearance in Oak Park. The concert is sponsored by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

Miss June Clark, graduate of Oak Park High school and a sophomore at Cornell, will appear as violin soloist on the program. Her selection will be Bach's "Air for G String." Miss Charlotte Reinke, Cornell senior and a mezzo-soprano, will sing "Les Filles de Cadiz."

The conductor is Lloyd Oakland, a graduate of Northwestern university school of music and a Cornell alumnus. In the summer he directs the Montana university symphony orchestra.

Offer Sound Film.

"The Passion Play," a motion picture with sound, will be shown at 7:45 o'clock this evening in the Mandell Methodist church, 5000 West Congress street.

levard, and Joseph A. Coyner, 501 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, in the major rôles. Other candidates are John M. Carroll, 3841 West Arthington street, and George A. Pavese, 3435 Harrison street. The regular organization favors Miner and Coynar.

Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien and Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] are the Democratic organization candidates. Edward M. Platt, 505 Marengo avenue, Forest Park, also has filed.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican — James F. Hemmons, 4720 West Gladys avenue, and Hugh H. Smith, 3250 West Monroe street, who is former general superintendent for the West Parks.

Democratic—Jerry J. Viterna, town collector for Cicero, and Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th].

SEVENTH DISTRICT

Three Republicans are in a hot fight for the delegate seats here. County Commissioner William Busse of Mount Prospect, John T. Dempsey, 2530 North Richmond street, 33d ward committeeman and Green campaign manager, and William E. [Bill] Johnson, 5645 North Kimball avenue, political secretary to Hill Blackett, are the principals, altho there are seven other candidates. Busse has the favor of the regular organization.

The other Republicans are: Clayton F. Wright, 2932 North Richmond street; Bernhard G. Roth, 2852 North Maplewood avenue; William H. Atzel, 3250 North California avenue; Ingvald Larsen Jr., 1634 North Artesian avenue; Arthur C. Eaton, 1347 North Maplewood avenue; Baillis G. Anderson, 5656 Race avenue, and Thomas A. Patton, 3844 Hirsch street.

Stanley R. Kosinski, chief clerk of Secretary of State Hughes, and Ald. Matt Porten [34th] have the blessing of the Democratic organization as delegates. Mrs. Anna C. Phaneuf, 5502 West Barry avenue, is their only opponent.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican — Herman M. Richter, 1913 North Kildare avenue; Charles O. Miller, 2493 North Milwaukee avenue; Duane E. Reed, 3223 West Diversey avenue; Arthur N. Haugan, River Grove; Elmer G. Klemz, 3319 West Belmont avenue; Charles Maltz, 3014 North California avenue; Walter N. Degenhart, 5843 North Newgard avenue; Edward Piotrowski, 2049 Pierce avenue; John O. Hendry, 2451 North Meade avenue; Irving Himelstein, 2033 Pierce avenue.

Democratic candidates as alternates are: Michael Iarussi, 761 West Taylor street, and Ald. Alexander Sobota [26th], 928 North Willard court.

EIGHTH DISTRICT

William V. [Billy] Pacelli, Republican committeeman in the 20th ward, and State Representative Robert Petrone, are the party candidates as delegates on the Republican ticket. Their four opponents are: Clarence Tomaszewski, 1506 North Paulina street; Peter G. Urban, 1418 Blackhawk street; Leon C. Wolkowicz, 1540 West Chestnut street, and John Wach, 1016 Erie street. Pacelli was a delegate in 1932 and 1936.

The two Democratic candidates unopposed for delegates are: Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski [32d], and Sanitary District Trustee John H. Touhy.

Alternates are:

Republican—Joseph R. Salerno, 724 DeKoven street; Rena E. Pikiel, a candidate for congress in 1938; Frank Musolff, 1645 North Ashland avenue; Louis M. Mix, 1433 North Ashland avenue; Stanley Godzicki, 1035 North Marshfield avenue, and Adam Jezak, 1757 West Augusta boulevard.

Democratic — Michael Iarussi, 761 West Taylor street, and Ald. Alexander Sobota [26th].

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

Frank R. Reid of Aurora, former congressman and delegate in 1936, and Hayes Kennedy, Joliet attorney, appear to be the favored pair for the Republican delegates seats. Other candidates are Harrison H. Robillard of Elmhurst and James C. Bell of Joliet.

Former Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet, Emmett McGuire, also of Joliet, and Charles Leonard of Woodstock will fight it out for the two Democratic seats.

Candidates seeking alternate seats are:

Republican—T. Merle Paul Harvard and Maurice Shurtleff of Elgin.

SALVATION ARMY YOUTHS OF WEST AREA WIN TESTS

West side boys and girls walked away with awards recently in the 10th annual rally of the Salvation Army sponsored by Boy Scout and Girl Guard groups in the 131st Infantry armory. First place in both the Scout and Guard competitions were taken by the boys and girls from the Chicago Temple corps.

Second honors were awarded to the boys and girls from the Midwest corps, 2459 West Monroe street. The Scouts of troop No. 215 from the Temple corps placed in every one of the nine events and by winning four first places, two seconds, one third, and two fourth places piled up 70 points for the meet. Scout troop 219 from the Midwest corps scored 44 points.

Events in which the Temple scouts won first were bugling, semaphore signaling, the patrol obstacle race, and knot tying. Guards took first in compass practice, knot tying, and life line relay.

NEEDY CHILDREN ARE TO MODEL OWN WARDROBES

Settlement Is to Hold Fashion Show.

Children of needy families who have been taught to fashion their own wardrobes in the settlement at 2159 DeKalb street, owned and financed by the West End Catholic Woman's club, will hold a fashion show at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Frank Carr is settlement chairman and will preside at the spring style review.

Kindergarten children will model the little dresses made for them by the older girls. The ones old enough to hold a needle will model their own handiwork. Miss Margaret Carroll, who superintends the classes, has arranged the program.

Tap dancing, singing, and reading numbers will be presented by Theresa Barpalucci, Rose Dilla, Grace Sperendo, Helen Pagone, Jane Marcello, and Josephine Serruccio. Antoinette Morici is president of the girls' club at the settlement.

North Oak Park Club.

The art and literature chairman, Mrs. R. H. Johnson, has arranged a morning and afternoon meeting for the North Oak Park Woman's club for Wednesday. At the 11 o'clock literary round table, Mrs. C. D. Burrell will review Lin Yutang's book, "Moment in Peking." This will be the round table's last meeting for the season. Clara Lake, traveler and art collector, will speak on the subject, "The Land of the Mountain Wreath" in the afternoon.

19th Century Club.

Miss Louise Holabird Wood, daughter of the late Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, Chicago philanthropist, will lecture at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon before the 19th Century Woman's club of Oak Park. Mrs. A. Wayne Hanson, chairman of the art department, has arrange the program.

At 11 o'clock the club will be addressed by Mary Anderson Bain, director of the National Youth administration in Illinois. She will be introduced by Mrs. Edward A. Ribal.

19th Century Associates.

"The Right Word" is the subject of a lecture by Alexander Rogers which will be presented at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday evening before the Associate membership of the 19th Century Woman's club. Mr. Rogers is a business man who promotes good speech among his employés.

Maywood 20th Century Club.

An American citizenship program arranged by the chairman, Mrs. George H. Casper, will be presented Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Maywood 20th Century Woman's club. Mrs. Charles L. Gerds, past state chairman of American citizenship, will speak on "The American Way." Mrs. Harold Hammond will be hostess.

La Grange Catholic Club.

Miss Margaret Sweeney, harpist, and Edward Stack, baritone, will be soloists at a meeting of the La Grange Catholic Woman's club at 8 o'clock this evening in St. Francis Xavier school hall, La Grange. Miss Sweeney has appeared as soloist with the WGN concert orchestra and the Chicago Woman's symphony.

La Grange Woman's Club.

The speaker for the current events class of the La Grange Woman's club at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon will be Mrs. John E. Mourne. She will speak on "Our School System from the Tax Payer's Point of View." At 2 o'clock Mrs. Ira Schmidt, chairman of the education department, will present Lillian Herstein whose topic will be "The Rôle of the School in the Social Order." Officers will be elected.

Clyde Woman's Club.

A reciprocity day meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon by the Clyde Woman's club in the Clyde Community house, 2730 South 61st avenue, Cicero. Mrs. Lee Jolidon, program chairman, will present Ida Carothers Merriam, lecturer, who will speak on "Personality—What Is It?"

Austin Woman's Club.

"Gas Light Heroines" will be described by Miss Marian Reade, dramatic reader, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at a meeting of the Austin Woman's club. The Navarro sisters, Mercedes, Ida and Elisita, will sing. Mrs. B. Barker Beeson has arranged the program. Polls will be open for election of officers from 10 o'clock in the morning until the program opens.

At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning the American Home department will present an antique and quilt exhibit.

Brookfield Woman's Club.

Officers of the Sixth district will be guests of the Brookfield Woman's club at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at its reciprocity day meeting. Mrs. William T. Bruckner, president of the State federation, and Mrs. F. J. Johnson, president of the Sixth district, will be special guests.

Berwyn Woman's Civic Club.

A club institute and radio program will be held by the Berwyn Woman's Civic club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Oscar Muelhausen, club institute chairman, will be in charge of the 10 o'clock morning program. The speaker will be Mrs. B. F. Mikuta. At noon there will be an indoor picnic.

Downers Grove Club.

Churches in Chicago West Towns Unite to Hold Ceremonies Thru Holy Week

The Man of all time stood by the gates of Jericho and said to His companions, "We go now to Jerusalem that all things foretold by the prophets may be accomplished." Beyond the gates of Jericho lay the shadow of His sacrifice, but His companions knew it not. From the throng there were shouts of "Hosanna!" but the Master knew it was the first step to Calvary.

Palm Sunday, a day of rejoicing overshadowed by the gloom of Holy week with its "way of sorrow" leading to the portals of the Resurrection on Easter day, will be observed today by churches thruout the west suburban area.

Maywood Union League.

In Maywood, the united churches will hold a Palm Sunday night service at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, of which the Rev. William S. Jacobs is minister. Dr. H. Grady David, professor at the Lutheran seminary of Maywood will speak, and the choir of the First Methodist church in Maywood will sing. The First Baptist church will observe "family night" at 8 p. m. Wednesday. At 7:30 p. m. the board of deacons will receive candidates for church membership.

Noon hour lenten services for the west suburbs will be conducted during Holy week by St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, 305 Circle avenue, Forest Park. Organ music by Robert Reuter and a choir selection will be offered each day. Lutheran preachers and their topics, announced by the Rev. Marcus Wagner and the Rev. Alvin E. Wagner, pastors of the church, are: tomorrow, the Rev. William Boehm, "The Voice of Pity"; Tuesday, the Rev. Edwin Pflug, "The Wounded Back of the Healing Christ"; Wednesday, the Rev. Martin Rupprecht, "Jesus Only"; Thursday, the Rev. Erdmann Frenk, "The Uplift of the Cross"; Friday, the Rev. Alvin E. Wagner, "Salvation for Scoffers."

Program in Lombard.

Additional services have been announced for the Easter season by the Rev. Russell W. Lambert, minister of the Lombard parish which concerns both the Methodist and Congregational groups. "The Approach to the Cross" will be the Rev. Mr. Lambert's topic at both the 8:30 and 11 o'clock Palm Sunday services of worship. Special music will be featured and devotional booklets for Holy week will be distributed at the close of the worship hour.

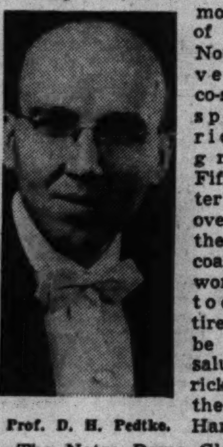
MARSHALL TO BE GUEST TODAY ON 5TH ROW CENTER

Notre Dame Glee Club Also on W-G-N.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.



Prof. D. H. Pedtke.

Everett Marshall, noted concert and operetta baritone, and the famous Glee club of 40 voices of Notre Dame university will be co-starred in a special St. Patrick's day program on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network at 5 p. m. today. The entire program will be a musical salute to St. Patrick's day under the direction of Harold Stokes.

The Notre Dame Glee club is directed by Dr. Daniel H. Pedtke, head of the Notre Dame music department. Dr. Pedtke has declared this year's Notre Dame Glee club the best singing group he has coached in many years. The club will journey to the W-G-N studios in a special bus.

To Sing Three Songs.

Marshall will sing three numbers: "Danny Boy," "Wagon Wheels," which he introduced in the Ziegfeld Follies, and "Where the River Shannon Flows," in which he will be accompanied by 16 selected voices of the Glee club.

Marshall is cutting short a vacation in Cuba to come to Chicago for the broadcast. Following the program, he will go to Texas for a show there.

In addition to his concert and radio work, he has appeared as Franz Schubert in "Blossom Time" and has sung in such shows as the "Follies" and in George White's "Scandals."

With Metropolitan Opera.

He sang with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York for four seasons. He also has been starred in three of Billy Rose's greatest successes, the last being the Aquacade at last summer's New York World's fair.

The Glee club, one of the best known organizations of its kind in the country, will sing several Irish songs. They will do two medleys, "Minstrel Boy" and "Snowy Breasted Pearl," comprising the first, with "Kerry Dances" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in the second group. The group will also sing two of the great Notre Dame songs, "Irish Backs," and the "Victory March."

Musical background will be provided by Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra. The orchestra will play Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody" and will join Marshall and the Glee club in the finale. In it, Marshall and the club will sing "Where the River Shannon Flows," the orchestra will play a set of Irish dances, and the Glee club will bring the show to a conclusion with "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls."

NLRB Proposed Changes, Subject of Broadcast

Proposed changes in the national labor relations board will be discussed on the Northwestern university reviewing stand at 10:15 a. m. today over W-G-N and Mutual. Elmo P. Hohman, professor of economics, and Earl H. DeLong, professor of political science, will appear on the program.

NORTHERNERS PRESENT IRENE VERNER, NEW SOLOIST, TUESDAY

The Northerners introduce a new soprano soloist, Irene Verner, on their program which will be heard from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Tuesday on W-G-N.

Miss Verner will make her debut in "Norwegian Echo Song," by Thrane. Born in Minneapolis, Miss Verner received her first training from her mother, who was head of the voice department at Bethany college.

During high school she organized a trio of girl singers and joined Bernie Cummins' orchestra. During engagements with leading dance orchestras, Miss Verner turned from the popular dance style of music to the operetta and classical field—an experience which qualifies her to sing the semiclassical and ballad type of music offered by The Northerners.

In Tuesday night's program, the Northerners' octet will sing "Goodbye Jonah," "All Through the Night," "Ridin' High," and "Careless." The entire Northerners cast will join in singing selections from "Pinocchio."

CHICAGO PIANIST TO PLAY WITH N. Y. PHILHARMONIC

Rosalyn Tureck to Be Soloist Today.

Rosalyn Tureck, young concert pianist, and Simeon Bellison, first clarinetist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, will be soloists with the orchestra on its broadcast over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. John Barbirolli will conduct and Deems Taylor will be the commentator.

The program contains two novelties. First of these is Ruggero Vene's transcription of the Concerto in A minor by the 17th century Italian Vivaldi. Vene's arrangement is for chamber orchestra and is based on the organ transcription made by Bach.

The other is the work in which Bellison is to be heard, his own setting for clarinet and orchestra of the Mozart Concerto Rondo in D for piano and orchestra [K. 382]. Bellison has made similar arrangements from works by several older masters in an effort to enlarge the literature of the clarinet.

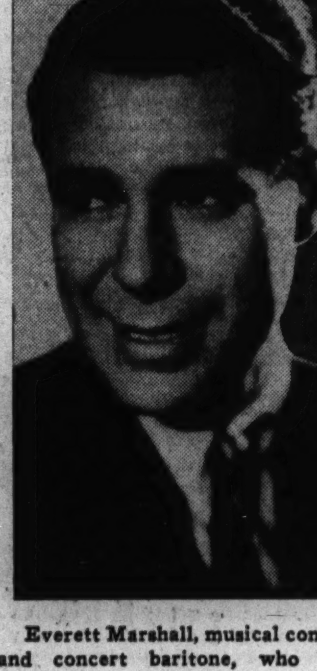
By contrast, Miss Tureck has chosen one of the great piano concerti, Beethoven's well known Fifth, or "Emperor," in E flat. A former Chicagoan she gave her first public concert at the age of 9. She studied at the Juilliard School of Music, where she now teaches, and made her New York debut in 1935.

The Overture from "L'Arlesienne" suite by Bizet closes Barbirolli's program.

Book a Week Broadcast.

"In the Steps of St. Francis," by Ernest Raymond, will be read by Margery Graham on the program, "Book-a-Week," from 3:45 to 4 p. m., tomorrow thru Friday, on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

On W-G-N



Everett Marshall, musical comedy and concert baritone, who will make a guest appearance on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 5 to 5:30 p. m. today.

Representatives of 3 Faiths on Chapel Program Today

A Protestant, a Catholic, and a Jew will discuss "The Common People Heard Him Gladly" in a University of Chicago chapel broadcast over W-G-N at 11 o'clock this morning. Participants will be Dr. Charles T. Holman of the divinity school of the university; Dr. John Mead, assistant superintendent of the department of labor in Illinois, and Dr. Jacob Singer, rabbi of Temple Mizpah.

KEMP, WILLIAMS, WELK JOIN MBS DANCE PARADE

Art Kassel Crew to Open on W-G-N April 2.

Three outstanding dance orchestras will join the W-G-N-Mutual network "Dance Parade" this week. They will be heard on nightly schedules from Chicago dancing places. They are orchestras directed by Hal Kemp, Griff Williams, and Lawrence Welk.

Kemp's orchestra opens on Thursday evening in the Empire room at the Palmer House.

Kemp first rode the air lanes to fame seven years ago over W-G-N on the original "Midnight Flyers" program, a guest night program from the Blackhawk restaurant.

With Kemp's orchestra are his great singing stars, Bob Allen, Janet Blair, and the vocal trio, the Smoothies.

Griff Williams' orchestra begins an engagement in the colorful Continental room at the Hotel Stevens next Saturday with his "Music That Sings as It Swings" orchestra. Williams' crew of entertainers is headed by personable Buddy Marino. Featured on the Williams programs are piano choruses by Griff himself.

Lawrence Welk brings his popular orchestra into the Trianon ballroom and to W-G-N-Mutual on Saturday. This is Welk's first long time engagement at the Trianon and will mark his first music over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network on a regular schedule.

On Tuesday, April 2, Art Kassel and his "Kassel's in the Air" orchestra and singers take over the bandstand at the Bismarck hotel and join the W-G-N-Mutual dance parade.

Continuing the dance cavalcade on Mutual's coast-to-coast "Show of the Week" during March will be the orchestras of Everett Hoagland and Jan Savitt. From 5:30 to 6 p. m. today Hoagland gets the spotlight. This west coast orchestra has won many followers because of their emphasis on music for dancing. On Easter Sunday Savitt will be heard.

CARTERS' SCRIPT HAS VITALITY, SAYS ACTRESS

Some script programs get a little boring after a while to the people who act in them. What these shows need is a new lease on life. One program that has continuous vitality is "The Carters of Elm Street," on which there is never a dull moment—not only for the members of the cast but, naturally, for the audience, too.

These are the views of Ginger Jones, who plays the ingénue rôle on the "Carters" program. The show is aired daily, Monday thru Fridays, from 11:45 a. m. to 12 p. m., over W-G-N and 84 other stations of the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system. This is the largest network hookup ever achieved for a daytime script show.

"The Carters" stars Virginia Payne and Vic Smith.

HERNE TO QUIZ COL. YASCHENKO ON NEWS HOUR

Capt. E. D. C. Herne, W-G-N news announcer, will interview Col. W. W. Yaschenko, Chicago restaurateur and one-time imperial Russian army officer, on the Herne news show from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. Thursday. On Tuesday Capt. Herne will interview Hugh Studebaker, outstanding character actors.

'L'Aiglon' to Be Great Play Production Today

The presentation of "L'Aiglon" as the great play dramatization at 1 p. m. today over WENR-NBC, will be at variance with theatrical tradition. Director James Church will cast a boy in the title rôle. The part was created by Sarah Bernhardt and has since been revived by numerous famous actresses.

Milwaukee Students on Music and Youth Hour

Students of Milwaukee schools will be featured in Music and American Youth at 10:30 a. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. The Washington High school orchestra, 85 strong, will play "Entrance March of Montezuma" from the opera, "Azora," and Bach's Air on the G String.

Easter Song

Evelyn Lynne, NBC contralto, as she appeared in a pre-Easter broadcast of the Breakfast club. Miss Lynne also sings on Club Matinee. She is a contralto.

FIND LISTENERS KNOW ONLY SOME OF CELEBRITIES

The American public knows its political leaders, its movie comedians and its radio singers, but it has something less than a nodding acquaintance with its scientists, its writers, and its artists.

That is the indication from responses of listeners to radio's newest game, "Play Broadcast." The game, broadcast each Monday from 7 to 7:30 over W-G-N and the Mutual network, asks listeners to identify leading personalities in all fields of American life.

Americans are the best informed people in the world, but a number have written the "Play Broadcast" sponsor expressing their own amazement at being unable to identify even prominent persons in the fields of science, literature, and art. In nearly every letter the same persons predict that they will be harder to trip up next time—that they have started a bit of self-education work between broadcasts. Sixteen "stumpers" are presented on each "Play Broadcast" program and listeners are given clews thru dramatizations, impersonations, sound effects, and music.

PALM SUNDAY IS THEME TODAY OF DE PAUL PROGRAM

"Meditation and Melody," aired by De Paul university in coöperation with the University Broadcasting council, will dedicate its program to Palm Sunday, from 2 to 2:30 p. m., today on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The Rev. Joseph Phoenix and the Rev. Frank Murphy will give readings on the topic of Palm Sunday.

Richard Czerwonky, violinist, and Sergei Tarnowsky, pianist, both members of the De Paul school of music faculty, will present two movements from Cesar Franck's Sonata in A major for piano and violin.

EASTER MUSIC TO BE AIRED ON W-G-N PROGRAMS

Baggiore, Love and Octet to Be Featured.

Sacred music dedicated to Easter will be broadcast on the programs, the Pageant of Melody and the Concert Revue, under the direction of Henry Weber, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday and from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. Thursday, respectively.

In the Pageant of Melody Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Mark Love, basso, and the octet will be featured. Four selections from Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" will be presented. Mr. Love will sing "The Saviour Low Before His Father Bending," "At Evening Hour of Calm Rest," and "And Now the Lord to Rest Is Laid," and the octet and string section doing "Thou with Hate Surrounded."

Baggiore will sing "The Holy City," by Adolphe Charles Adam, and will join the octet in Albert Malotte's arrangement of the Lord's Prayer. The orchestra will play the Russian Easter Overture, by Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Intermezzo," from Pietro Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Raphael Spiro, violinist, will be featured in the Concert Revue, directed by Mr. Weber.

Miss Witwer will sing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," by Richard Hageman; "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Anton Rubinstein, and "Church Scene," from Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Spiro will play the Gounod arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria."

The orchestra will play "Easter Chimes in Little Russia," by S. Votichenko, and "Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and, with the octet, will do "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach.

Chicago Baritone Sings on Opera Audition Hour

Emery Darcy, baritone of Chicago; Lydia Summers, Benton Harbor, Mich., contralto, and Gertrude Gibson, Hawthorne, N. Y., soprano, will compete in the second round of the finals of the Metropolitan opera auditions of the air at 4:30 p. m. today over the NBC-blue network.

Why Be Fat
Thousands of women have discovered way to lose excess weight—without following strict diet lists, or taking exercises or drugs.
If you want to take off ugly fat easily and pleasantly all you have to do is—First . . . eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating. Second . . mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Thus you reduce caloric intake considerably. But you do not suffer a hungry moment. There are no strict diet lists, strenuous exercises or taking drugs. Yet!—in a test conducted by Dr. Damrau of New York, with this method among a group of intelligent and coöperative people who followed directions implicitly, an average weight loss of seven pounds was registered per month. This remarkable method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men as it is for overweight women. There is only one thing to watch. Eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating; and be sure to use Welch's Grape Juice—always made from the pick of the grape crop; always full strength; always pure.
Irene Rich, lovely star of the screen and radio, now past 40, weighs the same as she did at 16. She recommends the easy Welch way to reduce.
Try This Amazing Welch's Tomato Juice
If you think all Tomato Juice is alike, try Welch's new, vitamin-rich Tomato Juice. It is so rich and thick you can add ⅓ water or ice and still have a most delicious Tomato Juice.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels, and Also Pepsin-ize Stomach!
When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

Florist Attacks Record in Springfield.

and insurance business; William F. Donahue, 14843 Main street, Harvey, an attorney, and Raymond W. Smith, 311 Wa-Pella, Mount Prospect.

Have Organization Aid.

Representatives Arthur W. Sprague of La Grange and Mrs. Bernice Van Der Vries of Winnetka have regular Republican organization support. They are opposed by Lester D. Wilcox, 427 South 22d avenue, Bellwood, editor of a suburban newspaper and police magistrate; William Kretschmar, 4007 North Olcott avenue, and Attorney Thomas Mathiesen, 1712 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge.

Sprague, a police magistrate who made a good record in his first term at Springfield, initiated the fight in the house which blocked and eventually killed a $100,000 appropriation sought by the late F. Lynden Smith, director of public works.

"I contend that 75 per cent of the ills of Illinois' state government can be cured by refusing to spend money wastefully," Sprague said. "That automatically takes care of the excess pay rollers and slush. But it is essential that we get a real, working Republican majority in the house."

Mrs. Van Der Vries has been almost too busy to campaign because she is chairman of the Illinois commission for intergovernmental coöperation—the only woman to hold such a position among 34 states having such commissions.

Assigned to the important task of removing trade barriers, her group has been meeting with the others here and in Buffalo in recent months.

In the 1939 session Mrs. Van Der Vries, a widowed home maker, sponsored bills for compulsory budgets by local governments and extending boundaries of the Chicago sanitary district. Of her the L. V. L. said recently: "Active, energetic, capable, well poised; good-voting record."

All of the incumbents supported the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill.

NINTH DISTRICT

The only chance of a serious fight against Representative William S. Finucane, 2912 South Loomis street, vanished when James L. Perry, 2622 West 35th place, died in the German Evangelical Deaconess hospital on March 8. Perry had expected to recover in time to carry on his charges of bipartisanship against Finucane.

TWENTY-THIRD DISTRICT

Two members of each party are to be nominated, so that the decisive battle goes over to the fall campaign. The district is made up of Oak Park, ward 31, and parts of wards 26, 30, 32, 36, and 37.

Daniel A. Roberts, 1451 North Avers avenue, Republican 31st ward committeeman, has the top spot on the ballot. Former Representative Roberts won this accolade from the L. V. L. in 1935: "He won recognition not usually accorded to a first term member by his level headedness and his effective work on the floor of the house and in committee."

Representative William G. Thon, 432 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park, has second position on the G. O. P. list. The L. V. L. said of him recently: "Active, able, earnest. Voting record good." He is tied with one other member for the honor of serving longer in the house than any other member from Cook county except Frank Ryan.

Thon is talking to the people in his district about reducing the sales tax and about parole reform legislation, which he supported.

The G. O. P. opposition includes John J. Maypole, 128 Washington boulevard, Oak Park; Nat F. Grusin, 425 South Maple avenue, Oak Park, and Frank C. Wilkinson, 5500 Walton street, an attorney who was nominated for state senator in 1938. Maypole is a nephew of State Senator George M. Maypole, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor. Grusin received 941 votes in the 1938 primary.

Aid for Incumbents.

A large field of candidates is a factor which will work in behalf of the two Democratic incumbents by dividing the independent voters. Representatives A. M. Kaindl, 2600 West Chicago avenue, and Stanley A. Halick, 1216 North Maplewood avenue, have the approval of the regular party organization.

Kaindl has a good voting record at Springfield and showed independence, according to the L. V. L. report. He aided the cause of parole reform. On the other hand, Halick's "voting record is hopelessly muddled by neglect to vote on a host of important measures," the L. V. L. stated. He failed to support parole reform, and won organization endorsement only by a narrow margin.

Regarded as the leading challenger is Peter J. Sklodowski, 1017 North Campbell avenue, because he rolled up 15,076 votes in the 1938 primary. The most aggressive Democratic candidate is Chester J. Trawinski, 24 years old, 2428 Walton street, editor of "Kometa"; one of his planks calls for licensing handbooks and other forms of gambling.

In Lead for Assembly

Daniel A. Roberts [R.], 23d Dist. William G. Thon [R.] Incumbent, 23d Dist. A. L. Auth [D.], 21st District. John C. Kuklinski [D.], Incumbent, 21st District.

Bernice Van Der Vries [R.], Incumbent, 7th Dist. Arthur M. Kaindl [D.] Incumbent, 23d Dist. Arthur W. Sprague [R.], Incumbent, 7th District. Emmett McGrath [D.] Incumbent, 7th Dist.

These eight candidates are leaders in the primary campaigns being conducted for seats in the Illinois house of representatives from the 7th, 21st, and 23d senatorial districts. All have support of regular party organizations and highly valued first or second places on the ballot for this office.

U. OF C. DEGREES GIVEN TO WEST SIDE STUDENTS

Degrees were conferred by President Robert Maynard Hutchins on 181 candidates at the 199th convocation of the University of Chicago last Friday in Rockefeller Memorial chapel. The subject of an address by William F. Ogburn, chairman of the department of sociology, was "Four Problems Ahead."

Approximately two-thirds of the candidates received advanced degrees at this, the third convocation of the year. There have been 1,852 awarded this school term. Among the graduates was Piara Singh Gill, a native of Punjab, India, who worked with Dr. Arthur Holly Compton, Nobel prize winner, in cosmic ray experiments.

West side students awarded degrees are as follows:

Doctor of philosophy—Ann Louise Perkins, Riverside. Masters—Jane Armour, Oak Park, Mary Elizabeth Doonan, La Grange; Julius Elliott Eltington, 3246 Haddon avenue; Margaret E. Fox, Oak Park, and Margery Ruth Spelman, Berwyn.

Bachelors—William Holmes Bond, Oak Park; Tamaara Danish, 1636 South Trumbull avenue; Seymour Katcoff, 3859 Wilcox street; Kordyan Lewandowski, 1451 North Bell avenue; and Naomi G. Waxman, 3418 Monroe street.

Garfield Park Business Men to Hold Round Table

A round table talk entitled "We, the Members, Speak," which will be a description of civic, business, and local improvements, will be presented by the Garfield Park Business Men's association tomorrow at the luncheon meeting in the Red room of the Hotel Guyon. Each speaker will be given two minutes by Carl Stockholm, association president. The idea of the meeting is to give every member a chance to air complaints and opinions.

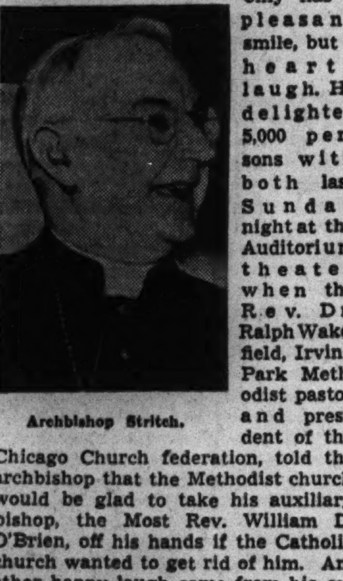
News and Queries Within and Without the Church —A Religious Voice of the People— Edited by the Rev. John Evans

Chicago's new Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, not only has a pleasant smile, but a hearty laugh. He delighted 5,000 persons with both last Sunday night at the Auditorium theater when the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield, Irving Park Methodist pastor and president of the Chicago Church federation, told the archbishop that the Methodist church would be glad to take his auxiliary bishop, the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, off his hands if the Catholic church wanted to get rid of him. Another happy laugh came from his excellency, as well as from the throng, when Dr. Wakefield said: "We Irish will run the world yet. I heartily approve the recent suggestion that the United States trade the Philippines for Ireland so we can raise our own policemen."



Archbishop Stritch.

There's no doubt about it but that your pastor's advice about that proposed trip over the Easter holidays is right. You should be in your own church on that day, of all days, just as he urges.

But, if you are among the 200,000 or 300,000 restless Chicago souls who—weatherman permitting—will take off over next week-end in the good old jalopy, the Chicago Motor club has taken the trouble to tell you where you can find sunrise Easter services all over the country.

[Be warned in advance, however, that Bert Vanderwarf, the club's tour manager, predicts heavy traffic movements on all highways, and that at least 75,000 automobile loads of Easter tripsters will leave Chicago, to say nothing of increased localized traffic everywhere.]

The club's list of sunrise services begins with the great service in Soldiers' field at 6:30 o'clock, where 50,000 worshippers are expected. Dr. John Zoller of Detroit will be the preacher, and Chief Whitefeather, descendent of Siting Bull, Sioux chieftain, will sing. Glancing down the long list of other services, we see that the famous Catholic shrine at Holy Hill, Wis., will hold Easter masses at 6, 7, 8:30, and 10 o'clock.

It's a little far away, but if California is on your Easter travel itinerary, the motor club shows that folks out there go for the sunrise service in a big way. There are Hollywood bowl, Forest Lawn park at Glendale, Death Valley, La Jolla, Palm Springs, San Francisco, San Diego—but why go on? Looks like you couldn't miss one anywhere out there.

BOARD RULINGS CLEAR WAY FOR COMMITTEEMEN

Survivors in Wards Now in Last Stretch.

Candidates for the important party posts of ward committeeman in west side wards will this week start down their last mile preceding the April primary. Thursday night the board of election commissioners ruled on objections which had been filed against petitions of the various candidates, and with few exceptions put the stamp of approval on the aspirants.

"It looks now like a free-for-all fight for committeeman posts in the Republican party," one board official commented after the rulings had been made public. In many west side wards the Democratic incumbents are without opposition.

There were originally 19 objections filed against petitions of west side candidates. Five of those were on the Democratic side. The board ruled one objection valid, which disqualified the candidate, Frank R. Burke, in the 36th ward, and ruled two others invalid. Two candidates against whom objections had been filed withdrew from the contest.

One Is Disqualified.

In the Republican fights one candidate was disqualified, five objections were held invalid, seven objectors withdrew their charges, and one candidate withdrew.

In most instances objections filed against committeemen petitions included charges that signers of the petition were members of the opposing political party, did not live in the ward, or the address given, or in some instances that signatures were forged. The charges were investigated by the board.

On the Democratic side, John J. Broderick, candidate for 27th ward committeeman opposing the incumbent, John J. Touhy, withdrew after objections had been filed against his petition.

In the 36th ward objections had been filed against four of the five Democrats. It is there that George Robinson, former alderman and regular organization candidate for committeeman is opposed by Ald. Richard Walsh.

Others on List.

Other candidates were Michael R. Barrett, Frank R. Burke, and John Martin Walsh. Robinson was the only candidate with no objectors. The board dropped Burke from the ballot and ruled out the objections which had been made against the Richard Walsh and Barrett petitions. John Walsh withdrew his name.

On the Republican side objections filed against the incumbent 22d ward committeeman, Anthony L. Golusinski were ruled out. In the 28th ward the same ruling was made as to objections filed against both candidates, Joseph A. Porcaro, the present committeeman, and his opponent, Raymond T. Saxon.

The 29th ward has four candidates for Republican committeeman, and objections were filed against every one. Following a hearing before the election board, all objections were withdrawn.

Sowa Is Ousted.

In the 30th ward the board disqualified Edward V. Sowa as a candidate when it held objections against his petition valid. Arthur W. Taylor, another candidate, withdrew after objections had been filed against him. Edward F. Moore, the present committeeman, is now unopposed for reelection.

Objections were lodged against all four aspirants for Republican committeeman in the 36th ward. Later they were withdrawn as to two candidates, Eden T. Brekke and Joseph F. Gubbins, and the board ruled the objections against James J. Christopher and Arthur M. Romme were invalid, thereby placing the four names on the ballot.

Study Gettysburg Terrain

It's an old army game—fighting a battle over and over long after the last gun has been silenced. Here Harrison High school R. O. T. C. cadets study the contours of Wolf hill, where hundreds of Union and confederate soldiers lost their lives in the battle of Gettysburg. Maj. Leonard Szuk explains the strategy to First Lieutenant John Finnegan (left) and Capt. Richard Sexauer.

AMERICAN LEGION POST SPONSORS AUSTIN R. O. T. C.

Tuesday Night Meeting to Arrange Plans.

Sponsorship of the Austin High school Reserve Officers' Training corps has been accepted by Melin-Romer post of the American Legion and details of a future program will be effected Tuesday night at La Follette park fieldhouse.

Possibilities of the sponsorship have been discussed at conferences between Hobart J. Sommers, principal of the school; Capt. Orra Mac Jenks, commandant of the R. O. T. C. unit; Harry Harmon, commander of the post, and Francis O. Scully, chairman of the state child welfare committee and commander of the west side Sea Scouts.

The activity will add to the scope of the post's community youth program, which includes the sponsorship of two Boy Scout troops, Cub Scouts, Sea Scout troops, a drum and bugle corps, Scout drill team, Sons of the American Legion, and the annual swimming meet of the Chicago park district.

A ceremonial program sponsored by Illinois Sons of the American Legion, Advertising Men's post, and Aviation post will be held tomorrow at the two posts' weekly luncheon at the Hotel Sherman under the direction of Joseph R. Dorfman, Illinois S. A. L. detachment commander.

Program plans call for honoring 17 members of the American Legion by the Sons of the American Legion for services either in the public relations or aviation phases of work sponsored by the S. A. L. Arrangements are being made by A. W. Calderwood, S. A. L.; Lewis A. Tentler, Advertising Men's post, and Paul F. Dry, Aviation post.

Invited guests include W. S. Bishop, A. W. Calderwood, James E. Cogan, Russell V. Hamm, Col. Frank M. Kennedy, Col. Frank Knox, Capt. B. B. Lipsner, Jack Little, Col. Robert R. McCormick, Julius Myerson, Gene Morgan, John R. Robinson, Maurice Roddy, A. L. [Tod] Sloan, Oney Fred Sweet, Col. Roscoe Turner, and William Westlake.

ONCE WAS A LATHER; TODAY HE'S PRIEST CELEBRATING MASS

Member 34,679 of local 14, the Lathers union, will be the priest celebrating the mass at 11 o'clock this morning in the Mission of Our Lady of Mercy, 1140 West Jackson boulevard. In the congregation will be representatives of various branches of the Chicago Building Trades council commemorating their deceased members.

The Rev. Joseph Donahue.
[Sid Whitnig Photo.]

Eight years ago member 34,679 laid down his tools and started to study for the Roman Catholic priesthood. For seven years he had been a journeyman in the Chicago Building Trades council. Then on Aug. 21, 1932, he entered the Viatorian novitiate at Lemont, Ill. In 1933 he made his first vows and continued his studies at St. Viator college, Loyola university, and Kenrick seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Donahue became the Rev. Joseph Donahue when he was ordained March 9 by the Most Rev. James A. Griffin, bishop of Springfield, Ill. The union men will receive holy communion from the hands of their one time fellow worker at the mass today.

WOMEN TO STUDY BALLOT AND JURY WORK AT FORUM

Clubs Sponsor Oak Park School Wednesday.

Women who have served on juries in Illinois will tell other women how it is done when members of all civic and citizenship departments from Oak Park and River Forest clubs hold a public forum Wednesday. This semi-annual citizenship school, which also will include instructions in election procedure, will begin at 10:30 o'clock in the morning in the 19th Century clubhouse, Oak Park.

Mrs. Roy Barr.
[Moffett photo.]

After the descriptions of jury service, the Oak Park League of Women Voters will serve luncheon. In the afternoon Mrs. Egbert Jacobson of the Hyde Park League of Women Voters will lecture on "Behind the Ballot." She will tell the history of political parties, will name legal restrictions and legal procedure in naming candidates for office and will show the importance of the vote in the party primary.

Make No Indorsements.

All discussions will be based on a nonpartisan attitude and no candidates will be indorsed by the clubs. Mrs. Roy Barr is program chairman of the forum.

Women who will tell their jury experiences are Mrs. William M. Bryant, president of Cook County League of Women Voters; Mrs. C. T. Robertson, past president of the league; Mrs. James L. Fyfe, Mrs. Walter Eissler, Mrs. E. R. Carter, Mrs. Harry Hobbins, and Mrs. W. W. Morgan. More than 100 women are expected to attend the school on juries and the ballot.

Coöperating clubs and their representatives are: American Association of University Women, Mrs. Lee Kraft; League of Women Voters, Mrs. Barr; 19th Century Woman's club, Mrs. Harry Hobbins; North Oak Park Woman's club, Mrs. F. D. Fager; River Forest Woman's club, Mrs. K. C. Richmond; Neighborhood Civic club, Mrs. H. E. Rahn; Longfellow Woman's club, Mrs. J. W. Hoyt. Mrs. Charles E. Jenkins is chairman of the forum.

Members of Committees.

Assisting Mrs. Barr on the program committee are Mrs. Lee Holt, Mrs. Lee Krafft and Mrs. F. L. Bradfute. Members of the arrangements committee are Mrs. F. D. Bacon, chairman; Mrs. G. W. White and Mrs. D. H. Johnson. Mrs. Harry Krauth is chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Paul C. Cooke is press chairman. In charge of promotion are Mrs. K. C. Richmond, chairman; Mrs. H. E. Fager, and Mrs. Harry Hobbins.

RIVER FOREST GUILD COMPLETES PROGRAM FOR PARTY MARCH 27

Plans for an evening card party have been completed by the St. Luke guild of River Forest for Wednesday, March 27, in the 19th Century clubhouse, 178 Forest avenue, Oak Park. Mrs. D. H. Shield is chairman of the party and Mrs. J. Emmett Dwyer is president of the guild. Members of the committee are Mrs. William Hardy, Mrs. Hugh Armstrong, Mrs. J. P. Price, Mrs. E. J. Halligan, Mrs. M. P. Beaudein, Mrs. W. J. O'Neill, Mrs. William Hern, Mrs. Frank Cheske, Mrs. Homer Buckley, and Mrs. J. D. A. Cross. There will be table and door prizes.

WILMETTE HOME GIVEN NEW LIFE IN REMODELING

Wide Shingles Supplant Old Rough Siding.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

It seems that almost any house, of any size or shape, can take a refreshing drink at the fountain of youth if it is only led up to that fountain by expert architectural guidance.

An instance of this is the residence of Frank G. Watson, 1341 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

The architects, Chatten and Jacobson, 127 North Dearborn street, Chicago, remodeled this house in a number of ways for improvement of its exterior appearance, with no serious structural changes. Indeed, the remodeling of the house resulted in an increase in house value far in excess of alteration costs.

The architects found a house which had a roof with an exceedingly heavy overhang and an oversize attic dormer window, not required for attic lighting. And both roof and dormer were out of proportion to the size of the house.

Rough Siding Replaced.

The roof was simplified and dormer removed, thus giving the effect of greater width to the residence. And the former bay window on the second floor was developed to become a special feature of the exterior and of the large front bedroom.

Then, too, the siding on the exterior walls, which was of rough, sawed boards, had proved an unsatisfactory surface for painting and had given evidence of collecting dust and dirt too rapidly for its own good or for the comfort of the owners. This rough siding was replaced with wide shingles, which were coated with a special mixture of white paint to give a weathered effect in contrast with the painted white trim. New entrance steps of handsome stone of selected colors and a wrought iron railing added to the attractiveness of the entrance.

Siding for Simple Lines.

This spring and summer will see many improvements made on home exteriors, and for those who are interested in "doing things" for their frame houses, or in building a new frame house, it is interesting to note that exterior siding is available in numerous sizes and pleasing patterns.

There is a friendly quality in wood siding. It is a warm, attractive material, with the beauty of simple lines and solid colors, and this modern siding is offered to the home owner thoroly seasoned, properly graded, and carefully machined.

Emphasis on wall "textures" is important in home architecture, and these are possibilities for these textures thru the various patterns in wood siding and its different methods of application.

If you wish you can employ such long used types as drop siding and narrow bevel siding. You can also avail yourself of several types of vertical wood siding, as well as different rustic and wide bevel sidings. And you can combine various types of siding with shakes, shingles, and even with rough stonework to obtain interesting effects.

Almost Like Clapboards.

Bevel siding today is in different widths and is closely similar to the clapboards of nearly 300 years ago; drop siding, usually thicker than bevel siding, makes a strong, durable wall, and flush siding, which offers a flat surface, offers a contrasting accent to patterned walls.

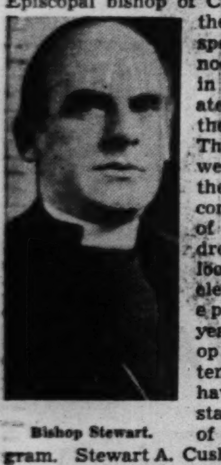
Cottage types of architecture are bringing into wider use the vertical siding, and many interesting effects are possible with its use. Likewise, there are unusual sidings to give a small rustic atmosphere, while shakes, with thick butts, make possible widely spaced, heavy, horizontal shadow lines, without the ordinary texture between.

Seasoning Is Important.

With all that is known now in regard to the protection of wood from deterioration, there is no reason to let your wood walls fall victim to decay or the ravages of weather.

Proper construction of a wood house is vitally important. Use of well seasoned lumber is equally worthwhile. Proper height of foundation means that the home is carried well above the ground, and if care has been taken that the water does not run into the walls, but off of them, there will never be decay trouble.

BISHOP WILL CLOSE EPISCOPAL LENTEN SERVICES IN LOOP



Bishop Stewart.

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, will be the Holy week speaker at the noonday services in the Harris theater, sponsored by the Church club. The series this week will mark the close of 44 consecutive years of Lenten addresses in the loop. Since his elevation to the episcopate 10 years ago, Bishop Stewart's Lenten addresses have been an outstanding feature of the annual program. Stewart A. Cushman has been chairman of the committee in charge of the 1940 season.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, March 18.

Annual flowering plants are unexcelled for the person who rents his home does not care to buy permanent plants. They may be used for colorful, mass planting, as cut flowers, to fill in bare spaces among the shrubs, and in window boxes. Certain kinds are used as climbers. Some annuals should be started early indoors. March is an excellent time to start these plants; soil can be obtained from the greenhouse man. Soil need not be rich, but it should be rather loose, a mixture of loam, sand, and leafmold or peat. Do not sow thick. This invariably causes trouble and loss of many plants. It is wise to prepare the soil, giving suitable drainage by covering the holes in the bottom of the flat or box, and water well before sowing. Allow time for full drainage. The soil should moist but not wet. Most annuals are easily transplanted, but the heliotrope, sweet sultan, nigella and poppylike kinds are not. Some seeds like the portulaca and petunia are so small they should be pressed into the soil, not covered with it.

Tuesday, March 19.

Some annuals will not stand frost after germinating. Among these are the amaranth, celosia, nemesia, torenia and gourds. The sensitive plant is so very interesting a small lot should be sown. It may be listed under the botanical name, Mimosa pudica. The children will get a thrill from touching the leaves and watching them close. Thin seedlings before they get too large; some should have from 18 to 24 inches of space between them; the dwarf kinds will take no more than 6 inches. Edge a bed of cannas with fountain grass. Grow a little cloud grass for use in bouquets. The annual baby's breath is useful with sweet peas in bouquets. California poppies and pot marigold look well together; also snapdragons and dusty miller. Solid beds of verbenas are very fine. Combinations must be carefully arranged for color effect.

Wednesday, March 20.

Lobelia and verbena seeds should be sown now for they require a long season. Just as soon as ground is suitable and the trash is removed from the perennials, spray around the peonies, delphiniums, and many other kinds with Bordeaux mixture to aid in the control of fungous diseases. Many perennials can be divided and transplanted. If the plants are doing well do not disturb them. Some trees do best when spring planted. Examples are magnolias, beech, ornamental cherries and crabs, and flowering dogwood. A magnolia stellata will look well in the back yard borders. Roll the lawn with a heavy roller to even the surface and sow a bit of grass seed on bare spots.

Thursday, March 21.

Do not neglect to give the lawn a feeding with a complete, high grade plant food. Do this early to stimulate the grass and start it into vigorous growth before hot weather. The perennial and shrub borders will be much benefited by application of the same material. Remove all water sprouts that appear after pruning fruit trees. As soon as the nursery stock arrives heel it in the garden and, when the ground is ready, plant carefully. Never hurry with planting. Dig the holes large enough to easily accommodate the roots, and fill in with good soil.

Friday, March 22.

Sow sweet peas as early as possible for they delight in cool conditions. Here are a few carpeting plants that do well in the rockery: Alyssum saxatile compactum, Arabis, Aubrietia, Cerastium, Dianthus, deltoides, Coronilla varia, perennial candytuft, toad flax, and creeping phlox. Try a few of the interesting edelweiss in a sheltered place among the rocks. Formerly, many gardeners planted a few herbs. Many of these can be sown in spring, such as Angelica, which is cooked and the seeds used in flavoring; balm, used as a decoccoction in fevers; sweet and bush basil, used in flavoring; borage, used for flavoring beverages; chervils, used for salads; fennel, used in sauces; lavender, for making lavender water, and sage, sweet marjoram, summer and winter savory, and thyme for flavoring. Buy roots of mint, thyme, and tarragon.

Saturday, March 23.

The Easter and spring flower show at Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories opens today. Hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. It is free. See that all plants are labelled. Record the name, date of planting, and any other useful information. A garden record book is so valuable that every gardener should keep one. The experiences recorded will be of real worth from year to year. House plants can be transplanted now, but do not overpot. Use good soil. Do not overwater.

INDEPENDENTS PUSH WAR IN 11TH

DRAMA OF PALM SUNDAY TO OPEN HOLY WEEK RITES

Churches to Recall Triumph Today.

The world's immortal drama, now almost 2,000 years old, will be told in penitence and prayer by the Christian people thru the southwest side this week. The historic days which opened so long ago with a triumphal march into Jerusalem will be relived beginning today with Palm Sunday.

Classic music in the mood of suffering and sorrow will be chanted by thousands of choir voices. Sermons, oratorios, hymns, and children's songs will repeat, as has been done thru the years, those things that came to pass in the garden of Gethsemane, the streets of Jerusalem, the court of Pontius Pilate and Golgotha.

Baptisms and Pageants.

Every denomination will give its interpretation of the Holy week. Children will be baptized, young people confirmed into church membership. There will be reunions, musicals, elaborate pageants and simple sermons at unadorned altars. The masses of Roman Catholic churches will be in remembrance of the Passion hours. Protestant churches will follow their special rituals for Palm Sunday, lenten and Easter dawn services.

Beginning with the holy eucharist at 7:30 o'clock this morning, St. Bartholomew Episcopal church, Stewart avenue and Norman Parkway, will observe Palm Sunday. At 9:30 o'clock choral matins will be sung and the solemn choral eucharist and sermon by the Rev. M. Young, rector, will be at 11 o'clock. A choral evensong will be at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

There will be a holy eucharist and an evensong at St. Bartholomew's tomorrow, Tuesday, Wednesday and Maundy Thursday. Also on Thursday the day of perpetual intercession and prayer, there will be a meditation at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and an 8 o'clock evening service of adoration. The Good Friday services will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue thru the day with an afternoon service lasting three hours.

Confirmation This Evening.

There will be two Palm Sunday services at 7:30 and 11 o'clock this morning in the Episcopal Church of the Meditator, 10th street and Hoyne avenue. The Rev. S. C. Story is pastor. He will confirm young people at 7:30 o'clock this evening. There will be a Good Friday service from noon until 3 o'clock and at 8 o'clock the choirs will present "The Darkest Hour" cantata.

Good Shepherd Episcopal, 24th street and Lawndale avenue, will have an 8 o'clock holy communion service this morning. The blessing of the Palms, holy eucharist and sermon by the Rev. John Elliott Kuhns will be at 11 o'clock this morning. The Good Friday liturgy is scheduled for 9 o'clock in the morning and the stations of the cross will be repeated at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Palms will be distributed at 7:45 o'clock and 11 o'clock this morning in the Church of the Annunciation, 7816 Lowe avenue. Bishop George Craig Stewart will administer communion at 11 o'clock assisted by the rector, the Rev. Hugh M. MacWhorter. There will be Holy week services at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday and Thursday morning and a three hour Good Friday service beginning at noon.

Morgan Park Union Service.

Faure's anthem "The Palms" will be sung as the feature at the 11 o'clock morning worship service today at the Morgan Park Congregational church, 112th street and Hoyne avenue. Lynn Sackett will sing a solo "Open the Gates of the Temple." The sermon "Wanted—a Verdict" will be preached by the Rev. Hugh S. MacKenzie, pastor.

For the last five years Morgan Park churches have united on Thursday evening of Holy week for a communion service. This year the service will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the Morgan Park Christian church, Prospect and Homewood avenues. Participating churches will be the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregational and Christian.

Three worship programs today in the Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 6359 South Marshfield avenue, will commemorate Palm Sunday. At 9:30 o'clock this morning the Wilson memorial plaque, containing 42 names of former members will be dedicated. At 11 o'clock there will be a second service with a sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Clinton C. Cox. At 8 o'clock this evening the choir of 75 voices will sing Manning's "Eastertide." Communion services will be held at 3:30 o'clock, 7 o'clock, and 9 o'clock Good Friday afternoon and evening.

Oratorio on Good Friday.

The five choirs of the Englewood Presbyterian church, Yale avenue and 64th street, will sing Parker's "Jerusalem" at the 11 o'clock service this morning. They will be directed by Miss Alice McGregor. At 7:45 o'clock this evening the choirs will have Vernon Delaney as soloist in a presentation of Palm Sunday music. At 8 o'clock Good Friday evening the

8,929 Youths Get Jobs Thru School Bureau

BY PAUL HEALY.

Chicago high school graduates no longer will be likely to look past graduation to a period of bewildering idleness. Out of 17,558 who sought jobs during the last six months of last year, 8,929 were placed.

The reason why 50 per cent of this group was successful is that it applied to a coöperative placement service introduced in April by Superintendent William H. Johnson. The service is a joint arrangement between the Illinois State Employment bureau and the Chicago board of education for the purpose of "intelligently placing young people from high schools and colleges."

The plan is this: the state service finds the jobs thru its scouts and the schools and the board find the student who is qualified and who wants the job. Each of the 37 city schools and Wright Junior college participate in the program, one faculty member in each school suited for personnel work being appointed placement director.

All Are Classified.

One of the duties of the counselor is interviewing all prospective graduates and students who plan to drop out of school in order to classify him physically and psychologically.

Schools in the south and southwest area were most successful in finding jobs thru the plan, according to statistics covering July 1 to Dec. 31, inclusive. In 13 high schools 2,170 applied and 1,690 were placed for an average of more than three out of four. The schools are Tilden, Kelly, Phillips, DuSable, Lindblom, Harper, Hyde Park, Parker, Hirsch, Calumet, Bowen, Morgan Park, and Fenger.

With more than eight months' experience, J. L. Loerb, who has been appointed director of educational research, predicts there will be more applications and more jobs obtained this year by the service. Explanation of the plan by counselors and interviewing prospective job holders is going on continually in the schools, he pointed out.

Where They Found Jobs.

The 8,929 Chicago students who found positions last year thru the program became factory workers, craftsmen, office clerks, sales people, waitresses, and dishwashers, with a few entering the professions. Sixteen per cent became factory workers, doing semi-skilled labor, bench work, and manning machines. Thirteen and a half per cent gained employment in offices, doing clerical, stenographic and other work demanding knowledge of school commercial subjects.

The third highest percentage—1,426—became service workers in hotels and restaurants. Six per cent went into unskilled labor, 4 per cent became salesmen, and 1.98 per cent received jobs in various crafts, one half of 1 per cent became professional workers, one quarter of 1 per cent were in the miscellaneous classification.

Mrs. Olivia Allen is in charge of the downtown bureau of the service located in the board of education headquarters, 228 North La Salle street. As in each school bureau, the downtown office is equipped with all types of occupational information and significant employment trends for use by the counselor in advising his students and alumni.

Serve as Counselors.

Counselors serving in south and southwest side schools are Eli J. Goldberg, Bowen; James L. Churchill, Calumet; Mary R. Smith, DuSable; Inez E. Ostberg, Englewood; William C. Reich, Fenger; John J. Egan, Harper; Susanne Fisher, Hirsch; Glenn M. Fisher, Hyde Park; Vincent P. Maier, Kelly; Lillian Condit, Morgan Park; John McMahon, Parker; Victor Lewis, Phillips, and Hance Williamson, Tilden..

The Illinois Placement service helps conduct school conferences of vocational nature, has a testing service providing for classification of beginning typists and stenographers, reviews job orders for junior workers to discover requirements peculiar to juniors, and continues the research aspects of placement work.

The plan was founded in the spring of 1938 when Superintendent Johnson called a meeting of representatives of the schools and from the state department of labor to discuss the placement problem as it applied to junior workers. The complete plan later was tried out experimentally in five schools. Already figures at the board office include 35,000 classifications and 10,000 placements of junior workers.

ST. RITA SCHOOL ALUMNI NAME OFFICIAL STAFF

Officers were elected recently at a meeting of the St. Rita High School Alumni association held in the clubrooms, 63d street at Oakley avenue. Dr. James J. Gardner was chosen president and will be assisted by Jerry Gaffney, first vice president; Walter Nugent, second vice president; John J. Donovan, secretary; Ray Hunt, treasurer; Frank Gutrich, sergeant at arms, and Harold Switt, student secretary. Members of the board are John McVady, Joseph Payton, Earl Evans, Edward Murney, Patrick A. Barton, and Edwin Johnson.

Ridge Art Association Plans Musical March 31

An informal reception and musical will be held by the Ridge Art association Sunday afternoon, March 31, in the studios of the Beverly Hills extension of the Chicago Conservatory of music, 1765 Monterey avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Stroup will preside.

Toes Will Twinkle in Jigs

44 SOUTH AREA WOMEN RECEIVE RED CROSS PINS

Awards for Service to War Victims.

Forty-four of the 76 Chicago women who were awarded Red Cross Service pins last week are from the south area, according to James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross. The pins are awarded to service volunteers who have given 144 hours of service.

Twenty-one additional cases of garments and surgical dressings produced by women in the city and suburbs were shipped to Europe recently. The war relief shipments included 6,143 garments and 2,123 dressings consigned to Finland and Poland. In the latter country they will be distributed to Polish war victims under the supervision of Red Cross representatives.

Aid Disaster Victims.

In addition to war relief supplies, volunteers are producing thousands of garments for disaster victims in this country and over a million surgical dressings annually for local hospitals and welfare organizations.

Award winners in the south area are Mrs. Elizabeth Czabrowski, Mrs. C. D. Hill, Mrs. Rose Czapelska, Mrs. Carolina Czarnecka, Mrs. Helen Frankowska, Mrs. Kate Kapanowska, Mrs. Aniela Kuca, Mrs. Paulina Marciniak, Mrs. Victoria Matuszewska, Mrs. Tekla Molenda, Mrs. Sophie Opczynska, Mrs. Helen Schmidt, Mrs. Mary Twarowska, Mrs. Julia Zelmanska, Mrs. Mary Zeszuto, Mrs. Stefni Zielazniewicz, Mrs. Bertha Zurawska.

MOTOR COUNCIL URGES TRAFFIC SAFETY CHANGES

Recommendation was made last week to the South Area council of the Chicago Motor club that 87th street near the Belt railway subway be improved with the installation of modern traffic safety lights, the erection of a fence indicating the curve in the road east of Eggleston avenue, and the paving of the center strip now occupied by street car tracks.

George Barton, chief engineer of the motor club safety and traffic engineering department, who made the recommendation, reported that two fatal accidents occurred in the vicinity at night and urges that modern traffic lights be installed along 87th street from a point 200 feet east of the Belt railway subway to a point 200 feet west of Eggleston avenue.

The safety hazard is the curve in the 87th street pavement from the Western Indiana tracks west. Even when lighted, the curve is not distinguishable by cars going east and west. A fence between the street car tracks extending from the east line of Eggleston avenue to the Western Indiana subway would solve the problem, according to Mr. Barton.

Corned Beef and Cabbage Dinner Planned by Church

All Saints' church will hold a corned beef and cabbage dinner from 1 to 7 o'clock this afternoon and evening in the school hall, 25th place and Wallace street. Dinner will be served by the St. Anne's Mothers' club.

BOXING TOURNEY IS SCHEDULED BY LITHUANIANS

The first Lithuanian amateur boxing tournament will be held April 3 and 5 in the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Forty Lithuanian-American boxers from all parts of the city have registered for the contest.

Trophies will be presented to the winners and runners-up on the night of the championship fights. They have been donated by Anthony Petkus and William A. Lewis. Boxers interested in the tournament may contact Jack Juozaitis, 6825 South Western avenue.

Members on the committee are Jack Sharkey, former world's heavyweight champion, honorary chairman; Jack Juozaitis, director, and Charles Shedwell, matchmaker. They are assisted by Anthony Susnis, Edward Martinaitis, Frank Alberts, Vincent Satkoff, Frank Alis, Dr. John Poska, Dr. Peter Beinar, Dr. Stanley Palutsis, Dr. Victor Nares, and Dr. Walter Eisen.

FIRING STARTS IN BATTLE FOR DELEGATE JOBS

Six Districts Have Fifty Candidates.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The first sparks in the campaigns of some 50 candidates for delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions and an additional 32 candidates as alternates in six congressional districts on the south and southwest sides were struck last week. Considerable heat, indicative of the interest in these coveted posts, already has been generated.

As always the election—not the nomination—of delegates and alternates for both parties in the April primary is involved in the broader and more complex gubernatorial campaign. Particularly is this true among Republican candidates who can be expected, on the basis of early evidence, to wage an exciting and lively battle among themselves.

Both the Green and the Brooks-Lyons camps are bargaining in virtually every district in connection with the delegates and alternates in efforts to increase their own strength. Additional interest is being drawn this year as a result of the controversy over the efforts of Hill Blackett, Chicago advertising executive, to retain the Republican national committeemanship to which he was named last June by the state central committee.

Successor to Harding.

Blackett was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the death of George F. Harding. He is said to have considerable organization strength at this time but his closest advisers admitted last week there also is strong opposition to him. Blackett will serve thru the 1940 convention but his retention of the job depends upon his personal strength among the new delegates. Those chosen in April will elect the national committeeman for the four years following the 1940 convention.

The primary duties of delegates—and of alternates who serve only if one or both of the delegates is unable to act thru illness or death—is the choosing of a presidential candidate at the national convention. The delegates also take part in all the work of the convention, particularly in the drafting of a national party platform.

The delegates draw up state platforms, determine which of their members shall be members of the various convention committees, and usually elect a delegation secretary and often a treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms. They have one other important duty, that of choosing the delegates-at-large at a state caucus to be held prior to the national convention.

50 Delegates Elected.

At both the Democratic and Republican conventions Illinois is given a total of 58 votes—based on population. In the state two delegates and two alternates for each party are chosen from each of the 25 congressional districts. The 50 elected delegates then have the privilege of choosing the remaining eight delegates-at-large from anywhere within the state.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

WILLIAM TABBERT of 2927 East 78th place, a Hirsch High school student, will begin rehearsals with the Chicago City Opera company soon. William was one of 400 aspiring singers who auditioned recently and one of the 75 who were selected to form the chorus for a production in the autumn. A participant in The Tribune's Chicagoland Music Festival for the last three years, he is astonishing in his versatility, since he sings a good tenor and a good bass, as well as an excellent baritone.

William Tabbert.
[Beecher Photo.]

Student director of Hirsch's thrice city champion chorus, William will be heard at a benefit tea Tuesday afternoon in the school. The proceeds from the tea will go toward sending the chorus to Springfield for a choral conference and contest in which high school groups from four states will participate. Only choruses with "S" ratings are eligible to make the trip. William studied with Charles Keep for two years and last month was awarded a scholarship for daily lessons with Miss Anna Fitzhu, former Metropolitan and City Opera singer. His instructor at Hirsch is Mrs. Helen Kane, 6530 Drexel boulevard.

THE youngest president in the history of the Private Schools association of the central states is Hugh G. Price, principal of Morgan Park Military academy, who was elected to the post at the annual meeting recently. Mr. Price, who is 37 years old, presides over 57 private secondary schools located in 12 states. The list includes city day schools, country day schools, military boarding schools, and nonmilitary boarding schools.

Vice president of the Southwest Chicago Kiwanis club and past president of the Chicago club of the Denison University Alumni association, Mr. Price has been on the Morgan Park faculty for 15 years. He has been treasurer of the Private Schools association for four years and serves on the board of the Beverly Y. M. C. A.

A couple of south siders have been asked to join Blue Key, national honorary fraternity, at De Paul university. They are Leonard Ouska, 2520 South Millard street, and Raymond Smerge, 1849 South Troy street. Blue Key limits itself to juniors and seniors who have maintained a high scholastic average and have been active in extra curricular activities on the campus.

IF Thomas Carmody, son of James F. Carmody, 7931 Emerald avenue, never shows up for class from now until June at Grinnell [Ia.] college, he won't get any notes from the dean's office. He can sleep thru his first class every day, go fishing when the sun shines, or stay in his room and play solitaire, as far as regulations go. Tom's freedom stems from the fact that he was included on the honor list for the first semester. Because he has a "superior" average with no grades below a basic mark, he gets the privilege of unlimited class cuts for the present semester.

Three assemblies of students at Harper High school, 6520 South Wood street, will hear a talk on traffic safety Tuesday morning by George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee.

The Hats They Wear in the Spring

The average man will want to know why these hats are supposed to be any funnier than the ones he observes daily on contemporary women. Members of the Park Manor Junior Women's club call them surrealistic and will model them as bonnets far different from their own at the club's "federation night" Tuesday evening in the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 6545 South Union avenue. The models and their strange "creations" are (left to right) Mrs. Leo Cook (cheese grater), Mrs. George Miller (funnel), Mrs. Arthur Ruff (knitting needles and yarn), Mrs. Bolton Dixner (Easter basket), and Mrs. Frank Brinkman (cocktail glass).

AIM TO BREAK THRU DEFENSES OF 'REGULARS'

Strive for Position in Assembly Race.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Political fences are being tended with great care in the 11th senatorial district which takes in a large portion of the southwest side. Seven independents are threatening to break thru into the preserves of the four candidates who have regular party organization support.

On the Democratic side, State Representatives Michael E. Hannigan and George A. Fitzgerald, foes in the 1938 primary, are making the strenuous round of ward and precinct meetings to greet the voters. They also are doing missionary work in their own behalf on the side.

Both Hannigan and Fitzgerald have Nash-Kelly organization approval. In 1938 Fitzgerald was with the Courtney-Horner faction but had second place on the ballot and beat out Hannigan's teammate, Thomas P. O'Donovan.

Only 3 Independents.

Chief danger to the regulars, based upon 1938 results, is that there are only three independents now compared with eight then. The 1938 regulars got about 150,000 votes while the outsiders garnered about 130,000. Included in the 11th district are wards 16 and 18 and parts of wards 3, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Population is 342,000.

"Just vote for me, which gives me three," is the theme song of the independent candidates. When voting on the state law makers, a voter has three* votes, which he may give to one candidate or divide among two or three.

Both Hannigan and Fitzgerald are process servers for the bailiff of the Municipal court. Both supported the Ward-Schnackenberg bill to reform the parole laws of Illinois.

Seeking Fourth Term.

Representative Hannigan, whose home is at 6646 South Honore street, has a big, rugged frame which does not show his 31 years. He was president of the Standard Athletic club for 17 years and is an insurance salesman. He seeks his fourth term in the legislature, where the Legislative Voters' league said he had a "pretty good voting record, showing independence and courage."

Fitzgerald, who is 53 and lives at 8350 South May street, was in the law making body from 1922 to 1924 and from 1930 to 1940. A dealer in real estate and insurance, he was chairman of the house insurance committee during the 58th, 59th, and 60th general sessions. He introduced the permanent registration bill which became law.

"My main purpose in seeking reelection," Hannigan said, "is to help the aged of Illinois. The bill increasing maximum pensions from $30 to $40 a month, which was passed in 1939 and vetoed by Gov. Horner, must be passed again. My bill to exempt life insurance up to $1,000 from the means test of pensioners would be introduced again."

Has Wide Acquaintance.

The foremost challenger of these regulars appears to be John H. O'Connor, 7810 South Ada street, owner of a soft drink manufacturing company. In the 1938 primary he polled 12,400 votes. He bases his hopes on wide acquaintance among stockyards workers and tavern owners.

O'Connor was a cattle dealer at the stockyards until 10 years ago when he went into the beverage business. He sells only to taverns, he said, which should bring in some votes from that source.

"I want to take the sales tax off of food and drinks sold over the counter," O'Connor said. "Tavern owners are the forgotten men of business, who must absorb the sales tax other merchants pass on to the consumer. Also, I would like to see a law passed forbidding the use of saccharine instead of sugar in soft drinks sold to children."

First Time Out.

Thomas J. McKittrick, young attorney of 6214 South Green street, is seeking one of the Democratic nominations for the first time. He said that he wants to lift the sales tax from food and to license handbooks, an endeavor at which Mayor Kelly was unsuccessful several years ago. When at Lindbloom High school McKittrick was boxing and wrestling champion.

"People will always indulge their gambling instinct," McKittrick declared. "Therefore the business should be licensed in order to drive out racketeers, eliminate graft, and bring in needed revenue."

Paul R. Friedrich, 5801 South Union avenue, is asking voters to remember the bottom spot on the ballot, which he occupies. In 1938 he got 10,779 votes in the primary.

On Republican Side.

The Republican list of six candidates is headed by Representative David I. Swanson and Former Representative Calvin T. Weeks, both of whom have regular party organization support.

Swanson recently received some of the highest praise handed out by the Legislative Voters' league in its review of outgoing members of the leg-

DISRESPECT TO FLAG.

One of the most disgraceful tributes to the American flag is on display in the town of Dolton. On a WPA shanty at the intersection of 144th and Chicago streets is an American flag which has been up day and night for about the last three months thru the inclement weather and all. Never raised in the morning or taken down at night. All tattered, dirty, and torn to shreds. What a tribute to "Old Glory" under whose protection these men work! That would be a fine thing for the American Legion to take up not only here, but thruout the country. There are many other government projects that disgrace the flag the same way. DOLTONITE.

OUTDOORS FOR PLEASURE.

Southwest side residents who want to get away from it all don't need to spend money going to Florida or the north woods. All they need to do is join up with the park outings that take them thru the forest preserve near Willow Springs. There they can truly commune with nature, listen to the birds singing in the trees and not have a traffic cop yell at them. I think it wonderful that the park arranges these outings. It is a cheap way to get rejuvenated. MARTIN WELLS.

FOR INDOOR POOLS.

Whenever a park board puts up a new building nowadays it includes a year round swimming pool in it. These buildings in Chicago are found in the better neighborhoods. The poorer neighborhoods have only outdoor pools for use in summer. As swimming is a very refreshing exercise and private pools are rare, why not transform these numerous outdoor pools into year round pools. THOMAS MCCORMICK.

SCHOLARSHIP TESTS PLANNED FOR MUNDELEIN

Mundelein college will hold its annual scholarship examinations in liberal arts at 9:30 a. m., Saturday, March 30. Examinations for scholarships in the drama department will be given at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Other examinations for scholarships are as follows: on April 13, art and piano, 9 a. m.; voice, 10 a. m., and string instruments, 2 p. m. New award available this year is the Frances Hope Woods Memorial scholarship, established by Mrs. Frances Tighe Woods, 6742 South Clyde avenue, in memory of her daughter, who was graduated from Mundelein in 1935 and who died last November.

All high school seniors recommended by their principals are eligible for the tests. Application blanks must be sent in a week before the examination takes place.

DR. HAROLD W. RUOPP TO BE SPEAKER AT SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp.

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp, who began his ministry at Central church last September, succeeding Dr. Frederick Shannon, will make his first appearance before the audience of the Sunday Evening club tonight in Orchestra hall. The subject of his address will be "A Strategy for Life." Clarence B. Randall will preside in the absence of Clifford W. Barnes, and the scripture will be read by Bernard E. Sunny, trustee of the club and president of the board of Central church.

Dr. Ruopp was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1921. For a year he taught in Miami university and then entered the school of theology at Boston university, graduating in 1926, the while serving as assistant minister at Central Congregational church, Boston, Mass. He spent the following year abroad, Berlin and Oxford, studying under a fellowship, and returned to this country for two Methodist pastorates in Ohio—Dayton and Delaware. In 1935 Dr. Ruopp was called to the Congregational church of Stoneham, Mass.

The music at the informal hour preceding the main meeting will be furnished by the Coe college band of Cedar Rapids, Ia., under the direction of Stanley Vesely.

CANDIDATES RIP NEW DEALERS IN CONGRESS RACE

G.O.P. Leaders See Signs of Coming Change.

New Dealers were the focal points for vigorous pounding by both Democratic and Republican delegates in the congressional primary race in Chicagoland's south and southwest areas last week. Public discontent with rubberstamp Democrats was reflected in campaigns waged in all six of the districts included herewith.

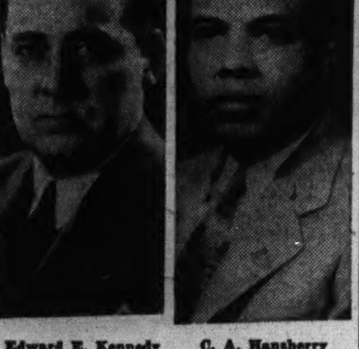
A revival of fighting spirit among the G. O. P. candidates and evidence of independent thinking among the voters are interpreted by Republican leaders as signs of coming change. The same interest in the primaries has not been taken, leaders say, since the Hoover election in 1928.

Despite Chicago's recent history as a Democratic stronghold there are indications at this time that most of the city's representatives in the lower house of the next congress will be G.O.P. members.

Each of the major parties will confer six nominations in this area on April 9. Twenty Democrats, most of them regular party members, and 35 Republicans are in the fight.

Congress Race

Edward P. Garrity [Dem., 2d District] John De Koker Jr. [Rep., 3d District]



Edward E. Kennedy [Rep., 6th District] C. A. Hansberry [Rep., 1st District]

These four are among the candidates for nominations to congress from districts in the south area. Their first test will come in the primary election on April 9.

FIRST DISTRICT

The spotlight here still is on the fight that Willard S. Townsend, international president of the Red Cap's union, is waging to seize the Democratic nomination from Arthur W. Mitchell, first Negro Democrat sent to congress and a three time winner in the district. Townsend, altho a newcomer to politics, is being conceded an excellent chance to topple Mitchell despite the latter's machine backing.

Mitchell's do-nothing record in congress and his action in supporting an extension of the so-called nuisance taxes are held detrimental to him as was his recent anti-Dies vote. At the same time Townsend, college trained and with the experience gained in organizing and administering his union behind him, is campaigning vigorously.

Last week Townsend continued to appeal for the votes of labor. His platform is devoted almost entirely to labor planks, and in speeches he said that the Negro's greatest current need is opportunity in the trade crafts' field. He has pledged himself to the work of obtaining these opportunities for his people and the economic security they will bring.

G.O.P Race Broadening.

The Republican race in this district is broadening. The fight was considered to be confined to three of the eight candidates but a fourth serious contestant has been injected. He is Carl A. Hansberry, colored real estate broker, who is making a serious fight. The other principals are former state Senator William E. King, former Congressman Oscar De Priest and Patrick B. Prescott, all of whom are Negroes.

Platforms of all four of these candidates are substantially alike. All of them advocate passage of anti-lynching laws, legislation intended to promote business and employment, social security, unemployment compensation and old age assistance within the bounds of a sound national budget.

King and De Priest are stressing their experience. Prescott, who, like King, is an attorney, has announced himself as favoring a strong federal anti-goon bill; adequate national defense, particularly in the air, and a continued separation of powers of government as far as possible. Prescott, a specialist in constitutional law, also declared for "the inviolability of the Supreme court as the guardian and expounder of our constitution."

SECOND DISTRICT

Edward P. Garrity's vigorous attempts to wrest the Democratic nomination from Congressman Raymond S. [Anti-Dies] McKeough, the regular organization candidate, continued to be the storm center for the three Democratic contestants here.

Garrity has continued his outspoken denunciation of McKeough's vote, along with 20 other Democrats, in congress last January against continuance of the Dies investigation into un-American activities in the United States. The 21 "rubber-stamp New Dealers" were outvoted by their colleagues by 345 votes, and the Dies committee was given $75,000 to continue its work.

"It's time for a change," is Garrity's slogan, repeated at all his precinct meetings. He said last week that he did not believe the people of the 2d district would return McKeough because the latter had proved himself to be a "jelly-fish representative." McKeough's six years of service in congress, Garrity contends, have served only to prove his incapacity for the job.

Defeated in 1938.

Garrity, who lives at 4830 Kimbark avenue, was defeated by McKeough in the 1938 primary by a narrow margin. Without the support of the powerful machine backing McKeough, Garrity gathered 24,454 votes. His supporters this year predict that even McKeough's machine assistance will not be sufficient.

The Republican picture in this district seems to be clarifying somewhat with three principals now appearing to be standouts among the 11 candidates. In the order of their apparent support these men are: Congressman Patrick H. Moynihan who served the district in 1934 but was unseated in 1936 by McKeough; Emmett F. Byrne, attorney, and Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th].

Moynihan, who was four times a Chicago alderman and formerly was chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, is a seasoned campaigner and bases his appeal to voters upon his experience, service, and ability. He also is calling attention to his fight in the 73d congress for development of the Calumet Waterway and Lake Calumet. He charges that McKeough has neglected this improvement which is of great importance to the 2d district.

He's Anti-New Deal.

Byrne, one of the most active of the young Republican leaders on the south side, is making his campaign strictly on an anti-New Deal platform. He declared last week:

"Business and industry must look to the legislative branch of our national government for relief from punitive tax regulations and arbitrary governmental interference. There has been too much centralization of power in Washington. When these unreasonable restrictions and barnacles are removed from business and industry, confidence will be restored and reemployment stimulated.

"Federal boards and commissions have usurped the power which properly belongs to congress. A concrete example of this is the workings and activities of the National Labor Relations board, now under investigation by the Smith committee."

Byrne lives at 5019 Drexel boulevard, is married and the father of six children. He has been an assistant corporation counsel, assistant state's attorney, and twice was nominated as candidate for Municipal court judge on the Republican ticket. In the 1936 primary he received 1,302 votes in the Chicago Bar association primary, running fifth among 45 Republican candidates. All four men who were ahead of him were sitting judges.

Ald. Lindell's chances of winning the Republican nomination were believed injured last year when he stumped the 8th ward—part of this district—on behalf of a Democrat. He has strong support, however, in his own ward and must be considered a contender.

THIRD DISTRICT

Congressman Edward A. Kelly appears certain to be renominated on the Democratic ticket and the only battles are expected to be those between the five Republican candidates. And among the Republicans, Waldemar J. Roehler and Goodwin L. Dosland appeared last week to be definitely the standouts.

In frequent appearances in all sections of the district Roehler has explained that his policies call for a program of "minding our own business and concentration of governmental attention upon American economic and social problems. He urged further serious effort toward collection of foreign world war debts. Roehler is in the investment business.

Dosland, an attorney and Republican nominee two years ago, pledges himself for common sense in government, an independent congress, permanent peace and avoidance of European politics, and a halt to reckless spending.

FOURTH DISTRICT

The quiet of this district has yet to be disturbed by campaigning. Congressman Harry P. Beam has no opposition for the Democratic nomination. And neither Joseph F. Wronski nor Henry F. Schmuddle, the Republican candidates, are making strong fights. The history of the district shows it to be overwhelmingly Democratic.

SIXTH DISTRICT

Altho there are nine Democratic candidates in this district A. F. [Whitey] Maciejewski, Cicero's political boss for the last 10 years is said to be certain to receive the nomination. Maciejewski's machine politics are believed more than sufficient to override charges that he has padded payrolls, increased city costs, tripled the city's water bills, and generally created financial chaos there. Maciejewski denies charges that he has entered a number of easy candidates to split the Irish vote in the district.

The Republican fight appeared to center between Joseph Wagner, Berwyn dairy owner and Michael J. Creighton, an independent candidate in 1938. David M. Jacobson, young 29th ward attorney, is also making a strong fight. Last week he advocated establishment of a congressional bureau to provide assistance to young people who contemplate marriage. Funds for this purpose are available under the Social Security act and no further taxation would be required, he said.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

The battle here is between Republicans Walter T. Woodcock, 624 Lincoln avenue, Elgin, the 40 year old publisher of the Elgin Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Congressman Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, who is seeking his fourth term. Woodcock, altho a newcomer to politics, is waging a lively campaign thru the four counties included in this district.

Reed continues to campaign "on his record." He was for 14 years, prior to his election in 1932, the state's attorney of Du Page county and he has been content to make a quiet effort. His boast is that he voted at 295 out of 297 roll calls at the last session of congress, and that he has been a consistent proponent of free enterprise and less government meddling.

A 12 point program is Woodcock's speaking foundation. He favors "More jobs in industry—less in WPA; Production of the American workman against competitive labor;" Cessation of sandbagging business thru government interference;" "Less government control of radio;" "No war at any cost, by keeping money, men and ships at home." His appeal in this rockribbed Republican district is to the mature vote.

The Democratic nomination is assured for Attorney Edgar O. Eakin of Elgin because he is unopposed. Two years ago he was the losing candidate for state senator.

Young People Are to Hear Talk on 'Problem Parents'

Dr. Charles B. Congdon, psychiatrist and instructor at the University of Chicago and Loyola university, will address the Brainerd Young People's forum at 7:30 o'clock next Sunday night in the hall at 88th and Throop streets. His talk on "Problem Parents" will deal with relations between parents and children of high school and college age. Roger Smith is president of the forum.

To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Kistner, 1747 West 100th place, have announced the engagement of their daughter, E. Marjory, to Dr. C. Paul Waid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Waid of Mansfield, O. Miss Kistner is a graduate of Morgan Park High school and has studied fashion art. Her fiance is a practicing physician in Ohio.

CHICAGO LAWN WOMEN TO NOTE MEMBERS' DAY

Club Will Hold Meeting Next Tuesday.

Members' day will be celebrated by the Chicago Lawn Woman's club on Tuesday in Marquette park fieldhouse. Charter members, life members, those who have been affiliated with the club for 25 years, 16 new members and three reinstated members will be honored. Mrs. Sidney Hand, president, will welcome the new members as Mrs. J. A. Fagerstrom, membership chairman, introduces them.

A talk on "American Women Novelists" by Mrs. Albert Klatt will be given at the 11:30 o'clock session in the morning. Mrs. Bert Davies and Mrs. J. A. Simpson will be luncheon hostesses. On the afternoon program, Miss Virginia McQueen will speak on Leonardo da Vinci's painting, "The Last Supper," the chorus will sing under the direction of Helen P. Baker and Mrs. I. S. Turley, drama and literature chairman, will present a comedy, "Gran'ma Fixes the Car."

Members in the cast are Mrs. W. E. Tressel, coach; Mrs. V. E. Streicher, Mrs. B. F. Costello, Mrs. E. T. H. Schmidt, Mrs. J. R. Thetford, and Mrs. W. R. Ludwig. Mrs. Joseph Jaeger, 3d district literature chairman, will be Mrs. Turley's guest.

Beverly Hills Woman's Club.

Mrs. Michael T. Hayes, 9333 Damen avenue, will be hostess at a literature tea in her home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. H. Zacher is in charge of reservations.

Haig R. Shekerjian will speak on "Persian Art and Its Contribution to Oriental Rugs" at the morning session of the club Wednesday. He will illustrate his lecture with colored lantern slides. Mrs. J. M. Lammedee, art chairman, will present the speaker.

After luncheon, C. J. Albrecht, explorer and zoölogist, will offer an illustrated lecture on "The Life History of the Alaska Fur Seal." The first vice president, board members and chairmen of the Conference of Club Presidents will be guests.

Brainerd Woman's Club.

Commemorating the golden jubilee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and its own 11th birthday, the club will serve a special luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday in Ridge park fieldhouse, with Mrs. R. W. McAfee as hostess. Mrs. Thomas Gifford, 3d district president, and past presidents of the club will be guests. Signatory members will be honored and a reception for new members will be held after the luncheon. Mrs. E. R. Walter, president, will welcome the new members.

Mrs. George Heck, American home chairman, will present to the club a "Memory cloth" composed of squares of lace donated by members. Mrs. Heck and her committee spent two years making the cloth, which they believe is the only one of its kind owned by a district club.

Irvine Johnson will speak on "Flower Arrangements" at the morning session. Mrs. C. O. Wright, garden chairman, and Mrs. George Ward, district conservation chairman, will be guests. The nominating committee will report. For the afternoon program, Mrs. Rupert Hoye, drama chairman, will present members in the comedy, "Those Phinney Girls," by Edwin Scribner.

Clearing Woman's Club.

A style show of spring outfits for the Easter parade will be presented for club members at the 8 o'clock meeting Tuesday evening in the Legion hall. Members will act as models. After the business session, Mrs. G. B. Garnett, membership chairman, will introduce 27 new members.

Englewood Woman's Club.

The Englewood Juniors will be in charge of the club program for the 2 o'clock meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Masonic temple. Three one act plays selected by Mrs. Arlene Whitmarsh, drama chairman, will be given. Mrs. Melicent Van Dusen is directing "If Women Worked As Men Do," Mrs. Phillis Carson, "Who Won the Revolution," a farce, and Mrs. Margaret Crouch, a costumed play, "April Showers."

The nominating committee will present a slate at the morning business session. Mrs. William G. Suthers, state legislation chairman, will conduct a class in parliamentary procedure at 1 o'clock and Miss Lily Houts, citizenship class chairman, will preside at a 1 o'clock meeting in the north parlor. Miss Emilie Rose will read a paper on "Government During the Administration of Rutherford B. Hayes and How Our Government Today Is Affected." There will be a quiz on the constitution. Mrs. Arthur Miller will be hostess of the tea at the close of the meeting.

Gage Park Woman's Club.

The club will observe its 12th birthday at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday. Mrs. John K. Beers, first president, will relate the history of the organization. Mrs. Julius Adler, music chairman, will present Mrs. Gail Flesher, vibra harpist. The club also will celebrate the golden jubilee of the General Federation. Mrs. E. W. Bateson and Mrs. E. E. Koeller are in charge of arrangements.

Hamilton Park Woman's Club.

Officers and delegates will report at the morning session Tuesday. Mrs. W. A. Conner, president, also will call for a report from the nominating committee. At 1:45 o'clock, Mrs. I. L. Roberts, music chairman, will present a spring musical by Evelyn Freedman, violinist; Alice Lawrence, cellist; Helen Bartush, mezzo-soprano, and Mrs. Hattie Krause, pianist.

Division B. will meet at 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Moving pictures of Mexico will be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Burnet. Robert T. Johnson will be the guest soloist. Husbands and friends are invited.

Morgan Park Woman's Club.

"Those Phinney Girls," by Scribner, will be portrayed by members of the drama department in the program for tomorrow evening, under the direction of Mrs. Norman W. Johnson, drama chairman. The curtain will rise at 8 o'clock, showing the sitting room of the old Phinney place in New England and the Phinney girls, Mrs. T. D. Hayes, Mrs. Gordon Thompson, Mrs. A. D. Henss, and Mrs. H. Paul Kunath.

Others in the cast are Mrs. Clyde S. Stow, Mrs. David Ruhl, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. A. M. Steever, Mrs. J. V. Gordon, Mrs. W. S. Wagenhals, Mrs. H. H. Hagey, and Mrs. Joseph Spedifor, with Mrs. Harry F. Pocock and Mrs. A. M. De Rose as understudies and prompters. Properties are being handled by Mrs. H. S. Campbell and tickets by Mrs. Robert Black.

Proceeds will go into the scholarship fund. Present scholarship holders are Miss Doris Clay and Miss Ardell Arthur.

West Lawn Woman's Club.

A business meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of Mrs. Leonard Blomquist, 6132 South Komensky avenue. Mrs. G. L. Reynolds is in charge of reservations for a tour of an establishment at 4447 North Kedzie avenue at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday.

The club also is observing the golden jubilee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

BISHOP WILL CLOSE EPISCOPAL LENTEN SERVICES IN LOOP

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, will be the Holy week speaker at the noonday services in the Harris theater, sponsored by the Church club. The series this week will mark the close of 44 consecutive years of Lenten addresses in the loop. Since his elevation to the episcopate 10 years ago, Bishop Stewart's Lenten addresses have been an outstanding feature of the annual program. Stewart A. Cushman has been chairman of the committee in charge of the 1940 season.

JUNIORS TO GIVE PLAYS TOMORROW IN ENGLEWOOD

Members of Senior Club to View Comedies.

Not such a far cry from the days when their mothers made them recite little pieces for company, the members of the Englewood Junior Woman's club will stage three one act plays for the Englewood Woman's club tomorrow afternoon in the Englewood Masonic temple, 6730 Wentworth avenue. All comedies, the plays are entitled "April Shower," "Who Won the Revolution?" and "If Women Worked as Men Do." They have been directed by Mrs. William F. Crouch, Mrs. Franklin D. Carson, and Mrs. Ernest Van Duser, respectively.

This will be the annual junior day program given for the senior club. Mrs. Laurance J. Whitmarsh, drama chairman, will be in charge. Members of the cast will include Mrs. William Harold Bishop, Tom Carley, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Harry C. Hall, Mrs. Charles P. Rath, Mrs. David H. Robertson, Mrs. Lester L. Snow, Mrs. Herbert M. Turner, Mrs. Van Duser, Mrs. John P. Wright, and Mrs. William A. Watson.

The juniors also will hold an Easter party for children Saturday afternoon in Ridge park fieldhouse, 96th street and Longwood drive. Mrs. Donald H. Jackson has arranged a program including a magician and juggling act, songs and dances by a group of youngsters, games, and accordion selections by young Gordon Faerber. Favors will be distributed and cookies and ice cream served.

Assisting Mrs. Jackson in the arrangements will be Mrs. Ferdinand E. Faerber, co-chairman; Mrs. Henry G. Hoffman, Mrs. William D. Randall, and Mrs. Frederick Stamp.

Brainerd Juniors.

"The Blind Spot of Science" will be the title of an illustrated lecture by A. Lawren Brown of the Investors' Syndicate, at a meeting Tuesday evening in Ridge park fieldhouse, 96th street and Longwood drive. Mrs. Mildred Trishan, finance chairman, will introduce Mr. Brown.

Assisting Mrs. Trishan during the evening will be Mrs. Esther Farrar, Miss Louise McGowan, Miss Dolores Costello, Miss Edythe Rathje, Miss Jean Howieson, Miss Charlotte Hughes, Mrs. Marcella Ahner, and Mrs. Juanita Bohne. The club chorus will sing several selections.

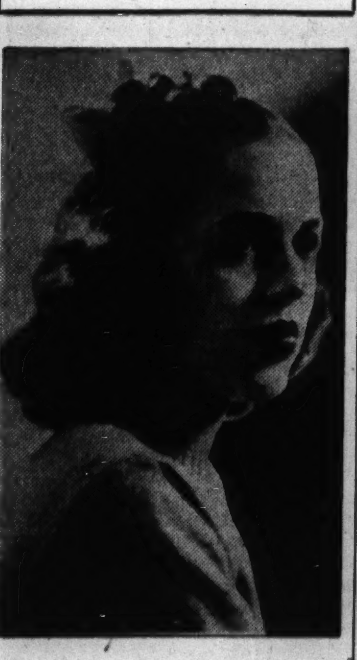
SCOUT SUMMER CAMPS ARE TO OPEN ON JULY 1

The 1940 summer camping season for local Boy Scouts will open July 1 at Camp Owasippe, near Whitehall, Mich., and at Camp Kiwanis, in Palos park, near Willow Springs, Ill. This news will be carried soon to 678 troops and 82 ships in the Chicago council by members of the six chapters of the Order of the Arrow, national fraternity for honor Scout campers, acting as personal representatives of W. Arthur McKinney, local council executive.

To supplement their information the boys will bring copies of the latest edition of the Camping Courier, a precamp newspaper; troop and individual camping applications and also pamphlets on camping for parents. The Arrowmen will wear a white shoulder sash on which is sewn a crimson red arrow.

Each of the Chicago council districts will be directed by veteran Arrowmen who will be responsible for 100 per cent troop and ship coverage. Warren Green, 8151 Dorchester avenue, secretary of Moqua chapter, composed of South Shore Scouts, will direct a contingent which will cover the district. In the district are 116 troops and 19 Sea Scout ships.

Lucky Seventeen



Today is "lucky 17" for Nancy Devonald of 10014 South Leavitt street, who is 17 years old on the 17th of the month and will be special guest at a luncheon for 17 of her girl friends at the South Shore Country club. Nancy attends the Loring Junior school.

COUNTRY CLUB STARTS WORK ON ANNUAL FOLLIES

100 Members Turn Out on Casting Night.

Work on the annual South Shore Country Club Follies, to be presented Friday, March 29, and Saturday, March 30, began last week with a turnout of nearly 100 club members for the first night of casting. The group included amateur singers, dancers, comedians, stage hands, electricians, and property men.

Continuity will be built around a television broadcast, with the audience being tuned in on a series of dance and vocal numbers and skits. Many of the dances will be offered by a male and a female chorus. There will be a satirization of club activities, including "Movie Night," "The Sky Writer," and "If Men Attended Style Shows."

Mrs. Paul M. Flagg is chairman of the Follies committee. Frederick Herendeen, playwright, will write the script, and Marvin K. Brown is publicity director. Some of the members who have been cast in the production are Lillian Kline, June McArthur, Dorothy Cullerton, Marge Hickey, Frances McFall, Pat Lawler, Grace DeVries, Patty Pugh, Barbara Grubb, Jeanne Herbig, Barbara Reese, Pegge Trude, Pat Thompson, Phillis Thompson, Carole Robertson, Edward Camenisch.

Members of the Follies committee are Mrs. Frederick Herendeen, Mrs. Marvin K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Dennett D. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beidler, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gleascher, John P. Kiely, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Karle B. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Utley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seaton, Edward T. Camenisch, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Chris Hempel.

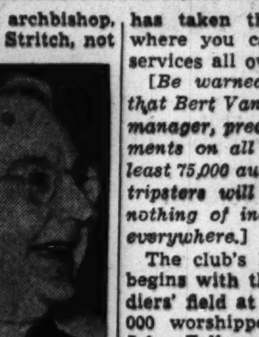
News and Queries Within and Without the Church
A Religious Voice of the People — Edited by the Rev. John Evans

Chicago's new Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, not only has a pleasant smile, but a hearty laugh. He delighted 5,000 persons with both last Sunday night at the Auditorium theater when the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield, Irving Park Methodist pastor and president of the Chicago Church federation, told the archbishop that the Methodist church would be glad to take his auxiliary bishop, the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, off his hands if the Catholic church wanted to get rid of him. Another happy laugh came from his excellency, as well as from the throng, when Dr. Wakefield said: "We Irish will run the world yet. I heartily approve the recent suggestion that the United States trade the Philippines for Ireland so we can raise our own policemen."



Archbishop Stritch.

There's no doubt about it but that your pastor's advice about that proposed trip over the Easter holidays is right. You should be in your own church on that day, of all days, just as he urges.

But, if you are among the 200,000 or 300,000 restless Chicago souls who—weatherman permitting—will take off over next week-end in the good old jalopy, the Chicago Motor club has taken the trouble to tell you where you can find sunrise Easter services all over the country.

[Be warned in advance, however, that Bert Vanderwarf, the club's tour manager, predicts heavy traffic movements on all highways, and that at least 75,000 automobile loads of Easter tripsters will leave Chicago, to say nothing of increased localized traffic everywhere.]

The club's list of sunrise services begins with the great service in Soldiers' field at 6:30 o'clock, where 50,000 worshippers are expected. Dr. John Zoller of Detroit wili be the preacher, and Chief Whitefeather, descendent of Siting Bull, Sioux chieftain, will sing. Glancing down the long list of other services, we see that the famous Catholic shrine at Holy Hill, Wis., will hold Easter masses at 6, 7, 8:30, and 10 o'clock.

It's a little far away, but if California is on your Easter travel itinerary, the motor club shows that folks out there go for the sunrise service in a big way. There are Hollywood bowl, Forest Lawn park at Glendale, Death Valley, La Jolla, Palm Springs, San Francisco, San Diego—but why go on? Looks like you couldn't miss one anywhere out there.

Alluring is the call ot the 5:30 service in the Garden of the Gods, near Colorado Springs, Col. But we would pick the one on the rim of Grand canyon. Dr. Endicott Peabody, retiring headmaster of Groton school, Groton, Mass., will be the preacher at Tombstone, Ariz. Mind you, an Easter sermon at Tombstone!

It's a bit confusing, but the Rev. Frederick W. Wright of the Methodist church in Waterloo, Wis., is preaching a Palm Sunday sermon this morning on the subject, "The Church's Funeral."

FIRING STARTS IN BATTLE FOR DELEGATE JOBS

Winners to Have Voice in Presidential Choices.

conclusion, for they are unopposed.

Roscoe Conkling Simmons, Negro candidate for congress in 1930 and delegate in 1932 and 1936, is probably the strongest Republican. He will be opposed by George Hellmann, 2631 South Michigan avenue, and Jacob R. Tipper, 3538½ South Park way, regular organization candidates.

Other Republicans on the ballot will be: Mrs. Cora A. Graham, 4033 South Ellis avenue, who has done much social service work and was a leader in the establishment of the Marden Park institution; James R. Zinn, 3801 Wentworth avenue; Edward Houston, 461 East 41st street; Robert E. Giles, 3759 South State street, a druggist, and Byron H. Davies, 2209 South Michigan avenue.

Alternates are:

Republican—Adolphus N. Gordon Sr., 3560 South Park way; Obie Creed, 3247 South La Salle street; Milton J. Hanna, 473 West 27th street, and John G. Nettleton, 3639 South Park way.

SECOND DISTRICT

Republican organization candidates as delegates are Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, and Leonard C. Reid. 4810 South Ellis avenue, Illinois manager for Thomas E. Dewey's presidential campaign. The only other Republican candidate is Vandorf Grey, 7524 Clyde avenue.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] and Sheldon W. Govier, clerk of the Appellate court, are the regular Democratic candidates for delegate. They are opposed by two independents, Thomas A. McManigal, 1415 East 66th place, and George E. Murphy, 4729 South Prairie avenue.

Candidates as alternates are:

Republican—John A. Niemeyer, 5401 Ellis avenue; Zedrick T. Braden, 417 East 45th place; Andrew A. Barry, 306 East 49th street; Thomas J. Downs, 7831 Colfax avenue, and Louis J. Behan, 1642 East 56th street, a master in chancery.

Democratic—Edward M. Sneed, 5413 South Wabash avenue, and Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes.

THIRD DISTRICT

William H. Weber, former chairman of the Republican county central committee, and Clarence N. Bergstrom, 6215 South Laflin street, are the regular Republican candidates as delegates. Others are Donald A. Borrelli, 1655 Marquette road, a nephew of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli; Roy H. Seward, 3643 West 55th street; Harold V. Erickson, 2012 West 69th place, and Grover C. Larson, 407 West 70th street.

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] and Peter B. Carey, 9640 South Winchester avenue, a member of the Board of Trade, are unopposed as the Democratic candidates.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican — Arthur Rinck, 3713 West 63d street, and Walter Haines, 345 Calumet boulevard, Harvey.

FOURTH DISTRICT

Republican organization candidates as delegates are Arthur W. Sullivan, 3335 South Union avenue, and John H. Sturm, 4632 South Talman avenue, both of whom were delegates in 1936. Independents are: Marion Owcarz, 2354 South Whipple street; Anton Haas, 5033 South Ashland avenue; Irene A. Tomas, 3201 Morgan street; Patrick McCarthy, 2630 West 42d street, and Ignatius Zwarycz, 4555 Justine street.

Two aldermen, Henry Sonnenschein [22d] and Hugh B. Connelly [11th], are the only Democratic candidates. Ald. Connelly was a delegate in 1936.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican—Otto A. Richter, 251 West 43d street, and Andrew Toman, 3822 S. Winchester avenue.

Democratic—William J. Lynch, 509 West 43d place, and Joseph Palka, 4816 South May street.

SIXTH DISTRICT

The fight for delegates' seats seems to be a three way affair among the Republicans with Julius H. Miner, 3435 West Adams street; Philip E. Gilbert, 1315 South Independence boulevard, and Joseph A. Coyner, 501 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, in the major rôles. Other candidates are John M. Carroll, 3841 West Arthington street, and George A. Pavese, 3435 Harrison street. The regular organization favors Miner and Coyner.

Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien and Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] are the Democratic organization candidates. Edward M. Platt, 505 Marengo avenue, Forest Park, also has filed.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican—James F. Hemmons, 4720 West Gladys avenue, and Hugh H. Smith, 3250 West Monroe street, who is former general superintendent for the West Parks.

Democratic—Jerry J. Viterna, town collector for Cicero, and Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th].

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

Frank R. Reid of Aurora, former congressman and delegate in 1936, and Hayes Kennedy, Joliet attorney, appear to be the favored pair for the Republican delegates seats. Other candidates are Harrison H. Robillard of Elmhurst and James C. Bell of Joliet.

Former Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet, Emmett McGuire, also of Joliet, and Charles Leonard of Woodstock will fight it out for the two Democratic seats.

Candidates seeking alternates seats are:

Republican—T. Merle Paul of Harvard and Maurice Shurtleff of Elgin.

Democratic—Eugene Roberts, Villa Park; Elmer D. Anderson of Wheaton, and Adolf J. Meadel of Lisle.

Dance Chairman

Miss Fern L. Carrig, 11026 Normal avenue, is chairman of arrangements for the annual spring dance to be given at the Columbia Yacht club by the Ken-Rose Junior Woman's club on April 6.

Often Poses Like This

Card Party Aid

Mrs. F. E. Lange, 9149 Ada street, president of the Fort Dearborn Parent-Teacher association, will have charge of the fourth annual card party of the association Friday evening in Ridge park fieldhouse, 96th street and Longwood drive.

ASK RATE TAGS REMOVED FROM FILLING STATIONS

Plans to draft an ordinance which would remove price signs from gasoline stations will be discussed at the next meeting of the Southeast Chicago Council of the Little Business Men's League of America, Wednesday evening at 7904 South Cottage Grove avenue. The proposed ordinance, accompanied by a petition signed by gasoline station owners, will be presented to the city council.

Reports and action on other matters, including the Patman bill, which probably will be brought up by the Ways and Means committee in congress March 27, also will take place.

NIGHT IN ERIN IS SCHEDULED BY BARRY CLUB

"A Night in Ireland" is the name of the show to be given by the Kevin Barry club this evening at the American Legion hall, 1606 West 69th street. Entertainment, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will include step and set dancing and Gaelic music.

Music will be furnished by Willie and Hughie McCormack of 6624 South Peoria street, pipers and violinists, and Terence Teahan, 748 South Homan avenue, accordion player. Step dancing will be provided by Richard Sullivan, 6840 South Morgan street, former champion step dancer of Ireland, accompanied by Miss Helen Cooney, 7701 South Maryland avenue.

Miss Rita Leahy, 2342 LeMoyne avenue, who talks and sings in Gaelic, also will perform. The program will conclude with a rendition by the Gaelic Glee club of Chicago.

Plan Style Show.

Dunbar Vocational school, 4401 St. Lawrence avenue, will hold a style show at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Miss Julia H. Allen, instructor in dressmaking. Models are members of departments in the school.

BACK OF YARDS COUNCIL GIVEN $3,500 DONATION

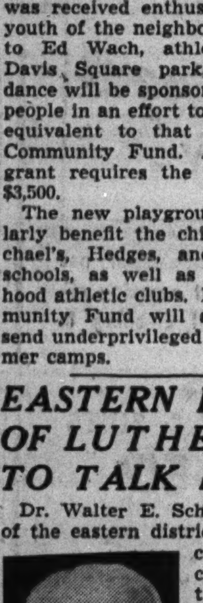
The Back of the Yards Neighborhood council will receive $3,500 from the Community Fund of Chicago to carry out various projects thru the year, Joseph Meegan, director of Davis Square park and executive secretary of the council, announced last week. Part of the fund, which will be paid to the council in monthly instalments, will be spent in the development of a new play area at 47th street and Damen avenue.

Seventy boys, residents of the district, are already at work clearing the site of rubbish, tin cans, and weeds. They have begun leveling off the ground and spreading in the fill supplied by the sewer project of the WPA at Paulina street south of 50th street.

Announcement of the new play area was received enthusiastically by the youth of the neighborhood, according to Ed Wach, athletic director of Davis Square park, and a spring dance will be sponsored by the young people in an effort to raise an amount equivalent to that donated by the Community Fund. A clause in the grant requires the council to raise $3,500.

The new playground will particularly benefit the children of St. Michael's, Hedges, and Sacred Heart schools, as well as many neighborhood athletic clubs. Part of the Community Fund will also be used to send underprivileged children to summer camps.

EASTERN HEAD OF LUTHERANS TO TALK IN LOOP



Dr. Walter E. Schuette.

Dr. Walter E. Schuette, president of the eastern district of the American Lutheran church, will be the noonday speaker at the Holy week services in the Erlanger theater sponsored by the Chicago Ministerial association. Dr. Schuette, prominent during 1930 in the formation of the American Lutheran conference, has headquarters at Sewickley, Pa. His previous appearance in Chicago was seven years ago when he spoke on Lutheran day in Soldiers' field during the Century of Progress exposition. He is noted for devotional and homiletic writings.

7 INDEPENDENTS PUSH FOES IN ASSEMBLY RACE

Strike at Defenses of the Regulars in 11th.

islature. The L. V. L. mentioned that he was chairman of the important judiciary committee and was co-sponsor of the city manager and dependent children bills in the 1939 session, which was his eighth.

"Long experience; careful student of legislation proposed," the report said. "A level head and admired character make him highly valuable to his district, city, and state. Voting record excellent. Certainly no vote dodger."

Swanson was jubilant because a former political opponent, Eugene Clyde Weafer, who ran in 1938, had paid for an advertisment praising Swanson. The G. O. P. incumbent is addressing many party meetings and nonpartisan gatherings of civic, church, and women's groups. He sends letters to businessmen and ministers explaining how the legislature relates to them.

"I look forward to some real cutting of state expenditures in the session opening next January," Swanson said. "The Republicans had a slight majority in the house last year, but we couldn't operate because some were 'paper Republicans' who folded up under Democratic pressure."

Six Years in House.

Former Representative Calvin T. Weeks, of 6355 South Washtenaw avenue, served in the house for six years. In 1938 he was renominated but in the November election placed fourth in the race for three house seats.

Weeks favors a 1 per cent tax limit on all real estate and repeal of the sales tax in its entirety.

Third on the ballot is Michael L. Apato, 7114 South Hermitage avenue, who placed in the 1938 primary behind Weeks with 4,721 votes. Now Apato is aligned with the Green-for-governor forces and his chance of winning nomination depends largely on the efficiency which which this G. O. P. group functions. He also has the backing of the Deneen organization.

Would Reduce Tax.

"Reduce the sales tax, of course," Apato said. "Naturally that is one of my aims. If I go to Springfield I am also determined to change the sales tax law so that the 3 per cent is imposed only once upon each automobile.

"Now the 3 per cent is paid by the purchaser of a new car—$30 on a $1,000 car. He trades the car in, and the next purchaser pays $18 more at the second hand price of $600. Again the car charges hands, at, say, $400, and the third buyer has to pay $12 on the same article."

Apato is sales manager for a southwest side automobile agency.

Remaining Republican candidates are Edward M. Gaynor, 6204 South Rockwell street; George C. Lehman, 3518 West 61st street, and Robert J. Mautner, 5951 South Green street, none of whom are listed in the telephone book.

SEVENTH DISTRICT

Half a dozen "outs" who seek to take the seats of the three representatives of this district are up against strongly entrenched candidates who are not resting on their laurels. Nomination April 9 will be equivalent to election, since voters will name a number of nominees equal to that to be presented in November.

Representative Emmett McGrath of Brookfield, superintendent of golf courses in the Cook county forest preserves, is supported by virtually all Democratic district leaders. Ending his sixth term at Springfield, McGrath is described as "experienced and sagacious" by the L. V. L.

Opposing him as independents are John J. Ryan, 1407 South 17th avenue, Maywood, who is in the real estate and insurance business; William F. Donahue, 14843 Main stret, Harvey, and Raymond W. Smith, 311 Wa-Pella, Mount Prospect. Donahue, who is city attorney of Harvey and justice of the peace for Thornton township, points out that he is the only candidate in either party who hails from south of 22d street in the district.

Others in Race.

Representatives Arthur W. Sprague of La Grange and Mrs. Bernice Van Der Vries of Winnetka have regular Republican organization support. They are opposed by Lester D. Wilcox, 427 South 22d avenue, Bellwood, editor of a suburban newspaper and a police magistrate; William Kretschmar, 4007 North Olcott avenue, and Attorney Thomas Mathiesen, 1712 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge.

Sprague, a police magistrate who made a good record in his first term at Springfield, initiated the fight in the house which blocked and eventually killed a $100,000 appropriation sought by the late F. Lynden Smith, director of public works.

Mrs. Van Der Vries has been almost too busy to campaign because she is chairman of the Illinois commission for intergovernmental coöperation, the only woman to hold such a position among 34 states having such commissions.

In the 1939 session Mrs. Van Der Vries, a widowed home maker, sponsored bills for compulsory budgets by local governments and extending boundaries of the Chicago sanitary district. Of her the L. V. L. said recently: "Active, energetic, capable, well poised; good voting record."

All of the incumbents supported the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill.

NINTH DISTRICT

The only chance of a fight against Representative William S. Finucane, 2912 South Loomis street, vanished when James L. Perry, 2622 West 35th place, died in the German Evangelical Deaconess hospital on March 8. Perry had expected to recover in time to carry on his charges of bipartisanship against Finucane.

"IMAGINE — TIME TO SEW ON WASHDAY!"

"Why didn't we think to get a washer before?"

Is housework robbing you of time you might otherwise spend doing the things you really want to do?

A good used washer can add hours of leisure to your week. With an ironer, the laundry is even easier. And a good vacuum cleaner can make quick work of the cleaning.

These and other good used appliances are offered at attractive prices in the Household Appliances column of the Tribune want ad section. Review these offers today.

WHO LIKES BISCUITS?

If cooking is beyond you,

If the children make you grouse,

If the laundry gets you down,

And you're tired of cleaning house . . .

In other words, if you need some one to relieve you of a part or all your many housekeeping responsibilities, take your problem with you on a trip through the Situations Wanted columns in the Tribune want ad section.

Capable domestic workers—nursemaids, governesses, gardeners, housekeepers, couples—use these columns to seek employment. You can easily find the type of assistance you need among the variety of offers you will find in these columns. Read them now in the want ad section of today's Tribune.

WHAT IS IT WORTH TO YOU?

COMMITTEEMEN ASPIRANTS READY FOR FINAL DASH

1 Republican, 1 Democrat Ruled Out.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

The last mile for candidates for the all important party office of ward committeeman starts this week. Thursday night the board of election commissioners ruled on objections to the candidates petitions and now the contestants have a chance to settle down to a serious election campaign.

Until the present time the ward committeeman contests were rife with last minute filings, withdrawals and objections to petitions. In several southwest wards bitterness increased during that period, especially when objections were filed and charges of invalid petitions were filed against various candidates. That bitterness is expected to carry on thru the next few weeks preceding the April 9 primary election.

Wallace L. Johnson, one of the four candidates for Democratic committeeman in the 2d ward was ruled off the ballot by the election board. Two of his opponents, William Cherry and Perry C. Thompson also had objections filed against them but their petitions were upheld by the election board.

Johnson Gains by Ruling.

William Dawson, the former Republican alderman who is the regular Democratic organization candidate for 2d ward committeeman, had no objections filed against his petitions. The elimination of Johnson is expected to ease his chance of election materially.

The only other southwest Democratic contest in which objections were filed was in the 13th ward, where former Ald. John E. Egan was opposing County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, the incumbent. Petitions of a third candidate, John A. Egan also had been filed. Objections were then filed against both the Egans. Last week in a surprise move both Egans withdrew from the campaign leaving Flynn with no opponent for reëlection. Election board members said they had just started to consider the two Egan objections when word of the withdrawals came to them. They had regarded the 13th ward objections as tough ones to consider.

One Ruled Off in 11th.

On the Republican side the board ruled Lee Crotty, candidate for 11th ward committeeman, off the ballot. At the same time it held invalid objections to the petition of the incumbent committeeman, William S. Finucane, and a third candidate, Alex J. Prominski. Finucane is lined up with the faction supporting Wayland Brooks for United States senator and Richard Lyons for governor. Prominski is allied with the faction organized under the name of the late Senator Deneen.

Republican Committeeman Felix F. Kucharski, the Brooks-Lyons candidate in the 12th ward, continues to have as his opponent George H. Lange, the Green candidate. Objections to Lange's petition were held invalid.

In the 13th ward objections filed against the petitions of William A. Cunnea Jr., the Green candidate, and George O. Lehr, the Brooks-Lyons ward leader and present committeeman, were both withdrawn. Withdrawal of objections when filed against two strong opposing candidates frequently indicates the campaign is to be on a party faction basis and not a personal basis within the ward.

Breen Objections Withdrawn.

Objections filed against James W. Breen, 14th ward committeeman and Brooks-Lyons leader, were also withdrawn before considered by the election board.

In the 16th ward four candidates remain in the field. Objections filed against Fred F. Linke, the Green candidate, were held invalid by the board. They had been filed by Len Folland, another candidate. William H. Reid is the Republican committeeman campaigning for reëlection. He is a Brooks-Lyons supporter.

Objections against 17th ward Republican Committeeman Henry D. Lindblad were withdrawn before they reached the election board. William J. Balmer, the Green candidate in the ward, withdrew from the contest. Lindblad, a Brooks-Lyons man, now has one opponent, Homer G. Sailor, allied with the Deneen organization.

D. Ellwood Davis Withdraws.

In the 18th ward D. Ellwood Davis, Republican candidate, against whom objections had been filed, withdrew from the contest. Objections filed against Martin Blecker, a Green candidate, were held invalid. No objections were filed against the incumbent, George M. Fisher, a Brooks-Lyons supporter.

In the 19th ward objections against petitions of Robert C. Rohn, present committeeman and Brooks-Lyons leader, were withdrawn. His opponent is Harry A. Carlson, a Green supporter.

College Colonial Queen

Miss Jane Houts of 6635 Yale avenue was one of four students at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., who reigned as colonial queens at the "best loved" banquet given recently by the Lawrence Women's association in Brokaw hall. A graduate of Parker High school, she won the distinction in a ballot of all the women students.

HOMEWOOD CLUB CHORUS TO SING FOR MEN GUESTS

Explorer to Speak on Peruvian Travels.

Mrs. George C. Gallati [Koehne Photo.]

With their most severe critics, their husbands, in the audience, the chorus of the Homewood Woman's club will present a special program tomorrow evening for men's night in the auditorium of the village hall. Mrs. G. C. Gallati is director of the group.

Augmenting the program, Dr. Karl P. Schmidt, who recently returned from a five months' trip of exploration in Peru for the Field museum, will lecture on "Highlands and Deserts of Peru." Mrs. Russell Anderson, president, and Mrs. W. C. Glass, program chairman, will be in charge. Members of the Homewood Junior Woman's club and their men friends will also be guests.

Blue Island Woman's Club.

"Alaska's Silver Millions" will be the topic of a lecture by Mary Hale Martin, home economics authority, at a meeting of the club Tuesday morning, March 26, in the clubrooms, 13046 Western avenue.

The Dalton-Riverdale Community chorus will entertain the club in the afternoon and Robert Smart of the Jackson park bird sanctuary will show pictures taken at the sanctuary. Hostesses will be Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. Dexter G. Minard, Miss Sarah Noble, Mrs. Charles H. Alsip, Mrs. Albert M. Weaver, Mrs. M. W. Breese, and Mrs. Peter Miller.

Harvey Woman's Club.

Members will hear a talk on "Cosmetics and the Care of the Skin" by a representative of the education committee for the Illinois State Medical society Tuesday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Harvey. Music will be furnished by a brass quartet under the direction of Lyle Hopkins, director of music for the Harvey public schools.

Guests will include Miss Clara Pond, Miss Gertrude Bennett, Miss Margaret Allen, Miss Naomi Setterdahl, and Miss Amber Ellis. Members of the hospital aid committee of which Mrs. Herman Jones is chairman will act as hostesses.

Forest Ridge Woman's Club.

Mrs. P. M. Wenstrand of Midlothian will be hostess to the club Wednesday afternoon in her home with Mrs. William Erp as assisting hostess. The public health and law observance departments will have charge of the program. Mrs. H. P. Carney, public health chairman, will introduce a speaker from the Illinois Medical society who will talk on "Infantile Paralysis."

The speaker for the law observance department will be Mrs. June B. Smith whose topic will be "Education on Alcohol." She will be presented by Mrs. F. J. Nichols, law observance chairman. Mrs. W. H. Curtis will talk on current events.

Club members will stage a "Cotton Cuties Ladies' Minstrel Show" Friday, March 29, in the Arbor Park school, 159th street and Forest avenue.

Palos Woman's Club.

A talk and demonstration on monotypes will be given for club members and guests by Mrs. E. W. Leggott, district art chairman, Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Glenn Harding, 123d street and 87th avenue. Mrs. Lee Lauderback, art chairman, has arranged for a display of handwork and home art craft.

Will Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brening, 3814 West 63d place, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Alice Rosalee, to Robert Latham, son of Mrs. Helen F. Latham, 6723 Yale avenue. [Marshall Studio.]

Dyslexia Guild Is to Hear Educational Adviser Talk

A lecture on "Stimulating Interest in Reading" by Prof. William R. Slaughter, educational adviser for the Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern university, will be given at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow at a meeting of the Dyslexia guild. The meeting will be held in the Streeter Memorial hospital, 2646 Calumet avenue. The guild is the woman's auxiliary of the Dyslexia Memorial institute and earns money for the institute's work in child adjustment.

SO. WEST P.-T. A.'S LOOK AHEAD TO CLOSE OF SEASON

Name Officers and Plan Spring Activity.

Women always rush the seasons, in styles, in spring cleaning, in arranging club programs a year ahead of time, and in electing officers for their various associations. Members of high school parent-teacher associations will demonstrate this feminine characteristic this week at board meetings where plans will be made for the close of the school term and at general assemblies where officers will be elected to serve next year.

Officers will be elected at a meeting of the Morgan Park High P.-T. A. Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium, 1744 Pryor avenue. Mrs. J. J. McKinley Jr., delegate to the children scholarship league, will report on the use of funds donated by the association to the league. Mrs. L. B. Buchanan, delegate to the high school council of Districts 1 and 25 in the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, will announce results of the council's election. Mrs. Walter M. Rennie will report on her committee's investigation of the physical needs of the high school.

After the business session, Mrs. F. H. White, president, will conduct a program centered around the theme "Moral Education for a Democratic Citizenry." Mrs. Fred L. Steers, juvenile protection chairman, has arranged the program. Mrs. Raymond L. Knapp, organization chairman for the Illinois league of Women voters, will speak on "The Effect of Relief on Our Youth."

The chorus of the Clissold branch will sing under the direction of Miss Frances N. Mallory and tea will be served in the social room by Mrs. A. S. Falls, social chairman.

Bloom Township High P.-T. A. of Chicago Heights will hold its annual dinner meeting Tuesday evening, March 26, in the high school. The speaker will be Judge John Gutknecht of the Municipal court. Officers will be nominated for the coming year. Mrs. George Thuman, president, will be in the chair. Dinner will be served prior to the program by the girls of the home economic classes.

Board members of Gage Park P.-T. A. will confer at a meeting 11 o'clock Wednesday in the school, 56th and Rockwell streets. A general assembly will be held in the afternoon in the library. Open house will be held for residents who have not seen the new high school.

"Art for All of Us" will be the subject of an address by Miss Elizabeth Robertson, art director in the public schools, at a meeting of Parker High P.-T. A. Wednesday afternoon in the school, 68th street and Stewart avenue. Officers will be elected.

Kelly High P.-T. A. will hold a board meeting at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the social room of the school, 4136 California avenue. Officers will be elected at a general assembly Wednesday afternoon in the social room. A demonstration will be given by the home economics class.

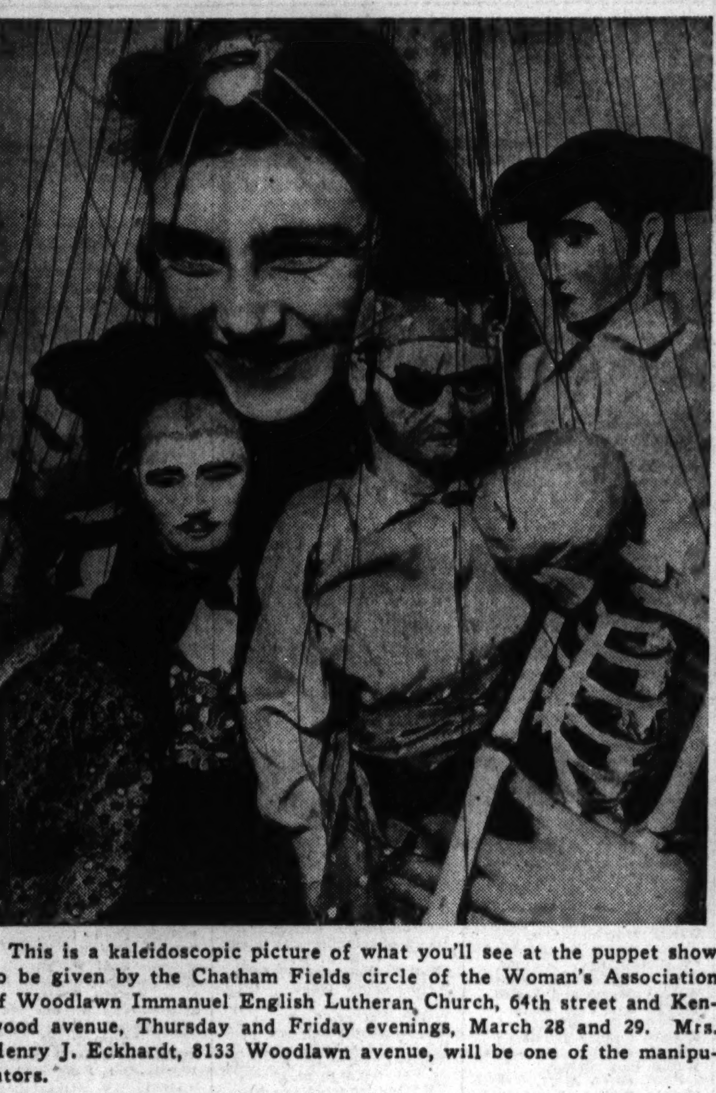
Busy String Manipulator



This is a kaleidoscopic picture of what you'll see at the puppet show to be given by the Chatham Fields circle of the Woman's Association of Woodlawn Immanuel English Lutheran Church, 64th street and Kenwood avenue, Thursday and Friday evenings, March 28 and 29. Mrs. Henry J. Eckhardt, 8133 Woodlawn avenue, will be one of the manipulators.

In Musical

Evelyn Freedman, 7038 Clyde avenue, will contribute violin selections for the spring musical to be presented at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Hamilton Park Woman's club in the clubrooms at 72d street and Normal boulevard. Mrs. I. L. Roberts, music chairman, is in charge of the program. [Du Bois—the Drake.]

Daughters of Jacob Group Will Give Chicken Dinner

Daughters of Jacob South Side Day and Night Nursery at 6401 South Peoria street, will give a chicken dinner at 5:30 o'clock this evening in the B'nai Bezelel Community center, 6028 Champlain avenue. Mrs. Amelia Levine is president of the organization.

TWO CIVIC GROUPS UNITE TO LAUNCH CLEAN UP DRIVE

114 South Siders Help City-Wide Campaign.

One hundred fourteen residents of the south area are members of a committee which will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Palmer House to plan a city-wide beautification campaign for Chicago. The members, who are identified with either the "Help Beautify Chicago," or the "Save the Lawns" committee, have combined to pool their resources in making a better spring clean-up drive.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. Karl Eitel, hotel owner, and Paul Schulz, president of the Municipal Art league, chairmen of the joint committees, respectively, also will be present. Mr. Eitel will preside at the session, which will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

Would Prevent Litter.

The purpose of cementing the groups is to increase their scope and effectiveness in encouraging citizens to help keep parks, schools, streets, beaches, alleys, and all public places free from litter and rubbish.

The twin committees are sponsored by the park district in coöperation with garden and improvement clubs, P.-T. A. organizations, the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, school officials and other civic organizations.

The "Beautify Chicago" committee under Mrs. Eitel has conducted an annual campaign for a cleaner city while the "Lawn" committee has promoted contests and made awards for the finest home, apartment, school, and fire and police station lawns in the city for the last five years.

Members of Committee.

Southwest side committee members are: Mrs. Thomas Aspel, Mrs. Charles W. Balch, Riley A. Bender, Mrs. John J. Bickel, P. R. Blickhahn, Mrs. William Brewster, Mrs. Ben Buttles, Mrs. E. W. Why Be Fat

Thousands of women have discovered way to lose excess weight—without following strict diet lists, or taking exercises or drugs.

If you want to take off ugly fat easily and pleasantly all you have to do is—

First . . . eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating. Second . . mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Thus you reduce caloric intake considerably. But you do not suffer a hungry moment. There are no strict diet lists, strenuous exercises or taking drugs. Yet!—in a test conducted by Dr. Damrau of New York, with this method among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, an average weight loss of seven pounds was registered per month. This remarkable method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men as it is for overweight women. There is only one thing to watch. Eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating; and be sure to use Welch's Grape Juice—always made from the pick of the grape crop; always full strength; always pure.

Irene Rich, lovely star of the screen and radio, now past 40, weighs the same as she did at 16. She recommends the easy Welch way to reduce.

Try This Amazing Welch's Tomato Juice

If you think all Tomato Juice is alike, try Welch's new, vitamin-rich Tomato Juice. It is so rich and thick you can add ⅓ water or ice and still have a most delicious Tomato Juice.

Pull the Trigger, on Lazy Bowels, and Also Pepsin-ize Stomach!

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

MARSHALL TO BE GUEST TODAY ON 5TH ROW CENTER

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Everett Marshall, noted concert and operetta baritone, and the famous Glee club of 40 voices of Notre Dame university will be co-starred in a special St. Patrick's day program on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network at 5 p. m. today. The entire program will be a musical salute to St. Patrick's day under the direction of Harold Stokes.

Prof. D. H. Pedtke.

The Notre Dame Glee club is directed by Dr. Daniel H. Pedtke, head of the Notre Dame music department. Dr. Pedtke has declared this year's Notre Dame Glee club the best singing group he has coached in many years. The club will journey to the W-G-N studios in a special bus.

To Sing Three Songs.

Marshall will sing three numbers: "Danny Boy," "Wagon Wheels," which he introduced in the Ziegfeld Follies, and "Where the River Shannon Flows," in which he will be accompanied by 16 selected voices of the Glee club.

Marshall is cutting short a vacation in Cuba to come to Chicago for the broadcast. Following the program, he will go to Texas for a show there.

In addition to his concert and radio work, he has appeared as Franz Schubert in "Blossom Time" and has sung in such shows as the "Follies" and in George White's "Scandals."

With Metropolitan Opera.

He sang with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York for four seasons. He also has been starred in three of Billy Rose's greatest successes, the last being the Aquacade at last summer's New York World's fair.

The Glee club, one of the best known organizations of its kind in the country, will sing several Irish songs. They will do two medleys, "Minstrel Boy" and "Snowy Breasted Pearl," comprising the first, with "Kerry Dances" and "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms" in the second group. The group will also sing two of the great Notre Dame songs, "Irish Backs," and the "Victory March."

Musical background will be provided by Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra. The orchestra will play Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody" and will join Marshall and the Glee club in the finale. In it, Marshall and the club will sing "Where the River Shannon Flows," the orchestra will play a set of Irish dances, and the Glee club will bring the show to a conclusion with "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls."

NORTHERNERS PRESENT IRENE VERNER, NEW SOLOIST, TUESDAY

The Northerners introduce a new soprano soloist, Irene Verner, on their program which will be heard from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Tuesday on W-G-N.

Miss Verner will make her debut in "Norwegian Echo Song," by Thrane. Born in Minneapolis, Miss Verner received her first training from her mother, who was head of the voice department at Bethany college.

During high school she organized a trio of girl singers and joined Bernie Cummins' orchestra. During engagements with leading dance orchestras, Miss Verner turned from the popular dance style of music to the operetta and classical field—an experience which qualifies her to sing the semiclassical and ballad type of music offered by The Northerners.

In Tuesday night's program, the Northerners' octet will sing "Goodbye Jonah," "All Through the Night," "Ridin' High," and "Careless." The entire Northerners cast will join in singing selections from "Pinocchio."

On W-G-N

Everett Marshall, musical comedy and concert baritone, who will make a guest appearance on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 5 to 5:30 p. m. today.

HERNE TO QUIZ COL. YASCHENKO ON NEWS HOUR

Capt. E. D. C. Herne, W-G-N news announcer, will interview Col. W. W. Yaschenko, Chicago restaurateur and one-time imperial Russian army officer, on the Herne news show from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. Thursday. On Tuesday Capt. Herne will interview Hugh Studebaker, outstanding character actors.

FIND LISTENERS KNOW ONLY SOME OF CELEBRITIES

The American public knows its political leaders, its movie comedians and its radio singers, but it has something less than a nodding acquaintance with its scientists, its writers, and its artists.

That is the indication from responses of listeners to radio's newest game, "Play Broadcast." The game, broadcast each Monday from 7 to 7:30 over W-G-N and the Mutual network, asks listeners to identify leading personalities in all fields of American life.

Americans are the best informed people in the world, but a number have written the "Play Broadcast" sponsor expressing their own amazement at being unable to identify even prominent persons in the fields of science, literature, and art. In nearly every letter the same persons predict that they will be harder to trip up next time—that they have started a bit of self-education work between broadcasts. Sixteen "stumpers" are presented on each "Play Broadcast" program and listeners are given clews thru dramatizations, impersonations, sound effects, and music.

Chicago Baritone Sings on Opera Audition Hour

Emery Darcy, baritone of Chicago; Lydia Summers, Benton Harbor, Mich., contralto, and Gertrude Gibson, Hawthorne, N. Y., soprano, will compete in the second round of the finals of the Metropolitan opera auditions of the air, Sunday, March 17, at 4:30 p. m., central standard time, over the NBC-blue network.

Pierre Andre's Son Stanch Follower of Orphan Annie

David André, son of Announcer Pierre André, has been listening to "Little Orphan Annie" for almost eight years now on W-G-N. It is one of his proudest boasts that he has rarely missed a broadcast. David is 12 years old. His father has announced the program for nine years.

EASTER MUSIC TO BE AIRED ON W-G-N PROGRAMS

Baggiore, Love and Octet to Be Featured.

Sacred music dedicated to Easter will be broadcast on the programs, the Pageant of Melody and the Concert Revue, under the direction of Henry Weber, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday and from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. Thursday, respectively.

In the Pageant of Melody Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Mark Love, basso, and the octet will be featured. Four selections from Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" will be presented. Mr. Love will sing "The Saviour Low Before His Father Bending," "At Evening Hour of Calm Rest," and "And Now the Lord to Rest Is Laid," and the octet and string section doing "Thou with Hate Surrounded."

Baggiore will sing "The Holy City," by Adolphe Charles Adam, and will join the octet in Albert Malotte's arrangement of the Lord's Prayer. The orchestra will play the Russian Easter Overture, by Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Intermezzo," from Pietro Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Raphael Spiro, violinist, will be featured in the Concert Revue, directed by Mr. Weber.

◆

Miss Witwer will sing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," by Richard Hageman; "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Anton Rubinstein, and "Church Scene," from Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Spiro will play the Gounod arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria."

The orchestra will play "Easter Chimes in Little Russia," by S. Votichenko, and "Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and, with the octet, will do "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach.

[Bruno Photo.]

Janet Blair, soloist with Hal Kemp's orchestra, which opens an engagement in the Empire room at the Palmer House on Thursday and will be heard on a nightly broadcast schedule over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

PALM SUNDAY IS THEME TODAY OF DE PAUL PROGRAM

"Meditation and Melody," aired by De Paul university in coöperation with the University Broadcasting council, will dedicate its program to Palm Sunday, from 2 to 2:30 p. m., today on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The Rev. Joseph Phoenix and the Rev. Frank Murphy will give readings on the topic of Palm Sunday, and Dean Howard D. Taft of the De Paul law school will be narrator.

Richard Czerwonky, violinist, and Sergei Tarnowsky, pianist, both members of the De Paul school of music faculty, will present two movements from Cesar Franck's Sonata in A major for piano and violin.

CARTERS' SCRIPT HAS VITALITY, SAYS ACTRESS

Some script programs get a little boring after a while to the people who act in them. What these shows need is a new lease on life. One program that has continuous vitality is "The Carters of Elm Street," on which there is never a dull moment—not only for the members of the cast but, naturally, for the audience, too.

These are the views of Ginger Jones, who plays the ingénue rôle on the "Carters" program. The show is aired daily, Monday thru Fridays, from 11:45 a. m. to 12 p. m., over W-G-N and 84 other stations of the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system. This is the largest network hookup ever achieved for a daytime script show.

"The Carters" stars Virginia Payne and Vic Smith.

Book a Week Broadcast.

"In the Steps of St. Francis," by Ernest Raymond, will be read by Margery Graham on the program, "Book-a-Week," from 3:45 to 4 p. m., tomorrow thru Friday, on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

LEGION WOMEN TO OBSERVE 20 YEARS OF UNIT

Hyde Park Group to Have Dinner Tuesday.

Hyde Park unit of the American Legion auxiliary will celebrate its 20th birthday Tuesday night in the clubrooms of the post, 55th street and Lake Park avenue. The celebration will begin with a smörgasbörd dinner at 6:30 o'clock and will continue thruout the evening.

The unit will honor past commanders of its post, past presidents of the unit, and the 3d district director, Mrs. Evelyn LaChapelle, a member of Hyde Park auxiliary. Other honor guests will be the department president, Mrs. George Cassidy; the Cook county president, Mrs. Frank Wissman, and Illinois' past national president, Mrs. Melville Mucklestone. The Hyde Park color guard also will be included in the guest list.

Mrs. Thomas Cummings, president of Hyde Park unit, and members of the social committee are making arrangements for the anniversary. Maurice Berg, commander of Hyde Park post, has joined past commanders in accepting the invitation of the unit to the birthday party.

Capt. Michele Butera, national commander of the Italian World War Veterans' association, will be installed as commander in chief of the Allied World War Veterans' council the night of March 27 in the home of the Polish Army Veterans' association, 1239 North Wood street.

The council is made up of veteran organizations of the world war armies of France, Italy, Belgium, Jugo-Slavia, British empire, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Greece, and the United States.

Past presidents of Woodlawn unit, American Legion auxiliary, will be entertained March 25 at 8 p. m. in Legion hall, 6308 Woodlawn avenue. Guests will be Mrs. Ida Cassidy, president of the department of Illinois; Mrs. Myrtle Wissman, Cook county council president, and Mrs. Evelyn LaChapelle, 3d district director. Mrs. Altine Kelleher has planned the program. Assisting her are Mrs. Lillina Robinson, Mrs. Freda Ross, Mrs. Clare Westphal, and Mrs. Mary Odum. Mrs. Gladys McCune is president of the unit.

Robert Baird, commander of Medill Tribune post, announces that the post will hold an Americanism program in the W-G-N studio March 27.

◆

The 8 and 40 Cook County salon No. 1 will entertain the state chapeau, Mrs. Lucille Melner, at a dinner tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at the Stevens restaurant. Mrs. Henrietta Erhardt, la petite chapeau, will preside.

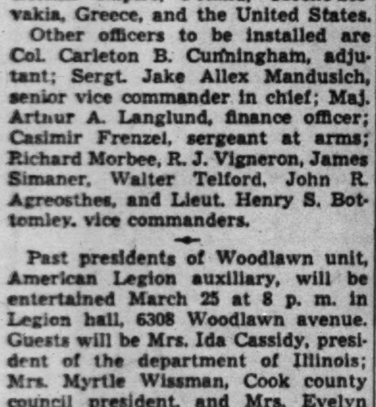
◆

L. N. Bittinger, department commander, and William Waugh, senior vice commander of the department of Illinois, will be guests Friday night of Giles post at the clubhouse, 5745 South State street.

'L'Aiglon' to Be Great Play Production Today

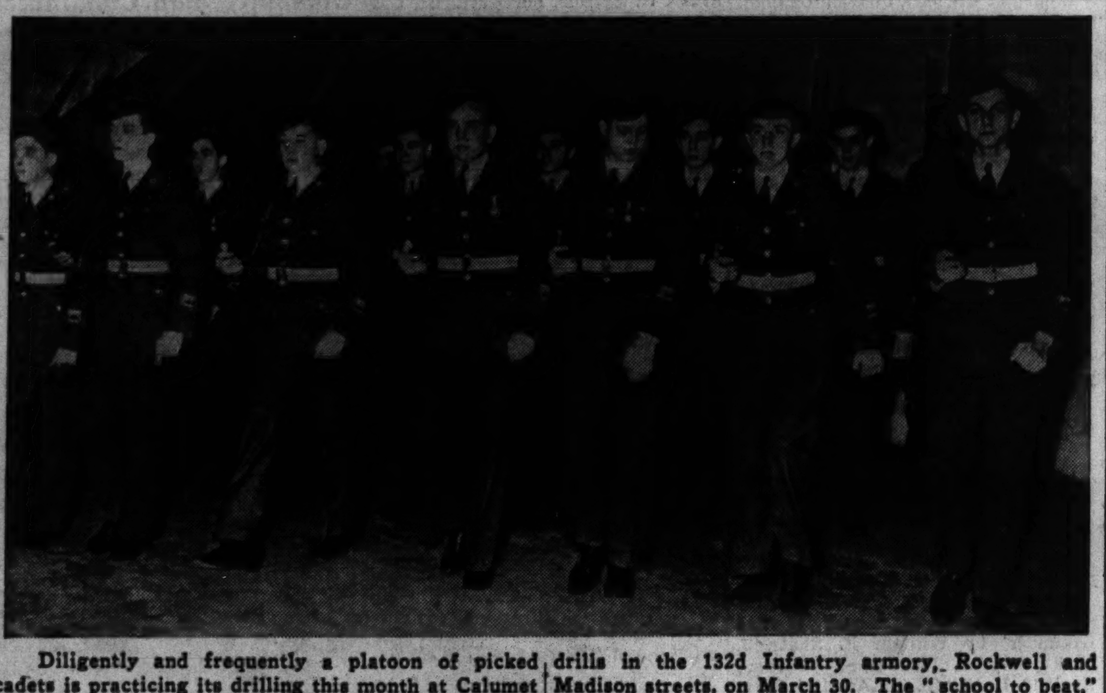
The presentation of "L'Aiglon" as the great play dramatization at 1 p. m. today over WENR-NBC, will be at variance with theatrical tradition. Director James Church will cast a boy in the title rôle. The part was created by Sarah Bernhardt and has since been revived by numerous famous actresses, but Church feels that on the air an adolescent youth will be more suited to the characterization of Napoleon Bonaparte's tragically frustrated son.

Tip for Gracie



Senator Hatch gives Gracie Allen a tip in her campaign to get into the White House. Gracie told Senator Hatch he could have his law because she wants her laws, too, if and when she becomes President. Gracie is furthering her campaign thru her CBS broadcast.

Calumet Youths Seek Drill Title



Diligently and frequently a platoon of picked cadets is practicing its drilling this month at Calumet High school. The boys are ambitious to see their names at the top of the list when 27 R. O. T. C. city high schools are judged for their execution of platoon drills in the 132d Infantry armory, Rockwell and Madison streets, on March 30. The "school to beat," as usual, is Tilden Tech, which has won the first place plaque four times in the last five years.

U. OF C. DEGREES AWARDED SOUTH AREA STUDENTS

45 Are on List at 199th Convocation.

Forty-five students from the south area received degrees at the University of Chicago's 199th convocation last Friday afternoon in Rockefeller Memorial chapel. One hundred eighty-one candidates participated in the ceremony.

William F. Ogburn, Sewell Avery distinguished service professor and chairman of the department of sociology, was the principal speaker, talking on "Four Problems Ahead." President Robert Maynard Hutchins presented the degrees, two-thirds of which were for advanced study.

The convocation was the third of four during the school year and made a total of 1,852 degrees conferred thus far. Of the 181 recipients, 67 took bachelor's degrees, 53 master of arts degrees in arts or science, and 22 became bachelors of philosophy. Three received the degree of Master of Business Administration, 32 became Doctors of Medicine, and three took the J. D. degree in law. One became Doctor of Jurisprudence in law.

Widow Gets Degree.

Among the recipients of the A. B. degree was Mrs. Addie Florence Sweeney, 6019 South Wabash avenue, a widow who entered University college in 1933 after graduation from a junior college. She has supported herself and her parents while working for her degree by teaching elementary subjects in an adult education program. Four foreign students, a Canadian, a Japanese, an Indian, and a Siamese also were graduated.

Other recipients from the south area were as follows: bachelors, Philomela Baker, John Brolley, Ray Bronez, Marshall Brucer, Robert Cooney, Mildred Dennis, Everett Doeded, Frederik Feltham, Mathew Gladstone, Helen Katz, Louise Kilbanow, Jerome Kornfeld, Barbara Lewis, Albert Lilek, Arthur Lowey, Juanita Parsons, Helene Pederson, Donald Polon, Lenore Rakius, Lilliard Reams, Martha Walz, Lucius Wimby, and Evelyn June Witensky.

Get Masters Degrees.

Masters, Brian Donohue, Robert Dubin, Florence Hosch, Jack Indritz, Suzanne Rinck, William Rittschoff, Rose Robbins, Dorothy Rubin, Mary Russell, Jeanne Westheimer.

Doctor of philosophy, Ruth Blair, David Clark, Israel Horwitz, Solomon Klapman, Leo Srole.

Doctor of medicine, Philip Clark.

Doctor of medicine [Rush Graduate school], Ben David Chinn, Sam Chrisos, Louis Marks, H. Lloyd Miller, and Della Moussa-George.

NLRB Proposed Changes, Subject of Broadcast

Proposed changes in the national labor relations board will be discussed on the Northwestern university reviewing stand at 10:15 a. m. today over W-G-N and Mutual. Elmo P. Hohman, professor of economics, and Earl H. DeLong, professor of political science, will appear on the program.

DeLong and Hohman will comment particularly on the limitation of NLRB powers recommended last week by the majority of the house investigating committee.

Church Young People Plan to Welcome New Officers

Officers of the Young People's society of the Morgan Park Presbyterian church will turn their jobs over to their successors at a meeting Sunday evening, March 31. Sara Ann Janson, physician and lecturer, will be guest speaker. The young people who have directed the society's activities for a year are Kenneth Vinje, president; Robert Barett, vice president; Sarah Jane Barmoe, secretary, and Frank Secord, treasurer.

Easter Song

Evelyn Lynne, NBC contralto, as she appeared in a pre-Easter broadcast of the Breakfast club. Miss Lynne also sings on Club Matinee. She is a contralto.

WOMAN'S CHOIR IS FEATURED ON 'AND ANGELS SING'

"And the Angels Sing," new musical show featuring Edna O'Dell, an eight-woman choir, and the dance orchestra under the direction of Harold Stokes, will present a program of specially arranged popular selections from 8 to 8:30 tonight on W-G-N.

The woman's choir, which provides a vocal accompaniment for the instrumental music, will sing "'Way Back in 1939, A. D."; "How High the Moon," with Miss O'Dell singing in the solo rôle, and "You and the Night and the Music," with Joseph Stepansky, violinist. Miss O'Dell will sing for her solo, "To You Sweetheart Aloha."

"Romance in Rhythm," directed by Mr. Stokes, will feature a medley of songs from "Roberta" in the variety program of popular music, with the singing of Lawrence Salerno, Wesley Summerfield, Miss O'Dell, and the Four Shades of Blue, from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. tomorrow on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

Representatives of 3 Faiths on Chapel Program Today

A Protestant, a Catholic, and a Jew will discuss "The Common People Heard Him Gladly" in a University of Chicago chapel broadcast over W-G-N at 11 o'clock this morning. Participants will be Dr. Charles T. Holman of the divinity school of the university; Dr. John Mead, assistant superintendent of the department of labor in Illinois, and Dr. Jacob Singer, rabbi of Temple Mizpah.

CHICAGO PIANIST TO PLAY WITH N. Y. PHILHARMONIC

Rosalyn Tureck to Be Soloist Today.

Rosalyn Tureck, young concert pianist, and Simeon Bellison, first clarinetist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, will be soloists with the orchestra on its broadcast over WBBM-CBS at 2 p. m. today. John Barbirolli will conduct and Deems Taylor will be the commentator.

The program contains two novelties. First of these is Ruggero Vene's transcription of the Concerto in A minor by the 17th century Italian Vivaldi. Vene's arrangement is for chamber orchestra and is based on the organ transcription made by Bach.

The other is the work in which Bellison is to be heard, his own setting for clarinet and orchestra of the Mozart Concerto Rondo in D for piano and orchestra [K. 382]. Bellison has made similar arrangements from works by several older masters in an effort to enlarge the literature of the clarinet.

◆

By contrast, Miss Tureck has chosen one of the great piano concerti, Beethoven's well known Fifth, or "Emperor," in E flat. A former Chicagoan she gave her first public concert at the age of 9. She studied at the Juilliard School of Music, where she now teaches, and made her New York debut in 1935.

The Overture from "L'Arlesienne" suite by Bizet closes Barbirolli's program.

SERIES OF OPERA PROGRAMS BEGINS ON MUSIC HALL

Verdi's "Rigoletto" will be broadcast by the Radio City Music Hall Opera company at 11 a. m. today over WCFL. This is the first of a series of opera broadcasts to continue until late spring. Robert Weede, baritone, will sing the title rôle and Jan Peerce, tenor, will be heard as the Duke of Mantua. The rôles of Gilda and Maddalena will be sung by Rosemarie Brancato and Edwina Eustis. Erno Rapee will conduct.

Milwaukee Students on Music and Youth Hour

Students of Milwaukee schools will be featured in Music and American Youth at 10:30 a. m. today over WMAQ-NBC. The Washington High school orchestra, 85 strong, will play "Entrance March of Montezuma" from the opera, "Azora," and Bach's Air on the G String. An 85 piece band from the North Division High will play Slovenia Rhapsodie No. 1, the Intermezzo from "Pagliacci" and "The Skyrider March." The West Division High a cappella choir will sing.

KEMP, WILLIAMS, WELK JOIN MBS DANCE PARADE

Art Kassel Crew to Open on W-G-N April 2.

Three outstanding dance orchestras will join the W-G-N-Mutual network "Dance Parade" this week. They will be heard on nightly schedules from Chicago dancing places. They are orchestras directed by Hal Kemp, Griff Williams, and Lawrence Welk.

Kemp's orchestra opens on Thursday evening in the Empire room at the Palmer House.

Kemp first rode the air lanes to fame seven years ago over W-G-N on the original "Midnight Flyers" program, a guest night program from the Blackhawk restaurant, which was the talk of listeners for three seasons.

With Kemp's orchestra are his great singing stars, Bob Allen, Janet Blair, and the vocal trio, the Smoothies.

Griff Williams' orchestra begins an engagement in the colorful Continental room at the Hotel Stevens next Saturday with his "Music That Sings as It Swings" orchestra. Williams' crew of entertainers is headed by personable Buddy Marino. Featured on the Williams programs are piano choruses by Griff himself.

Lawrence Welk brings his popular orchestra into the Trianon ballroom and to W-G-N-Mutual on Saturday. This is Welk's first long time engagement at the Trianon and will mark his first music over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network on a regular schedule.

On Tuesday, April 2, Art Kassel and his "Kassel's in the Air" orchestra and singers take over the bandstand at the Bismarck hotel and join the W-G-N-Mutual dance parade.

Continuing the dance cavalcade on Mutual's coast-to-coast "Show of the Week" during March will be the orchestras of Everett Hoagland and Jan Savitt. From 5:30 to 6 p. m. today Hoagland gets the spotlight. This west coast orchestra has won many followers because of their emphasis on music for dancing. On Easter Sunday Savitt will be heard.

CADETS GIVEN BOOST IN RANK AT HYDE PARK

The officers' promotion list for the Hyde Park High school R. O. T. C. unit was anounced last week. The new staff consists of William Scott, lieutenant colonel; Jack Maguire, major; Joseph Sonley, major; Claude Waltrip, adjutant captain, Edwin Cling, captain; Eli Levin, first lieutenant, and Calvin Dellefield, second lieutenant.

Company commanders are Capt. Louis Weile, Capt. Robert Schlessinger, Capt. Charles Moses, Capt. Jack McCord, Capt. Jean Loomis, and Capt. John Crane. First lieutenants appointed are James Beird, George Shuey, Robert Stassel, and Milton Warman.

Those promoted to second lieutenant's rank are Seymour Abrams, Gerd Grombacher, Stewart Horton, Robert Larson, Robert Manders, Robert Nathanson, James Moriarity, Fred Scott, and Robert Wilcox.

Czech Refugees to Gain by Bazar Set for Today

Money will be earned for Czech refugees by the Town of Lake branch of the Czech American National alliance at a bazar which will be held today in the school hall at 48th and Honore streets. Members of the committee are Frank Stepan, chairman; B. B. Vanek, secretary, and Charles Holada, treasurer.

'MUST THE WORLD UNITE?' SUBJECT OF ROUND TABLE

What can we do to assure peace at the close of the present conflict? This is the question that the University of Chicago Round Table speakers will attempt to answer at 1:30 p. m. today over WMAQ. Their topic, "Must the World Unite?" will embrace many questions: Does Streit's "Union Now" point the way? Can a United States of Europe solve the difficulty? Do any of the many plans advanced have merit?

Speakers who will take part are Walter Laves, associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago; Peter Drucker, free lance journalist, and Eugene Staley, professor of international economic relations at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Medford, Mass.

WILMETTE HOME GIVEN NEW LIFE IN REMODELING

Wide Shingles Supplant Old Rough Siding.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

It seems that almost any house, of any size or shape, can take a refreshing drink at the fountain of youth if it is only led up to that fountain by expert architectural guidance.

An instance of this is the residence of Frank G. Watson, 1341 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

The architects, Chatten and Jacobson, 127 North Dearborn street, Chicago, remodeled this house in a number of ways for improvement of its exterior appearance, with no serious structural changes. Indeed, the remodeling of the house resulted in an increase in house value far in excess of alteration costs.

The architects found a house which had a roof with an exceedingly heavy overhang and an oversize attic dormer window, not required for attic lighting. And both roof and dormer were out of proportion to the size of the house.

Rough Siding Replaced.

The roof was simplified and dormer removed, thus giving the effect of greater width to the residence. And the former bay window on the second floor was developed to become a special feature of the exterior and of the large front bedroom.

Then, too, the siding on the exterior walls, which was of rough, sawed boards, had proved an unsatisfactory surface for painting and had given evidence of collecting dust and dirt too rapidly for its own good or for the comfort of the owners. This rough siding was replaced with wide shingles, which were coated with a special mixture of white paint to give a weathered effect in contrast with the painted white trim. New entrance steps of handsome stone of selected colors and a wrought iron railing added to the attractiveness of the entrance.

Siding for Simple Lines.

This spring and summer will see many improvements made on home exteriors, and for those who are interested in "doing things" for their frame houses, or in building a new frame house, it is interesting to note that exterior siding is available in numerous sizes and pleasing patterns.

There is a friendly quality in wood siding. It is a warm, attractive material, with the beauty of simple lines and solid colors, and this modern siding is offered to the home owner thoroly seasoned, properly graded, and carefully machined.

Emphasis on wall "textures" is important in home architecture, and these are possibilities for these textures thru the various patterns in wood siding and its different methods of application.

If you wish you can employ such long used types as drop siding and narrow bevel siding. You can also avail yourself of several types of vertical wood siding, as well as different rustic and wide bevel sidings. And you can combine various types of siding with shakes, shingles, and even with rough stonework to obtain interesting effects.

Almost Like Clapboards.

Bevel siding today is in different widths and is closely similar to the clapboards of nearly 300 years ago; drop siding, usually thicker than bevel siding, makes a strong, durable wall, and flush siding, which offers a flat surface, offers a contrasting accent to patterned walls.

Cottage types of architecture are bringing into wider use the vertical siding, and many interesting effects are possible with its use. Likewise, there are unusual sidings to give a small rustic atmosphere, while shakes, with thick butts, make possible widely spaced, heavy, horizontal shadow lines, without the ordinary texture between.

HOLY ROSARY CHURCH TO OFFER TRE ORE SERVICES ON FRIDAY

Father Moloney.

The Rev. Joseph A. Moloney, assistant pastor, will preach the sermons during the Tre Ore services to be held from 12 o'clock noon until 3 p. m. Friday in Holy Rosary church, 113th street and South Park avenue. Father Moloney will use the seven last words of Christ on the cross as his theme. He will talk at intervals between music offered by a double quartet from Ascension church in Oak Park. John Monahan will direct the choir and Miss Margaret McDevitt Poore will be organist.

According to the Rev. Edward Keough, D. D., pastor of Holy Rosary parish, Protestant and Catholic churches of Roseland are coöperating in asking business men in the district to observe the three hours of Christ on the cross by closing all stores and shops between 12 and 3 o'clock.

This is being urged thru San Salvador council of the Knights of Columbus and the Adelphic bible class of the First Reformed church of Roseland.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, March 18.

Annual flowering plants are unexcelled for the person who rents his home does not care to buy permanent plants. They may be used for colorful, mass planting, as cut flowers, to fill in bare spaces among the shrubs, and in window boxes. Certain kinds are used as climbers. Some annuals should be started early indoors. March is an excellent time to start these plants; soil can be obtained from the greenhouse man. Soil need not be rich, but it should be rather loose, a mixture of loam, sand, and leafmold or peat. Do not sow thick. This invariably causes trouble and loss of many plants. It is wise to prepare the soil, giving suitable drainage by covering the holes in the bottom of the flat or box, and water well before sowing. Allow time for full drainage. The soil should moist but not wet. Most annuals are easily transplanted, but the heliotrope, sweet sultan, nigella and poppylike kinds are not. Some seeds like the portulaca and petunia are so small they should be pressed into the soil, not covered with it.

Tuesday, March 19.

Some annuals will not stand frost after germinating. Among these are the amaranth, celosia, nemesia, torenia and gourds. The sensitive plant is so very interesting a small lot should be sown. It may be listed under the botanical name, Mimosa pudica. The children will get a thrill from touching the leaves and watching them close. Thin seedlings before they get too large; some should have from 18 to 24 inches of space between them; the dwarf kinds will take no more than 6 inches. Edge a bed of cannas with fountain grass. Grow a little cloud grass for use in bouquets. The annual baby's breath is useful with sweet peas in bouquets. California poppies and pot marigold look well together; also snapdragons and dusty miller. Solid beds of verbenas are very fine. Combinations must be carefully arranged for color effect.

Wednesday, March 20.

Lobelia and verbena seeds should be sown now for they require a long season. Just as soon as ground is suitable and the trash is removed from the perennials, spray around the peonies, delphiniums, and many other kinds with Bordeaux mixture to aid in the control of fungous diseases. Many perennials can be divided and transplanted. If the plants are doing well do not disturb them. Some trees do best when spring planted. Examples are magnolias, beech, ornamental cherries and crabs, and flowering dogwood. A magnolia stellata will look well in the back yard borders. Roll the lawn with a heavy roller to even the surface and sow a bit of grass seed on bare spots.

Thursday, March 21.

Do not neglect to give the lawn a feeding with a complete, high grade plant food. Do this early to stimulate the grass and start it into vigorous growth before hot weather. The perennial and shrub borders will be much benefited by application of the same material. Remove all water sprouts that appear after pruning fruit trees. As soon as the nursery stock arrives heel it in the garden and, when the ground is ready, plant carefully. Never hurry with planting. Dig the holes large enough to easily accommodate the roots, and fill in with good soil.

Friday, March 22.

Sow sweet peas as early as possible for they delight in cool conditions. Here are a few carpeting plants that do well in the rockery: Alyssum saxatile compactum, Arabis, Aubrietia, Cerastium, Dianthus, deltoides, Coronilla varia, perennial candytuft, toad flax, and creeping phlox. Try a few of the interesting edelweiss in a sheltered place among the rocks. Formerly, many gardeners planted a few herbs. Many of these can be sown in spring, such as Angelica, which is cooked and the seeds used in flavoring; balm, used as a decocction in fevers; sweet and bush basil, used in flavoring; borage, used for flavoring beverages; chervils, used for salads; fennel, used in sauces; lavender, for making lavender water, and sage, sweet marjoram, summer and winter savory, and thyme for flavoring. Buy roots of mint, thyme, and tarragon.

Saturday, March 23.

The Easter and spring flower show at Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories opens today. Hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. It is free. See that all plants are labelled. Record the name, date of planting, and any other useful information. A garden record book is so valuable that every gardener should keep one. The experiences recorded will be of real worth from year to year. House plants can be transplanted now, but do not overpot. Use good soil. Do not overwater.

[Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.]

TALKS ON GARDEN HERALD SPRING IN CITY PARKS

Troy Standard.

Practical instruction in how to cultivate attractive grounds and decorative house plants will be given by the park district this spring at parks in five sections of the city. The series, which will be free, will begin tomorrow. The same lectures will be given at all five parks and at each location the garden talks will be given in rotation once a week for five weeks. Demonstrations with actual plants and soil material, often accompanied by slide illustrations, will be included for the sake of clarity.

Growing from Seed.

The first of the series will be titled "Growing Your Own Plants from Seeds" and will be presented by Troy Standard of the park district horticultural staff. Mr. Standard is in charge of all florists working in the Garfield park conservatory and all outdoor flower gardens in west side parks. Bringing with him various types of soils, seeds and handy tools and contrivances little known to many gardeners, he will demonstrate the necessary gardening steps, from planting the seeds to the time when plants are ready to be set in the garden.

The first lecture for south and southwest siders will be given at Hamilton park, 72d street and Normal boulevard, at 8 p. m. Tuesday, and at Fernwood park, 10438 South Lowe avenue, at 5 p. m. Wednesday. Other parks which will have lectures are River, Portage, and Austin Town Hall.

Others in Series.

Other lectures will be given as follows: March 27, Hamilton, and March 28, Fernwood, "Methods of Growing Plants Indoors," by Eldred Green, junior horticulturist, Garfield Park conservatory; April 3, Hamilton, and April 4, Fernwood, "Trees, Shrubs and the Lawn of Your Home Grounds," by William E. Shatwell, park district landscape designer; April 10, Hamilton, and April 11, Fernwood, "Propagation Other Than by Seeds," by Rudolph J. Mohr, junior horticulturist, Garfield park conservatory, and April 17, Hamilton, and April 18, Fernwood, "Perennials and Annuals for the Chicago Garden," by Frank K. Balthis, horticulturist, Garfield park conservatory.

WOMEN SPUR ASSEMBLY RACE IN 5TH

PALMS, HYMNS, SPECIAL RITES MARK THIS DAY

Churches Will Echo Joyful Note.

The most celebrated return of a leader to the city of his people took place nearly 2,000 years ago when Jesus Christ rode into Jerusalem on the back of a donkey. He was hailed with the palms and hosannas of a worshipful multitude.

Today, south side churches of all sects will observe the anniversary by blessing and distributing palms, ancient symbols of rejoicing, and offering hymns of joy by their vested choirs.

In most of the churches services will continue to be held thru the week, changing the motif, however, to one of sadness as sorrowful Good Friday approaches. Many pastors will include rites for confirmation classes and for the reception of new members into their congregations, together with reunions of old classes.

Offer Special Music.

Prof. Raymond Allyn Smith, organist and minister of music, has prepared a special program for the vested and junior choirs as a feature of the services today at the Bryn Mawr community church, 7000 Jeffery avenue. The Rev. Theodore K. Vogler, pastor, announces that the young people of the pastor's club will be received into the church membership at the service, which will take place at 11 a. m. The church school will hold a service at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

This morning's services at St. Paul's Episcopal church, 4945 Dorchester avenue, will include Holy Communion at 8 a. m., church school at 9:30 a. m., and morning prayer at 11 a. m. Holy Communion services will be held at 10 o'clock Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday mornings, and at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. The Rev. F. C. Benson is rector.

The Rev. Charles Yelton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, 2309 East 80th street, will preach the Palm Sunday sermon at 11 o'clock this morning and the adult choir will present the oratorio, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," at 7:45 p. m. At noon each day from tomorrow until Good Friday special scriptural quotations of Christ's experiences on the cross will be given by the Rev. Mr. Yelton.

Will Confirm Class.

A class of 21 will be publicly examined and confirmed in the confirmation services beginning at 9:30 a. m. today in Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, 9035 Houston avenue. The Rev. W. C. A. Martens' sermon is "What Then Shall I Do with Christ?"

"Onward Christian Soldiers" will be offered by the men's choral club, "Jerusalem" by the senior chorus, and "Open Our Eyes" by the junior girls' chorus.

At Hyde Park Baptist church, 5600 Woodlawn avenue, a special part of today's services will be a processional of the children with palm branches. The Maundy Thursday communion service will be held at 8 p. m. The Rev. N. L. Tibbetts and the Rev. Rolland W. Schloerb are pastors.

Lebanon Lutheran church, 132d street and Brandon avenue, will hold services at 11 o'clock this morning and 7:30 o'clock this evening. St. Mark's Lutheran church, 740 East 81st place, will hold Palm Sunday services at 9:30 a. m. The Rev. Julius A. Nordlink is pastor of both churches.

Will Receive 22.

A class of 22 members will be received into communicant membership with the church thru confirmation rites beginning at 10 o'clock this morning in St. Paul Lutheran church, 239 East 138th street. The Rev. Walter J. Kemnitz is pastor.

The service at 7:30 o'clock this morning in St. Margaret's Episcopal church, 78th street and Coles avenue, will include the Holy Eucharist and the blessing of the palms. The Holy Eucharist will be distributed every morning at 7 o'clock during Holy Week, according to the Rev. Hugh J. Spencer, pastor.

At the Palm Sunday service at 11 a. m. today in the First Presbyterian church, 6400 Kimbark avenue, the adult choir will render "Ride On" [Scott], and the children's choir will offer "The Palms."

Evening prayer will be held at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and evening prayer will be accompanied by an address at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday. On Maundy Thursday Holy Communion is scheduled for 6:20 and 10:30 a. m., and evening prayer for 3:30 p. m.

At 7:45 o'clock this evening the adult choir will be heard in the cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ." The pastor of the church is the Rev. Harold L. Bowman.

Palm Services Today.

Golgotha Lutheran church, 8000 South Michigan avenue, will hold its Palm Sunday services at 11 o'clock today, including confirmation rites. The Rev. Christian Justesen is pastor.

Two services today, at 9:45 a. m. and 11 a. m., will feature the sermon, "The Lowly King," by the Rev. Lowell R. Ditzen, pastor of South Shore Presbyterian church, South Shore drive and 76th street. At the same time new members will be received into the church. The

8,929 Youths Get Jobs Thru School Bureau

BY PAUL HEALY.

Chicago high school graduates no longer will be likely to look past graduation to a period of bewildering idleness. Out of 17,558 who sought jobs during the last six months of last year, 8,929 were placed.

The reason why 50 per cent of this group was successful is that it applied to a coöperative placement service introduced in April by Superintendent William H. Johnson. The service is a joint arrangement between the Illinois State Employment bureau and the Chicago board of education for the purpose of "intelligently placing young people from high schools and colleges."

The plan is this: the state service finds the jobs thru its scouts and the schools and the board find the student who is qualified and who wants the job. Each of the 37 city schools and Wright Junior college participate in the program, one faculty member in each school suited for personnel work being appointed placement director.

All Are Classified.

One of the duties of the counselor is interviewing all prospective graduates and students who plan to drop out of school in order to classify him physically and psychologically.

Schools in the south and southwest area were most successful in finding jobs thru the plan, according to statistics covering July 1 to Dec. 31, inclusive. In 13 high schools 2,170 applied and 1,690 were placed for an average of more than three out of four. The schools are Tilden, Kelly, Phillips, DuSable, Lindblom, Harper, Hyde Park, Parker, Hirsch, Calumet, Bowen, Morgan Park, and Fenger.

With more than eight months' experience, J. L. Loerb, who has been appointed director of educational research, predicts there will be more applications and more jobs obtained this year by the service. Explanation of the plan by counselors and interviewing prospective job holders is going on continually in the schools, he pointed out.

Where They Found Jobs.

The 8,929 Chicago students who found positions last year thru the program became factory workers, craftsmen, office clerks, sales people, waitresses, and dishwashers, with a few entering the professions. Sixteen per cent became factory workers, doing semi-skilled labor, bench work, and manning machines. Thirteen and a half per cent gained employment in offices, doing clerical, stenographic and other work demanding knowledge of school commercial subjects.

The third highest percentage—1,426—became service workers in hotels and restaurants. Six per cent went into unskilled labor, 4 per cent became salesmen, and 1.98 per cent received jobs in various crafts, one half of 1 per cent became professional workers, one quarter of 1 per cent were in the miscellaneous classification.

Mrs. Olivia Allen is in charge of the downtown bureau of the service located in the board of education headquarters, 228 North La Salle street. As in each school bureau, the downtown office is equipped with all types of occupational information and significant employment trends for use by the counselor in advising his students and alumni.

Serve as Counselors.

Counselors serving in south and southwest side schools are Eli J. Goldberg, Bowen; James L. Churchill, Calumet; Mary R. Smith, DuSable; Inez E. Ostberg, Englewood; William C. Reich, Fenger; John J. Egan, Harper; Susanne Fisher, Hirsch; Glenn M. Fisher, Hyde Park; Vincent P. Maier, Kelly; Lillian Condit, Morgan Park; John McMahon, Parker; Victor Lewis, Phillips, and Hance Williamson, Tilden..

The Illinois Placement service helps conduct school conferences of vocational nature, has a testing service providing for classification of beginning typists and stenographers, reviews job orders for junior workers to discover requirements peculiar to juniors, and continues the research aspects of placement work.

The plan was founded in the spring of 1938 when Superintendent Johnson called a meeting of representatives of the schools and from the state department of labor to discuss the placement problem as it applied to junior workers. The complete plan later was tried out experimentally in five schools. Already figures at the board office include 35,000 classifications and 10,000 placements of junior workers.

C. Y. O. ROUNDUP IS SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 30

The third annual C. Y. O. Roundup will be held March 30 in the 108th engineers' armory, 34th street and Wentworth avenue. Proceeds will be used to increase the facilities of the C. Y. O. homes at 2944 South Michigan avenue, which provide shelter and clothing to homeless youths. South siders on the arrangements committee are Arnold Bond, 2135 Michigan avenue; Mrs. Mary Conway, 6333 Greenwood avenue; Jack Gaffney, 8106 Ellis avenue; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McManus, 1512 East 77th street, and Mrs. B. B. Housick, 5405 Woodlawn avenue.

Parker P.-T. A. Will Hear Lecture on Tuberculosis

A lecture entitled "What a Mother Should Know About Tuberculosis" will be given by Mrs. Mary Palmer, speaker for the Tuberculosis institute of Cook county at a meeting of the Parker Deaf Oral P.-T. A., 6800 Stewart avenue, at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday.

English Setting for Club Drama

Why Julia Considine is crying in a basement kitchen in Kensington, England, and seems to be causing apprehension among her household is all part of the plot of "Far, Far Away," by Philip Johnson, which will be staged by the Bryn Mawr Woman's club on Monday afternoon, March 25, in the auditorium at 7000 Jeffery avenue. The drama is one of three to be presented as part of the annual play program. It will be followed by a general federation golden jubilee party. Julia is being played by Mrs. Robin Williams. Co-players are (left to right) Mrs. Chester Greene, Mrs. A. W. Nielsen, Mrs. J. H. Graham, and Miss Jane Olson.

U. OF C. DEGREES AWARDED SOUTH AREA STUDENTS

45 Are on List at 199th Convocation.

Forty-five students from the south area received degrees at the University of Chicago's 199th convocation last Friday afternoon in Rockefeller Memorial chapel. One hundred eighty-one candidates participated in the ceremony.

William F. Ogburn, Sewell Avery distinguished service professor and chairman of the department of sociology, was the principal speaker, talking on "Four Problems Ahead." President Robert Maynard Hutchins presented the degrees, two-thirds of which were for advanced study.

The convocation was the third of four during the school year and made a total of 1,852 degrees conferred thus far. Of the 181 recipients, 67 took bachelor's degrees, 53 master of arts degrees in arts or science, and 22 became bachelors of philosophy. Three received the degree of Master of Business Administration, 32 became Doctors of Medicine, and three took the J. D. degree in law. One became Doctor of Jurisprudence in law.

Widow Gets Degree.

Among the recipients of the A. B. degree was Mrs. Addie Florence Sweeney, 6019 South Wabash avenue, a widow who entered University college in 1933 after graduation from a junior college. She has supported herself and her parents while working for her degree by teaching elementary subjects in an adult education program. Four foreign students, a Canadian, a Japanese, an Indian, and a Siamese also were graduated.

Other recipients from the south area were as follows: bachelors, Philomela Baker, John Brolley, Ray Bronez, Marshall Brucer, Robert Cooney, Mildred Dennis, Everett Doeded, Frederik Feltham, Mathew Gladstone, Helen Katz, Louise Kilbanow, Jerome Kornfeld, Barbara Lewis, Albert Lilek, Arthur Lowey, Juanita Parsons, Helene Pederson, Donald Polon, Lenore Rakius, Lilliard Reams, Martha Walz, Lucius Wimby, and Evelyn June Witensky.

Get Masters Degrees.

Masters, Brian Donohue, Robert Dubin, Florence Hosch, Jack Indritz, Suzanne Rinck, William Rittschoff, Rose Robbins, Dorothy Rubin, Mary Russell, Jeanne Westheimer.

Doctor of philosophy, Ruth Blair, David Clark, Israel Horwitz, Solomon Klapman, Leo Srole.

Doctor of medicine, Philip Clark.

Grandmothers' Club Holds St. Patrick's Party Today

The Grandmothers' Club of Chicago will hold a St. Patrick's party at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Morrison hotel. Mrs. Carolyn Voss and Mrs. Arthur Anderson are co-chairmen and Mrs. Melva Andre is general publicity chairman. Mrs. Grace Gray is president of the organization and Miss Rose Dyvig is secretary.

REV. CHARLES RAWSON TO TAKE PASTORATE OF BROOKLINE CHURCH

Installation ceremonies for the Rev. Charles A. Rawson, newly appointed pastor of Brookline Presbyterian church, 7300 Maryland avenue, will take place Tuesday evening. The Rev. John Timothy Stone will preach, and the charge to the congregation will be delivered by Dr. Robert Worth Frank, member of the committee on seminary courses for social service of the Chicago church federation.

The Rev. Charles A. Rawson.

Dr. Marcus P. McClure of the local Presbytery will preside and propound the constitutional questions to the pastor and congregation; the Rev. Charles H. Meyer, pastor of Lake View, will read the scripture, and the installation prayer will be given by the Rev. Clifford H. Meyer, professor of homiletics at the Presbyterian Theological seminary.

The Rev. Mr. Rawson and Mrs. Rawson both are graduates of the University of Wisconsin. After serving several pastorates in Wisconsin, Mr. Rawson completed his theological study at the Chicago Presbyterian seminary. His name was presented for approval to the Chicago Presbytery by Edward H. Meckstroth, chairman of the pulpit committee whose choice was unanimous. Mr. Rawson succeeds the Rev. Charles M. Rauch, who was transferred last fall to a church in Indiana.

TEMPLAR GROUP TO HAVE ANNUAL INSPECTION RITES

Chevalier Bayard commandery, Knights Templar, will hold annual inspection next Saturday, at 6331 University avenue. The Order of the Temple will be conferred at 2:30 p. m., under the direction of James Norris Finn of Zion, grand generalissimo. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Ceremonies and reception of the grand commander of Illinois, Charles Hunt Toothe of Galesburg, will be held in the evening. The three principal officers of Chevalier Bayard commandery are: Charles Ernest Clee, commander; George Simpson, generalissimo; William Alfred Hutson, captain general.

Hospital League to Hear National Assembly Reports

The Chicago Women's league of the National Jewish hospital at Denver will hold its next meeting at the Standard club at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Reports of the national meeting will be given. Mrs. Henry A. Stine of 5719 South Kenwood avenue, is honorary president of the league.

SCOUT SUMMER CAMPS ARE TO OPEN ON JULY 1

The 1940 summer camping season for local Boy Scouts will open July 1 at Camp Owasippe, near Whitehall, Mich., and at Camp Kiwanis, in Palos park, near Willow Springs, Ill. This news will be carried soon to 678 troops and 82 ships in the Chicago council by members of the six chapters of the Order of the Arrow, national fraternity for honor Scout campers, acting as personal representatives of W. Arthur McKinney, local council executive.

To supplement their information the boys will bring copies of the latest edition of the Camping Courier, a precamp newspaper; troop and individual camping applications and also pamphlets on camping for parents. The Arrowmen will wear a white shoulder sash on which is sewn a crimson red arrow.

Each of the Chicago council districts will be directed by veteran Arrowmen who will be responsible for 100 per cent troop and ship coverage. Warren Green, 8151 Dorchester avenue, secretary of Moqua chapter, composed of South Shore Scouts, will direct a contingent which will cover the district. In the district are 116 troops and 19 Sea Scout ships.

FIRING STARTS IN BATTLE FOR DELEGATE JOBS

Six Districts Have Fifty Candidates.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The first sparks in the campaigns of some 50 candidates for delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions and an additional 32 candidates as alternates in six congressional districts on the south and southwest sides were struck last week. Considerable heat, indicative of the interest in these coveted posts, already has been generated.

As always the election—not the nomination—of delegates and alternates for both parties in the April primary is involved in the broader and more complex gubernatorial campaign. Particularly is this true among Republican candidates who can be expected, on the basis of early evidence, to wage an exciting and lively battle among themselves.

Both the Green and the Brooks-Lyons camps are bargaining in virtually every district in connection with the delegates and alternates in efforts to increase their own strength. Additional interest is being drawn this year as a result of the controversy over the efforts of Hill Blackett, Chicago advertising executive, to retain the Republican national committeemanship to which he was named last June by the state central committee.

Successor to Harding.

Blackett was chosen to fill the vacancy left by the death of George F. Harding. He is said to have considerable organization strength at this time but his closest advisers admitted last week there also is strong opposition to him. Blackett will serve thru the 1940 convention but his retention of the job depends upon his personal strength among the new delegates. Those chosen in April will elect the national committeeman for the four years following the 1940 convention.

The primary duties of delegates—and of alternates who serve only if one or both of the delegates is unable to act thru illness or death—is the choosing of a presidential candidate at the national convention. The delegates also take part in all the work of the convention, particularly in the drafting of a national party platform.

The delegates draw up state platforms, determine which of their members shall be members of the various convention committees, and usually elect a delegation secretary and often a treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms. They have one other important duty, that of choosing the delegates-at-large at a state caucus to be held prior to the national convention.

50 Delegates Elected.

At both the Democratic and Republican conventions Illinois is given a total of 58 votes—based on population. In the state two delegates and two alternates for each party are chosen from each of the 25 congressional districts. The 50 elected delegates then have the privilege of choosing the remaining eight delegates-at-large from anywhere within the state.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

WILLIAM TABBERT of 2927 East 78th place, a Hirsch High school student, will begin rehearsals with the Chicago City Opera company soon. William was one of 400 aspiring singers who auditioned recently and one of the 75 who were selected to form the chorus for a production in the autumn. A participant in The Tribune's Chicagoland Music Festival for the last three years, he is astonishing in his versatility, since he sings a good tenor and a good bass, as well as an excellent baritone.

William Tabbert.

Student director of Hirsch's thrice city champion chorus, William will be heard at a benefit tea Tuesday afternoon in the school. The proceeds from the tea will go toward sending the chorus to Springfield for a choral conference and contest in which high school groups from four states will participate. Only choruses with "S" ratings are eligible to make the trip. William studied with Charles Keep for two years and last month was awarded a scholarship for daily lessons with Miss Anna Fitzhu, former Metropolitan and City Opera singer. His instructor at Hirsch is Mrs. Helen Kane, 6530 Drexel boulevard.

THE neighbors on East 79th street heard with regret recently that the Mulloy sisters—Katherine and Margaret—had closed up shop for good. Tired of business after 40 years of chatting and haggling with customers, the Mulloys are going to "get away from it all," by idling away their time in travel to other shores.

Until 1921 the Mulloy dry goods store was located at 51st street and Cottage Grove avenue; then it moved to 1837 East 79th street and business went on as usual for 18 years. When the sisters decided they could do without the store for the rest of their lives, they sold it to Mrs. Paul Brodman, president of the South Bryn Mawr Wednesday club and a leader in Girl Scout work, who had been their tenant for nine years. Mrs. Brodman will operate the business with her daughter, Pauline, a graduate of Hirsch High school and Wilson Junior college.

IF Thomas Carmody, son of James F. Carmody, 7931 Emerald avenue, never shows up for class from now until June at Grinnell [Ia.] college, he won't get any notes from the dean's office. He can sleep thru his first class every day, go fishing when the sun shines, or stay in his room and play solitaire, as far as regulations go. Tom's freedom stems from the fact that he was included on the honor list for the first semester. Because he has a "superior" average with no grades below a basic mark, he gets the privilege of unlimited class cuts for the present semester.

"HAWAII is all they say it is, and so is Australia." Such is the latest enthusiastic report from an enthusiastic grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Hayes, 5737 Kenwood avenue, who is journeying alone in another part of the world, as she usually is. This is the traveling grandmother's first spanning of the Pacific ocean. She has crossed the Atlantic an even dozen times, according to her daughter, Ramona Hayes Healy.

The Hats They Wear in the Spring

The average man will want to know why these hats are supposed to be any funnier than the ones he observes daily on contemporary women. Members of the Park Manor Junior Women's club call them surrealistic and will model them as bonnets far different from their own at the club's "federation night" Tuesday evening in the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 6545 South Union avenue. The models and their strange "creations" are (left to right) Mrs. Leo Cook (cheese grater), Mrs. George Miller (funnel), Mrs. Arthur Ruff (knitting needles and yarn), Mrs. Bolton Dixner (Easter basket), and Mrs. Frank Brinkman (cocktail glass).

SEEK FEMININE VOTES ON BOTH PARTY FRONTS

Campaign on Work and Tax Issues.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Ballots are bullets in the "fighting 5th" ward which will furnish much of the ammunition for the battles over two Democratic and two Republican nominations for three jobs as state representatives from the 5th senatorial district. Zero hour is 6 a. m., April 9, when polls will open for the primary election.

Helene Leach.

This district failed to provide a single vote for the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill in the 1939 session of the house of representatives. It includes parts of the 3d, 4th, and 6th wards, as well as the entire 5th ward.

Two women candidates are demonstrating more than their share of energy in the campaign. They are Matilda Fenberg, 5401 Cornell avenue, a Republican, and Helene Leach, 5481 Ellis avenue, Democrat. Both assert that they could improve the district's standing among the lawmakers at Springfield.

Matilda Fenberg.

Miss Fenberg is one of the best known women lawyers in Chicago. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago and the Yale university law school, where she was the first woman to matriculate.

One of the leaders in securing passage of the law placing women on juries, Miss Fenberg is obtaining a wider audience than the average candidate by appearing before scores of nonpolitical meetings of neighborhood, civic, and women's clubs.

Bars Down for Candidates.

"It is a healthy sign for this district that the trend is changing, and that all of these nonpartisan organizations now want to see the people who are running for public office," Miss Fenberg said. "In the last campaign candidates were barred from appearing before many of these gatherings."

Miss Fenberg is assuring the women's groups that she will carry on their fight against proposed restrictions on working women. In the 1939 session a law was introduced to forbid the employment of married women whose husbands have jobs.

"There would be just as much sense in a law forbidding the employment of a man who has $10,000 in assets," she said.

Miss Fenberg was a Republican nominee for the legislature two years ago, but lost out in the Democratic sweep of the district.

Feminine spark in the Democratic powder box, Miss Leach also is an attorney. She is supporting the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett insurgent Democratic ticket. Her headquarters in the 5th ward will be opened this week, she said. Sound trucks will carry her campaign thru the district in the final fortnight of the campaign.

No Sales Tax on Food.

Miss Leach points to her five years' practice as a lawyer and to her platform for proof that she has her feet on the ground. Her slogan is, "With malice toward none and justice for all." The "all" means all residents of the district, she says.

"Justice calls for removing the sales tax from food in the 1941 session," Miss Leach said. "The tax should be abolished in time. As an attorney who has had experience before the parole board, I favor passage of the Ward-Schnackenberg parole reform bill. It is just to the public which must be protected, and just to the prisoner who does not have political pull."

Miss Leach's candidacy was aided last week when J. Gail Strader, 5415 Drexel avenue, announced he would drop out of the house campaign to devote all of his time to his race for the post of Democratic committeeman of the 5th ward. A third woman candidate, Margaret Kathryn Woods of 5408 University avenue, is not listed in the telephone book.

With Strader's withdrawal, the most active male candidate opposing the Democrats having regular organization backing was David X. Meyers, 5423 Hyde Park boulevard, operator of the Hotel Sherman garage.

Seeks I. C. Transfers.

Meyers last week pledged himself to work toward revision of the parole laws and elimination of the sales tax on food if he is elected. He said he will seek a means of including the Illinois Central railroad service between the south side and downtown within the universal transfer system.

In his intensive canvass of voters

DISRESPECT TO FLAG.

One of the most disgraceful tributes to the American flag is on display in the town of Dolton. On a WPA shanty at the intersection of 144th and Chicago streets is an American flag which has been up day and night for about the last three months thru the inclement weather and all. Never raised in the morning or taken down at night. All tattered, dirty, and torn to shreds. What a tribute to "Old Glory" under whose protection these men work! That would be a fine thing for the American Legion to take up not only here, but thruout the country. There are many other government projects that disgrace the flag the same way. DOLTONITE.

FROM GARY CHURCHES.

Our Gary Council of Churches is deeply grateful to you for the generous article you featured in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE about the work of the local council.

Indeed, the whole cause of ecumenicity was aided in no small way by the publicity given us so attractively. Fine letters have come in asking for more details and expressing pleasure with the progress made.

Our very sincerest thanks to you.

CANDIDATES RIP NEW DEALERS IN CONGRESS RACE

G.O.P. Leaders See Signs of Coming Change.

New Dealers were the focal points for vigorous pounding by both Democratic and Republican delegates in the congressional primary race in Chicagoland's south and southwest areas last week. Public discontent with rubberstamp Democrats was reflected in campaigns waged in all six of the districts included herewith.

A revival of fighting spirit among the G. O. P. candidates and evidence of independent thinking among the voters are interpreted by Republican leaders as signs of coming change. The same interest in the primaries has not been taken, leaders say, since the Hoover election in 1928.

Despite Chicago's recent history as a Democratic stronghold there are indications at this time that most of the city's representatives in the lower house of the next congress will be G.O.P. members.

Each of the major parties will confer six nominations in this area on April 9. Twenty Democrats, most of them regular party members, and 35 Republicans are in the fight.

FIRST DISTRICT

The spotlight here still is on the fight that Willard S. Townsend, international president of the Red Cap's union, is waging to seize the Democratic nomination from Arthur W. Mitchell, first Negro Democrat sent to congress and a three time winner in the district. Townsend, altho a new comer to politics, is being conceded an excellent chance to topple Mitchell despite the latter's machine backing.

Mitchell's do-nothing record in congress and his action in supporting an extension of the so-called nuisance taxes are held detrimental to him as was his recent anti-Dies vote. At the same time Townsend, college trained and with the experience gained in organizing and administering his union behind him, is campaigning vigorously.

Last week Townsend continued to appeal for the votes of labor. His platform is devoted almost entirely to labor planks, and in speeches he said that the Negro's greatest current need is opportunity in the trade crafts' field. He has pledged himself to the work of obtaining these opportunities for his people and the economic security they will bring.

G.O.P. Race Broadening.

The Republican race in this district is broadening. The fight was considered to be confined to three of the eight candidates but a fourth serious contestant has been injected. He is Carl A. Hansberry, colored real estate broker, who is making a serious fight. The other principals are former state Senator William E. King, former Congressman Oscar De Priest and Patrick B. Prescott, all of whom are Negroes.

Platforms of all four of these candidates are substantially alike. All of them advocate passage of anti-lynching laws, legislation intended to promote business and employment, social security, unemployment compensation and old age assistance within the bounds of a sound national budget.

King and De Priest are stressing their experience. Prescott, who, like King, is an attorney, has announced himself as favoring a strong federal anti-goon bill; adequate national defense, particularly in the air, and a continued separation of powers of government as far as possible. Prescott, a specialist in constitutional law, also declared for "the inviolability of the Supreme court as the guardian and expounder of our constitution."

SECOND DISTRICT

Edward P. Garrity's vigorous attempts to wrest the Democratic nomination from Congressman Raymond S. [Anti-Dies] McKeough, the regular organization candidate, continued to be the storm center for the three Democratic contestants here.

Garrity has continued his outspoken denunciation of McKeough's vote, along with 20 other Democrats, in congress last January against continuance of the Dies investigation into un-American activities in the United States. The 21 "rubber-stamp New Dealers" were outvoted by their colleagues by 345 votes, and the Dies committee was given $75,000 to continue its work.

"It's time for a change," is Garrity's slogan, repeated at all his precinct meetings. He said last week that he did not believe the people of the 2d district would return McKeough because the latter had proved himself to be a "jelly-fish representative." McKeough's six years of service in congress, Garrity contends, have served only to prove his incapacity for the job.

Defeated in 1938.

Garrity, who lives at 4830 Kimbark avenue, was defeated by McKeough in the 1938 primary by a narrow margin. Without the support of the powerful machine backing McKeough, Garrity gathered 24,454 votes. His supporters this year predict that even McKeough's machine assistance will not be sufficient.

The Republican picture in this district seems to be clarifying somewhat with three principals now appearing to be standouts among the 11 candidates. In the order of their apparent support these men are: Congressman Patrick H. Moynihan who served the district in 1934 but was unseated in 1936 by McKeough; Emmett F. Byrne, attorney, and Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th].

Moynihan, who was four times a Chicago alderman and formerly was chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, is a seasoned campaigner and bases his appeal to voters upon his experience, service, and ability. He also is calling attention to his fight in the 73d congress for development of the Calumet Waterway and Lake Calumet. He charges that McKeough has neglected this improvement which is of great importance to the 2d district.

He's Anti-New Deal.

Byrne, one of the most active of the young Republican leaders on the south side, is making his campaign strictly on an anti-New Deal platform. He declared last week:

"Business and industry must look to the legislative branch of our national government for relief from punitive tax regulations and arbitrary governmental interference. There has been too much centralization of power in Washington. When these unreasonable restrictions and barnacles are removed from business and industry, confidence will be restored and re-employment stimulated.

"Federal boards and commissions have usurped the power which properly belongs to congress. A concrete example of this is the workings and activities of the National Labor Relations board, now under investigation by the Smith committee."

Byrne lives at 5019 Drexel boulevard, is married and the father of six children. He has been an assistant corporation counsel, assistant state's attorney, and twice was nominated as candidate for Municipal court judge on the Republican ticket. In the 1936 primary he received 1,302 votes in the Chicago Bar association primary, running fifth among 45 Republican candidates. All four men who were ahead of him were sitting judges.

Ald. Lindell's chances of winning the Republican nomination were believed injured last year when he stumped the 8th ward—part of this district—on behalf of a Democrat. He has strong support, however, in his own ward and must be considered a contender.

THIRD DISTRICT

Congressman Edward A. Kelly appears certain to be renominated on the Democratic ticket and the only battles are expected to be those between the five Republican candidates. And among the Republicans, Waldemar J. Roehler and Goodwin L. Dosland appeared last week to be definitely the standouts.

In frequent appearances in all sections of the district Roehler has explained that his policies call for a program of "minding our own business and concentration of governmental attention upon American economic and social problems. He urged further serious effort toward collection of foreign world war debts. Roehler is in the investment business.

Dosland, an attorney and Republican nominee two years ago, pledges himself for common sense in government, an independent congress, permanent peace and avoidance of European politics, and a halt to reckless spending.

FOURTH DISTRICT

The quiet of this district has yet to be disturbed by campaigning. Congressman Harry P. Beam has no opposition for the Democratic nomination. And neither Joseph F. Wronski nor Henry F. Schmuddle, the Republican candidates, are making strong fights. The history of the district shows it to be overwhelmingly Democratic.

SIXTH DISTRICT

Altho there are nine Democratic candidates in this district A. F. [Whitey] Maciejewski, Cicero's political boss for the last 10 years is said to be certain to receive the nomination. Maciejewski's machine politics are believed more than sufficient to override charges that he has padded payrolls, increased city costs, tripled the city's water bills, and generally created financial chaos there. Maciejewski denies charges that he has entered a number of easy candidates to split the Irish vote in the district.

The Republican fight appeared to center between Joseph Wagner, Berwyn dairy owner and Michael J. Creighton, an independent candidate in 1938. David M. Jacobson, young 29th ward attorney, is also making a strong fight. Last week he advocated establishment of a congressional bureau to provide assistance to young people who contemplate marriage. Funds for this purpose are available under the Social Security act and no further taxation would be required, he said.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

The battle here is between Republicans Walter T. Woodcock, 624 Lincoln avenue, Elgin, the 40 year old publisher of the Elgin Tribune, a weekly newspaper, and Congressman Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, who is seeking his fourth term. Woodcock, altho a newcomer to politics, is waging a lively campaign thru the four counties included in this district.

Reed continues to campaign "on his record." He was for 14 years, prior to his election in 1932, the state's attorney of Du Page county and he has been content to make a quiet effort. His boast is that he voted at 295 out of 297 roll calls at the last session of congress, and that he has been a consistent proponent of free enterprise and less government meddling.

A 12 point program is Woodcock's speaking foundation. He favors "More jobs in industry—less in WPA; Production of the American workman against competitive labor;" Cessation of sandbagging business thru government interference;" "Less government control of radio;" "No war at any cost, by keeping money, men and ships at home." His appeal in this rockribbed Republican district is to the mature vote.

The Democratic nomination is assured for Attorney Edgar O. Eakin of Elgin because he is unopposed. Two years ago he was the losing candidate for state senator.

Congress Race

Edward P. Garrity [Dem., 2d District]
John De Koker Jr. [Rep., 3d District]

Edward E. Kennedy [Rep., 6th District]
C. A. Hansberry [Rep., 1st District]

These four are among the candidates for nominations to congress from districts in the south area. Their first test will come in the primary election on April 9.

Leads Cantata

Miss Mary Ruth Craven, 1423 East 53d street, director of the Hyde Park Methodist church choir and organist, is in charge of the new cantata, "Forsaken by Man," by Leo Sowerby, which will be presented in the sanctuary of the church, 54th street and Blackstone avenue, at 8 o'clock Friday evening. [Maurice Studio.]

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB TO HEAR DR. H. W. RUOPP

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp.

Dr. Harold W. Ruopp, who began his ministry at Central church last September, succeeding Dr. Frederick Shannon, will make his first appearance before the audience of the Sunday Evening club tonight in Orchestra hall. The subject of his address will be "A Strategy for Life." Clarence B. Randall will preside in the absence of Clifford W. Barnes, and the scripture will be read by Bernard E. Sunny, trustee of the club and president of the board of Central church.

Dr. Ruopp was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1921. For a year he taught in Miami university and then entered the school of theology at Boston university, graduating in 1926, the while serving as assistant minister at Central Congregational church, Boston, Mass. He spent the following year abroad, Berlin and Oxford, studying under a fellowship, and returned to this country for two Methodist pastorates in Ohio—Dayton and Delaware. In 1935 Dr. Ruopp was called to the Congregational church of Stoneham, Mass.

The music at the informal hour preceding the main meeting will be furnished by the Coe college band of Cedar Rapids, Ia., under the direction of Stanley Vesely.

BENEFIT CAGE TOURNEY OPENS THURSDAY AT 'Y'

Needy boys and girls will benefit from the sixth annual South End open basketball tournament which will be held from Thursday thru March 30 in the 111th Street Y. M. C. A. More than $200 was earned last year and was used by the "Y" to finance activities for boys and girls who could not afford to pay.

There will be two divisions in the tournament, 145 pound and heavyweight. Entries will close tomorrow and are handled by Lowell Zippel, 105 East 115th street.

Assisting Mr. Zippel on the committee are Edgar Bolduc, Edward Karney, Donald Klopfer, Wallace Howard, Frank Birtja, and H. T. Dixon. There will be team and individual awards.

in the neighborhood Meyers is asking them to vote for him alone among the legislative candidates. Marking the ballot for just one house candidate gives that candidate three votes. Altho Meyers is unmarried, he is the head of a large family, including his mother, seven sisters, and three brothers.

The regular Democratic organization candidates have less missionary work to do on behalf of their candidacies, but are following the strenuous routine of attending precinct and ward meetings to meet the voters. The two approved by Nash-Kelly headquarters are Representative Louis G. Berman, 1765 East 55th street, and Stillman M. Frankland, 5107 Blackstone avenue.

Manager of Linn.

Berman is ending his third term in the house. He has joined his opponents in advocating economy in state expenditures. His teammate, Frankland, who is 29 years old, is secretary to City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber. He managed the campaign of the late Prof. James Weber Linn in 1938 and is seeking the seat vacated by Linn's death.

"I will devote myself vigorously to my constituents," Frankland has been telling the voters. "I will study carefully all proposed legislation and then vote on it honestly without fear or favor."

Other aspirants for the Democratic nominations are Herman Forel, 5326 Drexel avenue, insurance dealer; Attorney George C. Adams, 4757 South Park way; Booker McNeamon Money, 6008 Calumet avenue; James E. Murphy, 6234 Ingleside avenue, who also is a candidate for ward committeeman; John J. Sullivan, 6218 Vernon avenue, who was formerly bailiff to Judge Denis J. Normoyle, and John J. Jackson, 4720 Prairie avenue.

Law School Executive.

Because the other men trying for the Republican nominations are colored, Noble W. Lee, 5541 Woodlawn avenue, has Miss Fenberg as his chief opponent on the basis of voting habits in the district. Lee is associate dean of the John Marshall law school and president of the South Park Improvement association.

"I believe that 1940 is going to be a Republican year nationally and that Illinois is very likely to elect a Republican governor," Lee said. "If so, he will need the full support of a real Republican legislature. That kind of support I am prepared to help give."

Dean Lee said the sales tax should be reduced from 3 cents to 2 cents, and that all revenue from it should be used solely for relief. State spending should be cut at least 20 per cent by eliminating waste in state purchasing and by cutting salaries of state employés in the higher income brackets, he said.

Charge Party Desertion.

Opponents of the present Republican incumbent are fighting to make the voters withstand the temptation of simply marking the first name on the ballot. The top spot is his according to tradition. Desertion of his party at numerous critical times in Springfield is charged against the incumbent, William J. Warfield.

Recently the incumbent admitted having Democratic state administration patronage. Last week only one of the four G. O. P. ward committeemen in the district would say that he has indorsed Warfield for a seventh term. This was Charles Krutckoff [4th].

"The incumbent is for Green for governor in the 5th ward, and he's for Lyons for governor in the 4th ward," said Clifford T. Johnson, a leading opponent and a manufacturer of beauty preparations. "When he's in Springfield he's for the Democrats. Nobody knows where he stands on anything."

Johnson, whose alert political "savvy" made him secretary of the 4th ward G. O. P. organization—which he quit to run independently of Krutckoff—said that his people are aroused by the situation. He declared that they want "real Republican" representation.

De Priest Aids White.

Edward N. White, who lives in the 6th ward at 6550 St. Lawrence avenue and manages a drug store in the 3d ward, last week appeared to have the full support of Oscar De Priest, 3d ward committeeman. He has been a pharmacist in Chicago for 25 years. His wife is a public school teacher.

"My program is to cut waste out of state government to permit adequate relief," said White, who is known to his friends as "Doc." "Furthermore, the sales tax must be removed from food and from medicine. Penalties on back taxes should be lifted so that these taxes can be paid promptly."

White is a supervisor of 21 precincts in the 3d ward and is credited with being loyal to Republican principles. He is making an aggressive campaign.

Observers in the district said that the recent indictment of three men on charges of evading income tax payments on income from the policy game racket may affect the outcome of the primary. Prosecution of vote fraud participants before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki in the last few months also may help produce an honest election, these observers said.

Other G. O. P. candidates are Benjamin H. Crockett Sr., 4403 Calumet avenue; Madison C. B. Mason, 6150 South Park way; Paul Branch, 5606 South Michigan avenue, and W. Thomas Soders, 4837 Forrestville avenue.

In Musical

Evelyn Freedman, 7038 Clyde avenue, will contribute violin selections for the spring musical to be presented at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Hamilton Park Woman's club in the clubrooms at 72d street and Normal boulevard. Mrs. I. L. Roberts, music chairman, is in charge of the program. [Du Bois—the Drake.]

Englewood Concert.

The Concordia Ladies' Singing society will give a concert Sunday, April 14, in the West Englewood Masonic temple, 64th street and Loomis boulevard.

REALM OF ART TO BE EXPLORED BY CLUB WOMEN

Artists Are to Speak at Meeting Wednesday.

Various fields in the realm of art will be considered by the guest artists who have been invited to meet with Mrs. Leroy B. Herbst, second district art chairman, and the art delegates on Wednesday evening in Mrs. Herbst's home, 6735 Oglesby avenue. There also will be an exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Torrey will talk on "Sculpture," Mrs. Ethel Crouch Brown, Miss Florence White Williams, Tunis Ponsen, and Louis Jensen will discuss "Painting," Miss Nan Rice, "Portrait Painting," and Howard Brown, "Etching."

Arche Club.

A tour of the Chicago Historical society in Lincoln park is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Tea will be served. There will be no meeting on Good Friday. New officers of the art study class are Mrs. Edward Heinz Jr., chairman; Mrs. Joseph Foran, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Boyd, treasurer.

Bryn Mawr Woman's Club.

Mrs. John F. Stehle, art and literature chairman, will present the guest speaker, Mrs. E. Gordon Fox, at the 11 o'clock session tomorrow morning. Mrs. Fox will lecture on "Russian Laws and Customs," exhibiting historical treasures collected during her stay in Russia in 1929 and 1930.

"Propaganda, 1914 and 1940 Compared," will be the subject of Dr. Curtis D. MacDougall's talk at 2 o'clock. The speaker is a lecturer in journalism at Northwestern university. An illustrated talk on "Know Your Money," released thru the treasury department of the United States secret service, will be presented by the civics committee.

Chesterfield Woman's Club.

Miss Katherine Hunter will discuss "America's National Defense" before the club at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Guest soloist will be Sam Filippo. Tea will be served by Mrs. William Bogner, Mrs. M. H. Beelby, Mrs. John Morris, and Mrs. J. L. Dalley.

Chrysolite Club.

"Romanc of Fabrics" will be revealed by Mrs. William Hammer at the club meeting Tuesday in the Del Prado hotel. Mrs. W. G. Conner, program chairman, will be in charge. After luncheon, there will be a card party, arranged by Mrs. W. G. Clancy.

Grace Darling Woman's Club.

Mrs. Herbert Mosher, 7927 Eberhart avenue, will be hostess to the club at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow evening, with Mrs. Thomas Murphy as assistant hostess. Mrs. Thomas Barry is president.

Garden Homes Woman's Club.

A fine arts program will be presented on Wednesday afternoon when the club entertains the membership of the Chesterfield club. Mrs. O. H. Runyan will review Richard Llewellyn's "How Green Was My Valley," and the art of "Trashcraft" will be explained by Mrs. C. Rosenberg Foster, the originator and an instructor at Du Sable High school.

The cast for "Distinguished Service," a one act play, includes Miss Dorothy Mameck, Miss Lois Stephen, and Miss Barbara Jean Lomas. Mrs. John Stiles will lead the singing by the audience.

Hyde Park Travel Club.

R. E. Pattison Kline will lecture on "Interpretation of Public Affairs" at the 11 o'clock club meeting tomorrow. A discussion will follow. Officers will be elected at the annual business meeting at 2 o'clock. Miss Cora B. Mowbray, public welfare chairman, will display the four suitcases which the club will present to the Juvenile court for distribution among the young girls who are dismissed. The suitcases contain dresses, underwear, hosiery, and toilet articles.

Park Manor Woman's Club.

Mrs. C. W. Swatzel, president, will preside at the board meeting Tuesday before the club convenes at 11 o'clock. After luncheon, Mrs. F. M. Kline, literature chairman, will present Ebba Lennstrum in a reading of "Family Portrait." Mrs. A. H. Williamson, international relations chairman, will introduce Edwin Clough, executive director of the Citizens' association, who will discuss "International Trends Today."

South Shore Woman's Club.

Mrs. E. J. Veeck will demonstrate the making of sandwiches before members at a 2 o'clock meeting Tuesday. The program chairman, Mrs. Fred Acker, will present Mrs. Emily Lee, who will review Augusta Tucker's "Miss Susie Slagle's." Nominations for new officers will be made at the business session.

University Church Women.

Carroll Rikas will discuss "The Future of the Church in Europe" for members at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The speaker is a native of Poland and a priest in the Polish National church.

Windsor Park Woman's Club.

Members will attend the regular meeting Tuesday and entertain for their annual guest night Wednesday in their clubrooms in the Windsor Park Masonic temple. The guest speaker Tuesday will be Mrs. Julia Bock Harwood, whose subject will be "Shopping Around the World."

The art department, of which Mrs. Burr T. Beachel is chairman, will present the morning program. Mrs. LeRoy Simpson will read a paper on El Greco, Miss Mary Harvey on Velasquez and Mrs. A. F. Robertson on Murillo. Mrs. G. P. Polzin is reception chairman and Mrs. Jack Hansen is social committee chairman.

Mrs. Theodore Lely, president, will greet the guests Wednesday night. In contrast to programs of 30 years ago when the group played charades and parlor games on "Men's Night," Mrs. Guy A. Nelson, program chairman, has planned a serious program on events of national interest. Dr. Charles Copeland Smith, minister, sociologist, and lecturer, will address the audience on "Freedom—Our American Dynamic." Norman Corban, baritone, will be presented by Mrs. John E. Baillie, music chairman. Mrs. Albert J. Ratz will be hostess at the social hour after the lecture.

Woodlawn Mothers' Round Table.

An international relations program will feature Mrs. Frank Specht of the Better Government association, who will discuss the international situation. Mrs. M. S. Beals, music chairman, has planned a "Parade of Talent," under the direction of Mrs. Alma Wilson MacMahill, with Miss Hazel Hersh as accompanist.

Woodlawn Study Club.

Students of Hyde Park High school will present a musical and dramatic program for the meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Plaisance hotel, with Mrs. W. R. Smith presiding.

Woodlawn Woman's Club.

Mrs. Phillip S. Blanchard, music chairman, will present the Opera quartet at the Tuesday afternoon meeting in the Southmoor hotel. The quartet includes Henrietta Chase, soprano; Verade Camp, contralto; Julian Miller, tenor, and Reid Hillyard, bass.

G. W. Bennett of the Illinois State Natural history survey of Urbana will speak at the morning session.

Woodshore Woman's Club.

For the Tuesday evening club meeting in the Plaisance hotel, Miss Roslyn Jane Newman will play a piano solo and Lieut. Phillip Brietzke of the detective bureau, Chicago police department, will speak on "Police and the Criminal." Hostesses will be Miss Corinne Lawlew, Mrs. R. C. Wolfe, Mrs. William Greer, and Mrs. Albert Brown.

IRISH POET TO SPEAK AT CARROLL FORUM IN LOOP THIS AFTERNOON

Maurice Leahy.

"Ireland Today" will be discussed this afternoon before the Charles Carroll forum by Maurice Leahy, Irish poet and critic, in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House. The Rev. James A. Magner, founder of the forum, will preside. Maurice Leahy was born in County Kerry in 1900, educated at Kings college and the University of London, and is a charter member of the Catholic Poetry society in England. He is best known for his anthology of Catholic poetry and his "Thoughts from St. Benedict." Preceding Mr. Leahy's lecture Rosary College Choral society, directed by Gregory Konold, professor of music at De Paul university, will sing.

Plan Welcome for Members

Members of the committee in charge of the spring tea to be given by the South Shore Service league of the Chicago Maternity center gathered at the home of Mrs. J. J. Cavanaugh (extreme left), 4944 Woodlawn avenue, to make plans for the annual affair at which new members are welcomed into the organization. The tea will be given at Mrs. Cavanaugh's home on March 27. The league supports the Chicago Maternity center, 1336 South Newberry avenue. Mrs. Cavanaugh is aided by (left to right) Mrs. Charles Bradford, 7214 South Shore drive; Mrs. W. E. Heaton, 7128 Coles avenue, and Mrs. Sidney Wanzer, 2211 East 68th street.

44 SOUTH AREA WOMEN RECEIVE RED CROSS PINS

Awards for Service to War Victims.

Forty-four of the 76 Chicago women who were awarded Red Cross Service pins last week are from the south area, according to James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross. The pins are awarded to service volunteers who have given 144 hours of service.

Twenty-one additional cases of garments and surgical dressings produced by women in the city and suburbs were shipped to Europe recently. The war relief shipments included 6,143 garments and 2,123 dressings consigned to Finland and Poland. In the latter country they will be distributed to Polish war victims under the supervision of Red Cross representatives.

Aid Disaster Victims.

In addition to war relief supplies, volunteers are producing thousands of garments for disaster victims in this country and over a million surgical dressings annually for local hospitals and welfare organizations.

Award winners in the south area are Mrs. Elizabeth Czabrowski, Mrs. C. D. Hill, Mrs. Rose Czapelska, Mrs. Carolina Czarnecka, Mrs. Helen Frankowska, Mrs. Kate Kapanowska, Mrs. Aniela Kuca, Mrs. Paulina Marciniak, Mrs. Victoria Matuszewska, Mrs. Tekla Molenda, Mrs. Sophie Opczynska, Mrs. Helen Schmidt, Mrs. Mary Twarowska, Mrs. Julia Zelmanska, Mrs. Mary Zeszuto, Mrs. Stefni Zielazniewicz, Mrs. Bertha Zurawska.

Others Receive Pins.

Mrs. Frances Sadechi, Mrs. Angeline Bober, Mrs. Magdalene Budzieszewska, Mrs. Victoria Dombek, Mrs. Barbara Grudzien, Mrs. Sophia Jakubek, Mrs. Lottie Janka, Mrs. Sophia Jemielo, Mrs. Pauline Kmak, Mrs. Caroline Kosinska, Mrs. Angeline Pepinske, Mrs. Irene Lowniczak, Mrs. Pauline Maciejewska, Mrs. Jennie Sliz, Mrs. Natalie Wojslaw.

Mrs. G. T. Bauer, Mrs. Peggy Lawrence, Mrs. Lillian Ziolkowski, Mrs. Birdie Harris, Mrs. Grace Hofbauer, Mrs. Agnes Howell, Mrs. Catherine Murphy, Mrs. Samuel Flower, Mrs. H. S. Hoenigberger, and Mrs. William Markheim.

Medical Group Will Hear of Whaling for Science

An illustrated lecture entitled "Whaling for Science" will be given by Dr. Eugene Geiling at the next meeting of the Jackson Park Women's auxiliary of the Chicago Medical society at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Raymond McPherron, 8200 Harper avenue.

JUNIORS TO NOTE 1ST ANNIVERSARY TOMORROW NIGHT

Woodshore Group to Give 3 One-Act Plays.

Miss Alice Field.
[Marshall Studio.]

Federation night and the first anniversary of the club will be observed by the Woodshore Juniors tomorrow evening in Grand Crossing fieldhouse, 76th street and Ingleside avenue. Miss Alice Field, president, and Miss Marie Greilman, social chairman, will be in charge of arrangements.

The program will open with the community singing of a greeting song to the tune of "The Sidewalks of New York" with words by Miss Ethelyn Ahern, contact chairman.

Three one-act plays will be presented, "The Actress and the Lady," "The Fortune Teller," and "A Bird in Hand." Members of the casts will be Miss Betty Jean Hochenedel, Miss Kathleen Toon, Mrs. Rudolph Grahn, Miss Grace Salisbury, Miss Field, Miss Erna Mahler, and Miss Avian Reinemeyer. Helene Ellis, treasurer, will furnish the piano accompaniment.

Special guests will include Mrs. Alfred L. Jacobs, state junior chairman; Mrs. J. B. Simson, district president; Mrs. W. B. Bowers, district first vice president; Mrs. Ivan Henderson , district second vice president; Mrs. J. W. Weaver, district recording secretary; Mrs. Hugh C. Cordick, district corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren H. Lutton, district teasurer; Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin, state parliamentarian; Mrs. Roy E. Gaut, district chairman of junior clubs; Mrs. Miles E. Lamphiear, president of Woodshore Woman's club; Mrs. O. H. Runyan, past district president, and Mrs. Frank Dow.

Presidents of junior clubs in the district, their contact chairmen, and mothers are also invited to attend.

Bryn Mawr Junior Auxiliary.

Members will see "Life with Father" at the Blackstone theater Tuesday evening following a dinner at a loop restaurant. France Innes will be in charge of arrangements.

Chesterfield Juniors.

St. Patrick's day will be celebrated tomorrow evening in the home of Miss Florence Derby, 442 East 88th street. Having entitled the meeting "The Green Trunk," each member will bring a gift for the club hope chest. The accumulated gifts are presented to the next bride from the club.

Miss Lillian Dyksma, program chairman, will introduce a speaker from the Juvenile court. Co-hostess will be Miss Verneda Rodriquez.

Park Manor Juniors.

The first federation night of the club will be held Tuesday evening in the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 6545 Union avenue. Mrs. J. P. Sundeen, Mrs. W. C. Darling, Mrs. W. A. Wallace, and Mrs. E. L. Eckersall.

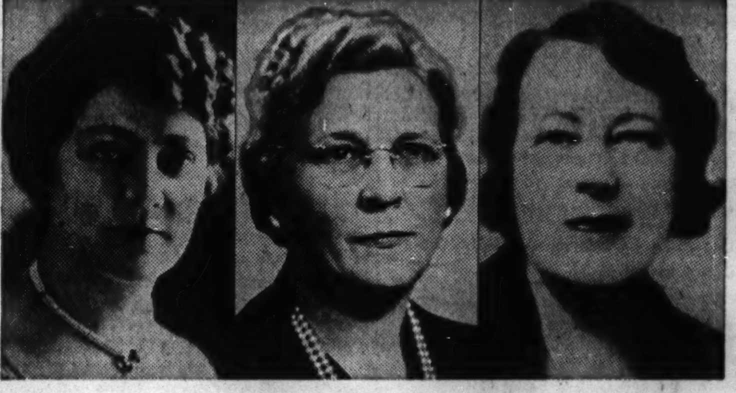
Surrealist hats, made of kitchen and household equipment, will be modeled by Mrs. L. C. Cook, Mrs. A. D. Ruff, Mrs. G. J. Miller, Miss Myrtle Aronson, and Mrs. F. W. Brinkman. Mrs. J. A. Boyd will read a humorous poem describing each hat to the piano accompaniment of Miss Lucille Olson.

"The Collect Speaks," a playlet, will be staged by Mrs. Sundeen, Mrs. D. K. Stephens, and Mrs. W. W. Cox. Mrs. Diana Sheridan, guest speaker, will talk on "Madonnas" and a girls' quintet called "The Star Dusters" will sing several songs. Chairmen of the district will be introduced by Mrs. B. A. Dixner.

Tuberculosis Lecture.

The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County has arranged a program for the Burroughs school, 3542 South Washtenaw avenue, for 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Mary Palmer will lecture on "What a Mother Should Know About Tuberculosis."

Club Hostesses and Book Reviewer



Mrs. O. H. Runyan. [Waters Photo.] Mrs. Theodore Lely. [Marshall Photo.] Mrs. LeRoy B. Herbst. [Moffett Photo.]

In the rôle of hostess this week will be Mrs. LeRoy B. Herbst, second district art chairman, and Mrs. Theodore Lely, president of the Windsor Park Woman's club. Mrs. Herbst will entertain the district art delegates and a group of Chicago artists on Wednesday evening in her home, 6735 Oglesby avenue. As official hostess for her club, Mrs. Lely will welcome members and friends for the annual Guest night Wednesday evening in the Windsor Park Masonic temple, 75th street and Coles avenue. Mrs. O. H. Runyan, former second district president, will give a book review on the fine arts program being arranged for the Garden Home Woman's club meeting Wednesday afternoon.

COUNTRY CLUB STARTS WORK ON ANNUAL FOLLIES

100 Members Turn Out on Casting Night.

Work on the annual South Shore Country Club Follies, to be presented Friday, March 29, and Saturday, March 30, began last week with a turnout of nearly 100 club members for the first night of casting. The group included amateur singers, dancers, comedians, stage hands, electricians, and property men.

Continuity will be built around a television broadcast, with the audience being tuned in on a series of dance and vocal numbers and skits. Many of the dances will be offered by a male and a female chorus. There will be a satirization of club activities, including "Movie Night," "The Sky Writer," and "If Men Attended Style Shows."

Mrs. Paul M. Flagg is chairman of the Follies committee. Frederick Herendeen, playwright, will write the script, and Marvin K. Brown is publicity director. Some of the members who have been cast in the production are Lillian Kline, June McArthur, Dorothy Cullerton, Marge Hickey, Frances McFall, Pat Lawler, Grace DeVries, Patty Pugh, Barbara Grubb, Jeanne Herbig, Barbara Reese, Pegge Trude, Pat Thompson, Phillis Thompson, Carole Robertson, Edward Camenisch.

Jane Bittle, Honey Callaghan, Helen Horton, Jane DeVries, Jane Connors, Loretta Nugent, Jerry Mickle, Clifford Kline, Warren McCaffrey, Eudy Herbig, and Earl Jeuers.

Members of the Follies committee are Mrs. Frederick Herendeen, Mrs. Marvin K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Dennett D. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beidler, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gleascher, John P. Kiely, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Karle B. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Utley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seaton, Edward T. Camenisch, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Chris Hempel.

Hospital Junior Auxiliary to Sponsor Card Party

The Woodlawn hospital junior auxiliary is planning its annual card party for Friday evening, March 29, at the Southmoor hotel, 67th street and Stony Island avenue. Miss Belle Quitman, 6040 Sangamon avenue, is chairman of the committee. Assisting her are Mrs. Harold Sorenson, 8245 Dante avenue; Miss Marion DuLek, 6977 Anthony avenue; Miss Lilah Clark, 7411 Constance avenue; Miss Barbara Vosler, 7314 Rhodes avenue, and Miss Rose Bergman, 1020 West 61st street.

ONE SOUTH SIDE WARD ASPIRANT IS RULED OUT

W. L. Johnson's Name Taken Off Ballot.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

The last mile for candidates for the all important party office of ward committeeman starts this week. Thursday night the board of election commissioners ruled on objections to the candidates' petitions and now the contestants have a chance to settle down to a serious election campaign.

Until the present time the ward committeeman contests were rife with last minute filings, withdrawals and objections to petitions. In several south side wards bitterness increased during that period, especially when objections were filed and charges of invalid petitions were made against various candidates. That bitterness is expected to carry on thru the next few weeks preceding the April primary election.

The south side virtually received a clean bill of health from the election board on its objection rulings. Only one candidate, out of 13 objections filed against south side petitions, was ruled off the ballot. He is Wallace L. Johnson, candidate for Democratic committeeman in the 2d ward.

Expected to Aid Dawson.

The elimination of Johnson is expected to assist William L. Dawson, the former Republican alderman of the 2d ward, in his campaign for election as Democratic committeeman. Dawson has regular Democratic organization support. He now has two contestants remaining against him, William Cherry and Perry C. Thompson. Objections had also been filed against Cherry and Thompson but the election board ruled they were invalid.

Only one other objection was filed in the south side Democratic contests. It was against Edward M. Sneed and the board ruled it invalid. Sneed is the present ward committeeman and regular organization candidate for reelection and is opposed by George E. Murphy.

On the Republican side wounds developed during the filing of objections and they are not expected to heal during the present contest. Objections had been filed against both candidates in the 1st ward, the incumbent Daniel A. Serritella and his opponent William F. Galling.

Charges of Intimidation.

Galling has made serious charges of danger of intimidation from the Serritella group and in his objection to the Serritella petition charged fictitious names and invalid signatures. It was reported the Serritella objection to Galling's petition was filed as a reprisal.

In the fourth ward objections filed against both the incumbent Republican committeeman, Charles Krutckoff, and his opponent, William E. Deffler, were ruled invalid by the board. Krutckoff is allied with the faction supporting Wayland Brooks for United States senator and Richard Lyons for governor and Deffler is with the group sponsoring Dwight Green for governor. Deffler is also allied with the Republican faction organized under the name of the late Senator Dineen.

East-Matchett Struggle.

The bitter struggle between the Republican committeeman, John Leonard East, and his opponent, David F. Matchett Jr., in the 5th ward is not expected to be toned down by the fact that the board ruled invalid objections filed against both of those candidates. East is with the Brooks-Lyons organization. Metchett has received much of his support from a citizens committee which is also indorsing a Democratic ward committeeman candidate. The same committee indorsed Ald. Paul Douglas, the present Democratic alderman of the ward during the last aldermanic election.

Patrick Sheridan Smith, Republican committeeman in the 6th ward, has not lost his opponent, Morton S. Cressy. The election board included Cressy, a Green supporter, in its rulings on the invalidity of petitions. Smith a Brooks-Lyons man and carried the ward during the last aldermanic election when he defeated a Democrat for his seat in the council chambers.

Battle in 7th Ward.

The 7th ward will continue to witnes a struggle between Republican Committeeman Charles L. Gerds and Samuel L. Andalman. Objections filed against both candidates were thrown out by the election board and the ring is free for them to battle. Andalman has called the terms of the fight by atacking Gerds on every political front. In preparing his objections to Gerds' petition he queried by telegram every signature and asserted he found many persons whose names were on the petitions who denied signing them.

Italian University Club Selects Leaders for Year

News and Queries Within and Without the Church
A Religious Voice of the People — Edited by the Rev. John Evans

Chicago's new Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, not only has a pleasant smile, but a hearty laugh. He delighted 5,000 persons with both last Sunday night at the Auditorium theater when the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield, Irving Park Methodist pastor and president of the Chicago Church federation, told the archbishop that the Methodist church would be glad to take his auxiliary bishop, the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, off his hands if the Catholic church wanted to get rid of him. Another happy laugh came from his excellency, as well as from the throng, when Dr. Wakefield said: "We Irish will run the world yet. I heartily approve the recent suggestion that the United States trade the Philippines for Ireland so we can raise our own policemen."

Archbishop Stritch.

There's no doubt about it but that your pastor's advice about that proposed trip over the Easter holidays is right. You should be in your own church on that day, of all days, just as he urges.

But, if you are among the 200,000 or 300,000 restless Chicago souls who —weatherman permitting—will take off over next week-end in the good old jalopy, the Chicago Motor club has taken the trouble to tell you where you can find sunrise Easter services all over the country.

[Be warned in advance, however, that Bert Vanderwarf, the club's tour manager, predicts heavy traffic movements on all highways, and that at least 75,000 automobile loads of Easter tripsters will leave Chicago, to say nothing of increased localized traffic everywhere.]

The club's list of sunrise services begins with the great service in Soldiers' field at 6:30 o'clock, where 50,000 worshippers are expected. Dr. John Zoller of Detroit will be the preacher, and Chief Whitefeather, descendent of Siting Bull, Sioux chieftain, will sing.

It's a little far away, but if California is on your Easter travel itinerary, the motor club shows that folks out there go for the sunrise service in a big way. There are Hollywood bowl, Forest Lawn park at Glendale, Death Valley, La Jolla, Palm Springs, San Francisco, San Diego—but why go on? Looks like you couldn't miss one anywhere out there.

Alluring is the call ot the 5:30 service in the Garden of the Gods, near Colorado Springs, Col. But we would pick the one on the rim of Grand canyon. Dr. Endicott Peabody, retiring headmaster of Groton school, Groton, Mass., will be the preacher at Tombstone, Ariz. Mind you, an Easter sermon at Tombstone!

JEWISH COLLEGE YOUTHS TO HAVE PURIM CARNIVAL

Modern Queen Esther to Be Crowned.

The dramatization of a rewritten version of the "Wizard of Oz" will be the highlight of the "Adloyada," celebrating the ancient Jewish holiday of Purim, Saturday evening in the Midland hotel, 172 West Adams street. The carnival is being sponsored by the students' organization of the College of Jewish Studies.

Evelyn Groner.

The "Wizard of Oz" parody, which was created by Ben Aronin, playwright and author, takes the characters of Queen Esther, the heroine; Mordecai, the hero; Haman, the dictator villain, and other figures of the Purim story and casts them in the rôles of Dorothy, the Wizard, and other characters of the Frank Baum story.

Ten candidates for the modern counterpart of the ancient Queen Esther, regarded for centuries as the symbol of womanly grace and charm, were listed last week by the carnival committee. The audience Saturday evening will elect the young Jewish woman it thinks most nearly resembles the famous queen in looks and personality. Early last week the south area was being represented by Miss Evelyn Groner, 5123 South Kimbark avenue.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, will address an open meeting of the Temple Isaiah Israel brotherhood at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday evening at the temple, 1100 Hyde Park boulevard. Dr. Fishbein will speak on "The Frontiers of Medicine."

Rabbi Morton M. Berman will review "Over the River," by Peter Mendelssohn, at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow evening in the community house of Temple Isaiah Israel. These fortnightly book reviews are open to the community.

Four representative members of the Isaiah Israel sisterhood will participate in the symposium, "Modern Esthers in the Jewish Community," in the Friday evening sisterhood service. They are Mrs. Gerson B. Levi of the executive committee of the women's division of the Jewish charities of Chicago; Mrs. Ignace J. Reis, past president of the National Council of Jewish Women; Mrs. Harry Berkman, president of the Midwest Region of Hadassah; and Mrs. Lawrence C. Friedlander, president of Isaiah Israel sisterhood.

The women's division of the Jewish Men's club of Hyde Park will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Windermere West hotel. Miss Beverly Bloom, dramatic reader, will give a performance after the meeting, according to Mrs. Bernard H. Goodman, president.

A sisterhood meeting of Congregation Rodfei Zedek, 1022 East 54th place, will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the community house. Mrs. Benjamin Levinson will give the program book review, discussing "Moment in Pekin."

◆

The Junior alliance of the South Shore temple will present a quiz program at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the South Shore temple, 7215 Jeffery avenue.

◆

Dr. W. S. Prenzlau, formerly of Tel Aviv and Switzerland, will be guest speaker at the first birthday party of the South Side unit of the Chicago Mothers of Young Judea Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Travis, 5320 Kimbark avenue. The party also will be the occasion of a membership tea.

Planning Dance

Miss Virginia Kelly of 6407 Drexel avenue is a member of the committee making arrangements for the annual Easter dance sponsored by the Writers' club of Loretto academy, 1445 East 65th street, at the school on March 25.

ADULT DANCING CLASSES TO OPEN IN ENGLEWOOD

A series of adult dancing classes on five Thursday evenings beginning March 28 and ending April 25 will be conducted in Englewood High school, 6201 Stewart avenue. There will be a beginners' class at 6:45 o'clock, a general dancing period at 7:45 o'clock and an advanced class at 8:45. Miss E. L. Badt is in charge of reservations. The classes are limited to persons more than 25 years old and are conducted for the social center bureau of the board of education by Miss Mildred Moore.

HIGH STANDARDS FOR YOUTH TO BE P.-T. A. THEME

Fathers' Night Program Scheduled at Hirsch.

Mrs. Arthur R. Williams, past president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be guest speaker at the Father's night program sponsored by the Hirsch High school P.-T. A. at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the assembly hall, 7740 Ingleside avenue. The title of her address will be "The Strength of a Nation."

"Maintaining High Standards for Youth in Home and School" is the theme selected for the meeting, which will be conducted by the fathers. Paul H. Hahn will preside. After the Hirsch R. O. T. C. posts the colors there will be community singing. A. M. Nicholson, Hirsch principal, will welcome the guests. Officers for 1940 will be elected at the business session.

The drama club of Hirsch will present a skit entitled "Who Made the Social Codes," and the girls' glee club, directed by Mrs. Constance Nicklaus, will offer several selections.

The board members' husbands will be fêted at a "leap year dinner" preceding the meeting.

Hyde Park High P.-T. A.—William Bachrach, vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, will address the meeting at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday in the Social Science building of the University of Chicago, 1126 West 59th street. He will present a definite program for youth now under consideration by the association of commerce. His topic is "A Square Deal for the Youth of Chicago."

The semiannual branch meeting will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the school at 57th street and Kenwood avenue. Mrs. Evelyn B. Terry will direct a play given by the drama club of the school, and a bake sale will be held from 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Bowen High P.-T. A.—A home economics exhibit will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the library of the school. Mrs. Julius Swanson, program chairman, will introduce Mrs. C. E. Duner, guest speaker, whose subject will be "Can Home Environment Affect Citizenship and Leadership?"

Mrs. George Hedges and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, high school council delegate, will give reports and the annual election of officers will take place. Mrs. Frank Zabkem, president, will preside.

Avalon Park P.-T. A. — Dr. Helen Schater of Northwestern university will speak on "Mental Hygiene" at the meeting at 1:15 p. m. Tuesday in the school auditorium, 80th street and Dorchester avenue. Gene Alders will play selections on the electric organ.

A hobby show will be staged by the pupils of the school under the supervision of Mrs. O. A. Olin, 8137 Anthony avenue. Election of officers also will be held.

Park Manor P.-T. 9.—Mrs. Ruth C. Berry, 7434 Rhodes avenue, will give a dessert card party at her home Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the ways and means committee. Acting hostesses are Mrs. Joseph Nearhoff, 7048 Vernon avenue; Mrs. Joel Anderson, 7114 Champlain avenue; Mrs. George Brown, 6819 Anthony avenue; Mrs. Adam Armour, 6820 Anthony avenue, and Mrs. Frank McGuire, 438 East 72d street. Committee chairmen are Mrs. A. J. Miller, 7425 St. Lawrence avenue, and Mrs. F. D. May, 6736 Indiana avenue.

Shakespeare P.-T. A.—A varied program intended to illustrate what goes on in the modern classroom will be presented on "Dads' night" at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Included on the program will be the 30 piece school harmonica band, directed by Mrs. Marie Kohler; the Shakespeare Girls' chorus of 75 voices, directed by Miss Claire Chatterton, and a pyramid act by the 8th grade boys' gymnasium classes, under the direction of Mrs. Sara Sinnard. Speakers will be Mrs. Ralph Reis, president of the P.-T. A.; Lee Herdeg, district superintendent, and John Seney, Shakespeare principal.

Parkside P.-T. A.—Dudley Crafts Watson of the Art institute will be guest speaker at the meeting at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in the assembly hall. Election of officers also will take place according to Mrs. Paul Anderson, program chairman.

Ray P.-T. A.—Dr. Bertha M. Shafer, executive director of the Illinois Social Hygiene league, will lecture on the subject, "Introducing Your Child in Life."

Gallistel P.-T. A.—Mrs. Frank B. Staely, state homemaking chairman of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, will give a talk on "Homemaking Versus Housekeeping" at the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon in the assembly hall of the school, 104th street and Ewing avenue. The talk will be illustrated with colored slides entitled "Blind Spots of Science."

Cornell P.-T. A.—Community night will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the assembly hall, including community singing and a program presented by the upper grade pupils. A motion picture, "Traveleson," will be shown by Sam Campbell, the "philosopher of the forest."

W. K. Sullivan P.-T. A.—Tomorrow evening the group will hold its regular meeting together with an open house, exhibit, and children's hobbies in the assembly hall. Special guest will be Mrs. Herbert H. Siddell, state board member.

Kenwood P.-T. A.—The adjustment service in the public schools will be discussed and explained to the parents by Dr. Grace L. Munson, head of the adjustment service of the board of education, at the regular meeting at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in the assembly hall.

Mexico Honeymoon

MRS. JOSEPH F. SIROTEK.
[De Haven Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Sirotek departed on a trip to Mexico after their recent wedding in the South Shore Community church, 74th street and Yates avenue. The reception was held in the Chicago Beach hotel. Mrs. Sirotek is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Mifflin, 5330 Blackstone avenue, and Mr. Sirotek is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Sirotek, 7823 Kingston avenue. Mr. Sirotek is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

TWO CIVIC GROUPS UNITE TO LAUNCH CLEAN UP DRIVE

114 South Siders Help City-Wide Campaign.

One hundred fourteen residents of the south area are members of a committee which will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Palmer House to plan a city-wide beautification campaign for Chicago. The members, who are identified with either the "Help Beautify Chicago," or the "Save the Lawns" committee, have combined to pool their resources in making a better spring clean-up drive.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. Karl Eitel, hotel owner, and Paul Schulz, president of the Municipal Art league, chairmen of the joint committees, respectively, also will be present. Mr. Eitel will preside at the session, which will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

Would Prevent Litter.

The purpose of cementing the groups is to increase their scope and effectiveness in encouraging citizens to help keep parks, schools, streets, beaches, alleys, and all public places free from litter and rubbish. It also is the aim to make the city prettier by educating the public to growing and maintaining attractive lawns in every section.

The twin committees are sponsored by the park district in coöperation with garden and improvement clubs, P.-T. A. organizations, the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, school officials and other civic organizations.

The "Beautify Chicago" committee under Mrs. Eitel has conducted an annual campaign for a cleaner city while the "Lawn" committee has promoted contests and made awards for the finest home, apartment, school, and fire and police station lawns in the city for the last five years.

Members of Committee.

South side committee members are: Mrs. Frank L. Allen, Mr. Paul L. Anderson, Mrs. Walter S. Anderson, Gustave A. Brand, C. G. Buck, Mrs. Charles Churan, James W. Crane, Andrew Diorio, Mrs. Bolton A. Dixner, Dr. Frank G. Douglas, Newton C. Farr, Mrs. J. Sharpless Fox, W. J. Galligan, Capt. John Gorby, Mrs. Gerald Griffin, Mrs. Paul H. Hahn, Leo T. Heid, Milford F. Henkel, Mrs. Frances C. Why Be Fat

Thousands of women have discovered way to lose excess weight—without following strict diet lists, or taking exercises or drugs.

If you want to take off ugly fat easily and pleasantly all you have to do is—First. . . eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating. Second . . mix ¼ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¾ of a glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Thus you reduce caloric intake considerably. But you do not suffer a hungry moment. There are no strict diet lists, strenuous exercises or taking drugs. Yet!—in a test conducted by Dr. Damrau of New York, with this method among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, an average weight loss of seven pounds was registered per month. This remarkable method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men as it is for overweight women. There is only one thing to watch. Eat sensibly, which means you avoid over-eating; and be sure to use Welch's Grape Juice—always made from the pick of the grape crop; always full strength; always pure.

Irene Rich, lovely star of the screen and radio, now past 40, weighs the same as she did at 16. She recommends the easy Welch way to reduce.

Try This Amazing Welch's Tomato Juice

If you think all Tomato Juice is alike, try Welch's new, vitamin-rich Tomato Juice. It is so rich and thick you can add ⅓ water or ice and still have a most delicious Tomato Juice.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels, and Also Pepsin-ize Stomach!

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

MARSHALL TO BE GUEST TODAY ON 5TH ROW CENTER

Notre Dame Glee Club Guest of W-G-N.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Prof. D. H. Pedtke.

Everett Marshall, noted concert and operetta baritone, and the famous Glee club of 140 voices of Notre Dame university will be co-starred in a special St. Patrick's day program on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network at 5 p. m. today. The entire program will be a musical salute to St. Patrick's day under the direction of Harold Stokes.

The Notre Dame Glee club is directed by Dr. Daniel H. Pedtke, head of the Notre Dame music department. Dr. Pedtke has declared this year's Notre Dame Glee club the best singing group he has coached in many years. The club will journey to the W-G-N studios in a special bus.

To Sing Three Songs.

Marshall will sing three numbers: "Danny Boy," "Wagon Wheels," which he introduced in the Ziegfeld Follies, and "Where the River Shannon Flows," in which he will be accompanied by 16 selected voices of the Glee club.

Marshall is cutting short a vacation in Cuba to come to Chicago for the broadcast. Following the program, he will go to Texas for a show there.

In addition to his concert and radio work, he has appeared as Franz Schubert in "Blossom Time" and has sung in such shows as the "Follies" and in George White's "Scandals."

With Metropolitan Opera.

He sang with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York for four seasons. He also has been starred in three of Billy Rose's greatest successes, the last being the Aquacade at last summer's New York World's fair.

The Glee club, one of the best known organizations of its kind in the country, will sing several Irish songs. They will do two medleys, "Minstrel Boy" and "Snowy Breasted Pearl," comprising the first, with "Kerry Dances" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in the second group. The group will also sing two of the great Notre Dame songs, "Irish Backs," and the "Victory March."

Musical background will be provided by Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra. The orchestra will play Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody" and will join Marshall and the Glee club in the finale. In it, Marshall and the club will sing "Where the River Shannon Flows," the orchestra will play a set of Irish dances, and the Glee club will bring the show to a conclusion with "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls."

NORTHERNERS PRESENT IRENE VERNER, NEW SOLOIST, TUESDAY

The Northerners introduce a new soprano soloist, Irene Verner, on their program which will be heard from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Tuesday on W-G-N.

Miss Verner will make her debut in "Norwegian Echo Song," by Thrane. Born in Minneapolis, Miss Verner received her first training from her mother, who was head of the voice department at Bethany college.

During high school she organized a trio of girl singers and joined Bernie Cummins' orchestra. During engagements with leading dance orchestras, Miss Verner turned from the popular dance style of music to the operetta and classical field—an experience which qualifies her to sing the semiclassical and ballad type of music offered by The Northerners.

In Tuesday night's program, the Northerners' octet will sing "Goodbye Jonah," "All Through the Night," "Ridin' High," and "Careless." The entire Northerners cast will join in singing selections from "Pinocchio."

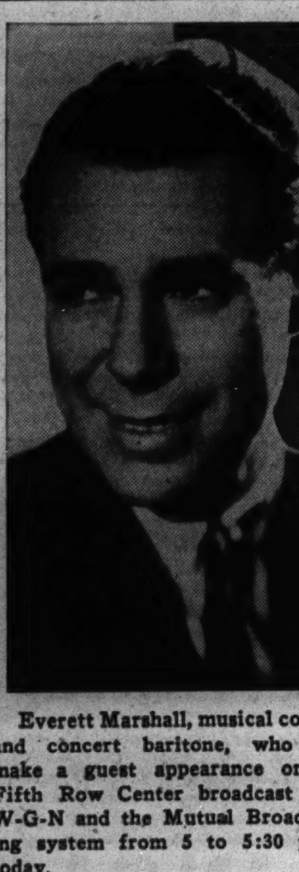
On W-G-N



Everett Marshall, musical comedy and concert baritone, who will make a guest appearance on the Fifth Row Center broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 5 to 5:30 p. m. today.

HERNE TO QUIZ COL. YASCHENKO ON NEWS HOUR

Capt. E. D. C. Herne, W-G-N news announcer, will interview Col. W. W. Yaschenko, Chicago restaurateur and one-time imperial Russian army officer, on the Herne news show from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. Thursday. On Tuesday Capt. Herne will interview Hugh Studebaker, outstanding character actors.

KEMP, WILLIAMS, WELK JOIN MBS DANCE PARADE

Art Kassel Crew to Open on W-G-N April 2.

Three outstanding dance orchestras will join the W-G-N-Mutual network "Dance Parade" this week. They will be heard on nightly schedules from Chicago dancing places. They are orchestras directed by Hal Kemp, Griff Williams, and Lawrence Welk.

Kemp's orchestra opens on Thursday evening in the Empire room at the Palmer House.

Kemp first rode the air lanes to fame seven years ago over W-G-N on the original "Midnight Flyers" program, a guest night program from the Blackhawk restaurant, which was the talk of listeners for three seasons.

With Kemp's orchestra are his great singing stars, Bob Allen, Janet Blair, and the vocal trio, the Smoothies.

Griff Williams' orchestra begins an engagement in the colorful Continental room at the Hotel Stevens next Saturday with his "Music That Sings as It Swings" orchestra. Williams' crew of entertainers is headed by personable Buddy Marino. Featured on the Williams programs are piano choruses by Griff himself.

Lawrence Welk brings his popular orchestra into the Trianon ballroom and to W-G-N-Mutual on Saturday. This is Welk's first long time engagement at the Trianon and will mark his first music over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network on a regular schedule.

On Tuesday, April 2, Art Kassel and his "Kassel's in the Air" orchestra and singers take over the bandstand at the Bismarck hotel and join the W-G-N-Mutual dance parade.

Continuing the dance cavalcade on Mutual's coast-to-coast "Show of the Week" during March will be the orchestras of Everett Hoagland and Jan Sávitt. From 5:30 to 6 p. m. today Hoagland gets the spotlight. This west coast orchestra has won many followers because of their emphasis on music for dancing. On Easter Sunday Savitt will be heard.

Sings with Kemp

[Bruno Photo.]

Janet Blair, soloist with Hal Kemp's orchestra, which opens an engagement in the Empire room at the Palmer House on Thursday and will be heard on a nightly broadcast schedule over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

PALM SUNDAY IS THEME TODAY OF DE PAUL PROGRAM

"Meditation and Melody," aired by De Paul university in coöperation with the University Broadcasting council, will dedicate its program to Palm Sunday, from 2 to 2:30 p. m., today on W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The Rev. Joseph Phoenix and the Rev. Frank Murphy will give readings on the topic of Palm Sunday, and Dean Howard D. Taft of the De Paul law school will be narrator.

Richard Czerwonky, violinist, and Sergei Tarnowsky, pianist, both members of the De Paul school of music faculty, will present two movements from Cesar Franck's Sonata in A major for piano and violin.

EASTER MUSIC TO BE AIRED ON W-G-N PROGRAMS

Baggiore, Love and Octet to Be Featured.

Sacred music dedicated to Easter will be broadcast on the programs, the Pageant of Melody and the Concert Revue, under the direction of Henry Weber, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday and from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. Thursday, respectively.

In the Pageant of Melody Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Mark Love, basso, and the octet will be featured. Four selections from Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" will be presented. Mr. Love will sing "The Saviour Low Before His Father Bending," "At Evening Hour of Calm Rest," and "And Now the Lord to Rest Is Laid," and the octet and string section doing "Thou with Hate Surrounded."

Baggiore will sing "The Holy City," by Adolphe Charles Adam, and will join the octet in Albert Malotte's arrangement of the Lord's Prayer. The orchestra will play the Russian Easter Overture, by Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Intermezzo," from Pietro Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Kathryn Witwer, soprano, and Raphael Spiro, violinist, will be featured in the Concert Revue, directed by Mr. Weber.

Miss Witwer will sing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," by Richard Hageman; "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Anton Rubinstein, and "Church Scene," from Mascagni's "Cavaleria Rusticana."

Spiro will play the Gounod arrangement of Bach's "Ave Maria."

The orchestra will play "Easter Chimes in Little Russia," by S. Votichenko, and "Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and, with the octet, will do "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach.

FIRING STARTS IN BATTLE FOR DELEGATE JOBS

Winners to Have Voice in Presidential Choices.

conclusion, for they are unopposed.

Roscoe Conkling Simmons, Negro candidate for congress in 1930 and delegate in 1932 and 1936, is probably the strongest Republican. He will be opposed by George Hellmann, 2631 South Michigan avenue, and Jacob R. Tipper, 3538½ South Park way, regular organization candidates.

Other Republicans on the ballot will be: Mrs. Cora A. Graham, 4033 South Ellis avenue, who has done much social service work and was a leader in the establishment of the Marden Park institution; James R. Zinn, 3801 Wentworth avenue; Edward Houston, 461 East 41st street; Robert E. Giles, 3759 South State street, a druggist, and Byron H. Davies, 2209 South Michigan avenue.

Alternates are:

Republican—Adolphus N. Gordon Sr., 3560 South Park way; Oble Creed, 3247 South La Salle street; Milton J. Hanna, 473 West 27th street, and John G. Nettleton, 3639 South Park way.

SECOND DISTRICT

Republican organization candidates as delegates are Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, and Leonard C. Reid, 4810 South Ellis avenue, Illinois manager for Thomas E. Dewey's presidential campaign. The only other Republican candidate is Vandorf Grey, 7524 Clyde avenue.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] and Sheldon W. Govier, clerk of the Appellate court, are the regular Democratic candidates for delegate. They are opposed by two independents, Thomas A. McManigal, 1415 East 66th place, and George E. Murphy, 4729 South Prairie avenue.

Candidates as alternates are:

Republican—John A. Niemeyer, 5401 Ellis avenue; Zedrick T. Braden, 417 East 45th place; Andrew A. Barry, 306 East 49th street; Thomas J. Downs, 7831 Colfax avenue, and Louis J. Behan, 1642 East 56th street, a master in chancery.

Democratic—Edward M. Sneed, 5413 South Wabash avenue, and Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes.

THIRD DISTRICT

William H. Weber, former chairman of the Republican county central committee, and Clarence N. Bergstrom, 6215 South Laflin street, are the regular Republican candidates as delegates. Others are Donald A. Borrelli, 1655 Marquette road, a nephew of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli; Roy H. Seward, 3643 West 55th street; Harold V. Erickson, 2012 West 69th place, and Grover C. Larson, 407 West 70th street.

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] and Peter B. Carey, 9640 South Winchester avenue, a member of the Board of Trade, are unopposed as the Democratic candidates.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican — Arthur Rinck, 3713 West 63d street, and Walter Haines, 345 Calumet boulevard, Harvey.

Democratic — Daniel McMahon, Palos Park, and Raymond T. Murphy, 1120 Emerald avenue, Chicago Heights.

FOURTH DISTRICT

Republican organization candidates as delegates are Arthur W. Sullivan, 3335 South Union avenue, and John H. Sturm, 4632 South Talman avenue, both of whom were delegates in 1936. Independents are: Marion Owcarz, 2354 South Whipple street; Anton Haas, 5033 South Ashland avenue; Irene A. Tomas, 3201 Morgan street; Patrick McCarthy, 2630 West 42d street, and Ignatius Zwarycz, 4555 Justine street.

Two aldermen, Henry Sonnenschein [22d] and Hugh B. Connelly [11th], are the only Democratic candidates. Ald. Connelly was a delegate in 1936.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican—Otto A. Richter, 251 West 43d street, and Andrew Toman, 3822 S. Winchester avenue.

Democratic—William J. Lynch, 509 West 43d place, and Joseph Palka, 4816 South May street.

SIXTH DISTRICT

The fight for delegates' seats seems to be a three way affair among the Republicans with Julius H. Miner, 3435 West Adams street; Philip E. Gilbert, 1315 South Independence boulevard, and Joseph A. Coyner, 501 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, in the major rôles. Other candidates are John M. Carroll, 3841 West Arthington street, and George A. Pavese, 3435 Harrison street. The regular organization favors Miner and Coyner.

Public Administrator Martin J. O'Brien and Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] are the Democratic organization candidates. Edward M. Platt, 505 Marengo avenue, Forest Park, also has filed.

Candidates for alternates are:

Republican—James F. Hemmons, 4720 West Gladys avenue, and Hugh H. Smith, 3250 West Monroe street, who is former general superintendent for the West Parks.

Democratic—Jerry J. Viterna, town collector for Cicero, and Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th].

ELEVENTH DISTRICT

Frank R. Reid of Aurora, former congressman and delegate in 1936, and Hayes Kennedy, Joliet attorney, appear to be the favored pair for the Republican delegates seats. Other candidates are Harrison H. Robillard of Elmhurst and James C. Bell of Joliet.

Former Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet, Emmett McGuire, also of Joliet, and Charles Leonard of Woodstock will fight it out for the two Democratic seats.

Candidates seeking alternates seats are:

Republican—T. Merle Paul of Harvard and Maurice Shurtleff of Elgin.

Democratic—Eugene Roberts, Villa Park; Elmer D. Anderson of Wheaton, and Adolf J. Meadel of Lisle.

Calumet Youths Seek Drill Title

Diligently and frequently a platoon of picked cadets is practicing its drilling this month at Calumet High school. The boys are ambitious to see their names at the top of the list when 27 R. O. T. C. city high schools are judged for their execution of platoon drills in the 132d Infantry armory, Rockwell and Madison streets, on March 30. The "school to beat," as usual, is Tilden Tech, which has won the first place plaque four times in the last five years.

LEGION WOMEN TO OBSERVE 20 YEARS OF UNIT

Hyde Park unit of the American Legion auxiliary will celebrate its 20th birthday Tuesday night in the clubrooms of the post, 55th street and Lake Park avenue. The celebration will begin with a smörgasbörd dinner at 6:30 o'clock and will continue thruout the evening.

The unit will honor past commanders of its post, past presidents of the unit, and the 3d district director, Mrs. Evelyn LaChapelle, a member of Hyde Park auxiliary. Other honor guests will be the department president, Mrs. George Cassidy; the Cook county president, Mrs. Frank Wissman, and Illinois' past national president, Mrs. Melville Mucklestone. The Hyde Park color guard also will be included in the guest list.

Mrs. Thomas Cummings, president of Hyde Park unit, and members of the social committee are making arrangements for the anniversary. Maurice Berg, commander of Hyde Park post, has joined past commanders in accepting the invitation of the unit to the birthday party.

Capt. Michele Butera, national commander of the Italian World War Veterans' association, will be installed as commander in chief of the Allied World War Veterans' council the night of March 27 in the home of the Polish Army Veterans' association, 1239 North Wood street.

The council is made up of veteran organizations of the world war armies of France, Italy, Belgium, Jugo-Slavia, British empire, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Greece, and the United States.

Other officers to be installed are Col. Carleton B. Cunningham, adjutant; Sergt. Jake Allex Mandusich, senior vice commander in chief; Maj. Arthur A. Langlund, finance officer; Casimir Frenzel, sergeant at arms; Richard Morbee, R. J. Vigneron, James Simaner, Walter Telford, John R. Agreosthes, and Lieut. Henry S. Bottomley, vice commanders.

Past presidents of Woodlawn unit, American Legion auxiliary, will be entertained March 25 at 8 p. m. in Legion hall, 6308 Woodlawn avenue. Guests will be Mrs. Ida Cassidy, president of the department of Illinois; Mrs. Myrtle Wissman, Cook county council president, and Mrs. Evelyn LaChapelle, 3d district director. Mrs. Altine Kelleher has planned the program. Assisting her are Mrs. Lillina Robinson, Mrs. Freda Ross, Mrs. Clare Westphal, and Mrs. Mary Odum. Mrs. Gladys McCune is president of the unit.

Robert Baird, commander of Medill Tribune post, announces that the post will hold an Americanism program in the W-G-N studio March 27.

The 8 and 40 Cook County salon No. 1 will entertain the state chapeau, Mrs. Lucille Meiner, at a dinner tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at the Stevens restaurant. Mrs. Henrietta Erhardt, la petite chapeau, will preside.

Van Buren post has a plan in operation whereby postoffice workers and members of their families may obtain emergency ambulance service.

L. N. Bittinger, department commander, and William Waugh, senior vice commander of the department of Illinois, will be guests Friday night of Giles post at the clubhouse, 5745 South State street.

WILMETTE HOME GIVEN NEW LIFE IN REMODELING

Wide Shingles Supplant Old Rough Siding.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

It seems that almost any house, of any size or shape, can take a refreshing drink at the fountain of youth if it is only led up to that fountain by expert architectural guidance.

An instance of this is the residence of Frank G. Watson, 1341 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

The architects, Chatten and Jacobson, 127 North Dearborn street, Chicago, remodeled this house in a number of ways for improvement of its exterior appearance, with no serious structural changes. Indeed, the remodeling of the house resulted in an increase in house value far in excess of alteration costs.

The architects found a house which had a roof with an exceedingly heavy overhang and an oversize attic dormer window, not required for attic lighting. And both roof and dormer were out of proportion to the size of the house.

Rough Siding Replaced.

The roof was simplified and dormer removed, thus giving the effect of greater width to the residence. And the former bay window on the second floor was developed to become a special feature of the exterior and of the large front bedroom.

Then, too, the siding on the exterior walls, which was of rough, sawed boards, had proved an unsatisfactory surface for painting and had given evidence of collecting dust and dirt too rapidly for its own good or for the comfort of the owners. This rough siding was replaced with wide shingles, which were coated with a special mixture of white paint to give a weathered effect in contrast with the painted white trim. New entrance steps of handsome stone of selected colors and a wrought iron railing added to the attractiveness of the entrance.

Siding for Simple Lines.

This spring and summer will see many improvements made on home exteriors, and for those who are interested in "doing things" for their frame houses, or in building a new frame house, it is interesting to note that exterior siding is available in numerous sizes and pleasing patterns.

There is a friendly quality in wood siding. It is a warm, attractive material, with the beauty of simple lines and solid colors, and this modern siding is offered to the home owner thoroly seasoned, properly graded, and carefully machined.

Emphasis on wall "textures" is important in home architecture, and these are possibilities for these textures thru the various patterns in wood siding and its different methods of application.

If you wish you can employ such long used types as drop siding and narrow bevel siding. You can also avail yourself of several types of vertical wood siding, as well as different rustic and wide bevel sidings. And you can combine various types of siding with shakes, shingles, and even with rough stonework to obtain interesting effects.

Almost Like Clapboards.

Bevel siding today is in different widths and is closely similar to the clapboards of nearly 300 years ago; drop siding, usually thicker than bevel siding, makes a strong, durable wall, and flush siding, which offers a flat surface, offers a contrasting accent to patterned walls.

Cottage types of architecture are bringing into wider use the vertical siding, and many interesting effects are possible with its use. Likewise, there are unusual sidings to give a small rustic atmosphere, while shakes, with thick butts, make possible widely spaced, heavy, horizontal shadow lines, without the ordinary texture between.

HOLY ROSARY CHURCH TO OFFER TRE ORE SERVICES ON FRIDAY

Father Moloney.

The Rev. Joseph A. Moloney, assistant pastor, will preach the sermons during the Tre Ore services to be held from 12 o'clock noon until 3 p. m. Friday in Holy Rosary church, 113th street and South Park avenue. Father Moloney will use the seven last words of Christ on the cross as his theme. He will talk at intervals between music offered by a double quartet from Ascension church, in Oak Park. John Monahan will direct the choir and Miss Margaret McDevitt Boore will be organist.

According to the Rev. Edward Keough, D. D., pastor of Holy Rosary parish, Protestant and Catholic churches of Roseland are coöperating in asking business men in the district to observe the three hours of Christ on the cross by closing all stores and shops between 12 and 3 o'clock.

This is being urged thru San Salvador council of the Knights of Columbus and the Adelphic bible class of the First Reformed church of Roseland.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, March 18.

Annual flowering plants are unexcelled for the person who rents his home does not care to buy permanent plants. They may be used for colorful, mass planting, as cut flowers, to fill in bare spaces among the shrubs, and in window boxes. Certain kinds are used as climbers. Some annuals should be started early indoors. March is an excellent time to start these plants; soil can be obtained from the greenhouse man. Soil need not be rich, but it should be rather loose, a mixture of loam, sand, and leafmold or peat. Do not sow thick. This invariably causes trouble and loss of many plants. It is wise to prepare the soil, giving suitable drainage by covering the holes in the bottom of the flat or box, and water well before sowing. Allow time for full drainage. The soil should moist but not wet. Most annuals are easily transplanted, but the heliotrope, sweet sultan, nigella and poppylike kinds are not. Some seeds like the portulaca and petunia are so small they should be pressed into the soil, not covered with it.

Tuesday, March 19.

Some annuals will not stand frost after germinating. Among these are the amaranth, celosia, nemesia, torenia and gourds. The sensitive plant is so very interesting a small lot should be sown. It may be listed under the botanical name, Mimosa pudica. The children will get a thrill from touching the leaves and watching them close. Thin seedlings before they get too large; some should have from 18 to 24 inches of space between them; the dwarf kinds will take no more than 6 inches. Edge a bed of cannas with fountain grass. Grow a little cloud grass for use in bouquets. The annual baby's breath is useful with sweet peas in bouquets. California poppies and pot marigold look well together; also snapdragons and dusty miller. Solid beds of verbenas are very fine. Combinations must be carefully arranged for color effect.

Wednesday, March 20.

Lobelia and verbena seeds should be sown now for they require a long season. Just as soon as ground is suitable and the trash is removed from the perennials, spray around the peonies, delphiniums, and many other kinds with Bordeaux mixture to aid in the control of fungous diseases. Many perennials can be divided and transplanted. If the plants are doing well do not disturb them. Some trees do best when spring planted. Examples are magnolias, beech, ornamental cherries and crabs, and flowering dogwood. A magnolia stellata will look well in the back yard borders. Roll the lawn with a heavy roller to even the surface and sow a bit of grass seed on bare spots.

Thursday, March 21.

Do not neglect to give the lawn a feeding with a complete, high grade plant food. Do this early to stimulate the grass and start it into vigorous growth before hot weather. The perennial and shrub borders will be much benefited by application of the same material. Remove all water sprouts that appear after pruning fruit trees. As soon as the nursery stock arrives heel it in the garden and, when the ground is ready, plant carefully. Never hurry with planting. Dig the holes large enough to easily accommodate the roots, and fill in with good soil.

Friday, March 22.

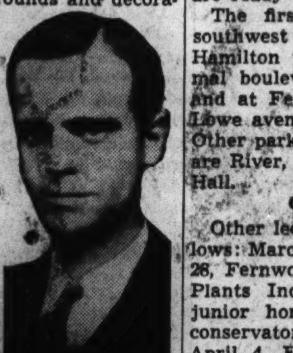
Sow sweet peas as early as possible for they delight in cool conditions. Here are a few carpeting plants that do well in the rockery: Alyssum saxatile compactum, Arabis, Aubrietia, Cerastium, Dianthus, deltoides, Coronilla varia, perennial candytuft, toad flax, and creeping phlox. Try a few of the interesting edelweiss in a sheltered place among the rocks. Formerly, many gardeners planted a few herbs. Many of these can be sown in spring, such as Angelica, which is cooked and the seeds used in flavoring; balm, used as a decoction in fevers; sweet and bush basil, used in flavoring; borage, used for flavoring beverages; chervils, used for salads; fennel, used in sauces; lavender, for making lavender water, and sage, sweet marjoram, summer and winter savory, and thyme for flavoring. Buy roots of mint, thyme, and tarragon.

Saturday, March 23.

The Easter and spring flower show at Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories opens today. Hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. It is free. See that all plants are labelled. Record the name, date of planting, and any other useful information. A garden record book is so valuable that every gardener should keep one. The experiences recorded will be of real worth from year to year. House plants can be transplanted now, but do not overpot. Use good soil. Do not overwater.

[Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.]

TALKS ON GARDEN HERALD SPRING IN CITY PARKS



Troy Standard.

Practical instruction in how to cultivate attractive grounds and decorative house plants will be given by the park district this spring at parks in five sections of the city. The series, which will be free, will begin tomorrow.

The same lectures will be given at all five parks and at each location the garden talks will be given in rotation once a week for five weeks. Demonstrations with actual plants and soil material, often accompanied by slide illustrations, will be included for the sake of clarity.

Growing from Seed.

The first of the series will be titled "Growing Your Own Plants from Seeds" and will be presented by Troy Standard of the park district horticultural staff. Mr. Standard is in charge of all florists working in the Garfield park conservatory and all outdoor flower gardens in west side parks. Bringing with him various types of soils, seeds and handy tools and contrivances little known to many gardeners, he will demonstrate the necessary gardening steps, from planting the seeds to the time when plants are ready to be set in the garden.

The first lecture for south and southwest siders will be given at Hamilton park, 72d street and Normal boulevard, at 8 p. m. Tuesday, and at Fernwood park, 10438 South Lowe avenue, at 5 p. m. Wednesday. Other parks which will have lectures are River, Portage, and Austin Town Hall.

Others in Series.

Other lectures will be given as follows: March 27, Hamilton, and March 28, Fernwood, "Methods of Growing Plants Indoors," by Eldred Green, junior horticulturist, Garfield Park conservatory; April 3, Hamilton, and April 4, Fernwood, "Trees, Shrubs and the Lawn of Your Home Grounds," by William E. Shatwell, park district landscape designer; April 10, Hamilton, and April 11, Fernwood, "Propagation Other Than by Seeds," by Rudolph J. Mohr, junior horticulturist, Garfield park conservatory, and April 17, Hamilton, and April 18, Fernwood, "Perennials and Annuals for the Chicago Garden," by Frank K. Balthis, horticulturist, Garfield park conservatory.

Delta Kappa Phi Holds Its Annual Dance Today

Members and guests of Delta Kappa Phi fraternity will hold their annual spring dinner dance at the South Seas club, Lincoln avenue and Pratt boulevard at 3 o'clock this afternoon. More than 400 are expected to attend.

Women Voters Are to Hear Committeeman Candidates

The Woodlawn League of Women Voters will hear the candidates for ward committeemen in the 5th and 6th wards at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in Knox hall of the First Presbyterian church, 64th street and Kimbark avenue. The meeting will be open to the public, according to Miss Josephine Perry, president of the league.

Sokol Chicago to Present Annual Exhibition Tonight

Sokol Chicago, a physical education organization, will hold its annual exhibition this evening in Sokol Chicago hall, 2341 South Kedzie avenue. Richard Molcar, director of physical education, is in charge. There will be sword drills presented by the women, calisthenic numbers and demonstrations on the horizontal bars and flying rings.

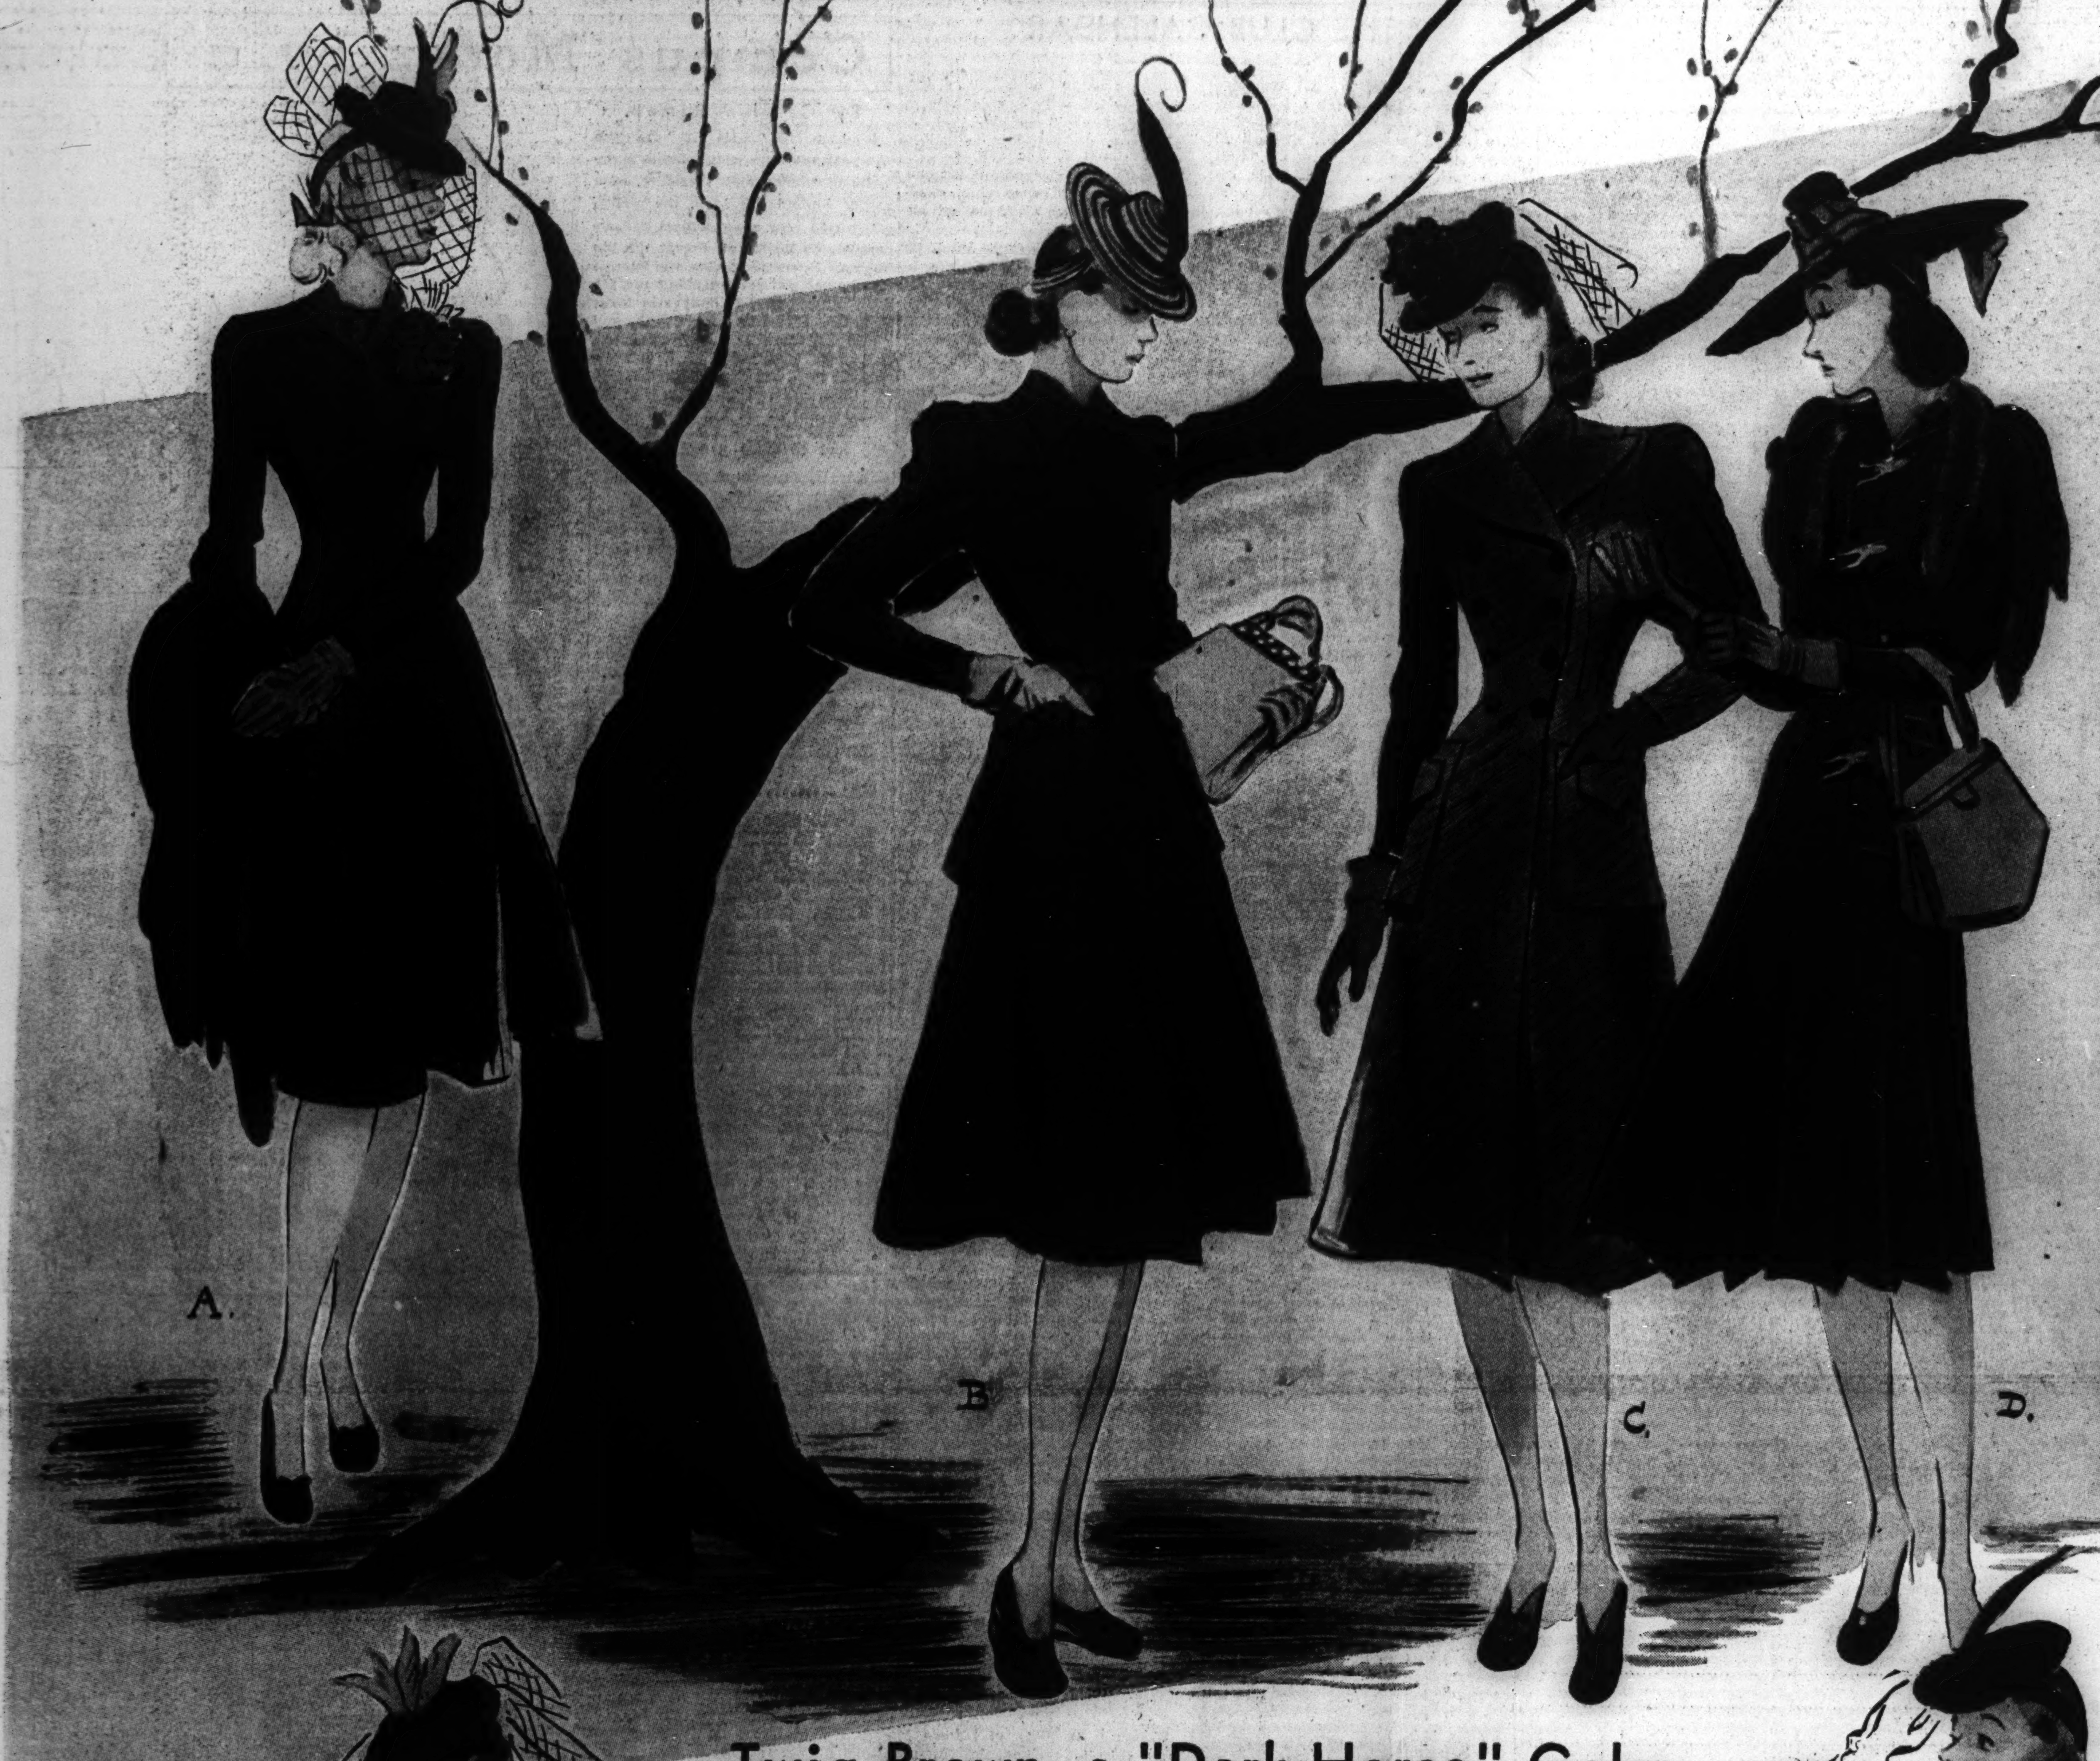
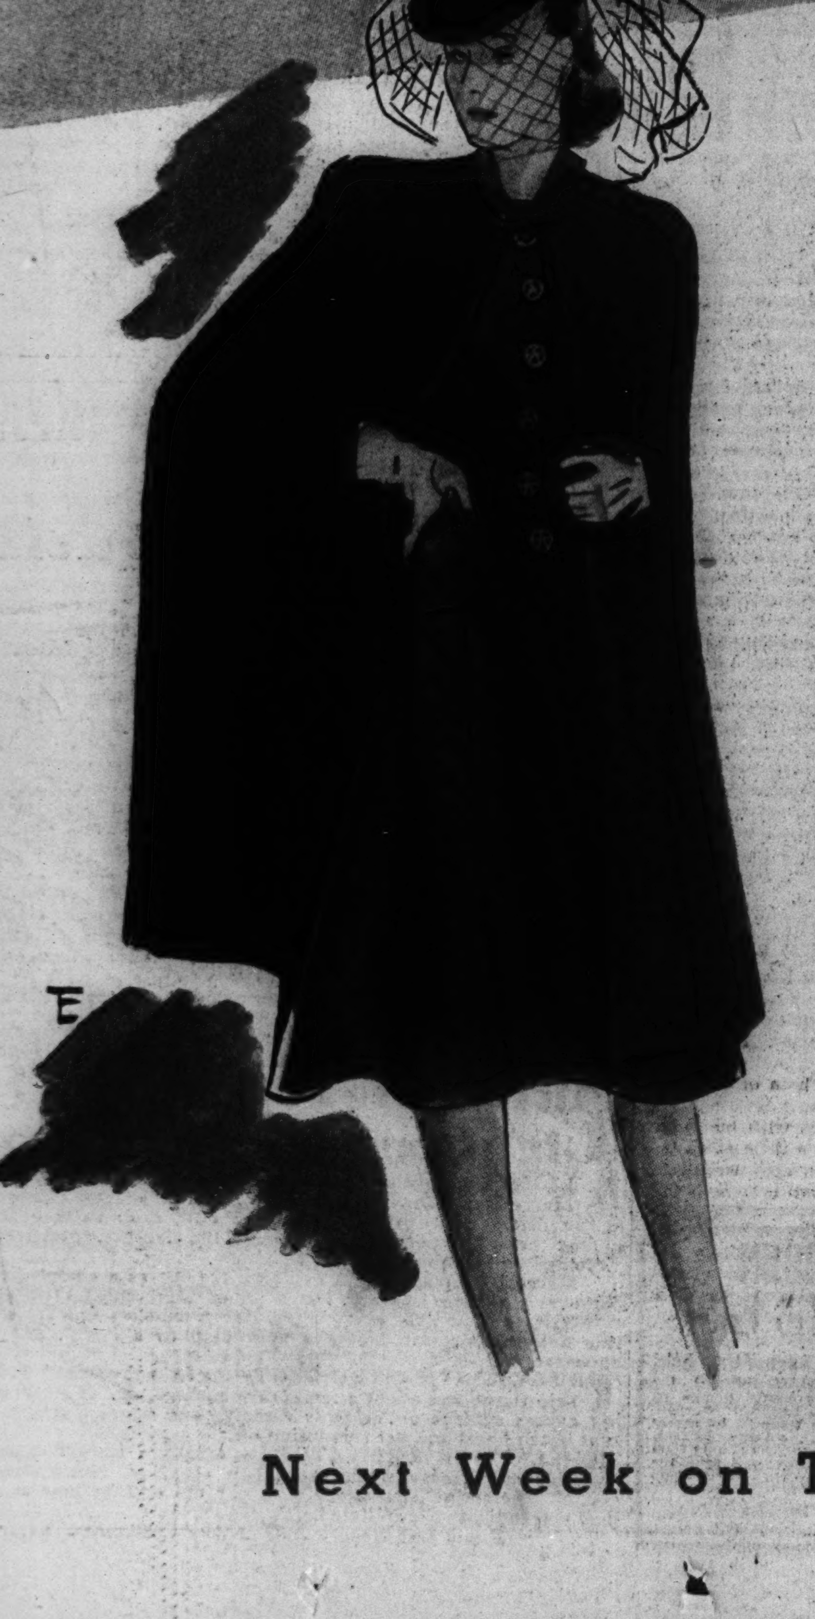
BEAUTY and FASHION



A—Slim dress suit of fine wool with pastel accents. Short jacket worn over brown and pastel dress, top of dress showing in V line. ● B—Twig brown spring coat contrasted with fine outlines of matching velvet on coller, cuffs, revers, and huge hip pockets. Suggested costume accents in chamois are bag and gloves. ● C—Wardrobe coat in lighter shade of twig brown has covertlike texture. Double-breasted, with neatly defined waistline, it has brace of large hip pockets in 1940 manner. White pique edges throatline if you wish, and "go" green accessories. ● D—Long torso suit worked in fine woolen with molded jacket smoothed down over hips. Amusing fasteners are a row of workable gold metal pincers that snap on gold metal knobs. ● E—Costume accessories dramatize cape ensemble consisting of simple two-piece suit and interesting cape swung around shoulders. All pieces seperable. ● F—Almost gaudy are huge checks in this topcoat of smart wool that features the twig brown. It's the best as well as the most eye-filling swagger for spring. For wear with suits, simple tailored dresses, and extra skirt and jacket combines in twig brown.



Twig Brown, a "Dark Horse" Color, Revolutionizing Spring Fashions

By
REA SEEGER

FASHION parades swing into spring formation, with new foundation color schemes in the lead! Navy and black always are good, always impeccably correct, and always the standbys. Rebellious clothes collectors hunt avidly for something new and different, hoping each season to find a shade, a color, or a color scheme that equals navy or black for steadiness without the depressive usualness. Gray, bronze green, and brown are three daring new shades with which to stage the revolution. Gray in every shade from stunning oxford, stone, banker's gray, thru to the most delicate silvery shades, come in fabrics and in the finished outfits ready to wear out, completed easily with costume accessories if you demand such a symphony.

Dark green, sage green, and bronze green provide a second basic color. Against such lively and flattering greens go chamois, tangerine, sandy beige, and scarlet vermilion, checks, stripes, copper, and gold. Coats, suits, ensembles, hats, gloves, bags, and footgear all are obtainable in this alluring costume color, greens as becoming to blondes and brunettes as they are to coppertops, greens that will be cooled down in the summer with dead white or bamboo beige accessories. Silk, thin and thick woolens, taffeta, linens, cottons, and the novelty mixtures all are green possibilities for a new way of using a foundation color for a spring wardrobe. This green wave will mix and contrast as easily as black and as effectively as the gray.

Brand new, and as exciting as the first real whiff of spring, is the "twig brown" color promotion; just what it is, a dark horse brown for spring. Pulled out of the usual fall place in fashion routine, it performs gallantly for the spring enthusiasts. It's a cool, flattering, composed brown, the soft, mellow brown of spring twigs serving as the telling contrast for tender green buds and foliage. It's a perfect basic color, as dramatic as black, with none of black's somberness.

These are only a few of the color contrasts to play against this vital spring twig brown. Wear giddy green, that glowing shade of a safety "go" light, with this brown in gloves, bag, or hat. Or it teams perfectly with pale silver gray, with sultry tangerine, with almond green, lovely wood violet, with clear yellow, or with chamois, subtly with rust or henna, dashingly with two colors, red and bright yellow, with beige, and with pink and baby blue. There really isn't any color that you wear with the navy or black that you can't also combine more effectively with this new, flattering brown. There are all kinds of two-piece suits, ensembles, coats, and costumes fashioned of this brown that are regular spellbinders, besides being the newest things in town and the pet color background of a new season.

You can wear brown from head to toe if you wish, using the twig brown for the costumes and the fawn shade for hats, gloves, and accessories. One of the most successful hosiery shades to wear with this brown is a good sandy beige called "pan-tan." Prints in brown and white come in the perennial spring charmers, the dotted affairs, or in floral patterns or in checked designs. Clinging crêpes and taffetas come alike with different sized checks and stripes. Chiffons and other sheers, coarse weave linens, even lace, are presented in this beautiful shade of brown. This season fabrics, dresses, suits, coats, and ensembles all are matched almost instantly with the correct and same shade of brown.

Sketched are some of the color schemes for ready-to-wear outfits using twig brown as the foundation or basic color for a spring wardrobe. Any and all are transferable, so that breaking out in this "dark horse" brown is as exciting as finding the first patch of crocus flowers.

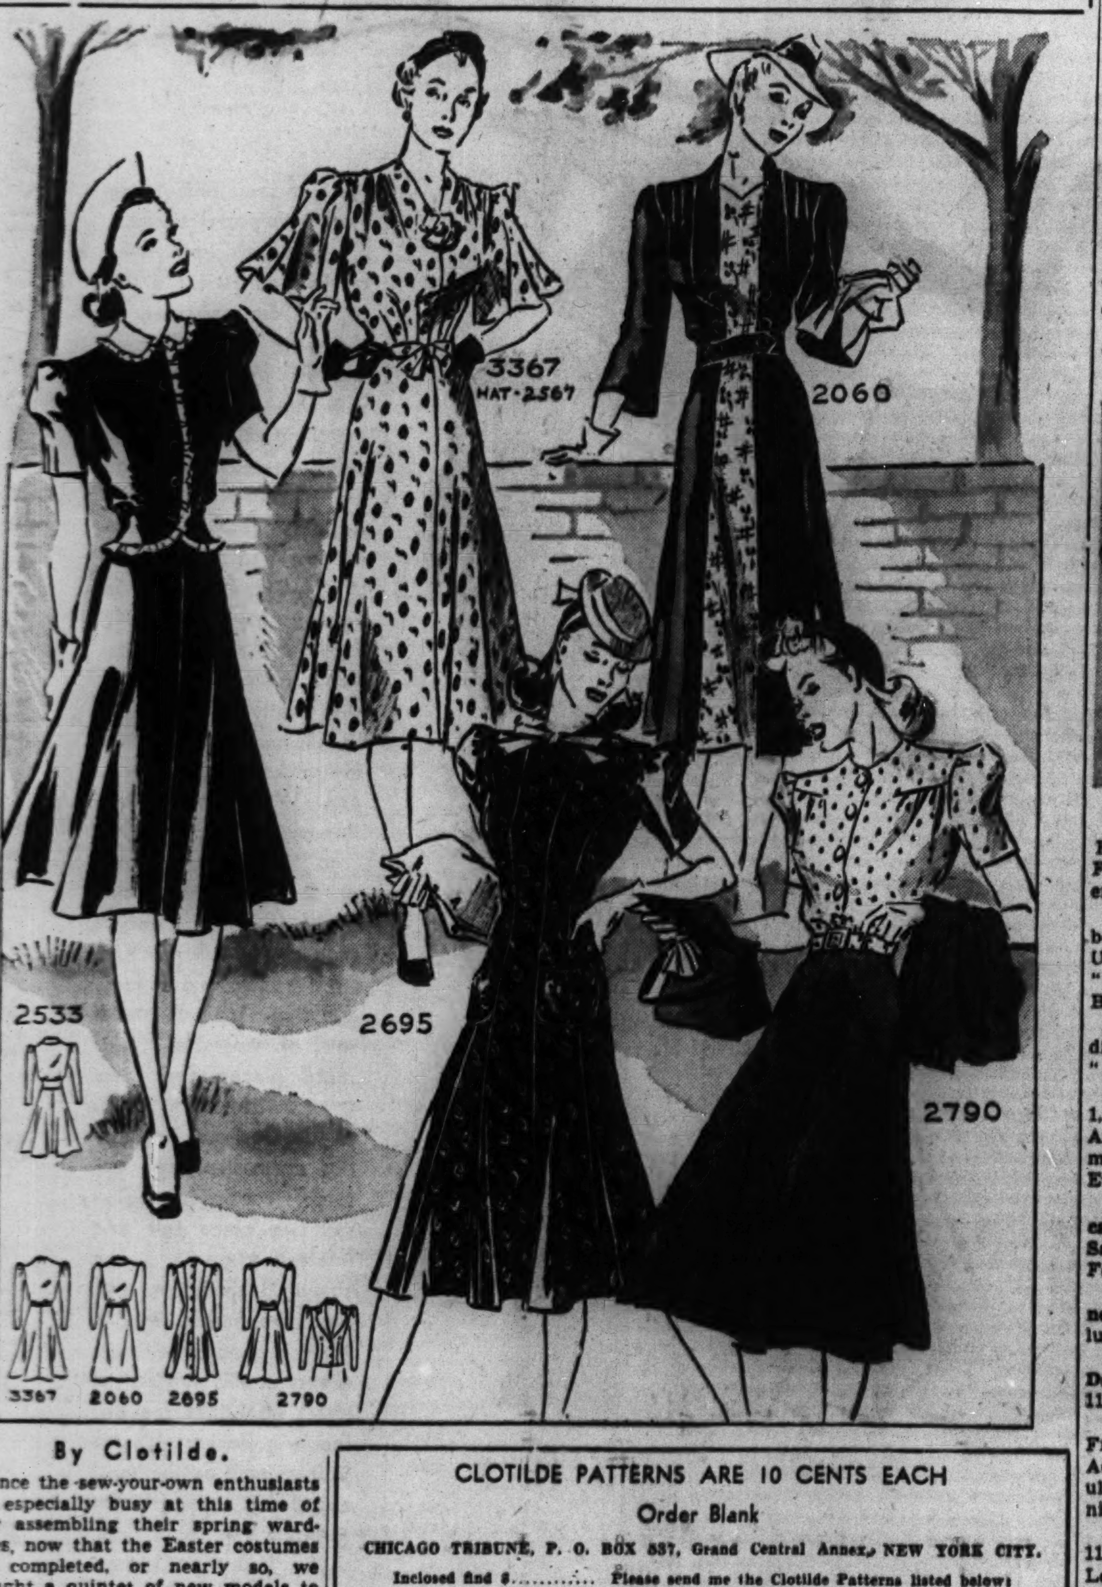
Patterns by Clotilde



By Clotilde.

Since the sew-your-own enthusiasts are especially busy at this time of year assembling their spring wardrobes, now that the Easter costumes are completed, or nearly so, we thought a quintet of new models to simplify their selection would be quite in order. Each of the styles is different from the other in line and mood. All are simple to make, and each is flattering to the silhouette type for which it is intended.

No. 2533—A peplum model with contrasting collar trimmed with plaiting, more of which is used to edge the closing and the flare. Above the neat waistline is a modishly full bodice. Sleeves may be long or short. Fashion wise is the flared skirt. Make this costume of silk or sheer woolen.

No. 3367—Figure flattery for the heavier figure. Flowing sleeves are elbow length, the neckline is V, the skirt moderately flared. Around the slim waistline is a self-fabric belt with a small bow, and above it are darts for a smooth line. Figured silks are exceptionally good mediums.

No. 2060—The coat dress idea, offering fabric and color contrast magic. There's a tuxedo collar and buttons play a trimming rôle. We think no model could do more to disguise overweight. Combine plain and figured silks for a stunning effect.

No. 2695—An exceedingly youthful, princess line frock that buttons down the back. Paneling lends a sleek line to the front, too, and there's no belt to break the length. The shirred pockets are news, and the only trimming is a lingerie bow across the neckline in front. Printed silks and cottons make up effectively.

No. 2790—Three piece outfit, the skirt and jacket matching, the blouse contrasting. The neckline is collarless, the shoulders broad, the waistline slim, and the skirt flared. Both cottons and silk make up well, and sheer woolens, too.

No. 2567—A small afternoon hat for semi-formal occasions. Make it to match your frock or to contrast.

Style No. 2533 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material, with 3½ yards of ruffling and ¼ yard of contrasting for collar.

Style No. 3367 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 2060 is designed for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material for the simulated redingote; 1⅝ yards of contrasting for panel.

Style No. 2695 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of contrasting for bow.

Style No. 2790 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material for waist, 1⅞ yards for skirt, 2⅝ yards for jacket.

Hat pattern No. 2567 is designed for one size only, adaptable to your own measurements. Each pattern costs 10 cents.

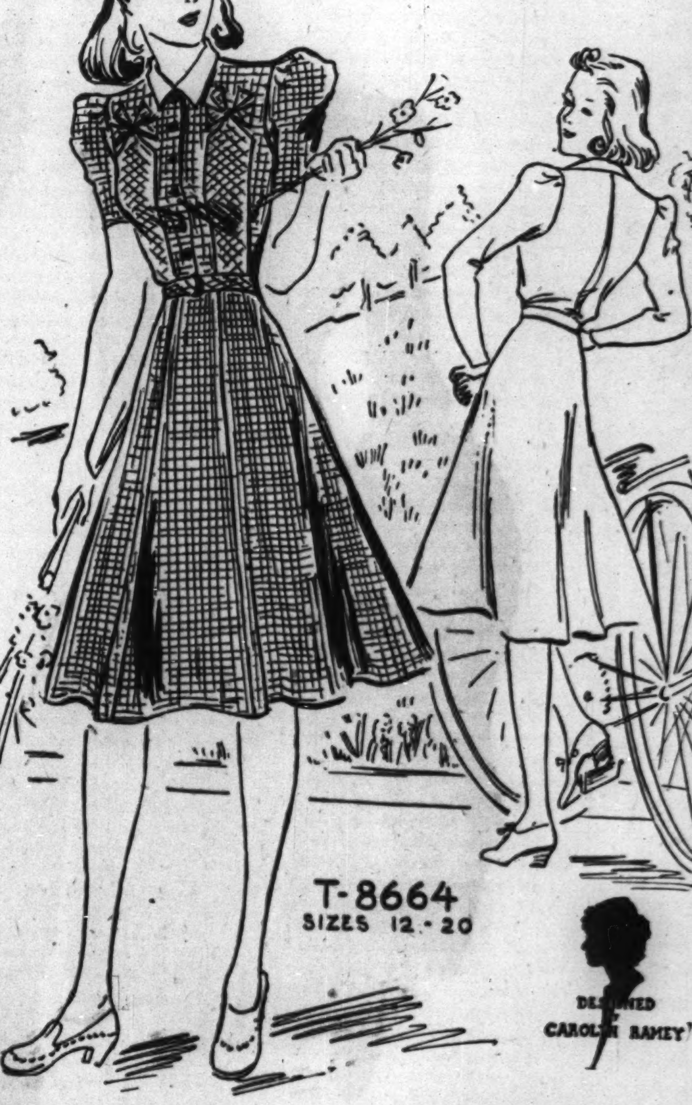
Egg Freezing Is Major Industry Among Chinese

Freezing eggs is one of the largest industries in China. Girls are employed to break and smell eggs. They do it at a rate of 700 eggs every minute.

Campus Modes by a Co-ed

By Carolyn Ramey.



Whereas the "little girl" fashions of a year ago were unsuitable to many types of women and, therefore, of a rather limited life span, the girlish styles this year are practical and acceptable by nearly all except the too buxom. I've noticed that the women on our campus are forsaking the too sophisticated type of clothes in favor of frocks that suit their youth, and I designed one for Sue-Ann down the hall at the dormitory. She's not the athletic type, but she's lithe, graceful, and slim, and a popular beauty in the grand stand at all the school sports events. For her spectator sports moods she had to have a tailored dress which, nevertheless, accents her rather fragile kind of beauty. I think I hit the nail on the head with this dress.

There's a diminutive contrasting collar, a couple of bows to steal the thunder from pockets, and some rather nifty paneling in the bodice, which has contrasting buttons down the front. In the back is what once was known as the "action plait." With me it's more a matter of line and fashion than "action." I've puffed the shoulderline and made the pattern so you may have either short or long sleeves. The paneled skirt is crisply flared.

Sue-Ann's frock is of red and white checked wash silk, rather crisp material that "stands alone," as it were. Other fabric suggestions are very sheer woolen and heavy cottons.

Style No. T-8664 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of contrasting.

Here Are Some Variations on the Egg Theme

By Mary Meade.

(Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.)

It's a wonder that all the hens thruout the country don't get together and send up a loud cackle of protest over the Easter bunny egg myth. This is the hens' busy season, and they're working overtime filling all those Easter orders.

Egg production was slowed up by the freezing weather in January, but there'll be plenty of eggs for tinting and for an out-size Easter breakfast, as well as many an everyday breakfast during the egg season.

Eggs for breakfast generally mean fried, poached, or scrambled eggs with an occasional baked egg thrown in for variety. Little variations in the preparation or serving improve the product of any of these methods of egg cookery.

Here are some variations that will prevent you from tiring of all the eggs you're going to be serving for breakfast in the next few weeks:

SCRAMBLED EGG VARIATIONS.

1. Substitute pineapple juice for milk in recipe and add well drained crushed pineapple before scrambling. Use about ⅔ cup crushed pineapple with 6 eggs.
2. Cook one or two tablespoons each of minced onion and green pepper in butter before adding egg mixture. Sprinkle with grated cheese before serving.
3. For each 4 eggs, add 1 cup canned tomatoes, strained thru coarse sieve; use no other liquid. This is extra good when a few drops of onion juice or a little finely minced onion are added to the butter before the eggs are cooked.
4. Cook shredded dried beef in butter until the edges curl, then add egg mixture.
5. Serve scrambled eggs in hollowed popovers or toasted muffins.
6. Serve scrambled eggs in sausage cups made by browning very thinly sliced, untrimmed summer sausage in butter until the edges curl up.
7. Cook chopped bacon until crisp. Pour off excess fat and add egg mixture, to which one or two tablespoons minced chives have been added.

HOW TO SERVE FRIED AND POACHED EGGS.

1. Serve on toasted English muffins or on rusks.
2. Cut unpeeled apples into ⅜ inch slices and fry in butter. Serve eggs on the apple slices.
3. Serve on fried ham or Canadian bacon.
4. Serve fried eggs with black butter made by adding a little extra butter to that in which eggs were fried and cooking until well browned; then add 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar. Garnish the eggs with chopped chives or parsley.
5. Poach eggs in small amount of hot milk in a buttered skillet or saucepan, basting the eggs with the milk from time to time. Add a few drops of Worcestershire sauce to the milk before slipping in eggs. Serve on buttered toast.

BAKED EGGS.

1. Line ramekins or large muffin pans with cooked rice or wheat cereal to which a little cream, melted butter, salt, pepper and a few grains of cayenne have been added. Sprinkle lightly with grated cheese and break egg into center of each. Add one or two tablespoons of cream and bake in hot water in a moderately slow oven.
2. Hollow out centers of split English muffins, butter generously and drop in egg. Cover with strips of partly cooked bacon and place in moderately slow oven until eggs are firm.
3. Break eggs into greased muffin tins which have been lined with partly cooked bacon. Add tablespoon of cream to each and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderately slow oven until "set." Serve on buttered toast.

OMELET VARIETIES FOR BREAKFAST.

1. Sprinkle chopped cooked bacon, ham, or shredded dried beef over omelet while cooking.
2. Spread a little tart jelly or marmalade over top of omelet while cooking. Serve with crisp bacon.
3. Use equal parts of orange and lemon juice for liquid in omelet recipe and spread omelet thinly with cooked dried apricot pulp.

Remember that no matter how well dressed the eggs, it's the egg itself that counts with the eater, and any egg gets tough when cooked at high temperature.

It has solved a lot of problems; a boxlike affair attached to inside of door, with drop lid and electric light. The carpenter didn't forget such items as pigeon holes, small shelves and drawers.

thru which faint blue patches and streaks appeared. Soon Brazos was lost in the cloud.

Brazos had not yet found out why he came so often to this almost inaccessible spot. And now he divined that probably he never would know. He reveled in its color and beauty and wild grandeur, but these were only a part of what he felt. It was the nearest he could come to being an eagle, which boyish wish had persisted in him. The secret, perhaps, abided mostly in the solitude that seemed never to have been broken.

As Brazos gazed, a golden eagle crossed his vision, sailing on broad still wings across the void, dominant in his command of his kingdom of the heights. Suddenly he bowed his wings and shot like a thunder bolt into the depths.

Hours afterward Brazos wended his way back to Coglan's valley.

The next morning at dawn he left Coglan's and rode the downhill journey to Las Animas in eight hours.

Brazos installed himself again at Mexican Joe's and sallied forth to visit the barber and to make purchases.

"Howdy," he drawled to everybody. "I shore am glad to see yu all again. Been holed up in the hills, choppin' wood an' huntin' deer. Looks like the old burg got along withoot me."

Brazos walked into the big general store and said, "I want the dog-gonedest best outfit yu have in this heah store." Despite the most various and ample stock of cowboy garb short of Denver, Brazos seemed inordinately hard to please. "I gotta look handsome, which is shore a turrible job for me." At last he choose a soft gray blouse and red scarf, a high light sombrero, and the finest of high-top boots, soft as a glove and as snug. In addition to this principle outfit he bought low shoes and black socks, shirts, scarfs, underwear, a shaving kit, and altogether so many things that he forgot what they were.

Brazos had supper with Joe and then went out to let the saloons and gambling halls know he had returned. He went everywhere, even into Hall's saloon, where they had printed "Brazos Keene" on bullet holes in the wall, and he was the same cool, easy, drawling cowboy as of old.

Next morning Brazos paid vastly more attention to his appearance than was usual with him. His clean shaven face, tanned with a hint of red, did not show a line nor a shadow. When he buttoned up his new gray coat he found that only the tip of his gun-sheath, belted high, showed beneath it. That afforded him great satisfaction, but when he went out to ride to Twin Sombreros he left that coat open and hitched the gunsheath to its old place.

Brazos Has Memory of Lura Surface

Brazos turned off the road at the brook and rode down to the pine skirted glade where he had once met Lura Surface. Almost he saw her red hair and green provocative eyes and enticing lips. Impossible to help a little twinge of regret!

He forded the brook and rode thru the pines down to the lane that came up from the pastures to the corrals and barns at the back of the ranch house. Presently he came upon the skeleton structure of a new barn, huge in dimensions. The floor was clean and shining. Benches had been built and set all around the wide square floor.

"By golly, I'm in time for thet dance."

Another new structure, probably of Surface's engineering, was a bunk house that almost could have rivaled Holly Ripple's at Don Carlos rancho. Saddle horses stood bridles down, and cowboys watched Brazos' slow approach. He reined in before them. How many times in his range life had Brazos surveyed such a group with narrowed gaze. On this occasion it left him favorably impressed.

"Howdy, cowboys. Is this heah Twin Sombreros ranch?"

"It sure is, cowboy. Get off an' be at home," answered one young fellow.

"Where's them twins? I want to hit them for a job ridin' heah."

"Fact is, stranger, we got so many bosses that we don't know who's boss," said another clear eyed youth, with a laugh.

"How many bosses?" queried Brazos, in pretended alarm.

"Mr. Neece, Henderson an' Sisk, Hank Bilyen an' Jack Sain."

"Dog-gone! Thet's an ootfit of bosses. I'll take my chance askin' the twins."

"Say, cowboy, you can't fool us. You're Brazos Keene," spoke another.

"Who'n hell said I wasn't?" inquired Brazos, mildly.

"Hey, Jack, come here," called Brazos' first interrogator sticking his head into the door of the bunk house. "You're wanted."

His Friends Welcome Keene Back to Ranch

Whereupon Jack Sain emerged to look, to stare, to give a whoop and thump clinking off the porch. No doubt as to his gladness! It shone in his eyes.

"Brazos!—What you doin' on that hoss?—Get down!" he yelled, leaping to meet Brazos' outstretched hand.

"Howdy, Jack. Heah!—careful of thet hand! I'm tolerably glad to see yu, Jack."

"Maybe I'm not. Why, cowboy, if you hadn't come, there wouldn't have been a dance. Bilyen was sore an' Neece was worried. An' the twins! They don't ask about you any more. They're mad!

"Aw, thet's too bad. I'm dog-gone sorry."

"Where you been? You look great."

"I been workin' oot. Jack, introduce me to these heah boys."

"Damn! Excuse my manners, Brazos, I clean forgot. This is Neece's outfit, picked by Bilyen. Fellars, walk forward an' meet Brazos Keene."

"Shore glad to meet yu-all," replied Brazos, and shook the hand of each in turn. They were the youngest, cleanest bunch of cowboys Brazos had seen for years. Then Hank Bilyen appeared on the scene.

At sight of Brazos he swore lustily. But the cloud left his tanned face. He beamed.

"Yu Texas ghost! I was scared stiff. Reckoned yu'd pulled yore old trick of ridin' away. Pile off so I can hug yu!"

"Come on to the house. Neece was just hollerin' aboot yu. He wants to go on puttin' up thet barn so to get it done before the snow flies. An' he cain't go on with it because June and Janis wouldn't give the dance till yu come."

"Wal, now, thet's dog-gone nice of them. Hank, do I look all right to yu? I'm kinda nervous."

"Nice? My Gawd! Yu look like Brazos Keene ten years ago, a pink cheeked, curly haided cowboy of 16, which yu was when I met yu first at Doan's Post."

"Only ten years? I feel turrible old, Hank. But if I don't look it, what the hell? Say, isn't thet Henry Sisk on the porch?"

"Yep. One of Abe's pardners. Fine chap, but so lovesick he cain't be himself."

"Aw!'—'Lovesick? Who with?" ejaculated Brazos, in alarm.

"Janis. An' is she leadin' him a merry chase!"

Brazos' keen perception never had been any stronger than when he met Henry Sisk again. The young rancher was a gentleman, but his courtesy did not deceive Brazos. He was not glad for the return of the cowboy. Then a resonant voice, dry and crisp, gave Brazos a thrill.

"By the Lord Harry! It's Brazos Keene."

Brazos turned on his heel to meet Neece, a transformed man he scarcely recognized.

"Howdy, old timer," drawled Brazos, feeling his heart swell.

"Son, there ain't any use to try tellin' you," began the rancher with strong emotion.

"Wal, then, don't try. I'll take yore word for it. Neece, yu shore look—wal, like what yore twins' Dad ought to look."

"By Gad! I forgot. If we're ketched talkin' to you before they have their turn . . ."

The call of an excited girl cut Neece short. It came from the front of the ranch house.

"Henry . . . Henry!" called the same voice, imperiously. "Come in here?"

As young Sisk hurried across the porch to enter the room Brazos had a glimpse of a pale sweet face with wild dark eyes drawing back from the door.

"Girls, don't be bashful. Come out," called Neece, gayly.

Henry reappeared and said gruffly, "Keene, you're wanted inside."

"Who wants me?" queried Brazos.

"June—an' Janis. They want you alone."

"Aw!" exclaimed Brazos, and his heart leaped. Yes, he had leaden feet as he crossed the porch.

Sombrero off, Brazos crossed the threshold. One of the twins stood in the center of the room; the other closed the door behind him. Then they both met in front of him, pale, tremendously excited, amber eyes darkly dilated. Brazos could not tell one from the other.

"Howdy—girls," he said huskily. "It's shore turrible good to see yu—"

"Oh—Brazos!" gasped one.

"Cowboy!" cried the other.

Manifestly they knew him, yet it was obvious he appeared strangely at variance with what they had expected. Brazos bore little semblance to a wild and ruthless cowboy; none at all to a bloody gunman. Even his gun did not show. His tanned face wore the old guileless smile. The month of labor and solitude, with their weaning him from the dark and deadly mood, had removed years from his face. Youth shone upon him. He had every reason to be happy that he was Brazos Keene.

"Wel, I reckon I feel a little queer, too," he drawled, and laying his sombrero upon the table, he made pretence of interest in the big sitting room. "Gosh, what a fine place! Most as nice as Don Carlos rancho. I shore——" "Brazos!" Twin voices in unison, deep, rich with emotion, drew him as a magnet. If it had been a feminine shrinking or a check to impulsive feeling that had momentarily frustrated the twins, it went into sudden eclipse. They were upon him, murmuringly, and soft cool lips touched his cheeks at the same instant that sweeter lips, on fire, met his own.

Then Brazos, in a trance, found himself with two girls in his arms, and he felt throbbing breasts against his. The room whirled around him for a moment. If he thought at all, he did not care which was June and which was Janis. He did want to prolong that moment. It ended presently, however, with the girls drawing back, one of them scarlet, the other white. And Brazos recovering his equilibrium, made the observance that the white faced twin was the one who had kissed his mouth.

Then they both talked at once, with identical voices that spoke different meanings, not any of which gave Brazos a clew to which was his fiancée. But he gathered that their great and measureless gratitude had to do with the salvation and rejuvenation of a dearly beloved father. For the rest, the ranch had not meant so much at first but had grown to be home—the relinquishment of actual work in their restaurant had been strangely regretted—the pleasure of fixing up rooms and changing the ranch house—the fun, at first, of seeing innumerable cowboys who applied to their father for jobs—the troops of horses and mustangs and colts—the building of the huge barn and the idea of a dance destined to make history on the range—all these and more poured upon Brazos until the twins exhausted breath.

"Ahuh—grand—just grand!" ejaculated Brazos, bewildered. "But will yu tell me which of yu is June an' which is Jan?"

"Guess," cried one, with radiant smile.

"Does it make much difference who is who?" asked the other, wistfully, with a devil in her eyes.

Brazos suffered a flash of that old recurrent havoc. He sensed, if he did not realize, that only a hair's breadth separated him from something appallingly nameless and incredible.

"Dog-gone if I'll guess!" he replied, stubbornly.

"Foolish boy! Don't you wish we were just one girl?—I am June."

At that juncture the girl's aunt entered to welcome Brazos; and she was so sincere and kind, so apparently oblivious of his status and the violence which had reinstated them at Twin Sombreros, that Brazos found himself at last.

"Wal, it was about time somebody rescued me," he drawled. "Miss Neece, yu just couldn't guess how glad I am to see yu."

"Thank you. I'd scarcely have known you, Brazos Keene."

"Isn't he wonderful, Aunt Mattie?" asked June, with a blush. "I discovered him."

"Well, little Jan was around when it happened," said her sister, subtly. "Come, Brazos, let me show you my room."

"And mine, too," added June.

The Twins Conduct a Tour of Ranch

One at each arm they dragged the bedazzled cowboy from one beautiful room to another, then all over the house, and out into the yard, out toward the corrals, past the group of gaping cowboys, at last to the barn. June held forth on what a marvelous place it would be for her horses when winter came and Janis dilated on its desirability for their dance.

"Now you're here we can have it! When?" exclaimed June, delightedly.

"June Neece, were yu gonna have thet dance without me?" demanded Brazos.

"You bet she was," declared Janis. "She and Jack Sain were keen on it."

"Why, Jan Neece!" contradicted June, red as a rose. "I wasn't. It was you and Henry who got Jack to nag me."

"Wal, never mind that," interposed Brazos, seeing he had struck a discordant note. "I'm heah—an' ararin' to dance. Dog-gone I'll bet I've forgot how."

"Everybody is waiting," concluded Janis, who was the dominating one. "Let's say Friday night. That'll give us two days to decorate the barn with autumn leaves and flowers. And get the supper ready. Dad has a surprise for us—I don't know what. This will be the welcome home he had planned for us, June."

"Friday night—two days?" queried June, dreamily, her eyes on Brazos. "It will be full moon."

They marched back to the house to announce with gay acclaim the date for the dance. Henry Sisk reluctantly obeyed their command to take the cowboys and go into the forest to fetch an abundance of autumn leaves and pine cones and ferns for ornament. The girls rushed in to confer with their aunt. Janis poked her head out to call: "Cowboy, don't you go riding away!"

"Son, when will you take charge?" asked Neece.

"Yu mean of yore ootfits? Gosh!"

"I mean of mine. Henderson has his own foreman. An' Sisk his. They've got pretty good outfits, in my judgment. But I depend a lot on Bilyen.

"What's Hank's job gonna be?"

"Hank will buy an' sell cattle."

"Fine. He's a shrewd hombre an' honest as noonday. Coglan told me yu was runnin' 80,000 haid. Is thet so, boss?"

"More by a few thousand."

"Ahuh. I don't know as thet is so good," rejoined Brazos.

"Hank wasn't so keen about it, either. But I am. I'd rather have Henderson in with me with all his money an' bankin' interests, an' young Sisk, than tackle it alone with only the 10,000 head Surface left me."

"Neece, yu're an old timer. It'll mean drawin' rustlers like molasses draws flies."

Brazos Hears Plans of Big Combination

"There won't be any more wholesale rustlin'. I've been 30 years on the frontier. An' I've seen the cattle business grow. It's about at its peak now. An' I never seen big raids on any range but once. Did you?"

"Wal, come to think aboot it—I reckon no. But all the same a steady stealin' of stock in small bunches can't be sneezed at."

"Brazos, I'll lose less throwin' in with my pardners, an' runnin' a 100,000 head, than if I stay out an' run one-tenth of that number."

"Sounds sensible. Why isn't Hank keen about it?"

"Bilyen is not against it, but he's not crazy about it. Says such big herds invite all kinds of range trouble from stealin' by rival combines an' out an' out rustlers to corruptin' cowboys."

"Wal, Hank is sure right."

"Brazos, we're going to find out before the snow flies."

"Heah comes Hank now, in a buckboard. Gosh, them blacks look kinda familiar!"

"Where you goin', Hank?" queried the rancher, as Bilyen drove to a halt.

"Town. Got a list longer'n yore laig—all for that darn dance."

"Hank, I've been talking with Neece heah. He says yu're not keen on his combine an' the big herd."

"Wal, air yu, Brazos?" parried Bilyen.

"Shore I am. The more the merrier." Brazos deliberately contradicted his opinion to Neece for reasons of his own.

"To be honest, I feel all right about it now, 'cause yu're here, Brazos."

"Ahuh. Wal, what was on yore chest before I got heah?"

"Mebbe I'm a little personal. I got a grudge against Bodkin. An' I ain't so damn friendly toward this new cattleman Knight."

"Bodkin kinda rubs me the wrong way, too, boss," returned Brazos, broodingly. "He was crooked. I know. I heahed him talk with two men I didn't know. But all of them was in thet deal, an' all of them was ready to double cross Surface. It was from them I heahed aboot the bag of gold I got back for yu. They were all huntin' for thet. An' Coglan told me the talk had it thet this man Knight is the hombre who shot Surface."

"Wal, they've side tracked thet. Brazos, do yu reckon Bodkin's bein' elected sheriff will make him go straight?"

"Not in a million years!"

"Thet will simplify the problem for Neece," declared Bilyen, gathering up his reins. And he drove off without another word.

"What's thet sore haided Texan mean, anyhow?" queried Brazos, irritably, when he knew perfectly well what Bilyen meant.

"Drive Bodkin out of Colorado," replied Neece, grimly. "Thet'd break up this range ring."

"Yu cain't drive thet hombre oot of Las Animas."

IT ALL CAME TRUE

A NOVEL BY LOUIS BROMFIELD

What Has Gone Before

Incurably romantic Bridget Lefferty and quick-tempered Maggie Ryan, widows, run a strange boarding house left to them by their late mistress, Miss Minnie Randolph. Their star boarders, like the house and its proprietors, are relics of the past—Miss Flint, "highbrow" seamstress; Mr. Van Diver, old Miss Minnie's former suitor; Mr. Boldini, down-and-out magician, and Mr. Salmon, who writes poetry. Into the quiet routine of this establishment are injected the personalities of Sarah Jane, Maggie's militantly virtuous and curvaceous daughter, home again after losing another job as a showgirl, and Tommy, Mrs. Lefferty's son, who returns after a five years' absence, accompanied by a mysterious "Mr. Grasselli." The day after Tommy comes home Maggie and Mrs. Lefferty receive word from old Mr. Prendergast, attorney, that their income from Miss Minnie's estate has ceased because of bad market conditions. Sarah Jane knows of Tommy's past association with cheap racketeers and gangsters and vows to learn about Grasselli. She finally recognizes him as Monk Maguire, big-time racketeer and gangster, a former employer of hers. In love with Tommy, she warns Grasselli that the young man must not get into trouble. Further, she induces him to make his appearance at meals and join the rummy game. Mr. Boldini is to give a performance for the new boarder. A drawing room show is agreed upon. Mr. Salmon says he will read his poetry. Sarah Jane, who has discovered Tommy's musical talents, announces that she and Tommy will do an act. Now read on and see Sarah Jane's plans take form.

INSTALMENT III.

AFTER his first appearance Mr. Grasselli came down every evening to dinner, and every evening there was a rummy game, and every evening he won more often than any one else. After the second night they let him do all the dealing because he seemed to know how to do it better than any of them and the game went so much faster, and so he became a kind of croupier in the gambling hell of poor Miss Minnie's drawing room. Sometimes Tommy stayed in and played the piano and once he went out again with Sarah Jane to the pictures. Then on Thursday, the day before Mr. Boldini's performance, two things happened.

In the morning Sarah Jane came upon Mrs. Lefferty sitting on a chair in Mr. Boldini's room with a letter in her hand, weeping. When she questioned her, Mrs. Lefferty simply handed her the letter. It was brief. It said that the interest was overdue and that something would have to be done about it. The bank, said the letter, had been lenient and put up with delays in the past, but under present conditions it could no longer continue such a policy.

"So that's it!" said Sarah Jane.

"It isn't only that," sobbed Mrs. Lefferty, "there's the insurance and the taxes."

"You'd better sell everything and clear out. How much would you have left?"

Mrs. Lefferty didn't know. She only knew the assessed value of the house. So Sarah Jane took that and did some figuring. She wasn't very good at arithmetic, but after a long struggle she managed to discover that when everything was washed up they'd have practically nothing at all.

"How much do you have to have right now?" asked Sarah Jane.

"I don't know exactly," said Mrs. Lefferty.

Sarah Jane Scolds Grasselli for Cheating

After another struggle Sarah Jane got it out of her and wrote it all down. The interest and taxes and insurance and some bills that hadn't been paid. Again she did some figuring and at last she said, "Leave it to me. I guess the bank can wait a day or two more."

Sarah Jane didn't know exactly what she was going to do, but she meant to do something. The idea did not come to her until late that same evening when she was watching the rummy game.

Somehow the spirit had been going out of the game, slowly, bit by bit, night by night. In four nights Miss Flint hadn't won a game nor had Mr. Salmon. Mr. Boldini had won a single game and Mrs. Lefferty had won two. All the others had gone to Mr. Grasselli. And then Sarah Jane, watching, discovered the reason. Mr. Grasselli was stacking the cards.

After a second of heroic control she kept silent. Mr. Grasselli won the game and after that everybody went to bed. While Mrs. Lefferty was putting away the cards Sarah Jane said to Mr. Grasselli in a low voice, "Wait a minute, Monk, I want to tell you something."

"Okay," he answered, "but lay off that name."

"All right, Mr. Grasselli." Then she said to Tommy and Mrs. Lefferty, "I'll be up in a minute. I want to talk to Mr. Grasselli about something confidential. I'll put out the lights."

Tommy looked at her curiously and Sarah Jane's heart gave a sudden leap. This time it wasn't a look of anger because she might be stirring up trouble for Mr. Grasselli. It was a look of jealousy.

But Tommy and his mother went upstairs, and when they were well out of hearing she said to Mr. Grasselli, "Well, of all the cheap lice!"

"What's the matter now?"

"Palming the cards in a game with a lot of old women."

"So what?"

"It would be bad enough if you were taking their money . . . but you're taking their fun from 'em . . . about the only fun they have."

Jeffrey Lynn as Tommy.

"I never thought of that. I've got to have a little fun myself. I guess it's a kind of habit."

"Sure. Well, I can tell you how to have some fun. I can tell you how you can square yourself."

Mr. Grasselli sat down.

"The old girls are broke," said Sarah Jane. "They're gonna lose the house if something isn't done."

"Yeah, I see," said Mr. Grasselli. "I like Mrs. Lefferty. She makes me think of my old woman. She's been dead for 10 years, God rest her soul." For a moment something glistened in Mr. Grasselli's good eye. "How much?"

"They got to have it right away. About two thousand."

"O," said Mr. Grasselli. "Two grand! I thought you was talking about real money. Sure, they can have it . . . tomorrow, as soon as Tommy can get it from my lawyer. What are they gonna do after that?"

The words of Mrs. Lefferty came to Sarah Jane's lips, "Something'll turn up." She didn't doubt it now.

Mr. Grasselli went upstairs and when Sarah Jane had turned out the lights she followed him. Just as she expected, Tommy's head appeared in the doorway of his room.

"What were you doing downstairs?" he asked.

"Business," said Sarah Jane.

"I should think you'd try to keep straight in the same house with your own mother."

"Listen, you! No man has ever touched me. See? And if you think I'm gonna begin with a rat like that, you're nuts."

And in disgust she walked off and left him. It was only after she had gone that he remembered he still had not found out what her business with Mr. Grasselli had been.

She told him in the morning when Mr. Grasselli sent him with a note to "Mr. Hirsh" instructing him to pay over $2,000.

On Friday at lunch Mr. Boldini made a disappointing announcement. His performance, he said, would not be ready for that evening. It would have to be postponed for another week. He had some new tricks. He and Fanto had been rehearsing steadily, but Fanto, he explained, was not quite ready for his part and might break down.

A murmur of disappointment went around the table and Sarah Jane glanced quickly at Mr. Grasselli, half expecting him to say that he was sorry, but that he would have to leave before then. But he said nothing at all.

. . . . . .

There were times when it seemed to Sarah Jane that she and Tommy would never get anywhere, because they were too used to each other and because Tommy accepted her as a pal and a sister rather than some one who was no relation to him.

Thinking about it, there were moments when, in her own room, she acted out for herself how she should have behaved; this she did by raising her head, lowering her eyelids, moving with the old showgirl walk she knew so well. She would study her big, handsome face in the mirror, trying one expression after another in order to appear seductive and mysterious. But before very long she always broke down and laughed because she looked so funny.

And so after a time her rehearsals of seduction and mystery in front of the mirror degenerated into a travesty of all the tricks she had observed in the movie queens, done for her own amusement during the hours when she had nothing to do. She got out the makeup box which hadn't been used for so long that most of the materials had begun to dry up, and made up her face to give it a faraway look and plastered her eyelashes with mascara and drew over her own ripe, generous lips a cupid's bow which had nothing to do with nature.

And finally she shaved off her eyebrows and with a pencil created new ones, arched far above the ones she had inherited from Mr. Ryan, the coachman. The false eyebrows with the veiled mascara look gave her a surprised, rather half-witted expression, as if she had just been startled out of a deep slumber. "Languor," she thought, "is no name for it." And made up as she was, she went downstairs to poor Miss Minnie's drawing room where Tommy was working at the piano.

He did not hear her enter, but when she was quite close to him he turned, looked suddenly frightened, and said: "What's the matter with you? Have you gone nuts?"

She didn't answer him, but walked across the room, languorously seated herself on poor Miss Minnie's "love seat," and lighted a cigaret. Then it was that Tommy burst into roars of laughter. When he finished he suddenly said, "I've got it."

"What is it?" she asked.

"Wait till I get it worked out. Go on away and leave me in peace." And almost at once he took up a piece of paper and began working as if she weren't in the room.

Tommy Won't Talk About His Past

But there was something else which troubled her about Tommy. He had never told her anything of what had happened to him during the five years he had been away, nothing beyond the mere statement that he had been in Chicago, St. Louis, Panama, and a lot of other places. And slowly she began to be suspicious. There were times when in the midst of a mood of gayety he would suddenly grow quiet and still and a shadow would come across his face, and he would look old and tired again and a little gray, and she would want to say, "What's the matter? Tell me about it." But she did not dare for fear of driving him still further from her.

. . . . . .

Mr. Grasselli had been right. Mrs. Lefferty's boarding house was the last place in New York that they even thought of looking for him. Nearly every day the name of Monk Maguire appeared in the papers. Again and again there were pictures of him, pictures, it is true, which bore no resemblance whatever to him. When he saw them he was thankful that he had always pulled his hat over his eyes and his collar about his ears whenever a photographer had appeared on the horizon. And he was lucky, too, he knew, that nobody in Mrs. Lefferty's boarding house ever read the tabloid newspapers.

"Mr. Hirsh," he thought, hadn't been very quick about fixing up his case. He kept saying that what would help them most was an "adjournment." If they could get a delay the feeling against Monk Maguire would not be so strong.

The truth was that Sarah Jane had spoiled a lot of his fun when she caught him cheating. But after a couple of nights Mr. Grasselli began stacking the cards again. He couldn't do it when Sarah Jane stayed at home and watched, but he did it every time she was not there.

At last the night of the performance arrived. Mrs. Lefferty arranged to have supper a little early so that she and Maggie could both be up in the drawing room by 9 o'clock. Everybody was excited, even Mr. Grasselli, to whom the performance offered at least a change from the inevitable routine of rummy. Miss Flint seemed to be almost beside herself and at dinner talked incessantly, mostly to Mr. Grasselli, about the families she had known and worked for.

When Mrs. Lefferty came up at last from the kitchen she brought with her a bottle of old brandy, one of the last that remained from the remnants of "the old gentleman's" cellar left them by poor Miss Minnie. When Mr. Grasselli tasted it his eyes closed a little and he smacked his lips. "What is that?" he asked, and Mrs. Lefferty showed him the bottle so covered with dust and mold that the label was no longer legible.

"Say!" said Mr. Grasselli, "that's great stuff. There ain't any like that around any more. That's worth a lot of money. How much of it have you got?"

"I don't know," said Mrs. Lefferty, swelling a little with pride. "Maybe 25. Maybe a few more. We don't use it much."

"Whenever you want to sell it let me know. I'll make an offer right now of $15 apiece for every bottle you'll sell me."

"I wouldn't want to cheat you," said Mrs. Lefferty. "Did you say $15?"

"You ain't cheatin' me and I said $15!"

While Sarah Jane and Mrs. Lefferty arranged the room, Tommy, with a cigaret hanging from one corner of his mouth, played the piano in order to build up the mood. All the chairs and the "love seat" were removed from the end of the tunnel-like room where the piano stood, leaving it empty for a stage with two entrances, one into the dining room and one into the back hall. Then Mrs. Lefferty drew the curtains which in winter divided the room in half to keep in the heat and keep out drafts, and the illusion of a small theater was complete. At the opposite end the audience seated itself.

Presently Mr. Salmon retired and everything was ready and Sarah Jane stood up and announced that the program was about to begin. Mr. Salmon, she said, would open the program by reading two or three of his poems.

Mr. Salmon Recalls His Past Greatness

Mr. Salmon chose two poems out of his "Village" period. One was called "In Praise of Venus" and the other "The Tea Shop Under the El."

Now, as Tommy pulled back the curtains, the poet took his place languorously beside poor Miss Minnie's table of teakwood inlaid with mother-of-pearl. For a moment he seemed to go into a trance waiting for the audience to grow calm. Then, clearing his throat, he began.

At the second line Mr. Grasselli began to feel nervous. Something about Mr. Salmon's poem, recited in the genteel surroundings of poor Miss Minnie's drawing room, seemed to him indecent. And the words . . . they were words which Mr. Grasselli had never used, words indeed which he had never heard spoken before. He knew all the female charms well enough, but by other more vulgar words which would have offended him much less than the words Mr. Salmon used because he was accustomed to them. By the tenth line Mr. Grasselli, alias Monk Maguire, was blushing and when it was finished he looked quickly over his shoulder at Sarah Jane, reproachfully, as if she herself had sat in the nude for this effort of Mr. Salmon.

There was a faint patter of applause to which the shocked Mr. Grasselli contributed nothing as a way of showing his disapproval. Then Mr. Salmon, after a bow, cleared his throat again and announced: "The next verse was written a great many years ago when I lived in 8th street. Some of you never knew Greenwich Village when it was the American Parnassus. Some of you are not old enough to have known it. I hope my few lines will give you an impression of what it was like during those golden days. The poem is called 'The Tea Shop Under the El.' It is written in free verse."

He began:

Beneath the El obscured by the grim shadow of a prison, Nymphs and fauns disported by the light of ancient candles on tables of ebony and lacquer red.
Venus, enshrined, gave blessing to the revels
Unseen, reclining on her bed of clouds. . . .

As he read, recognition slowly dawned on Mr. Grasselli. The second poem, like the first, was filled with references to the more unmentionable parts of female anatomy, still designated by those refined words which Mr. Grasselli found so offensive; but this time Mr. Grasselli was less shocked than transported to the realm of wonder because before Mr. Salmon was half thru the reading, Mr. Grasselli recognized the background of the poem. He knew that little tearoom beneath the El. It was the Tinker Bell Tea Shoppe and he figured out that he knew it at about the same time Mr. Salmon had written the poem, and his wonder was born of the fact that to Mr. Salmon it had looked so completely different from the way it had appeared to himself. He knew it very well because he had begun his career in a small room just above it where he established a flourishing business in cocaine and heroin, and, try as he would, he could never remember having seen any of the nymphs and fauns Mr. Salmon wrote about going in or out of the tearoom doors.

At the close of the poem Sarah Jane seemed suddenly to be overcome by an attack made up of equal parts of coughing and sneezing and ran from the room. Maggie looked after her severely and then after a moment's pause Mr. Salmon said: "The next poem belongs to an earlier period. Indeed, this recital might almost be called retrospective, as I have gone backward, you might say, to my origins. The verse is called 'The Open Road.'"

Again he cleared his throat and began:

O, to be out on the open road,
When the sun is up and the dew is wet.

Mr. Grasselli liked this one better than the others and listened attentively, but the sense he got from it was scarcely the sense which the poet intended.

This time he joined in the applause. The sentiment of "The Open Road" struck him especially strongly after being shut up for a month.

Then Mr. Boldini excused himself to go and fetch Fanto, and Tommy set about preparing the stage for the magician's act. He pushed the screen a little nearer the front, shoved poor Miss Minnie's table to one side, and again seated himself at the piano and began to play. Sarah Jane, who seemed to have recovered her coughing fit, returned and took her place in the audience.

Fanto knew he was going to perform, and now he could not restrain his delight. It took Mr. Boldini nearly five minutes before he could quiet him enough to begin. Then he gave the signal and Tommy began playing and Fanto and the Great Boldini made their entrance.

The entrance came as something of a surprise to every one, for even Maggie and Mrs. Lefferty, as often as they had seen him go thru his répertoire of old fashioned tricks, had never seen him in costume before. He had chosen to appear as a Roman and was dressed in a suit of mail made of papier-mâché and painted bronze.

The sight, after the strain of Mr. Salmon's embarrassing words, was too much for Mr. Grasselli. He grew red in the face and choked and then snorted and went into a coughing fit like Sarah Jane. While he coughed and stuffed a handkerchief into his mouth, the Great Boldini waited with an expression of resignation on his face. Beside him Fanto wriggled and wagged his tail in impatience to show off before an audience. When Mr. Grasselli had recovered himself, Mr. Boldini in his spectral tragedian's voice, enriched by a heavy Trieste accent, said, "Ladies and gentlemen: This evening I am going to exhibit to you a few tricks which I hope will hold your attention. One or two of them have defied the efforts of whole committees to understand. I regret that I have not my troupe with me and that the stage is too small to employ all the apparatus which would be necessary to give you such an entertainment as I should feel worthy of the Great Boldini. However, we shall do our best. And now I take pleasure in introducing to you Fanto, the World's Wonder Dog."

At the sound of his name Fanto stood on his hind legs and made a bow. He did not bark because he was too well trained and he understood now that, with Mr. Boldini all in costume, he was giving a real performance as he had done long ago on a stage. Once the bow was made, he scurried about fetching colored handkerchiefs and wands and other bits af apparatus for Mr. Boldini.

The Great Boldini went on with his tricks. There wasn't anything extraordinary about them. They were tricks which might impress Maggie and Mrs. Lefferty, but Mr. Grasselli and Tommy and Sarah Jane had seen them all a hundred times, better done often enough, because now Mr. Boldini was getting old and his hands were not so sure any more and, worst of all, in spite of everything, he was bored by his own tricks. Fanto, his "stooge," was stealing the show. His audience was more interested in Fanto than in the Great Boldini; and, worst of all, as Mr. Boldini noticed from the corner of his eye, Fanto knew it and was showing off. He was insufferable, wagging his tail and whimpering and looking to the audience for approbation. Pangs of jealousy attacked the Great Boldini, and the more Miss Flint murmured and the more Mr. Grasselli chuckled, the deeper did the pangs gnaw into Mr. Boldini's heart. He knew that he was not holding his audience and he suspected, rightly, that behind his back Fanto was behaving like an elderly female star, grimacing and sitting up and turning somersaults in order to kill the performance of his master. And slowly the jealousy transformed itself into fury. He knew what he would do. He would punish Fanto. The new and wonderful tricks he had been rehearsing depended more upon Fanto than upon himself, and Fanto, whimpering and impatient, was longing for the moment when he might show off.

Behind the frozen smile he turned on the poodle he came to a decision. He thought, "Very well, young man, I'll fix you! We won't do the new tricks at all!" And so instead of withdrawing for a moment to put Fanto into a travesty of his own Roman costume for the new tricks, he went suddenly into the goldfish trick, the breath-taker with which he always finished his act.

Fanto knew the goldfish trick! He knew it was the end of the act.

TURN TO THE GRAPHIC SECTION for this same story in pictures from the new film, "It All Came True."

Hear it on W-G-N at 8:45 p. m. next Friday.

Vaguely he suspected that he had been betrayed. He did not move a muscle while Mr. Boldini faced his audience and impressively paused for a moment before producing a bowl of live goldfish out of the air itself. Then Fanto acted. With a swift jerk of his teeth he snatched the Great Boldini's moth-eaten Roman cloak and from beneath it fell the bowl of goldfish, water and all, on poor Miss Minnie's Axminster carpet. The score was even!

For a moment there was a dreadful silence while the startled goldfish attempted to get their bearings and swim away over poor Miss Minnie's faded carpet; then came the explosion. The sight of the goldfish was one too much for Mr. Grasselli. He began to laugh softly at first and then louder and louder, and at the first chuckle Tommy and Sarah Jane were with him.

Mr. Boldini dashed suddenly from the stage, but Fanto lingered for a moment longer to savor to the full his triumph and success.

"That's great," said Mr. Grasselli, gasping for breath, "that's one of the best acts I ever seen."

"It wasn't meant to be like that. It's a wonderful trick," said Miss Flint with a frozen dignity. "Fanto is a naughty dog. I can't imagine what got into him."

Mr. Boldini Bowed by His "Disgrace"

When the wreckage had been cleared and the panting goldfish rescued, they waited for Mr. Boldini before beginning "A Few Songs by Ryan and Lefferty." They waited for five minutes and then 10 and then 15 and then Mr. Grasselli had some more brandy and at last Mrs. Lefferty rose and said, "Maybe I'd better see what is the matter," and left to go up to Mr. Boldini's room.

Upstairs she knocked once and then twice, but there was no response and, alarmed, thinking that Mr. Boldini in his humiliation might have done something terrible, she pushed open the door. There was no light in the room, but by the light from the hall she saw that Mr. Boldini, still in his papier-mâché armor, was lying on the bed. In his basket in the corner Fanto lay curled up, looking up at her, the very picture of dejection.

"Sure," she said, "it was nothing at all. It was a great success. Mr. Grasselli said he never seen such a funny act."

At this Mr. Boldini gave a great sigh and a groan and turned his face to the wall.

"They're waiting for you. . . . Tommy and Sarah Jane . . . to begin their act."

"No," he said, "I couldn't go down. I couldn't face them."

"Sure, and you'll spoil all the fun."

"No. Never again . . . never again." Tears began to come out of the large eyes.

"You're taking it too hard. Maybe some brandy would make you feel better."

Mr. Boldini made no response. Mrs. Lefferty said, "Sure, I'll bring you some brandy and they can begin the act and then you can come down."

She fetched a fresh bottle of brandy and a glass and left them on the table by his side and then returned to the drawing room.

"I guess we'd better go on with the program," she said. "He's all broken up. Maybe he'll come down later."

So Tommy went to the piano and Sarah Jane retired to the dining room to make ready.

It wasn't easy. Both of them were aware of that. Now that the uproarious mirth over Mr. Boldini was finished, there was a reaction, a lassitude, a faint weariness on the part of the audience, of which Tommy and Sarah Jane and even Mr. Grasselli were aware. A part of their public—Miss Flint and Mr. Salmon and Maggie—were definitely hostile, because they all knew somehow that it wasn't only Mr. Boldini but themselves as well who had roused the outburst.

Mr. Grasselli had another brandy and then Sarah Jane signaled that she was ready and Tommy began to play. Turning to the audience he said, "This one is called 'Tit for Tat.'"

Sarah Jane had put on a black evening dress, cut very simply and very low. The costume made her appear slimmer than she really was, yet it concealed none of the generous exciting curves of her heroic figure and it threw the attention at once to her face, a part of her which, despite its beauty, was usually a little overlooked by the public in its interest in other features of Sarah Jane. For the first time Mr. Grasselli thought: "The girl's got a face. She ain't just all body. She ain't just simply a show girl."

And when she began to sing Mr. Grasselli discovered that Sarah Jane not only had a face, she also had a voice. It wasn't exactly a voice for grand opera, altho the volume would have filled any vast auditorium, but it was a voice that did something to you. Mr. Grasselli, at least, was aware that it did something to him. It was low and deep and rich and somebody—it must have been Tommy—had taught her how to use it.

It was the first time that Mr. Grasselli had ever really listened to Tommy's music, the first time he had really seen that there was something in it. "Tit for Tat" was a swell song. The rhythm of it not only penetrated the critical consciousness of Mr. Grasselli, who might have been expected to understand such things, but Maggie felt it, grudgingly, for she was still out of temper with Sarah Jane, and Mrs. Lefferty and even old Mr. Van Diver, who at the second chorus began to hum softly off the key to himself. As for Miss Flint, she appeared to be enchanted by the song and began to sway a little in sympathy.

When Sarah Jane reached the end there was a burst of applause and she noticed that Mr. Grasselli was applauding loudly and was quite red in the face, altho it was impossible to tell whether this had been caused by enthusiasm or by brandy.

Then they sang another called "Here We Are in Love," and put a great deal of feeling into it, and Mr. Grasselli sat still further forward in his chair and about the middle of the song it occurred to him that he didn't know Sarah Jane at all. She wasn't just "Big Sal" that he'd known about Broadway for five or six years, a big, good looking show girl who was always getting into some kind of scrape. She wasn't dumb; she could not be dumb and sing like that. Sarah Jane had changed. He was sure of that, but he did not know why she had changed. He did not understand that for the first time in her life Sarah Jane was in love, richly, deeply, violently in love, and when she fell in love she did it in a big violent way as she did everything else. She wasn't only doing her best for herself; she was working to put over Tommy's songs as well.

Then after the second song she retired to the dining room and there was another wait of five minutes, and then suddenly she appeared between the dining room curtains, a Sarah Jane none of them but Tommy and Maggie had ever seen before because she was made up as a siren, the way she had been the day she came downstairs and frightened Tommy into an idea. Her face was dead white and her eyebrows appeared to have risen in astonishment or terror of something she had seen and then remained there high on her forehead without coming down again. The lashes, veiling her half closed eyes, seemed to be at least an inch long and very thick, and the mouth, created by nature full and voluptuous, had been blocked out and re-created into a mouth which promised a perverse voluptuousness beyond even the imagination of Mr. Grasselli. The sight of her made the room very still until she again leaned against the end of the old square piano and Tommy said, "This one is called 'I'm Nada McSweeney, the Glamor Girl.'" And then the silence was broken by a laugh, a loud belly laugh, from Mr. Grasselli, who had seen the point.

The song itself was funny. Tommy had hit it and in the lyric he told the story of Mary McSweeney, who had been "discovered" and put into pictures, and how they blocked out her mouth and stuck on eyelashes and changed eyebrows and taught her to speak in a bass voice, and altered her figure and changed her name to Nada, until her own mother didn't know her and wouldn't let her in the house. And as she sang Sarah Jane changed the pitch of her voice, ever so little now and then, lifted an eyebrow, or read a line with a faint accent. The gestures, the intonations were nothing at all, the merest outlines, but so skilfully were they done that in turn she created Garbo and Marlene Dietrich and Katharine Hepburn and Myrna Loy and a half dozen others so that every one in the room except Mrs. Lefferty was pleased; even old Mr. Van Diver, who only knew them from his movie magazines, got exactly what she was doing and began to laugh. Mr. Grasselli laughed hardest of all, slapping his thick knees with his big red hands.

Mr. Grasselli Discovers Sarah Jane's Talent

Led by Mr. Grasselli they called for more, but there wasn't any more, because, as Sarah Jane said, "That's all we've got ready. Tommy's got a lot more songs, but I haven't got them worked up."

"Sing them over again," said Mr. Grasselli; so Sarah Jane sang them all over again, but this time differently, imitating a different star with each verse, and Mr. Grasselli laughed so hard that Mrs. Lefferty became alarmed for fear he might injure himself. But behind his laughter he was seeing Sarah Jane very clearly. He had begun to discover what it was Sarah Jane had . . . that special something which he had never been able to define or clarify—Sarah Jane, Mr. Grasselli saw in a moment of revelation, was a great comedienne.

When she had gone thru the songs twice Sarah Jane had to stop for breath and everybody had a drink and talked about how they couldn't believe Tommy's songs were so good and Sarah Jane could sing like that, and every now and then Mr. Grasselli would smite his thigh and say, "Yeah, that was great! Say, I never guessed you had it in you." And they all felt so well that Mrs. Lefferty decided to go upstairs and fetch Mr. Boldini. Sarah Jane said that if he'd come down she'd sing the songs all over again.

So again Mrs. Lefferty opened the door of Mr. Boldini's room when he failed to answer her knock, and again she found him lying in his armor with his face to the wall, only this time when she shook his shoulder he didn't respond at all. Terrified, she turned him over and discovered that he was still breathing. He wasn't dead at all. The air was filled with the fragrance of "the old gentleman's" brandy, and when Mrs. Lefferty looked at the bottle she saw that he had drunk up the whole $15 worth.

Downstairs she said, "Mr. Boldini can't come down. He's not feeling so well."

So they played one game of rummy which Mr. Grasselli lost because Sarah Jane, still made up as a glamor girl, was there to keep an eye on him. It went to Mr. Salmon, who had won only two or three games since Mr. Grasselli had entered the contest. Then Mrs. Lefferty produced supper and every one had beer and at last about 2 in the morning they went upstairs and Mrs. Lefferty turned out the lights.

At the bottom of the stairs Mrs. Lefferty called to Sarah Jane and Sarah Jane waited for her. Mrs. Lefferty looked a little saddened and said, "That wasn't very kind of you."

"What wasn't kind?" asked Sarah Jane.

"What you did to Katharine Hepburn."

"What did I do?"

"You made fun of her. She isn't like that. She's real."

"All right," said Sarah Jane, "the next time I'll make her real."

She allowed Mrs. Lefferty to go up the stairs ahead of her. The old lady felt better now. There was only one cloud over her happiness and that was the $2,000 that came from Mr. Grasselli. A debt was a debt and she could not think how she was ever going to save enough to pay him back.

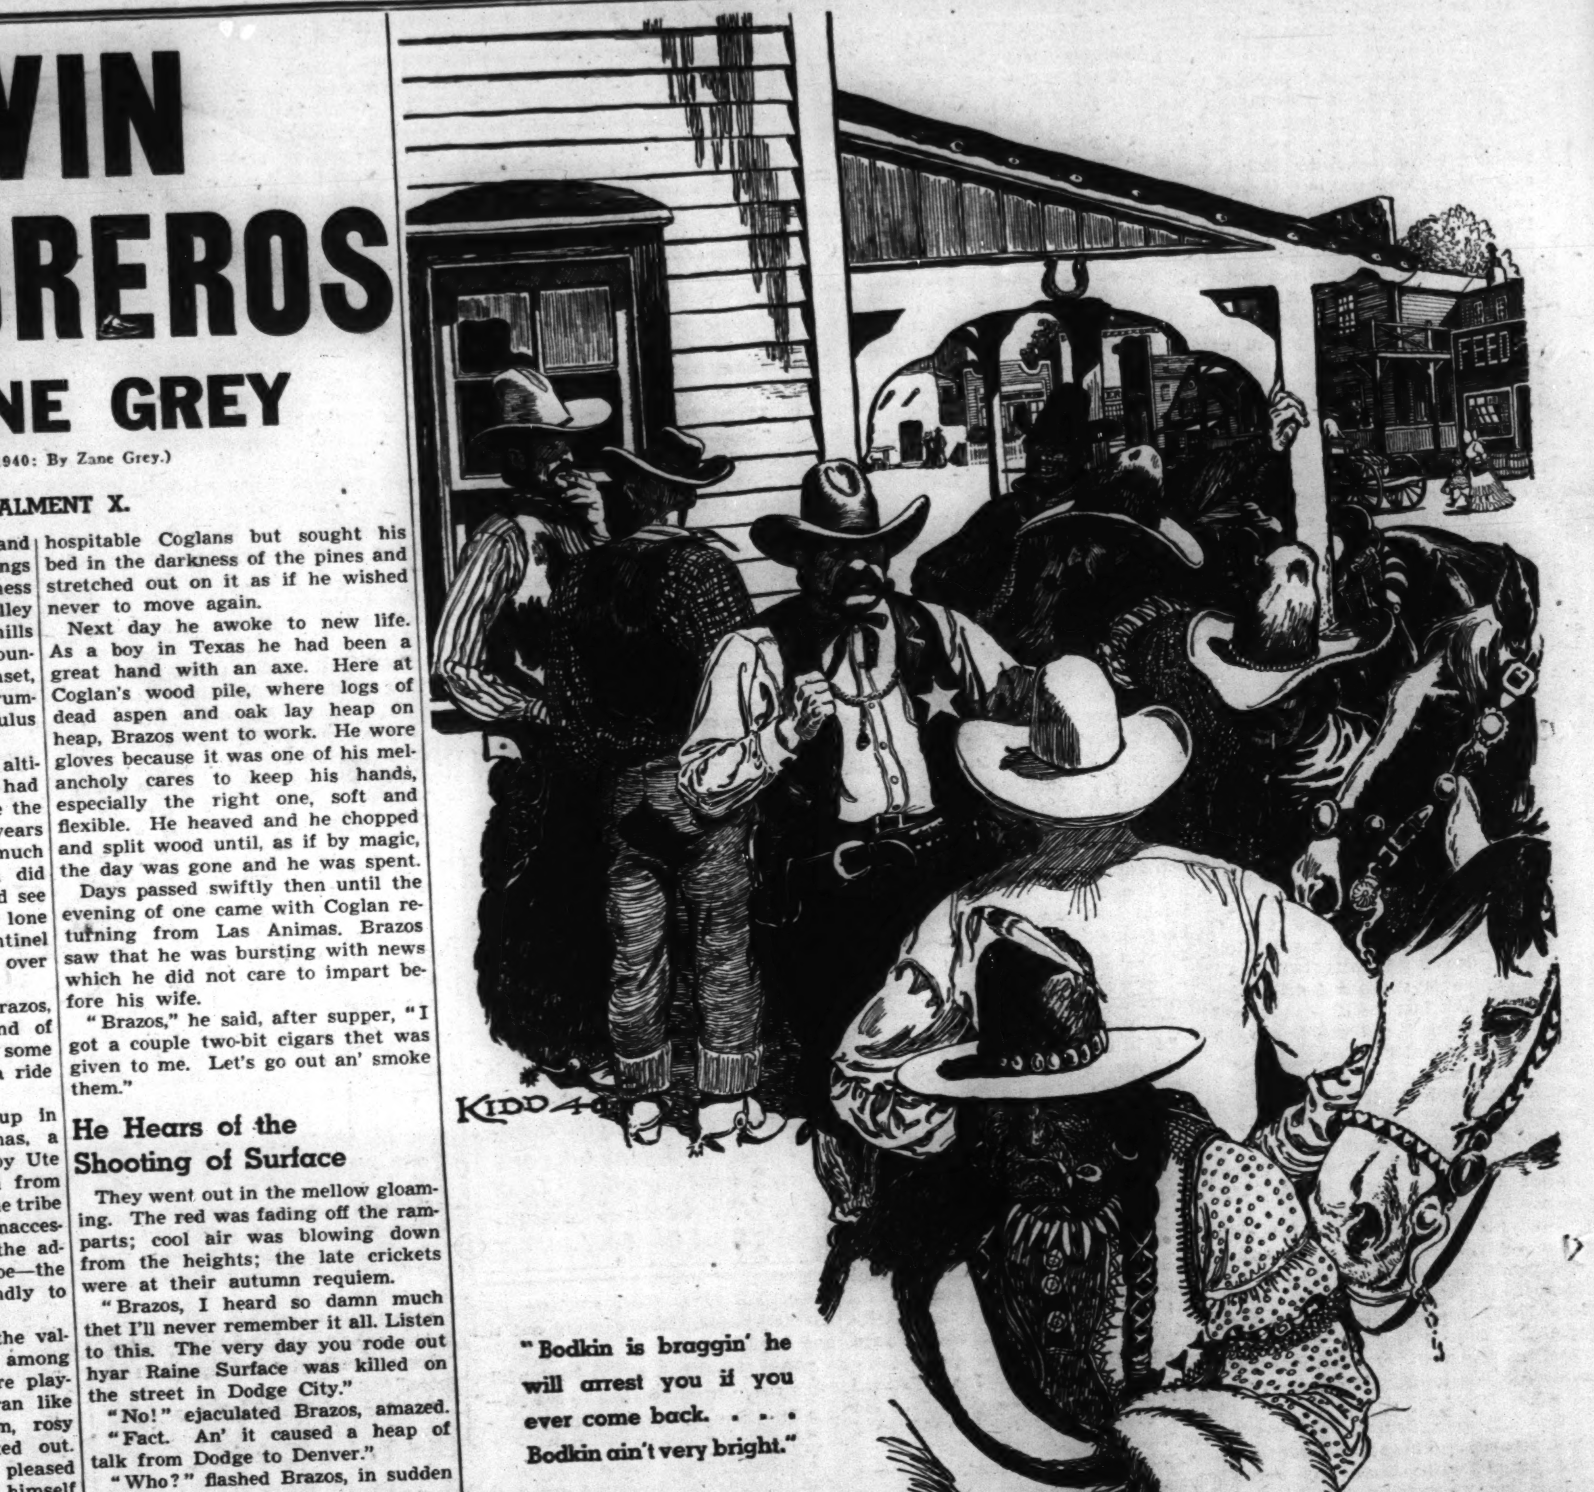
TWIN SOMBREROS

By ZANE GREY

(Copyright: 1940: By Zane Grey.)

INSTALMENT X.



"Bodkin is braggin' he will arrest you if you ever come back. . . . Bodkin ain't very bright."

BRAZOS sat on his horse and gazed with mingled feelings of relief, pain, and gladness down into Coglan's valley nestling between the last foothills and the rugged barrier of the mountains. The hour was near sunset, warm and humid, with thunder rumbling among the heavy cumulus clouds along the black horizon.

Tho only early September, the altitude provided for the frost that had begun to gild the aspens and fire the oaks. Brazos had been there years before. Time did not make much difference with nature as man did not come to despoil it. He could see no change. He remembered the lone dead pine that stood like a sentinel along the trail which crossed over into New Mexico.

"Dog-gone!" soliloquized Brazos, pensively. "Thet was the kind of a nook I was gonna homestead some day. An' now I reckon I gotta ride for a big ranch."

This valley was 40 miles up in the foothills from Las Animas, a secluded spot once inhabited by Ute Indians, who still came down from the mountains occasionally. The tribe had moved on into a more inaccessible spot, driven farther by the advance of their unscrupulous foe—the white man. They were friendly to Coglan, Brazos remembered.

Brazos rode on down into the valley and up to the log cabin among the firs. Two little girls were playing about the door. They ran like Indians. Presently a buxom, rosy cheeked young woman looked out. The sight both startled and pleased Brazos. Coglan had gotten himself a wife.

"Evenin', lady," said Brazos, taking off his sombrero, "is Coglan anywhere aboot?"

"He was. Get down an' come in, stranger."

Brazos had scarcely dismounted when Coglan appeared, axe in hand. He was a strapping man, still young, half hunter and half trapper, brown as an Indian.

"Howdy, Coglan," drawled Brazos, "I shore am glad to see yu."

"Brazos Keene, by Gawd!" ejaculated the mountaineer, with a whoop. "You pestiferous, long legged cowpuncher! Put her thar!" And he nearly crushed Brazos' hand.

"Rose, this is an old pard of mine. Brazos Keene! We rode together in the Pan Handle, an' but for him, you wouldn't have me for a husband. Brazos, hyar's the little wife you always told me to get."

Brazos Sets His Plans for Hideout

They made Brazos welcome and the little girls, owl eyed and shy, came forth to capitulate.

Later Brazos and Coglan walked down to the corrals leading Brazos' horse.

"Coglan, I want to hang aboot heah for a month or so. Chop wood an' hunt an' loaf. An' be alone. Yu know!"

"I'll get it off my chest now," Brazos continued and briefly related the Las Animas tragedy.

"So thet was it," said Coglan, soberly. "I thought you looked kind of pale and peaked. Another McCoy-Slaughter deal, eh? I've heared of Surface. An' I've lost cattle this summer. I had about a thousand head. Hope you winter up hyar with me, cowboy."

"Aboot a month will be all. An' I want yu to ride in town once a week an' fetch me the news. You can make some excuse to call on Neece. Bilyen knows I'm gonna be heah. You can talk to him. I'll be powerful interested in all that's goin' on. But don't tell anybody, especially the Neeces, that I'm up heah."

Brazos erected a bough shack for himself under the pines on the bank of the brook. He made a mattress of fir boughs and spread his blankets upon that. Later he returned to Coglan's cabin and ate a bountiful supper, among the good things of which were venison and wild turkey. He did not linger long with the hospitable Coglans but sought his bed in the darkness of the pines and stretched out on it as if he wished never to move again.

Next day he awoke to new life. As a boy in Texas he had been a great hand with an axe. Here at Coglan's wood pile, where logs of dead aspen and oak lay heap on heap, Brazos went to work. He wore gloves because it was one of his melancholy cares to keep his hands, especially the right one, soft and flexible. He heaved and he chopped and split wood until, as if by magic, the day was gone and he was spent.

Days passed swiftly then until the evening of one came with Coglan returning from Las Animas. Brazos saw that he was bursting with news which he did not care to impart before his wife.

"Brazos," he said, after supper, "I got a couple two-bit cigars thet was given to me. Let's go out an' smoke them."

He Hears of the Shooting of Surface

They went out in the mellow gloaming. The red was fading off the ramparts; cool air was blowing down from the heights; the late crickets were at their autumn requiem.

"Brazos, I heard so damn much thet I'll never remember it all. Listen to this. The very day you rode out hyar Raine Surface was killed on the street in Dodge City."

"No!" ejaculated Brazos, amazed.

"Fact. An' it caused a heap of talk from Dodge to Denver."

"Who?" flashed Brazos, in sudden sharpness.

"Nobody in Las Animas could say just who killed him. But talk laid it to a tall man with a queer voice. He was heerd to cuss Surface an' after the shootin' he left Dodge pronto."

"By thunder! It was thet third party I heahed the night I spied on Bodkin and his two cronies. The other was called Brad. He an' this unknown hombre was nursin' a grievance. Go on, Coglan. Talk! Yu haven't told me nothin' yet."

"Wal, there's Bodkin," resumed Coglan. "He's taken office as sheriff. No one in town cared to dispute his claim. An' some of the Cattlemen's Association appeared to be back of him."

"Yu don't tell me!" ejaculated Brazos. "Wal, thet's a sticker. Coglan, shore as yu're smokin' that punk cigar, Surface was stronger than I guessed."

"Brazos, is Bodkin crooked?"

"Crooked!—Say man, a Missouri rail fence would be straight alongside Bodkin. But come to think aboot it I didn't implicate Bodkin. Neither did Bess in her confession. Wal, of all the nerve!—I wonder what Kiskadden and Inskip said aboot that."

"I'll tell you, Brazos I know them both well. An' you bet this trip to town I was meetin' everybody, buying drinks an' smokes, an' thirstin' for news. Kiskadden said the situation was by no means cleared up. An' Inskip said it never would be until the cattle range was all plowed up. Neither of them came out blunt about Bodkin. But Bilyen did. He said Miller had stepped into Surface's boots an' the new Cattlemen's Association was as strong as ever, with fewer dissentin' voices. What did Bilyen mean by that, Brazos?"

"I don't savvy. It's got me buffaloed."

"Wal, the town people are inclined to lay hands off. An' the cattlemen are waitin' to see what Bodkin makes out of his job."

"Ahuh. Wal, I'm not predictin'," said Brazos. "Let thet pass. How aboot the Neeces?"

Brazos Hears That He Is Now a Hero

"I rode oot to Twin Sombreros," returned Coglan. "Thet's where I seen Bilyen. Neece remembered me. Asked me if I had any stock to sell, an' I said yes, what the rustlers left me. An' he said 'Drive it down before the snow flies.' Bilyen took me all over the ranch. Surface had spent a pile of money on improvements. It sure is a wonderful ranch. I met the twins, June an' Janis. Couldn't tell them apart! But who'd want to? They 'peared to me like girls in a trance."

"Trance! Wal, no wonder. What'd they do with their restaurant?"

"Kept it, by golly. It's a money maker. They put in a manager—a woman whose name I forget an' they'll run it as before."

"Good idee. But I reckon all the young buckaroos will stop eatin' there. What'd Neece do with Surface's ootfit?"

"Let 'em go pronto. He's hired a new bunch of riders an' he's waitin for you to come back an' be his foremon."

"Aw!" gasped Brazos, and in his collapse he bit his cigar almost into two pieces.

"Cowboy, I'm giving you a pointer," replied the puzzled homesteader. "Some of the young bucks around Las Animas would like to be in your boots. You might marry one of them twins. It wouldn't make any difference which one. You're a hero down thar, an' you ought to make hay while the sun shines. Young Henry Sisk is throwin' in with Neece on some pardnership deal. An' Jack Sain is temporary foreman of the outfit. Them two boys ain't lettin' any grass grow under their feet."

"Aw, hell!" burst out Brazos, and, unable to endure more, he flung his cigar away and strode to the solitude of his camp.

Brazos sawed and split all the wood Coglan had hauled in for winter use. When he surveyed the cords of neatly stacked billets he could scarcely believe his own eyes. He belonged essentially to that class of cowboy who rode and stood guard, and handled ropes and guns.

After that job was completed Brazos took to the slopes with a rifle. He climbed. He hunted. Deer, wild turkey and elk fell to his unerring aim; and it took strenuous work to pack the meat down to the valley. When to kill more would have been wanton slaughter Brazos still climbed and hunted, but he did not shoot again.

Brazos grew increasingly eager to ride down to Twin Sombreros. Yet he was loath to leave this high country. He would stay on into October.

He got back one October night to the valley to find Coglan home a day earlier from a trip to Las Animas than he had expected him. The rancher lacked his usual geniality.

"Bilyen says you're stayin' away too long. Bodkin is braggin' he will arrest you if you ever come back.

"There's a stranger lately dropped into town. Calls himself Knight an' says he's a cattle buyer for a big Kansas City firm. He an' Bodkin got thick pronto. Bilyen remembers seein' this man with Bodkin once last August."

"Wal, I'll ride down soon. What else did yu heah, Coglan?"

"Not much. I didn't go out to Twin Sombreros. But I met Neece in town. No one would think he'd been down an' out. The Neece-Sisk-Henderson cattle deal went thru. They're runnin' 80,000 head."

A Dance Is Planned at Twin Sombreros

"Thet's a solid combine. Reckon they're gonna buck the Miller outfit. Neece is not goin' to get caught again. I reckon Bilyen is behind thet deal."

"They're building a big barn at the ranch. Hauled in a sawmill. Hank says it'll be the biggest in Colorado. They got the roof up an' the floor down when the twins stopped work with an idee. To give a grand dance!"

"Twin—idea—dance?" echoed Brazos, suddenly intensely curious.

"Aw, June wouldn't give a dance without me!" exclaimed Brazos.

"Girls are queer critters. You'd better rustle, Brazos."

Nevertheless Brazos had to have one more climb up the scarlet and gold slopes to the heights.

The morning was frosty. The meadows and fields shone white. Over the valley hung a gray fog curtain

What Has Gone Before

Exiled because of his hopeless love for Holly Ripple, Brazos Keene, wandering desperado, bunks in a lonely cabin. When he awakes in the morning he finds a dead man in the loft. A posse under Deputy Sheriff Bodkin arrests him for the murder of the dead man, Allen Neece, whose father has just lost his ranch, Twin Sombreros, to Raine Surface. Surface orders Brazos lynched, but with the help of Inskip, one of the posse, Brazos outwits them and surrenders to Sheriff Kiskadden. A letter from Holly clears him and throws suspicion on Surface. Brazos decides to stay and investigate the deal Surface has given Neece and his twin daughters, June and Janis. He falls in love with June. On a hunch he makes a date with Surface's daughter Lura and feigns love for her, and from her learns that one of the three riders who killed Allen was a girl in man's clothing who was used to lure him to his death. Brazos goes into hiding to frighten Bodkin and learns of a plot to get a cowgirl, Bess Syvertsen, to lure him into a trap where her supposed father, Bard Syvertsen, and Orcutt can murder him. Daringly Brazos seeks out Bess, who, because of his chivalrous treatment of her, found herself madly in love with him. Bess defies Surface and refuses to carry out his murder plot. Brazos walks in on Bess and Surface in a heated argument and hears Surface insult her, whereupon Brazos knocks Surface down. Brazos confronts Syvertsen and Orcutt and shoots it out with them, killing them. Bess, furious because she thinks Brazos' love for her is pretense, aims her gun at him, but Brazos shoots first and wounds her. She signs a confession. Brazos exposes Surface and runs him out of town, forcing him first to restore Twin Sombreros to the Neeces and return their gold. In a touching scene Brazos bids farewell to Bess, giving her enough money to get out of town.

Making Most of Foods in Time of War

By X. Marcel Boulestin.

IT has always been a source of wonderment for the foreigner to find that in England, the land of grill rooms, there is so little grilling done at home. The English grill rooms! They used to fill us with admiration when, as young men, we were discovering London in the prewar days [I mean before 1914]. They sparkled and shone behind their glass screens; occasionally some fat would fall on the burning coals, smoke, and burst into flames. It was so intensely English, so different from anything we knew in Paris. And the meat! "What meat!" we used to say—tho our Anglomania did not go as far as admiring the accompanying vegetables! Then, in a private house, if we were offered cutlets they were always fried and often greasy. Why?

• • •

Yet grilling is a perfect method of cooking meat and, especially these days, when butter can only be used sparingly, it should be more popular at home. Charcoal is the perfect fuel; it produces an even heat and does not smoke. It also gives a faint perfume to whatever is grilled, according to which wood has been used for making the charcoal. So much so, that, for instance, old branches of vine wood are used in the southwest of France for grilling meat and game, others for grilling trout, and in Provence they add to the charcoal dry sticks of fennel when grilling bass or mullet.

• • •

Grilling is an operation both simple and complex. You must cook the meat in such a way that it retains all its essential juices; therefore you "seize" the meat on both sides on a quick fire so that the juices cannot escape; then reduce the heat or put the meat further from the fire to finish the cooking—that is, to cook the inside well, or according to your taste, but without burning the outside, for after the outside has been properly cooked you only want radiating heat. To help in the good work and prevent the meat from becoming too dry, you paint it with a little melted fat or butter. The grill itself should be hot before using and slightly greased to prevent the meat sticking to it.

A perfect grillade is slightly charred on the outside and fairly red, juicy inside. Needless to say, a pleasant sauce makes with grilled meat a happy combination. And since butter is rare and most good sauces have a butter basis, I would suggest the following unusual ones.

At the same time as you buy the meat buy a marrow bone and remove the marrow. Cut the marrow in pieces the size of a broad bean and chop finely a few shallots. Put all these together in a small saucepan, add chopped parsley, salt and pepper, and cook slowly. When the pieces of marrow have melted to almost the size of the chopped shallots, it is ready to serve. Serve it in a hot sauce boat.

SAUCE BORDELAIS

Another way is to begin the sauce by reducing to half its quantity a tablespoonful of any dry, white wine; then proceed as described before.

Another good, sharp sauce of a different type can also be quickly prepared: cook in a small saucepan bits of bacon rind, once or two small onions and parsley chopped, and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Reduce by one-third, add a sprig of thyme, one tablespoonful of tomato purée, one of meat stock, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil and let it simmer and reduce for a few minutes. Squeeze thru a muslin or a strainer into a hot sauce boat. This sauce can be served with either meat or fish.

SAUCE PIQUANTE

As for grilled fish, it is also delicious, as the fish seems to retain the full flavor of the sea. Trout, sole, small turbot, herring, mullet, mackerel are perfect grilled. The principles are the same as for meat: a hot grill, quick grilling at first, then slower; but fish should always be "painted" with an oily matter.

POISSON GRILLE

Slices of fish are just painted [with a brush], but a whole fish should be slightly cut: a sole lengthways, following the bone; others, unless quite small, should have a few incisions across on each side. This allows the heat to penetrate more easily, so that the whole of the fish is evenly cooked; otherwise the thin end near the tail will be done before the thicker parts are.

When the flesh is white and opaque and comes off the bone easily, it is ready; you can, by using a fork to lift the flesh away from the bone, see if it has comes to that stage.

Thru the Looking Glass

By Eleanor Nangle

[Posed by Carole Lombard.]

It's a wise woman whose fastidiousness compels her to strive for flowerlike freshness in spirit and appearance! Subtle use of fine fragrances is one of the cleverest approaches to her aim.

These days before Easter are like those moments you spend in the theater waiting for the curtain to go up on a play you know is going to be good. You're waiting for spring, and you know in your very bones that that's actually "the greatest show on earth!"

It's such a good show, such an exciting one, that you instinctively get in the right mood for it, even dress for it. You bedeck yourself with garlands, figuratively speaking. Your tastes quite suddenly turn toward drifts of gay veiling, flowers on your bonnet and perfume on your person.

Fragrances are a marvelous spring tonic in themselves, as every woman knows. And we often think that one of the things for which we moderns should be grateful is the fact that fine fragrances in this country are not the exclusive luxuries of the rich! Here they're considered necessities and even priced as necessities.

Consider, for example, the perfumed colognes. Lovely things, these, and not costly. At hand as we write this is a set of three, housed in a flower designed, hexagonal box. They're utterly lovely, and what amazes us is the fact that such quality can walk hand in hand with such inexpensiveness. They make quite one of the most exciting contributions to the gayety of spring.

One of the three flacons is scented with lavender and lotus, one of the most beautiful blends ever developed, at least to our way of thinking. We've always felt that this blending gives lavender an "oomph" it lacked in the past.

The second perfumed cologne is April violets, perfect in mood and in character for spring. It's a scent that does much for the spirits, which is exactly what you ask of a fragrance.

The third is a floral blend, very blithe and perky, but not lacking in the quality that can be described only as romantic. It appeals to all feminine tastes, and we've yet to find the man who doesn't think it just the kind of a scent he likes his lady love to wear.

These are fine colognes, wonderfully refreshing, and their perfume content must be of great quality and quantity, because the fragrance lingers long after you could reasonably expect it to!

For your Easter shopping, consider these. The three make a gay gift to your favorite person, and a delectable possession for yourself.

Writer Sees Easter Bonnets of Film Stars

By Bettina Bedwell.

Hollywood movie stars [I've been watching two of the most glamorous in the business try on hats] demand high powered help from their chapeaux. They, with plenty to give, want the millinery to do the giving.

The best dressed women in Paris, whose faces never would win them a screen test from a talent scout in his right mind, want something else from their Easter bonnets. Altho you'd think they could do with flattery and plenty of it, what they want are crisp headlines that startle or intrigue.

I've watched the beauteous duchess of Kent, Mme. Antenor Patino, and the duchess of Windsor—three of the world's best dressed women—trying on hats in Paris, and they certainly weren't thinking of flattery when they picked a winner.

• • •

The Hollywood and the Paris systems are totally different. Which is one reason why styles from these sources are not at all the same. From Paris come small, daring hat shapes, to be worn at perilous angles somewhere on the head. They have a lot of halo shapes worn at the back. They've toques that sit at the right side of the head, leaving the left unhatted and nude.

Hollywood, in the delightful persons of Hedy Lamarr, Greta Garbo, Annabella, and such stars, is going in for millinery sanity in private life. Hats with crowns that fit the head, with brims that flatter around their undulating circle, and veils that add a fillip of mystery are picked by these women.

Small and babyish is a bonnet chosen by Hedy Lamarr. Bonnets are looking up and up as a millinery mode. The simple cloche, made of navy blue felt, is one choice of Greta Garbo, who has little to learn about dressing her own style of looks.

Annabella picks a sort of scoopbonnet to wear on the back of her head, with a veil at the front. In fact, the Hollywood stars all chose hats to wear toward the back of the head, altho wide brims shade and flatter the face.

This way of wearing a hat is particularly American. I remember in the '20s, in Paris, we used to be able to pick out the cute American girls because they always wore their hats toward the back. And Parisiennes seldom do. Perhaps it's because chic women over there are rarely very young, or because they think hat lines are better worn forward.

Color in hats is one subject on which Hollywood and Paris are in accord this spring, which means that half the famous ones will wear black, just the same. One of Garbo's hats is made of black felt. John-Frederics made it for her. It has a long, dotted veil that is attached under the brim and falls below the shoulders.

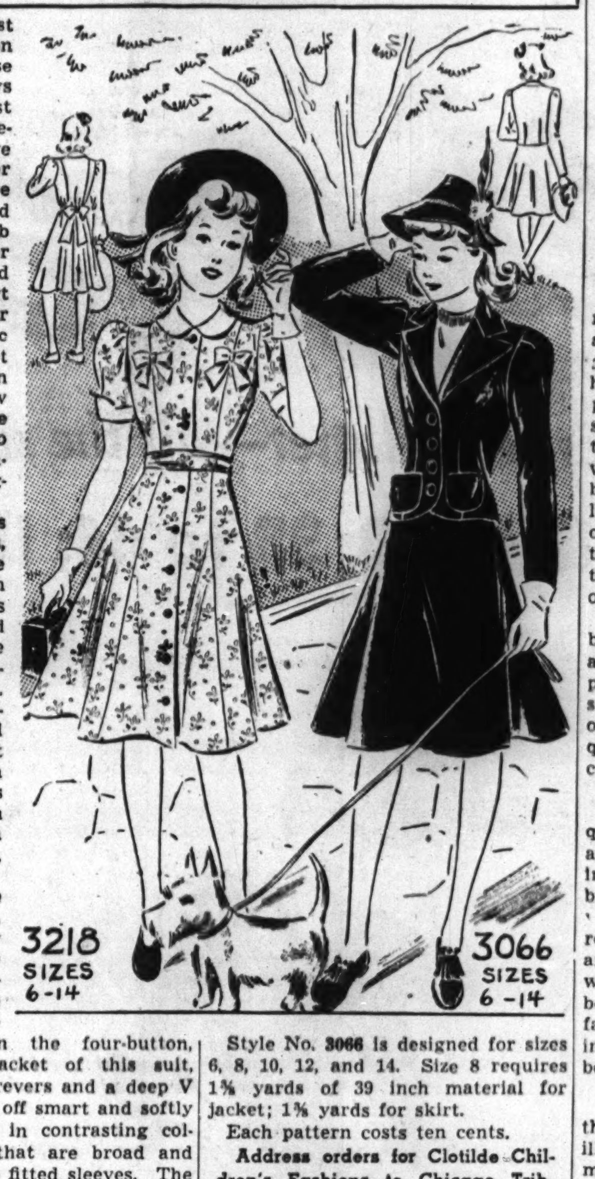
The charmer chosen by Lamarr is made of rose-colored felt, a color that will be enchanting on her. The grosgrain ribbon band is brown and so is the diaphanous veil.

Selected also by Miss Lamarr is the John-Frederics bonnet of black felt, with black chiffon jersey ties under the chin, and trimmed with a golden pheasant feather, held at the right side by a filagree gold ornament.

Straight from Paris and made by Agnes is a small tricorne that's highly esteemed as a spring style. It's navy blue Bengal straw, trimmed with a big, impudent bow of navy taffeta that becomes a ruffle around the back of the head, a device pinchhitting for the snood.

Another new French hat is also an Agnes model, a tiny bright blue straw sailor shape. A blue velvet bow tops the crown and blue velvet ties make a chin bow. Pink phosphorescent roses make a garland around this hat.

Clotilde Children's Patterns



Among the most ardent fashion enthusiasts these enlightened days is the youngest set. Clever designers are aware that no longer may mediocre styles be foisted upon the subdeb class. Modes for the junior crowd must be as smart as those of their post-debutante sisters. We're not to be caught on the "slow freight," so we offer these two patterns for fashion-wise youngsters.

The frock has princess lines, buttons down the front, a Peter Pan collar and cuffs that contrast, and bow-knots where pockets ordinarily would be. There's a self-fabric belt around the waist that ties in a bow in back. There is tailored charm to this model in silks and cottons, plain or figured.

Pockets are news this season, and the younger set knows it. We have acknowledged their style wisdom by putting pockets on the four-button, single-breasted jacket of this suit, which has wide revers and a deep V neckline to show off smart and softly knitted sweaters in contrasting colors. Shoulders that are broad and crisp give way to fitted sleeves. The skirt is a flared model with neither gores nor plaits. All types of woolens except heavy tweeds will make up well. Brown, navy, and green and bright shades, too, are favored for a costume of this sort.

Style No. 3218 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material; ½ yard of contrasting.

Style No. 3066 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 1⅜ yards of 39 inch material for jacket; 1⅜ yards for skirt.

Each pattern costs ten cents.

Address orders for Clotilde Children's Fashions to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred — wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Finding a place to live is one of the most difficult problems facing men and women in the lower income groups. Because of the great lack of housing facilities at low rentals, many people are forced to live in ramshackle slums. The problem is particularly acute in the family groups, where there are growing children to be considered. Low wages or low relief budgets frequently force families of five or six to occupy quarters far too small for them. Many groups of that size and larger are living in two or three rooms.

In a number of cases, regulation beds of any size, if they are obtainable, cannot be accepted, for the simple reason that there is no available space for them. Because of this lack of room, we have had numerous requests for folding beds, studio couches, and day beds.

Miss R., a case worker, has requested a bed of this type for a woman who lost all her household furnishings in a fire several years ago. All but one other member of her family were killed in this tragedy. As a result she is a sick and nervous woman, now living in crowded quarters with her one remaining child, who, because of a lack of other sleeping facilities, now shares her bed. A folding bed of some kind would greatly benefit both the mother and the child.

The same type of bed is needed for the X. family. The father has been ill for the last nine years, and the mother recently recovered from a major operation. There are five children, and an extra bed, living room, and kitchen furniture are needed.

The P. family consists of seven members, all crowded into two beds and a cot. Mrs. P. is ill and should sleep alone. The children are of school age and are not progressing well because they do not get proper rest.

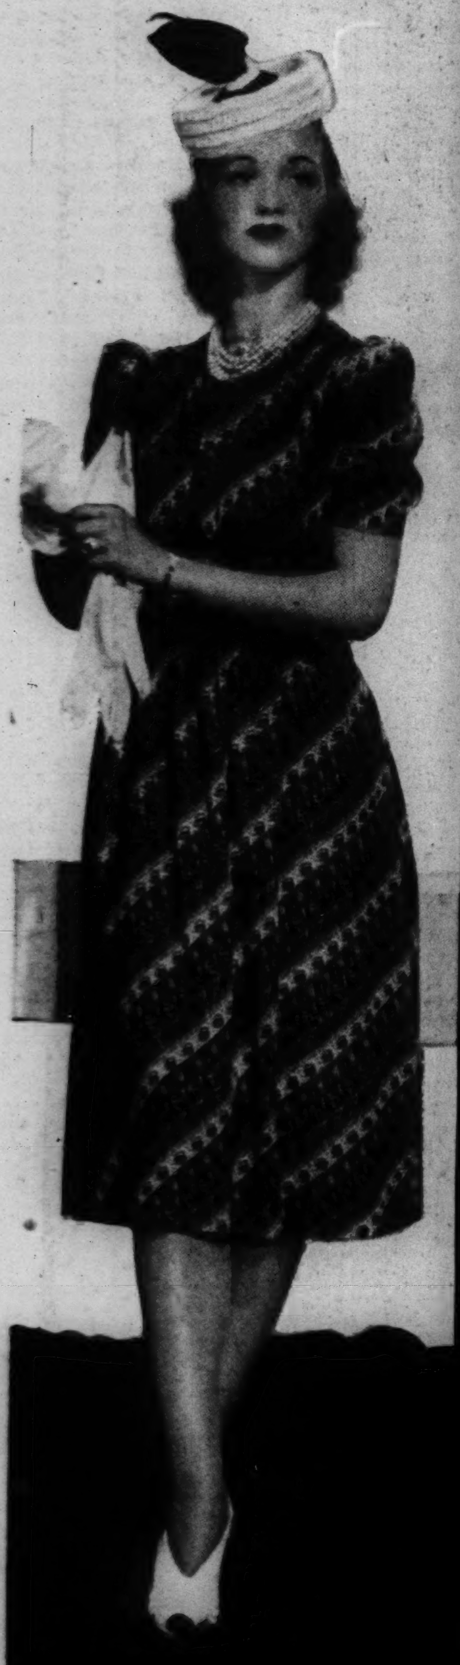
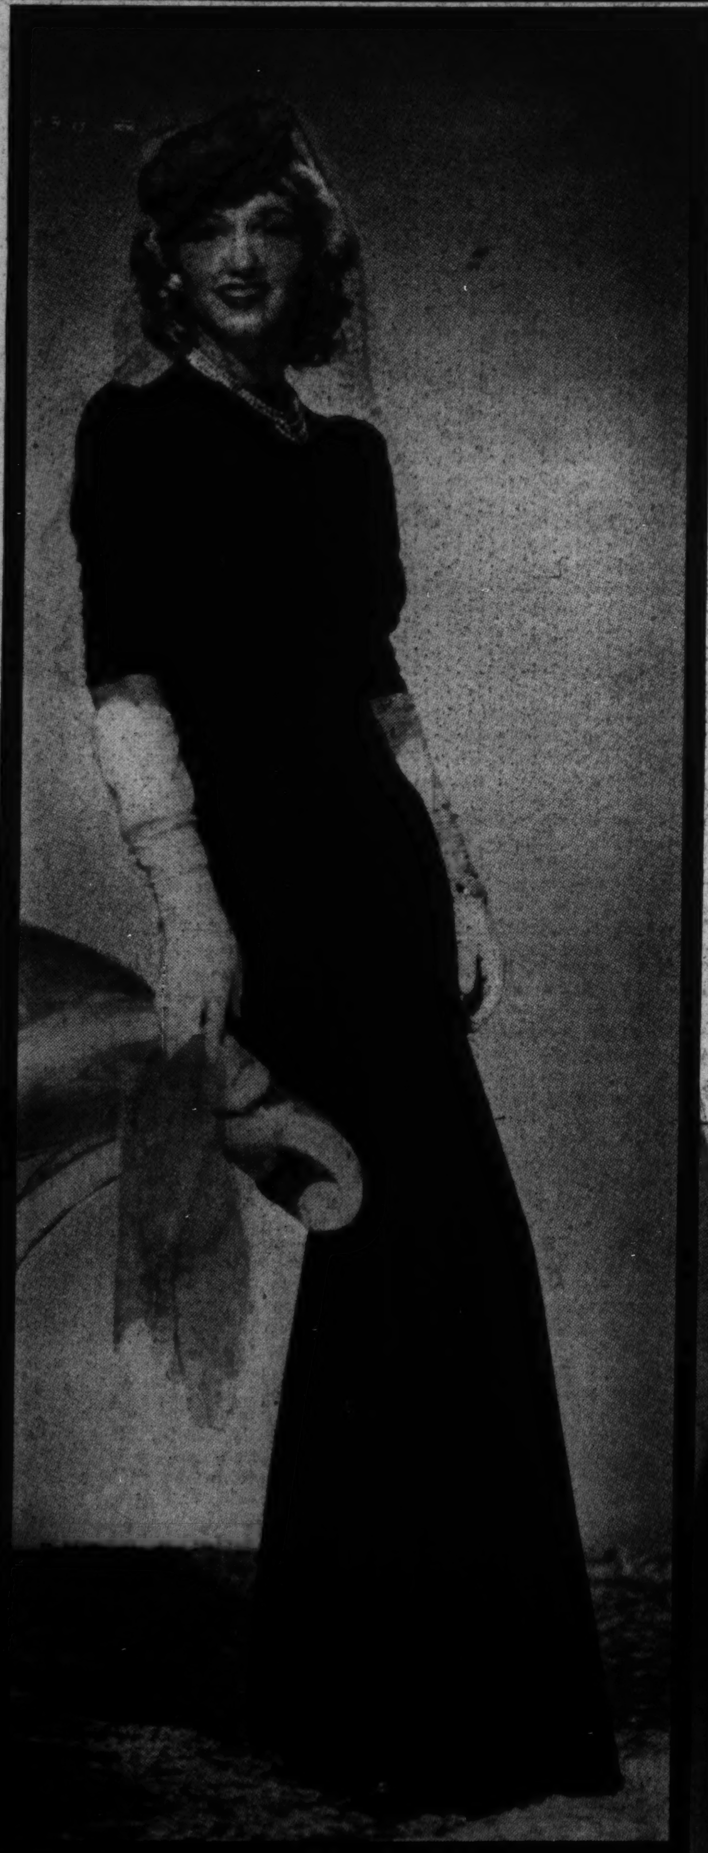
Varied Fashion Moods and What the Film Stars Favor for All Hours of Day

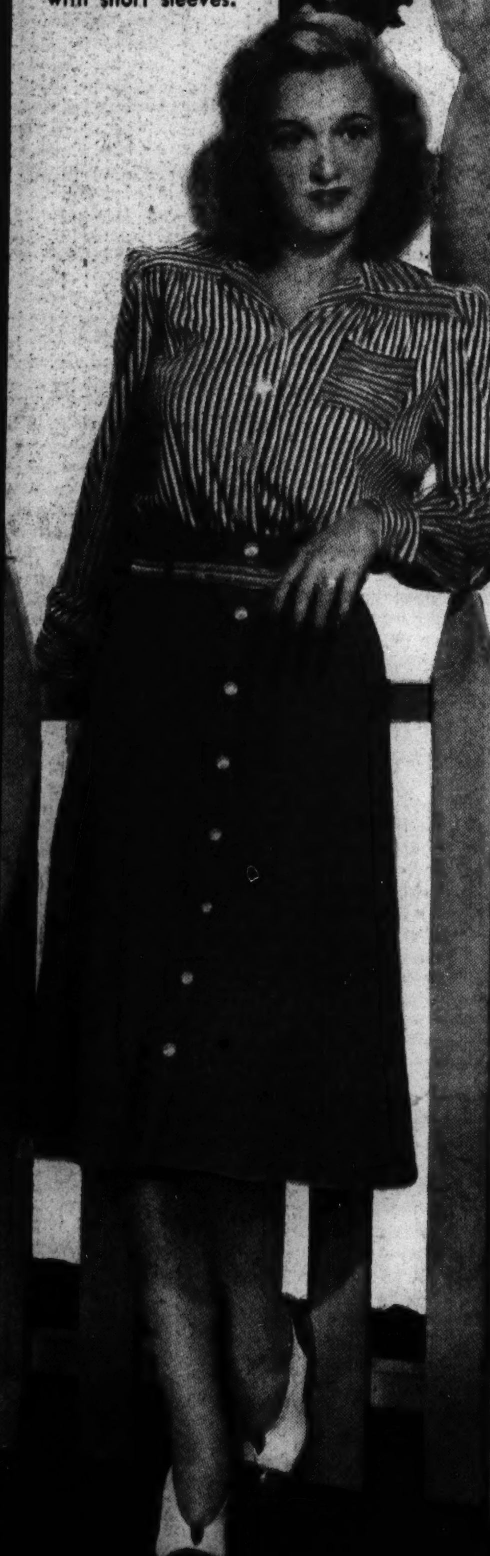
Below: Diagonally printed street dress in colorful paisley. This feminine model has shirred waistline, shoulder, and neckline, and short sleeves. Worn with simple jewelry accessories, the frock blends several subtle pastel shades.



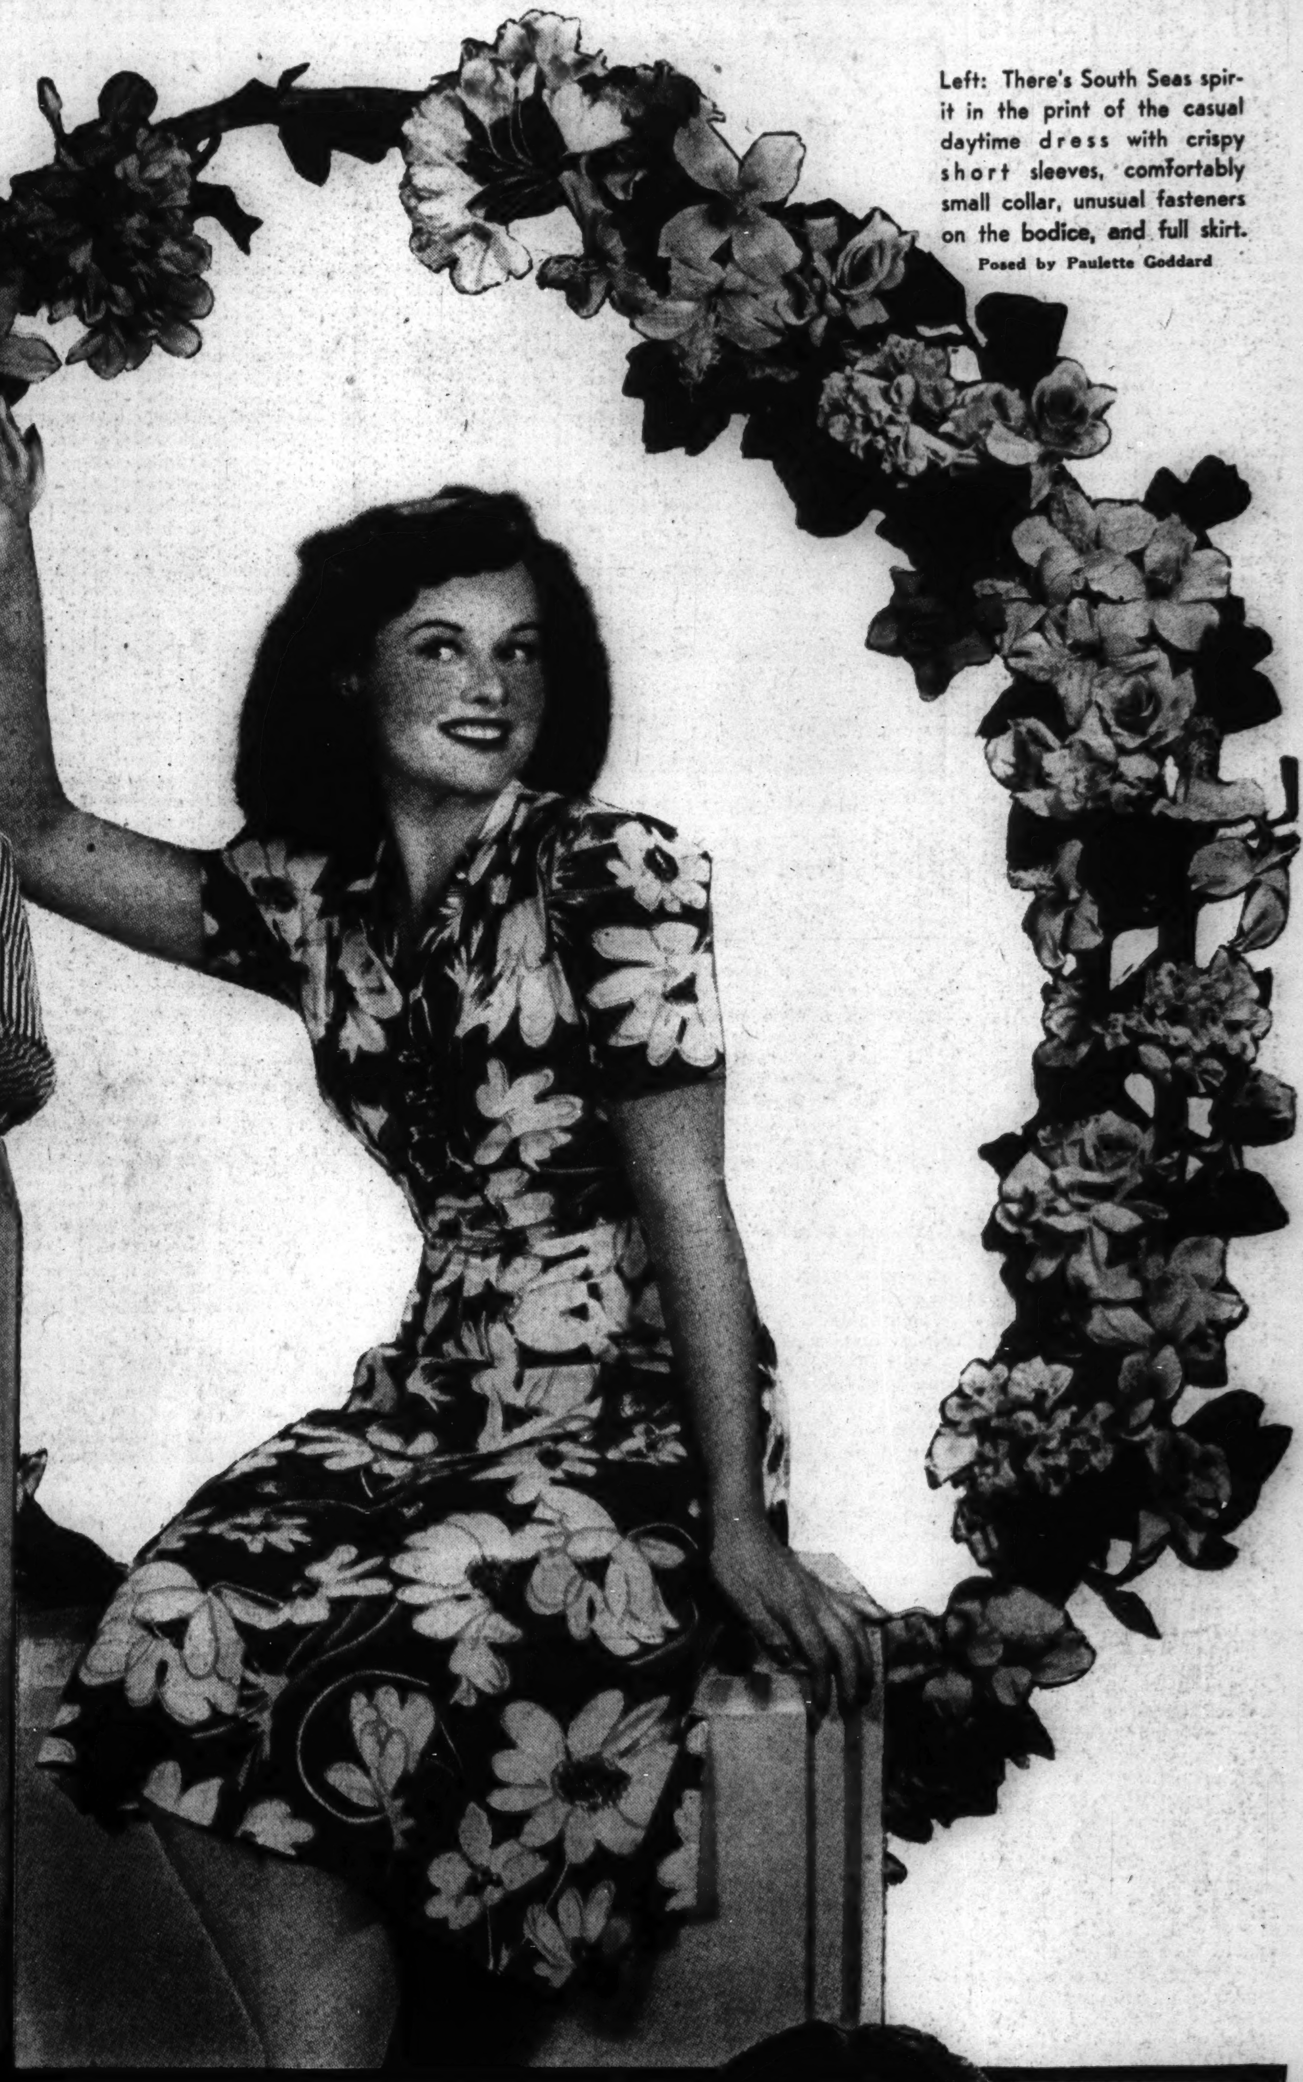


Left, above, and right, posed by Carole Landis

At left: Silk jersey goes to dinner informally, accompanied by a contrasting felt hat with floral motifs in its fabric and its veiling. Exquisite draping gives classical distinction to this otherwise simple dress with short sleeves.

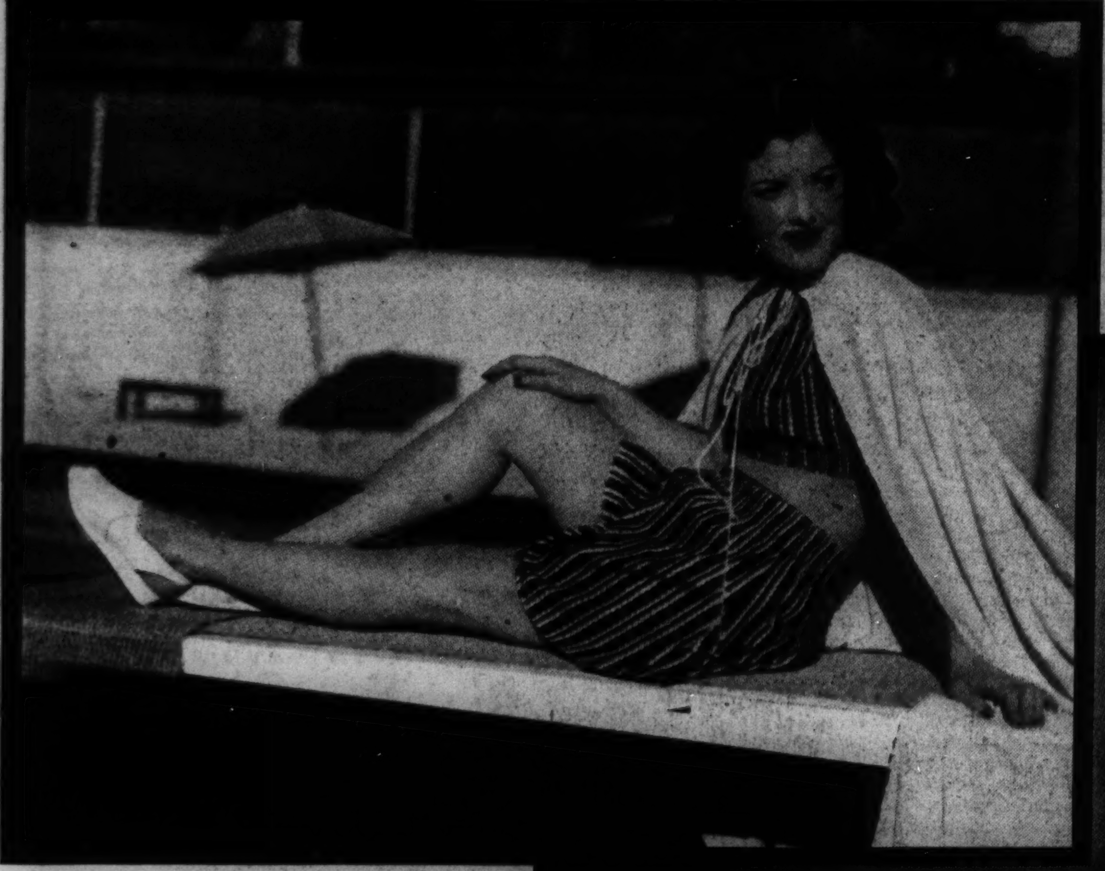


Left: Two-piece spectator sports ensemble consisting of wrap-around, flared skirt of barkskin, blouse of striped silk jersey.



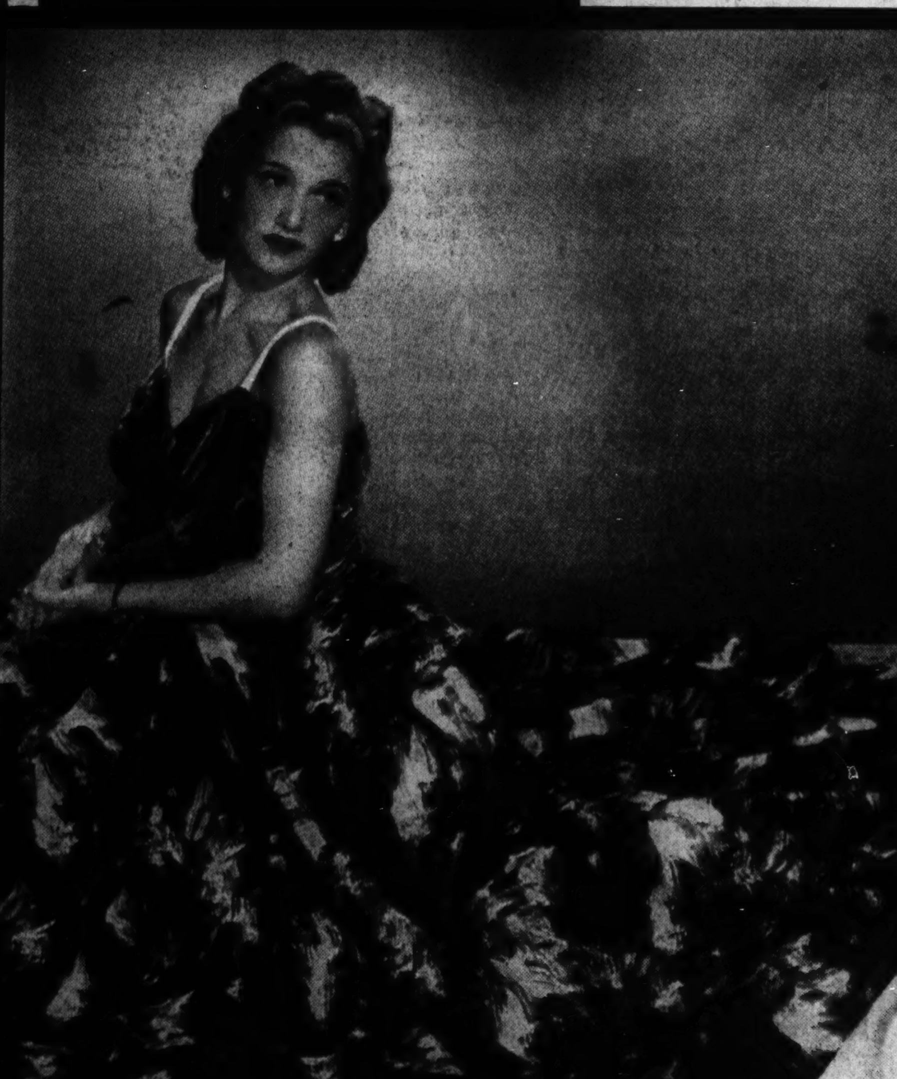
Left: There's South Seas spirit in the print of the casual daytime dress with crispy short sleeves, comfortably small collar, unusual fasteners on the bodice, and full skirt.

Posed by Paulette Goddard



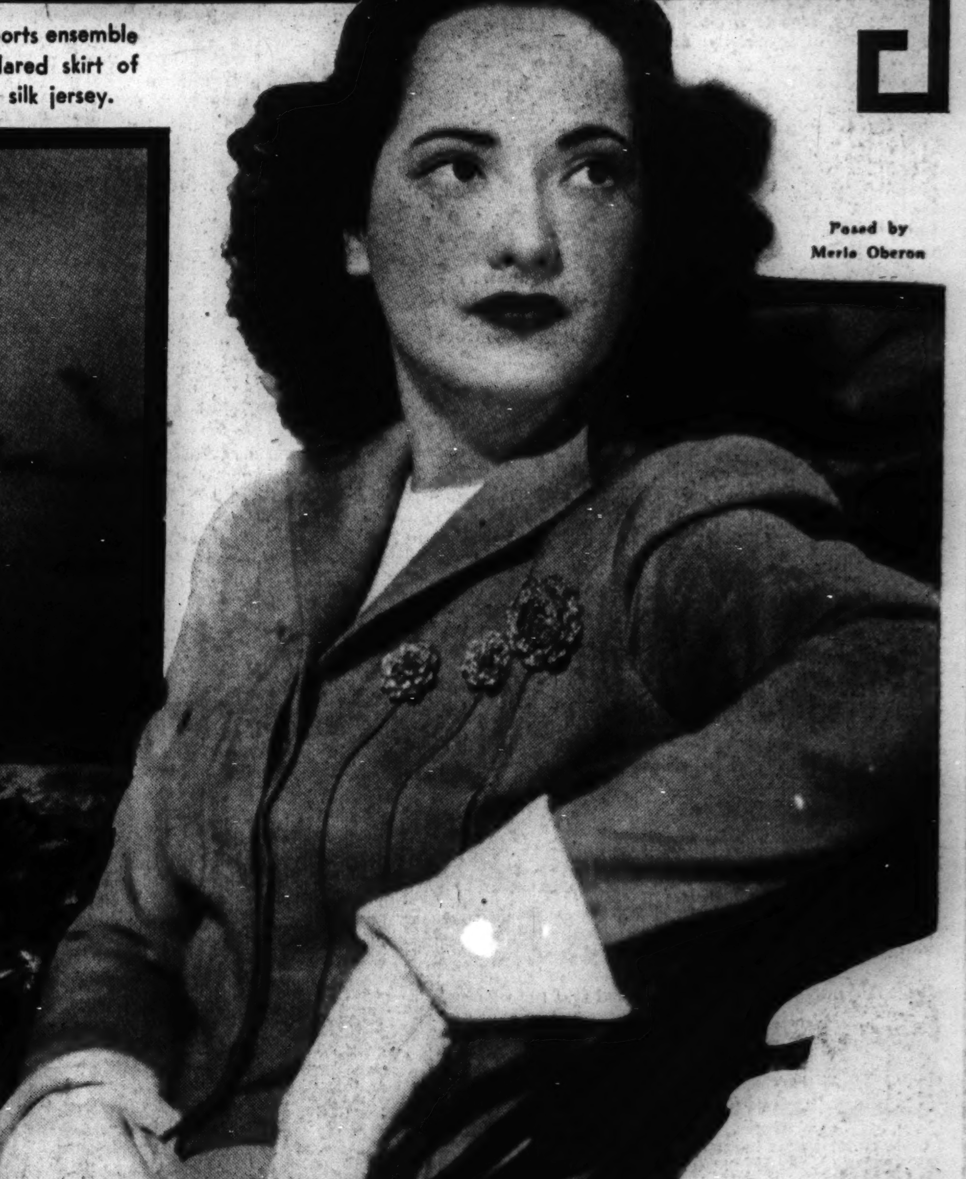
Above: Two-piece bathing suit of full-cut shorts with elastic waist and a bra top, worn under a flaring beach cape that is matched by the streamlined bathing shoes.

Posed by Nell O'Dav



Right: Crisp cotton seersucker gown billows like foam on the seashore, and its design, too, is reminiscent of cooling spray from breakers. Wide accents of pique do trimming honors for this evening gown for summer nights and balmy climates.

Posed by Carole Landis



Posed by Merle Oberon

Right: Light spring suit in woolen has fly closing and plaited front. Just below its rever collarline, three floral clips to belie its otherwise tailored spirit. The gloves match collarless underblouse. Hat of third color.

Cornelia Otis Skinner to Play Week's Stand in Chicago

Will Open Solo Drama Series on March 25

By Cecil Smith.

After experimenting last spring and summer with many charactered drama, Cornelia Otis Skinner this season has returned to her first love, the ingenious solo dramas which have brought her unique renown in the contemporary theater. Beginning Monday evening, March 25, at the Selwyn theater, she will play a week's stand in Chicago. The Friday evening performance will be omitted because Miss Skinner had made a prior commitment in Detroit. There will, however, be three matinées—on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The Thursday matinée will offer "The Loves of Charles II., while the Saturday matinée bill will be "The Empress Eugenie." At all the other performances Miss Skinner will give "Edna, His Wife."

Miss Skinner is not only a child of the theater, but also a child of Chicago. She was born while her renowned father, Otis Skinner, and her mother, Maud Durbin, were living here during Mr. Skinner's engagement at a local theater. Her parents had good, sound ideas about bringing up and educating their daughter. She was sent to Baldwin school in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and later to Bryn Mawr college.

All might have gone smoothly, and Miss Skinner might have become a school teacher, or, perhaps, just a member of the leisure class, if she had not, in her sophomore year, gone to Hollywood to see her father at work in the movie version of "Kismet," one of his most successful romantic stage rôles. She was given a small walk-on part in the picture.

Altho her share in "Kismet" was completely eliminated in the cutting room, Miss Skinner was thoroly stage-struck by her brief dramatic experience. Instead of returning to Bryn Mawr, she sailed for France to study at the Sorbonne and with prominent French dramatic teachers outside the university. After her overseas study, she came back to New York and picked up a series of bit rôles in "Will Shakespeare" and other less cultivated Broadway productions.

The idea of devoting herself to solo character sketches came to her quite unexpectedly. At a party one night she tried out a few improvised bits, and met with such spontaneous praise that she decided to turn to this specialized form of theater art.

Since 1932 she has included several full length plays in her repertory, which at first consisted of a variety of brief divertissements. "The Love of Charles II." and "The Empress Eugenie," both written by Miss Skinner herself, were the first two longer dramas. More recently she has partially deserted the costume drama in favor of "Edna, His Wife," drawn from Margaret Ayer Barnes' widely read novel.

"Edna, His Wife" tells the life story of a girl from Blue Island, Ill., who rises to fame and fortune with the young lawyer she marries, and who ultimately is unable to keep pace with his Park avenue life. Miss Skinner impersonates eight different women in the course of the evening. The settings are by Donald Oenslager, the costumes by Helene Pons, and the special musical score by Elliot Jacoby.

Tallulah Bankhead.
[Vandamm Photo.]

It looks like a busy and prosperous spring for the Selwyn theater. Right on Miss Skinner's heels, on Monday, April 1, the Playwrights' company brings Paul Muni in Maxwell Anderson's newest poetic drama, "Key Largo." This engagement lasts for only three weeks, and will be followed on April 22 by the long awaited arrival of Tallulah Bankhead, Patricia Collinge, and Frank Conroy in Lillian Hellman's "The Little Foxes." This latter booking should account for the Selwyn until well into the summer.

PLAY LINCOLN'S GOOD FRIEND

Lincoln's good friend and biographer, Billy Herndon, finds a deserved place in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," where he is played by David Clark. The drama enters its last two weeks at the Grand Opera house tomorrow night.

It is not often that a prominent stage director is represented by two openings in Chicago on the same evening. Such a coincidence occurred on Jan. 7 last, when two pieces staged by Hassard Short—"Hot Mikado" and "Easy Virtue"—both made their local bow. And a similar circumstance will obtain on April 1, which is certainly no April Fools' day in this case, when "Key Largo" and Katharine Cornell's return in "No Time for Comedy" will share the limelight. Guthrie McClintic, Miss Cornell's gifted husband, directed both plays. The Playwrights' company also produced them both.

For all playgoers who have not yet been down to the Grand Opera house to see "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," today's most pressing theatrical news is to the effect that Raymond Massey tomorrow night begins his final fortnight in Robert Sherwood's stirring drama. This play, which is also a Playwrights' company production, leaves Chicago after the Saturday evening performance on March 30, and works its way by stages to the Pacific coast. En route to San Francisco and Los Angeles the company will stop off for short stands in Madison, Des Moines, Omaha, Kansas City, Wichita, Denver, and Salt Lake City.

* * *

Our friend, Lafayette Mulligan, whose pseudonym no longer masks his connection with the witty "Man Who Came to Dinner" company at the Harris theater, has set his fertile mind to work unearthing statistics. "The actors' union ought to be grateful to Kaufman and Hart," he opines. "I figured out the other day that 645 players had been engaged for their plays in the past three seasons. Four companies of 'You Can't Take It With You' [100 players]; one company each of 'The American Way' [250], 'I'd Rather Be Right' [80], 'Of Mice and Men' [not written by Kaufman and Hart, but directed by Kaufman] [30], and 'The Fabulous Invalid' [80]; and three companies of the Woolley, Woollcott and Webb wow, 'The Man Who Came to Dinner' [105]."

The Coach House theater in Oconomowoc, Wis., sends out its final warning about the deadline for manuscripts submitted in the Marjorie Montgomery Ward Baker prize contest. The deadline is April 15. Three hundred dollars will be awarded to the author of the best comedy produced at the Coach House theater this summer. Prizes will not be awarded until after all the summer's productions have been staged. The three judges of the contest are Janet Ayer Fairbank, noted novelist; Dan Goldberg, Chicago correspondent of Variety magazine, and the author of this column. The winning play of the judges' choice will be announced in the third week of August.

Leonid Andreyev's "He Who Gets Slapped" is the current student production at the Goodman theater. It opens tomorrow evening and will continue thru Sunday, March 31, with a single matinée on Thursday of this week.

Altho the elusive Miss Bankhead has finally pinned herself down to a date, as recorded above, no further word has arrived of "Heavenly Express," in which John Garfield and Aline MacMahon are said to be coming this way. The American theater in St. Louis has the play booked for the week of April 15, after which, according to unequivocal advices from the east, it is due in Chicago. Another promised item, "The Time of Your Life," has, however, moved a bit closer to us. Its tour, as yet without a definite itinerary, will begin late in April.

* * *

The Jack and Jill players, who use the Civic theater, will give two performances of their children's play, "Toby Tyler"—this afternoon at 3 and Sunday afternoon, March 31.

The semi-annual Handy Green Book, which provides more theatrical names and addresses than any other publication of its sort, has just published the spring edition at 250 West 57th street, New York.

It is hard to understand why eastern critics behaved in a standoffish manner toward "Ladies and Gentlemen," the Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur farce comedy which took over the Erlanger theater last Monday. Certainly it is not great literature, nor does it provide its audience with much of that mystical matter known as "something to take away from the theater." But it glories in the excellent acting of Helen Hayes, Philip Merivale, Evelyn Varden, Connie Gilchrist, Joseph Sweeney, George Watts, and quite a raft of others; it abounds in wisecracks that, at least, seem very funny until you try to remember them afterwards; it moves at a good pace, and more than adequately whiles away an evening painlessly and amusingly.

Maybe the Hecht-MacArthur humor is too robust for New York, where only café society succeeds in being a perennial scream. I don't want to say too much, because "Ladies and Gentlemen" clearly isn't the best comedy you ever saw. But since it did not receive what I think is its just due from the Broadway reviewers, I don't want to say too little.

Miss Hayes has promised herself, she says, that she will not leave Chicago without seeing her old friend, Lillian Gish, in "Life with Father" at the Blackstone theater. This same Blackstone theater, restored to its proper place in the scheme of things by the enthusiastic public response to Oscar Serlin's wonderful production of "Life with Father," was the scene—back in 1921—of an early visit of Miss Hayes to Chicago. The play was "Bab."

Larry Clinton's Band Invades Panther Room

"Doodling" became a national phenomenon because of a certain Mr. Deeds, who went to town playing a tuba. "Dipsy Doodling" became a popular by-word among dancers because of a Mr. Clinton, who currently goes to town on a trumpet in the Panther room of Hotel Sherman.

Larry and his band are the idols of the day in the jungle glades of the old College Inn. Playing in highly approved swing fashion, but refraining from the extremes of musical virtuosity, the Clinton band turns out a solid and sweet blend of pulsing rhythm. Clinton's répertoire veers from the doodle number to the sigh provoking "My Reverie."

Helen Southern had a case of jitters on her debut night, for it was her first try with a big band and in a big room, but her musical gifts are evident enough to warrant the conclusion she'll be as attractive an addition to the roster vocally as she is visually. Terry Allen, baritone; Ford Leary, 250 pound chanter, and the Hubcats fill out the vocal department.

The Duffins just about complete their rounds of the major Chicago hotel floors by repeating their amazingly elastic adagio numbers in the top spot of the floor show. The trained dogs of Bud Hughes come close, however, to stealing the show.

Eddie Garr.
[Seymour Photo.]

After a month's rest Gertrude Niesen came back to the Chez Paree Tuesday and, singing with the voice of an exuberant angel, completely dominated the new edition of the Lenten show. She sang "How Strange" and "My Man" dramatically and throbbingly under a dim spotlight. She swung into the Polynesian adventures of a girl named Katie with the same verve that she applied to "Yodelin' Jive," and her own classic version of "Oh, Johnny." And she gave "Annie Laurie" the works. Single handed she lifted the show into the hit class.

Eddie Garr, arriving on brief notice, revived his well known impersonations, injecting into them a freshness that is surprising in view of the short time that has elapsed since last they were on view. Paul Garrits, the other new member of the show, is still telling about the mother who gave in to her infanticidal urge, and has lost none of his grace and astonishing technique on skates. Sunny O'Dea remains as the only single act held over from the old show, and amply warrants her retention.

The Colony club will bring in Carlo and Fernanda, Mexican dancers, and Joan Merrill, a singer accompanied by Al Siegal, for its Easter show Friday. Carmen Miranda will not open until April 19.

Lawrence Welk and his orchestra take over the Trianon ballroom Saturday night, and will be featuring the singing of pretty young Jane Walton. The sister ballroom on the north side, the Aragon, has a girl singer now, too. Dick Jurgens finally added feminine appeal to his band when he hired an amateur, Gloria Gilbert, to replace Eddie Howard, the singing composer who has gone out on his own.

A refreshing venture into the realm of having a good time is being staged twice a week in Evanston by a group of current and former Northwestern students—the Colonial Club orchestra. Popular in this vicinity for proms and club dances, this band has taken over the Orrington hotel roof for Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoons. Their little club is called A Date with a Band, and the entertainment is just as youthful and unassumingly artistic as that masterpiece of titling. It's all very informal, and not at all confined to students.

This week's big openings are at the Palmer House and the Edgewater Beach hotel. Hal Kemp comes in Thursday night to the Empire room of the former, heading a floor show that features the "Tiger Cage" revue of the Abbott dancers. George Tapps, Roy Benson, Roy Davis, the Smoothies; Janet Blair, Bob Allen, and Jack Le Maire fill out the cast.

Freddie Martin is the second big name in a row for the Beach. A hit last summer at Bon Air, Martin will bring back his unique tenor band to a spot made to order for his suave and friendly style—the crisply beautiful Marine dining room.

Boswelling the Bistros:

Ralph [Cookie] Cook, who is auditioning a new lung following a bronchial blitzkrieg, has a show stopping co-worker at last over at Harry's New Yorker. She is Joanne Jordan, tabbed as the best singing prospect of the season by visiting talent agents and firemen. . . . Ozzie Nelson has a new claim to fame—the only girl musician working as an integral part of an otherwise all-male band. She is Lois Ashford, sister and now co-worker of Trumpeter Bob Ashford. . . . Marion Odmark, the tall and lovely claimant to the title of Chicago's career girl No. 1, has given up on that sun lamp and is down south hunting something authentic in a café au lait shade. . . . Howard [Stevens Continental room] McCreery has blended Cuba's rhumba and Harlem's "posin'" into a novelty dance called a hesitation rhumba, wherein the dancers are supposed to hold whatever position they have assumed when the music stops momentarily. . . . If and when Chicago's version of New York's successful "Beachcomber" grill is opened it will probably be on Walton place, and the backers will be two old timers, now busy with a big Streeterville gay spot.

YOUNG LADY WITH A LINE

Dance director and star dancer of the line that bears her name, Winnie Hoveler is one of the reasons for the popularity of Harry's New Yorker. Ralph "Cookie" Cook is another.

Roman Theaters.

Roman theaters will give their attention to three American plays this spring: Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy," and William Saroyan's "My Heart's in the Highlands."

Vaudeville

On the stage of the Chicago theater this week two ballet productions, "The Dueling Ballet" and "Spiral Silhouettes," surround the entertainment provided by the Gracella Dancers, Robbins Brothers and Margie, and Señor Wences. Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour, and Bob Hope are starred in the current film, "The Road to Singapore."

Next Friday Horace Heidt and His Musical Knights will open a week's engagement at the Chicago.

Jean Burgess.
[Bloom photo.]

At the State-Lake theater a double feature stage show policy is in use for the first time. There is a regular six act vaudeville bill as well as a visiting road show revue. The former features Johnny Howard, Lee Donn, the Justinos, the Three Olympia Boys, and Burns and Field. "Hooray America," the revue, offers several scenic novelties and a cast that includes the Clymas Troupe, Til and Yago, Steve Dey, Lee White, Dorothy Murray, Jean Burgess, Ralph Dooby, and the 16 Maidens America. "Joe and Ethel Turp Call on the President" is the screen attraction.

Sono Osato's Letter Tells of Chase by Sub

Sono Osato.

Sono Osato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shoji Osato of Chicago, is the Japanese-American ballerina who was seen here frequently during the 1935, '36, '37, and '38 visits of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. She is now in Australia, touring with Col. W. De Basil's ballet. The story of her journey from Switzerland to Australia in the early weeks of the war is told in a letter received from her recently by her mother. It was written from Sydney. Excerpts follow:

"I'm sorry about the Lausanne letter, but how could I tell you then that I was to sail from London on a British boat? Everything was so discreet we didn't know what boat we were to sail on. We took the Simplon midnight express and arrived in camouflaged but amazingly cheery Paris. We stayed four days and on our first night, at 4:30 a. m., we had our first alerte. We put on sweaters and went into an abri with about 50 people and sat for an hour and a half thinking how to make an abri a homier place.

"We stayed in London half a day. The first part of the trip [from England to Australia] was not gay. We had lifeboat drill and carried our life belts everywhere. We didn't think much about anything except when we turned out the light at night. . . . I'm glad I went. You can learn a lot about people in times like these.

"I wasn't ill for a moment. Maybe it was the danger. Two subs chased us but we made 23 knots and they only 12. The captain received a wire from the king saying 'Congratulations and Merry Christmas'. We arrived the same day as the Mariposa and I was terribly glad to see Toumanova and the Doratis."

The company in which Miss Osato is now dancing includes such familiar figures as Tamara Toumanova, Tatiana Riabouchinska, Nina Verchinina, Olga Morosova, David Lichine, Roman Jasinsky, Paul Petroff, and the conductor, Antal Dorati. All of these persons appeared in Chicago during the days before the De Basil-Massine splitup.

Miss Osato is adding to her rôles regularly. Recently she danced a principal part in "Les Sylphides" for the first time.

Recordings

Another album of nostalgia has been produced by Columbia—a five disc anthology of the most popular Rodgers & Hart songs. The success of Rodgers & Hart as a musical comedy creative team is already a legend of the American theater, and the inevitable comparison to Gilbert and Sullivan of an earlier year is not entirely fatuous. Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart have a charming and imaginative pair of minds, and their music is highly intelligent entertainment.

In this album Rodgers directs the orchestra that gives satisfactory musical versions of "My Heart Stood Still," "Thou Swell," "You Took Advantage of Me," and "Do I Hear You Saying 'I Love You?'" [Record No. 35379]; "The Girl Friend," "Blue Room," "Where or When," and "Johnny One Note," [No. 35380]; "This Can't Be Love," "Sing for Your Supper," "With a Song in My Heart," and "Yours Sincerely," [No. 35381], and "Falling in Love with Love," "Lover," "There's a Small Hotel," and "It's Gotta Be Love," [No. 35382]. Where there are vocals to be done Lee Sullivan and Deane Janis do them, and attractively.

Columbia also has pressed Benny Goodman's tooting tribute to the famous New York musicians' local—"Opus Local 802." Not at the peak of Goodman efforts, it will nevertheless satisfy most of Benny's fans. It is No. 35362. A really better recording is on the other side—Fats Waller's "Stealin' Apples," as played by the Goodman outfit.

Cohan Play

After a few seasons in other people's plays George M. Cohan is once more pooling his abilities as author, actor, and producer in a new venture. He has written a sequel to his successful farce, "The Tavern," calling it "The Return of the Vagabond." Like its predecessor it is another farce and will use the same setting. After a short tryout tour it will be brought to Broadway in the middle of May. Mr. Cohan also hopes to put on a musical, "The Musical Comedy Man," next fall, and the new production has not interrupted his plans for it.

Petri Recital on Tuesday to End Musical Arts Series

Piano Concerts Prove Popular Venture Here

By Edward Barry.

With an Orchestra hall piano recital by Egon Petri this coming Tuesday evening, the fourth season of the Adult Education council's Musical Arts series comes to an end. The whole project has been immensely successful—so successful, in fact, that a brief review of it and a description of the theory on which it is based cannot be entirely without interest.

When the Adult Education council, in the fall of 1936, turned its attention to the concert field, it found a situation something like this: Managers were compelled to charge relatively high rates for admission to concerts because audiences were small and money had to be obtained somehow. Audiences stayed small because music students, constituting by far the largest group interested in concerts and recitals, could not afford the price of tickets.

It is easy to demonstrate the fact that a house 50 per cent full of persons paying regular admission prices means no more money in the sock than a house full to the doors of persons paying half as much per ticket. Especially since fixed charges—hall, heat, light, ushers, advertising, etc.—are almost independent of the size of the audience. It is easy to demonstrate, too, that a number of concerts packaged together will effect some remarkable economies. The cost per concert of several items—publicity, for instance—takes a decided drop.

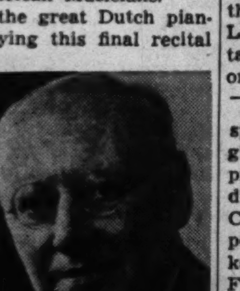
The Adult Education council decided to act on this principle [not a new one by any means], and decided to make things doubly safe by appealing to a large specialized group—pianists, piano teachers, piano students, and those who have had close contact of some other sort with the instrument. It engaged pianists of wide reputation, set sensationally low season ticket prices, and sat back to watch the orders pour in. They did.

The subscription list grew until this year it comprises about 2,400 names. Subscribers pay $1.50 to $5, depending on seat location, for a season ticket to six recitals. Five of these are given by men and women of national and usually international reputation. The other is an interesting recital by a local pianist who has won his right to appear in the cycle by emerging victorious from a series of exacting auditions.

Some idea of the quality which the Musical Arts series maintains may be gathered from a reading of this partial list of the pianists who have appeared at one time or another during the last four years: Josef Hofmann, Artur Schnabel, Josef Lhevinne, Guiomar Novaes, Harold Bauer, Alexander Brailowsky, Simon Barer, Walter Gieseking, Rudolf Serkin, Robert Casadesus.

The list for the season of 1940-'41 will be announced next Tuesday. One name is already certain—Wanda Paul, Chicago pianist who on March 2 won the competition sponsored by the Adult Education council and the Society of American Musicians.



Egon Petri.
[Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Egon Petri, the great Dutch pianist who is playing this final recital Tuesday, returned to Chicago this season after several years' absence to appear with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in a first local performance of the Busoni concerto. Mr. Petri's program Tuesday includes several small Busoni items. It also promises the gigantic hammerklavier sonata of Beethoven, one of the most difficult works in the répertoire; Bach's chromatic fantasy and fugue, and two seldom played Liszt pieces. Mr. Petri is one of the very few living pianists whose grandeur of style is equal to such a program.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra's Maundy Thursday-Good Friday program traditionally contains excerpts from Wagner's semi-sacred music drama, "Parsifal." This year is no exception. Next Thursday night and Friday afternoon Orchestra hall audiences will hear the procession of the knights of the grail, the Good Friday spell, and the transformation and glorification music. The program also promises "La Queste de Dieu" from d'Indy's "La Légende de Saint-Christophe," Felix Borowski's tone poem "Ecce Homo," Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Russian Easter," and Franck's "Le Chasseur Maudit." The work by Mr. Borowski, who has been program annotator for the Chicago Symphony orchestra for lo, these many years [about 30], has not previously been played at these concerts.

The orchestra and Frederick Stock, its conductor, are to have a busy week. They go to Milwaukee tomorrow, play the sixth young people's concert here Wednesday, appear at the regular Thursday-Friday subscription pair, and present a popular concert Saturday evening. The "Pop" program is as follows:

Overture, "Fingal's Cave"..Mendelssohn
Symphony No. 4, D Minor.....Schumann
Concert Waltz.......................Alwin
Prelude and Fugue ["St. Anne's"],
E Flat Major.......................Bach
Suite from the ballet, "Sylvia"..Delibes

Carl Alwin, Viennese conductor and composer, who now lives and teaches in Chicago, will direct his own concert waltz.

And next Sunday comes the appearance of Grace Moore with the orchestra. Lovers of out-of-the-ordinary sights will be on hand to see Frederick Stock conduct the "Jewel Song" from "Faust" for Miss Moore.

TO PLAY WITH SYMPHONY

On Tuesday, March 22, Guiomar Novaes, Brazilian pianist, will make her only Chicago appearance this season, playing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Orchestra hall.

Notes on Music and Musicians

The announcement that this would be the last season before the concert public of Ted Shawn and his dance group aroused such interest in their fall recital that a second one seemed justifiable. It will be given this afternoon in the Studebaker theater.

Ted Shawn.

Mr. Shawn has strung together various items, composed during his long career, under one title, "The Dome," which he presents as today's program. It is divided into four major sections: Dances to the Music of Johann Sebastian Bach, Remembrance of Things Past, Excursions Into Visible Song, and Jacob's Pillow Concerto. These in turn are composed of several short numbers, danced individually or together by Mr. Shawn and his group of nine. The final section, with its strange title, is the last major work upon which Mr. Shawn and his accompanist and composer, Jess Meeker, collaborated. It represents a typical morning at Jacob's Pillow, Mr. Shawn's farm in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts, where his group works or relaxes between tours.

Four unusual items are listed on the program to be given by the Hans Lange Little Symphony in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel on Tuesday afternoon. Two of them are by American composers and will be played for the first time in Chicago, Quincy Porter's Sixth String Quartet and Remi Gassmann's Sonata for cello and piano. Mr. Porter is an eminent New Englander; a former student of Yale's department of music, Vincent d'Indy, and Ernest Bloch. At present he is teaching at the New England conservatory in Boston. His quartet will be played by the Philharmonic String quartet, and represents the latest of his numerous chamber compositions.

Remi Gassmann was born at St. Mary's, Kas. After earning a master of music degree at the Eastman school in Rochester, he went abroad to study for six years with the great German composer, Hindemith. Now a resident of Chicago, he is at work translating Hindemith's recent book on musical theory. The cello sonata was composed in 1936.

The other two works on the program will be Beethoven's rarely played Sextet for strings and two horns and Brahms' four Part Songs for female voices with accompaniment of two horns and harp, op. 17. Sixty members of the newly organized Lake Shore Choral society, an outgrowth of last spring's North Shore Festival chorus, will sing the Brahms song.

At the Goodman theater this afternoon the glee club of the University of Notre Dame Club of Chicago will give its first concert, singing before the Irish Fellowship club. The concert is scheduled for 3 o'clock and Joseph Henneberry will conduct.

At the next music appreciation concert in the Illinois music project concert hall, 632 North Dearborn street, on Friday, Ralph Cissne and the American Concert orchestra will devote their comments and performances to the music of Schubert and Weber. The concert is at 8:15 o'clock.

Iota Alpha chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon will present a musical at the home of Mrs. Thomas J. Salsman, 1530 North State parkway, Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock. Participating artists will be Naomi Nell, Mary Bunte, Hellen Morton, Margaret Salsman, Marion Jaffrey, and Grace Seiberling.

Swedish Choral Club Will Give Spring Concert

By Cecil Smith.

Ten days hence, on Wednesday evening, March 27, the Swedish Choral club will give its spring concert in Orchestra hall under the direction of Harry T. Carlson, its permanent conductor. The program will consist of three sizable choral works, all new to Chicago audiences—Franz Joseph Haydn's "Missa in Tempore Relli," Johan Helmich Roman's "Jubilate" [to be sung in Swedish], and Ralph Vaughan Williams' "Benedicite." The soloists will be Thelma von Eisenhauer, winning soprano in the Chicago City Opera company auditions last fall; Esther Goodwin, contralto; Ralph Niehaus, tenor, and David Austin, bass. Members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, assisted by Stanley Martin, organist, will play the instrumental accompaniments.

Ten days' advance notice is time enough, I hope, to enable Chicago concertgoers to mark this occasion down on their calendar pads. It is no ordinary occasion, for the Swedish Choral club has done much to set itself apart from the common run of large, and often unwieldy and conservative, singing groups. Indeed, it is not too much to say that the Swedish Choral club in the last four seasons has done more to advance the cause of choral music in Chicago than all the other large groups put together.

Above all else, the Swedish Choral club has long been one of the most exciting choruses in the middle west—exciting not thru transparent tricks of theatricality, but thru substantial, youthful, full-blooded singing that is musically accurate and tonally beautiful. An exceptional esprit de corps seems to infuse the organization, perhaps partly because of the Scandinavian habit of sticking by a project until it is brought to full fruition, but probably more largely because Mr. Carlson is the sort of director who can win the complete loyalty of his singers without relaxing the sternness of his weekly discipline over them.

The Swedish Choral club is one of the remarkable phenomena of this high pressure age, for despite the unusual attractiveness of its musical product, it does not hire a press agent or attempt to draw undue attention to its undertakings. Today's enthusiastic notice, for example, results from no prodding or artificial stimulation from the club itself. Indeed, I do not think the club really does enough for itself. On Feb. 13 I received a modest typed page listing the works and performers involved in the spring concert, with no comment whatever upon the uniqueness of the program, and without even a note to the effect that the works to be sung are novelties in Chicago!

The Swedish Choral club is the only large organization that has taken any responsibility for keeping Chicago abreast of the times in contemporary choral music. Without them, we should still never have heard Gustav Holst's mystic and noble "Hymn of Jesus" or Kodaly's magnificent, nationalistic "Budapest Te Deum." And this spring these singers are presenting the "Benedicite" of Vaughan Williams, a British composer unsurpassed in his skill in writing for massed voices.

Neglected older music, as well, finds a place on Mr. Carlson's programs. Already he has brought to our attention the sublime Verdi "Te Deum," a mature work fully equal in stature to "Otello," Haydn's "Coronation Mass," and Bruckner's dramatic "Te Deum," a work sidestepped by choruses whose high C's do not hold out very well. Now he has unearthed another Haydn mass, the so-called "Missa in Tempore Belli" ["Mass in Time of War"] in C major, written in 1790 when Haydn was at the peak of his powers.

Turning to the little known literature of Swedish music, Mr. Carlson will also conduct on March 27 a "Jubilate" by Johan Helmich Roman. This composer, one of the first of importance to arise in modern Sweden, lived from 1694 to 1758. He received his musical training in England, where he must have known and associated with Handel.

WILL GIVE RECITAL HERE

A week from tomorrow night Nathan Milstein, top flight violinist, will give his only Chicago recital for the season in Orchestra hall.

April Recitals

Five recitals are listed by Bertha Ott, Chicago concert manager, for local recital halls during April. Maria Hussa, soprano, and Leo Podolsky, pianist, will give a benefit concert for the Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing in the Studebaker on Sunday afternoon, April 7. Leonard Stocker, baritone, will appear in Kimball hall the same afternoon. Dorothy Weston, soprano, will sing in Kimball hall the following Sunday, the 14th. Ada Belle Files, contralto, will be heard in the same hall on the 21st, and Vitaly Schnee will give a piano recital in the Studebaker on the 28th. The recitals of Michel Wilkomirski, scheduled for March 31, and of Rudolph Ganz on April 28, have been postponed until next fall.

60 in June, '39, Class of 100 Find Positions

By the Rev. John Evans.

One answer to the claim that frontiers of opportunity each year becoming more circumscribed, a study of careers made by Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Ia., on last year's graduating class reveals an optimistic attitude.

When slightly more than six months had elapsed, questionnaires were sent to all members of the class who graduated in June, 1939. They numbered exactly 100. The purpose of the study was to find out how the class as a whole was affected by the transfer from undergraduate campus life to a life of gainful occupation. Replies were received from 98 which were tabulated thus:

Six of the girls are married.

Twenty-seven members of the class are enrolled in graduate or professional schools.

Sixty "are on the job working," 32 of whom are teachers.

Five come under a miscellaneous classification.

The last category includes one member of the class in each of the following careers: Post graduate study, substitute teacher, secretarial training, air conditioning, and orchestral work. Other facts shown by the report are that the 27 members, second in the above tabulation, are at 27 different graduate or professional schools; of the 32 who are teaching, two-thirds completed arrangements for their jobs before graduating; of the 28 not teaching, 8 are women and 20 are men.

Gordon K. Chalmers, president of Kenyon college at Gambier, O., has announced preliminary plans for the development and expansion of Bexley hall, the divinity school of the college. They involve an expansion of the curricular offerings already existent in Bexley hall, and reciprocal arrangements with the collegiate faculty in public speaking, history, philosophy, and English in the seminary, and for instruction in church history, metaphysics and ethics in the college by professors from the seminary.

Kenyon was founded in 1824 as a theological school of the Episcopal church. Subsequently it was twice rechartered to provide a dual organization, seminary and college within a single institution. Thus there are today two faculties, each with its own dean and faculty. The student enrollment comprises 300 undergraduates and 20 theological graduate students.

Lambuth college, Jackson, Tenn., ranked highest of the 61 colleges in the southeastern area in its percentage of students which completed the first year medical course from 1930 to 1938. This was revealed by the report of the Association of American Medical Colleges, recently published. It covers 491 colleges and universities having 10 or more students in the freshman class of the medical schools during the nine year period.

French Project

Arrangements are being made by René Blum, director of the Monte Carlo ballet, to bring the Comédie Française troupe to the United States and Canada next fall. The company, subsidized by the French government, will make the trip for the first time, touring for 12 weeks and presenting its répertoire of French classical plays in the mother tongue. Since a tour by Sacha Guitry, promised this spring, failed to materialize, there is room for reasonable doubt as to the fruition of this new venture.

Good Morning!

O, often and oft folks have spoken and written
Of the fact that the pleasantest things are the fittin'.

—And what could be more fittin' at Easter tide than bluebirds—or Shirley Temple playing Mytyl in Maeterlinck's gentle fantasy re the folly of chasing all over for "The Bluebird" of happiness when it's just as like as not parked in our own back yard . . . ?

Matter-of-factly, we often think of bluebirds as symbolizing felicity without remembering how the idea was implanted in our minds. And so, it's nice to again make acquaintance with the Maeterlinck classic in its modern screen dress richly 'broidered with technicolor.

It's as beautiful to the eye and refreshing to the senses as a clear mountain stream making its sparkling way over clean sands and satiny brown stones to a rendezvous with the river.

And any doubts you may have been entertaining as to Shirley's ability to adapt her genius to the fantastical, I can set at rest. She's at home in "The Bluebird" as she was in "Baby, Take a Bow." She talks and acts like a little girl, the while reflecting chameleon-wise IN that talk and action every hue and shade of the author's meaning.

As you know, Mytyl, tho she has a comfortable home, a kind mother and father and a dear little brother, isn't a happy child. Because she's selfish! And envious! And not satisfied with the things she has. . . . In a dream, she and her brother, Tyltyl, their dog Tylo, who becomes changed into a man, and their cat, Tylette, metamorphosed into a sleek, sly woman, are dispatched by the Fairy Berylune on a journey thru the Past; the Land of Luxury, and the Future—peopled with the children who are waiting to be born. In this strangely serene spot, far, far up among the clouds, occur the most exquisite and touching scenes of the picture. . . .

The simple tale is depicted with enchanting simplicity against glowing backgrounds of storied charm.

See you tomorrow.

'Fifth Column' Called Good Theater Piece

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK [Special].—Whatever the Ernest Hemingway message may have been in his published drama, "The Fifth Column," the stage adapter, Benjamin Glazer, has apparently sacrificed most of it in the interest of the theater.

At any rate, the drama that the Theater Guild has produced as "The Fifth Column" is a good theater piece, including a romantic heroine who is betrayed during a Madrid bombardment and lives to forgive her betrayer in typical Hemingway style.

As a result, the play, with Franchot Tone playing its chief character and Katherine Locke the rôle of the heroine, promises to become the second Theater Guild success of this season, Katharine Hepburn and "The Philadelphia Story" being the first. As the Theater Guild stood desperately in need of a hit, a good many well-wishers have been made happy by this result.

Making it a rule not to acquaint myself with a printed play before its production, that I may thus be in a better position to judge its quality as a theater entertainment, I did not read the Hemingway drama. I am told that it is more subtle and more meaningful in purpose than the Glazer adaptation would suggest. And less dramatic.

Mr. Glazer has undoubtedly played up the romance. In the play, which is a bit muddled in statement, young Philip Rawlings, newspaper correspondent, has attached himself to the counterespionage forces in Madrid. It is his job, working with a Nazi-hating German, named Max, to spy upon the Franco spies in the late Spanish civil war. The saying at the time was that Franco had four columns advancing on Madrid and a fifth column boring from within inside the city.

Rawlings and Max attend successfully to their job, for all it is getting on Rawlings' nerves. They snake a German general out of the front lines and bring him back for questioning. They turn up a variety of intriguing undercover agents of the Franco forces.

And then, during their celebration of one such exploit, when Rawlings is pretty well liquored, there is an air raid and a scream from the room next to Rawlings' room in the Florida hotel. Dashing to the rescue of a lady in distress Philip finds Dorothy Bridges, young and pretty newspaper woman. Dorothy has come to Madrid in search of her brother, a loyalist volunteer. Rawlings' sense of chivalry is overcome by his desire for companionship and he decides to continue comforting Miss Bridges the rest of the night, even against her will.

From there on the romance takes over. A chagrined and sobered Rawlings next morning is again a prey to war horrors and an aroused determination to get out of it. He is also in love with the girl and eager to fly with her toward Paris and marriage. She, too, as said, is as passively forgiving as most Hemingway heroines are, and happily makes ready for departure.

At which point Max and the cause move in and block the escape. Max will not see his pal desert the whole world's struggle for liberty for a trivial romance. He pleads with the girl not to take Rawlings from his great mission. She compromises by leaving a note that gives her love the alternative of staying on in the fight or following her. He stays.

This romance, insist some of the play's critics, makes for a cheapening and weakening of the Hemingway purpose, which is to inspire and strengthen a call to arms of all the forces of liberty's freemen, wherever they may be fighting. There is some preaching in the last act along these lines, and fairly eloquent preaching it is. But the popular quality of the drama will be found, I suspect, in the Glazer compromise with the theater.

The characters of Rawlings and Max are not too faint an echo of the Capt. Flagg and Sergt. Quirt of "What Price Glory?" They represent a greater degree of intelligence, but they are at the base the same type of fighting crusaders embroiled in the brutalizing business of a war for liberty and democracy—a liberty and democracy that men mostly abuse after they win it. The performances are all good, notably those of Mr. Tone, Miss Locke, and Lee J. Cobb, who plays Max magnificently. Lee Strasberg directed and the atmospheric scene sets are by the Howard Bay discovered by the late Federal theater.

Our second new play this week is also frankly a theater piece. For which I feel there need be neither apology nor regret. The experimental, the progressive, the meaningful stage message—these are all right in their time and place, but what the theater really stands for, and rightly, to most theater supporters is theatrical entertainment.

"The Weak Link" is a comedy that quickly suggests two other comedies. It is a story of a timid theorist who is a wizard at finding the weak link in practically any sort of problem. He wins readily at chess and checkers, he answers most of the radio quizzes, and he can tell any banker the weak link in his scheme of police protection against bank robbers.

It is this latter item that gets Peter Mason into trouble. He sees a sign, "Bankers' Protective Association," and applies for a job. This, it happens in the play, is an association of bank thieves. Immediately they grab the young man and make him work out a scheme for robbing the bank downstairs of a hundred thousand dollar pay roll. Just, as you may recall, other crooks held Ernie Truex in "Whistling in the Dark" until he evolved a perfect murder. And as, later, a gang of race touts imprisoned William Lynn in "Three Men on a Horse" until he had given them a series of successful hunches on race winners.

Of course the planned bank robbery goes wrong, but not until Peter, the expert, and his fiancée, who comes in search of him and is also held incommunicado, are put thru a series of amusing and exciting adventures.

This inconsequential comedy is good fun, once you accept its extravagant premise. No such bankers' protection association as this one pretends to be could exist a day in any middle western city. And the auditor is always conscious of the play's obvious mechanics. But the proceedings, with a convincing cast and good direction, make for a pleasant theater evening. Hume Cronyn, Peggy French, Lloyd Gough, and Don Costello are prominent in the cast.

A new development of the John Barrymore engagement in "My Dear Children" threatens to expand, for which reason nothing much is being printed about it in this sector. Several times lately members of the audience have taken to heckling Elaine Barrymore. She has been received with boos and a scattering of hisses on her entrance. Her curtain calls, even with John, are anything but complimentary, and the other night a man in a front row said something to her, or about her, that John resented. Immediately J. B. stepped out of character, addressed the heckler in no uncertain terms, and announced with a confidence his physical condition belies that if the heckler would step up on the stage he would get his block knocked off.

At the end of the play, I am told, when the unpopular Elaine had disappeared and John took his call alone, the rafters of the Belasco theater were shaken by the applause. The affection for the Barrymore bad boy is apparently as great as it always has been. But the current Mrs. Barrymore is apparently in for a bad time.

Chopin Movie

On occasion the motion pictures have attempted to film certain composer's lives—Beethoven, Bellini, and Schubert, for example. Now M.-G.-M. is planning to make "The Life of Chopin" at its English studios, with Robert Donat in the title rôle. Some type casting will be done, for none other than Dalies Frantz, the concert pianist, will portray Franz Liszt. Incidentally, one Hollywood rumor has it that Robert Taylor will assume the rôle of Johannes Brahms in a forthcoming picture!

"CLICKS" WITH CUSTOMERS

Pepper pot of the current Colony club show is Carmen Montoya, Mexican dancer whose castanet routines start the entertainment at a fast pace. Carlos Molina's orchestra is the musical headliner at the Colony.

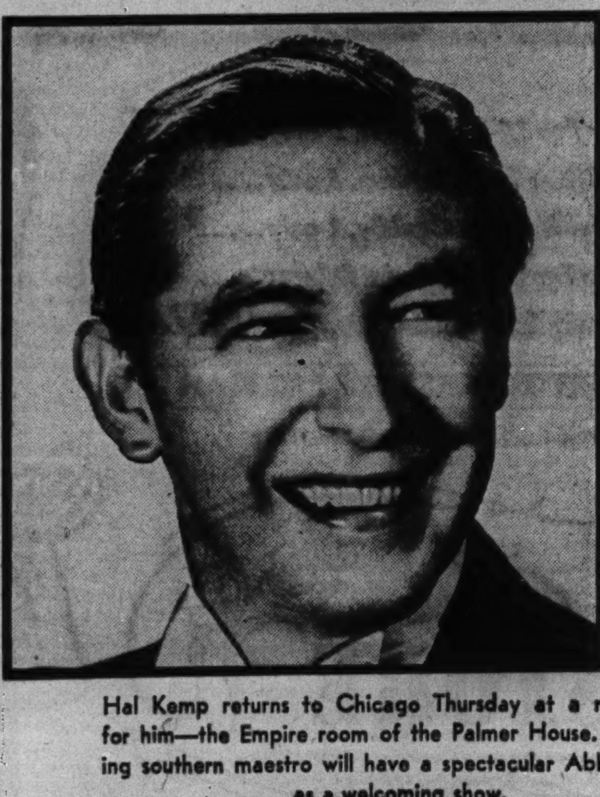
Motley Design

When Laurence Olivier and Vivian Leigh appear at the Auditorium theater in "Romeo and Juliet" on April 17 they will have a production designed by "The Motleys." Motley is the name of a London firm of designers headed by three women, Audrey and Peggy Harris and Elizabeth Montgomery. Mr. Olivier has already appeared in one production of the Shakespeare tragedy created by them—the famous one in 1935 in which Mr. Olivier and John Gielgud alternated in the rôles of Romeo and Mercutio. Since the 1935 version incorporated only Mr. Gielgud's ideas, and since Olivier has many of his own which he would like to see used in the new one, the version to be shown at the Auditorium will presumably be quite different.

Polish Opera Here.

Harry Zelzer will present the Polish opera, "Straszny Dwor" ["Haunted Castle"], at the Civic Opera house on Sunday night, April 7. It is by Stanislaus Moniuszko, composer of the more frequently heard "Halka." Wladek Kiepura, brother tenor of Jan Kiepura, and George Czaplicki, baritone of the Chicago City Opera company, will have leading rôles. Jerzy Bojanowski will conduct, and the ballet will be under the dirction of Felix Sadowski, balletmaster of the Warsaw Opera company.

RETURNING TO CHICAGO



Hal Kemp returns to Chicago Thursday at a new locale for him—the Empire room of the Palmer House. The smiling southern maestro will have a spectacular Abbott revue as a welcoming show.

Current Music News

Two weeks ago Iso Briselli, violinist, made his Chicago debut as soloist with the Civic orchestra. This afternoon in Orchestra hall he will give his first local recital.

A native of Odessa, Russia, he was forced to flee with his family to Germany, on account of the revolution, before he was 10. In Odessa he had studied with Spoliarski, Nathan Milstein's teacher. When he reached Berlin he began work with Carl Flesch, making his debut there a year later. To continue his studies with him he accompanied Dr. Flesch to Philadelphia when the latter was appointed head of the violin department at Curtis institute. His American debut was made in 1926 with the Philadelphia orchestra. For the last three years he has been coaching with Albert Meiff in New York.

With the assistance of Hellmut Baerwald at the piano, he will offer today the following program:

Sonata, A Minor	Veracini
Poème	Chausson
Sonata, A Major, Op. 100	Brahms
Andante Rubato	Dohnanyi
Scherzo-Valse	Chabrier-Loeffler
Pièce en forme de habanera	Ravel
Ipanema	Milhaud
Introduction and Caprice; Jota	Sarasate

Guy and Lois Maier, duo-pianists, will make two appearances in Chicago tomorrow. In the morning they will give in the Arts club the 200th artist recital of the Musicians Club of Women. Their program will feature Schumann's Andante and Variations, Brahms' Love Waltzes, Mozart's Sonata in D, and pieces by Casella, Rachmaninoff, Arensky, Frantz and Simmons.

Lois Maier.

That night the pair will make their second appearance as soloists with the Illinois Symphony orchestra, playing the same work they did two seasons ago—Mozart's Concerto in E flat [Köchel No. 365]. Albert Goldberg will conduct the concert, to be housed by the Studebaker theater. He will open the program with Haydn's "London" Symphony, No. 104, D major; and he will close it with Sibelius' Second Symphony, also in D major.

On Tuesday morning the Russian trio will conclude its series of six concerts in the Arts club for this season. Two requested items constitute the program—trios by Chausson and Turina. Later in the season the ensemble will leave for a lengthy tour thru the middlewest, south and northwest, Nina Mesirow-Minchin, pianist and director; Hans Muenzer, violinist, and Ennio Bolognini, cellist, form the trio.

Ludwig Becker will conduct the Chicago Conservatory Symphony orchestra in a concert in Thorne hall this afternoon. Portions of concertos and operatic arias will be performed by students from the school: Shirley Dickinson and Friedel Schlippert, sopranos; Norma Helfer, pianist, and William Benes, violinist. The orchestral numbers will include Svendsen's Coronation March, Tchaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet," the first movement of Franck's Symphony, and Eric Coates' London Suite.

The first performance of Leo Sowerby's new Lenten cantata, "Forsaken of Man," will be given at the St. James' church, Wabash avenue and Huron street, by the church choir under Dr. Sowerby's direction on Friday at 8 o'clock. Marion Schroeder, soprano; Esther Goodwin, contralto; Willard Kerner, tenor, and John MacDonald, bass, will be the soloists.

Marilyn Meyer will be the soloist with the Civic orchestra at its next concert in Orchestra hall on March 31. Her vehicle will be Saint-Saëns' Piano Concerto, No. 2, in G minor. Under Hans Lange's direction the orchestra will play the Rameau-Motti Three Ballet Pieces, d'Indy's "Jour d'Eté à la Montagne," and Chabrier's "España."

The Euphonia choir of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church, Richmond street and McLean avenue, will give Dubois' "Seven Last Words" on Good Friday at 8 o'clock. Reinhold Arkebauer is the choir's director.

Arthur C. Becker has composed a new sacred work, "Stabat Mater," which he will offer for the first time anywhere at St. Vincent's church, Webster and Sheffield avenues, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. It is written for unaccompanied chorus with organ interludes.

At the Three Arts club this afternoon Ruth Gourlay will give a piano recital. Altho born in the United States, she received her education and made her professional debut in England. Back in this country, she has taken up her residence in Chicago. Some of her own compositions will be included in the program.

The Proviso Township High school brass sextet will take part in this morning's service of the Central church in Orchestra hall.

Napoleon Reed, tenor, will give a recital in Kimball hall this afternoon, accompanied by Jacob Hannemann. Operatic arias, German lieder, French and English songs, and Negro spirituals are on the program.

For the tenth consecutive year the choir of the Kenwood church, Greenwood avenue and 46th street, will give Heinrich Schütz's notable Passion oratorio, "The Seven Last Words on the Cross," on Friday at 5:15 o'clock. Gavin Williamson, director and organist; Olive June Lacy, soprano; Ethel Jones, contralto; Robert Kessler, tenor; Bruce Foote, baritone; Reinhold Schmidt, bass, and Philip Manuel, harpsichordist, will take part.

Purring Surf Is Background for Florida Fun

By Cousin Eve.

PALM BEACH, FLA. Palm Beach days are unalike, but they whirl by in a continuous round of pleasure. Many of us awaken to the soft purr of the surf, rolling in from Spain or Africa, maybe. There are others who see the sunrise after breakfasting at Werts, an ultrasimple place on the sea, where there are log fires and you chat with the waiter, who serves excellent fare.

The marvel of Palm Beach is the foliage, the marvelous glossy palms, the richness of the jungle growth. High winds this month have stripped the palms. Many of their leaves lie over the land like so many brown feathers. And huge coconuts, loosened by the gale, are likely to fall upon the passerby and end his joys and woes forever.

The high event of last week was a bridge party given for charity at the residence, newly reopened, of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davies, lately home from Brussels. The tables were to be had by those invited for $20 apiece, and the rush to see this beautiful and extraordinary house was great. The charity benefited was the Animal Rescue league, which salvages the cats and dogs left behind by the children of winter residents when they go north. It also concerns itself with humane education.

The Davies house is in South Ocean boulevard, and is in the Spanish style. The entrance hall is walled and paved with old Moorish tiles, and leads directly to a lounge or central salon. This is a magnificent room, large as three ordinary rooms, with a ceiling high as a church and glittering with gold. Light floods in from the east where there is a great window, and a view out over the front lawn and the Atlantic ocean. The detail of this room, designed and decorated by Joseph Urban, as is the whole house, would fill a book. The walls have painted murals by Urban set in golden harmonies, and four panels of ancient and beautiful tapestry. Furniture is grouped in their large salon; piano, tables, fauteuils, sofas, and all over the place are relics of Russia. Ecclesiastical robes that would stand alone, sparkling with gold and rich with primitive colors, are lying carelessly over tables, piano, consoles. And on the way to a small book room is a collection of ancient jeweled icons, flashing and glittering with gold and precious stones. In this library is a recent portrait of Joseph Davies painted by Frank Salisbury of London, in which the diplomat is shown in gray morning suit with crossed knees. There are also smaller portraits of Mrs. Davies, a regal beauty who has an admirable profile.

The guests at the bridge party went sightseeing in the most unashamed way before the game. There was a mountain of prizes, all boxed and tied up as if for Christmas. And the prizes were charming. In fact, present giving at parties is a feature of this season. One hostess gave handsome gold bracelets to her luncheon guests which didn't come from the ten cent store. And Mrs. F. O. Butler of Chicago presented her 42 guests with elaborately dressed dolls.

The last act of the bridge party was a superb tea, given by Mrs. Davies in the ambassadorial dining room, quite as handsome as the rest of the house. Various ladies had the onerous job of pouring tea, Mrs. Chester Williams, Mrs. George Rasmussen, and Mrs. Olaf Tevander, all from Chicago, after which the party was over.

While on the subject of Palm Beach houses, not one is lovelier in atmosphere than that of Mrs. Le Ray Berdeau of Chicago. The fair Audrey has played with this charming stucco plaisance for 10 years, and achieved a disarming combination of simplicity and sophistication.

The villa, neither small nor large, lies on the shore of Lake Worth, down a small tropical street, Via Bellaria. Called Today by its chatelaine, with a mystical meaning underlying all the present pomp and glory of life, it stands forth, a lovely little museum of modernism, a temple if you will.

We went there one gray afternoon for tea and saw Today at its most fascinating. A gray hour to me is often full of enchantment, and thru the tropical rain Lake Worth was a silver backdrop for the black silhouette of a line of waving imperial palms. What we saw from the white living room might have been Egypt in the days of Cleopatra, or ancient Babylon itself. The tall windows of the villa seem to incorporate the outdoors with indoors. And Lake Worth and the palms are a part of the house and adorn the wall, like the new Matisse and the Seurat. The Berdeaus went to the art auction at Lucerne, where paintings of the great French moderns were sold under the hammer, that had been cast out of Germany in the recent art purge.

Thus a blue Matisse and some remarkable abstractions hang at Today, the latter a bit too profound for me, but definitely decorative.

A hall of gleaming blackness has glass stairs and wall panels strikingly figured in copper and silver, Egyptian in their values. Another vista, looking back, is the most vivid of all, a dining room where the gardens and great swimming pool of the villa seem like a mere painting on the wall. There are myrtle hedges, imperial palms, the emerald glitter of the pool, and the bronze of a man about to dive into the translucent waters.

It was a gay tea with lots of cosmopolites. Nearly every one had a handle to his name, and William Burton was just arrived from Antibes, where his villa with high white walls is not far from the French edition of Today. Both will be used as hospitals in case war gets going. There were Britons present, too, and it amazes one how many residents of Palm Beach are also residents of London. They report that life seems to be going on as usual, with horse races, house parties, and winter sports, owing to the enormous snows.

Arthur Bradley Campbell of London, a popular American bachelor, has been visiting the Berdeaus all winter.

Chicago is well represented in Palm Beach. The roster is long as my arm. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker have arrived at the Whitehall and the George Ranneys are staying at the Breakers, and Mr. and Mrs. George Henry High are at the Veneta. We had tea with them on the terrace of the Everglades, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hayward of New York joined the party. The former Mildred Marshall Blair is lovely as ever. Sunset at the Everglades is quite divine and the peace of the tropical inlet with its border of palm trees and squadrons of ducks sailing gayly over the rosy waters is more like midsummer than mid-March.

Mrs. William A. Yager of Chicago gave a large dinner in the garden of the Everglades Tuesday night, where the newly married Paul Butlers appeared. Tuesday nights at the Everglades are full of movement, as scores of members of the world's most beautiful club give dinners. The long tables banked with flowers and flanked by smaller parties stretch in every direction under the stars. It is a self service dinner and guests are supposed to browse up and down the heavily laden service tables and forage for themselves. I haven't yet made up my mind whether this system is ideal, but certainly it prevails at Palm Beach. The dance floor is full of dancers, and at 9 o'clock the backgammon tourney is announced.

It was hot Tuesday night and Mrs. Paul Healy and I went into the bar for a lemonade with Sir Derwent Hall-Caine. He is traveling with Sir John MacTaggart's party which has been given a whirl here and in Miami. That lovely little redhead, Miss Pattie Naismith, aviatrix, is a member of the party. At the next table in the bar was that tall, fat young fellow, heir of the Astor family, John Jacob, with his piquant auburn-haired wife, "Tucky."

Another large Chicago party was Mrs. Paul Healy's luncheon at the Bath and Tennis club, where there were a large number of men present—and men at Palm Beach are quite as scarce as elsewhere. And a still larger luncheon was Mrs. William Snyder's at the Breakers, where 110 ladies sat down together at a horseshoe table. The hostess, Mrs. Snyder, did a clever turn with accordion, accompanying a group of Spanish minstrels. Several Chicagoans sat together—Mrs. George Rasmussen, Mrs. Robert Morse, Mrs. Marvin Hughitt. And Mrs. Henry Pope, Mrs. Franklin Miller, Mrs. Olaf Tevander, and Mrs. George Eddy were sitting in the high places with the hostess.

Another Chicago hostess entertaining in a large way was Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, whose dinner at Bradleys' was very chic. Mrs. Livingston Fairbank has been Mrs. Morris' guest for a few days, and they are motoring to Charleston this week.

The Finnish dinner and "Little World's Fair" at the John C. Hendersons' beautiful estate at the north end of the inlet just missed being the great event of the season. Mr. Henderson spent thousands on the fête which spread over the grounds and even into his modernistic house. The turquoise swimming pool was a center for a feature copied after the New York's world's fair, an aquacade. And Grover Whalen came down to open the Little World's Fair with pomp and circumstance. Unfortunately he was late and some one else had to understudy his part, but his presence lent glamor to the dinner which was an outdoor event. Unhappily the weather man did not coöperate, and the mercury went down to 40. So there was a parade of women in ermines and minks and men hatted and overcoated, sitting in the open with chattering teeth.

There were 400 patrons at $5 each at the Finnish dinner, the most fashionable folk up and down the coast—from Miami to Hobe Sound. It was a self service dinner and the menu was plain, the better to help the Finns. There was fish soup, pork and turnips, a prune whip and black coffee. After this feast we went into the Henderson house to thaw out and view the collection of jades out of China. Inside we met up with the Berdeaus, Audrey appropriately in skiing costume—blue flannel trousers, red jacket, etc. We found that some of our plutocratic friends, unable to find places at the dinner, had dined well off hot dogs in the open. It was a dear "Little World's Fair" after all, and we went back next day to see how pretty and complete it was. All the Scandinavian countries had booths, and there were sideshows and shooting galleries, peep shows, music and dancing. The Finnish dinner was nearly the finish of Mrs. Henderson, a tall, distinguished blonde, whose blue tulle and sequins sparkled under an ermine cape. She had a threat of pneumonia for some days after.

Sunday School Pennies to Aid Hospital Fund

Each year at Eastertide the woman's board of the Presbyterian hospital conducts a drive to provide free care for ill and underprivileged children. The Sunday school children do their part by saving their pennies, nickels, and dimes in banks distributed by the board several weeks before Easter. Next Sunday their contributions will be collected for the "Cheer Up Bed" fund.

Thru this fund nine beds already have been endowed, making possible free hospitalization for 840 children and almost entirely free care for 909 others during the last year alone.

Mrs. William A. Douglass of Oak Park is chairman of the drive this year, and Mrs. William B. Neal is vice chairman. Among those assisting are Mrs. George G. Chappell Jr., Mrs. C. H. Mann, Mrs. Norman Whitehouse, Miss Isabel McNab, Mrs. Kellogg Speed, Mrs. Halford H. Kittleman, Mrs. Lincoln M. Coy, Mrs. E. G. Lindberg, Miss Lucibel Dunham, Mrs. James McCulloch, Mrs. Cameron Urqhart, and Mrs. James F. Patton.

The women's division of the Jewish Welfare fund, including more than 2,000 women, already has raised $150,360 toward its quota of $400,000, Mrs. Michael H. Weinberg, division chairman, announced last week. Of this sum, some $80,000 has been subscribed thru organization and neighborhood teams. The women's contributions will be applied toward the Chicago total of $2,250,000 to be raised to help Jewish refugees abroad.

The Chicago Office Supervisors' club will augment a revolving fund to help unemployed older business women thru proceeds of its annual benefit card party Saturday afternoon in the Mural room of the Morrison hotel. The business women aided thru this fund repay the money lent to them when they again are employed. Miss Clara Greener, treasurer of the club, is among those working on arrangements for the party.

Founded by Dr. Joseph B. De Lee, dean of Chicago obstetricians, in 1932, the center since has delivered more than 20,000 babies in the homes of poor mothers. Young physicians come from all parts of the country to receive training at the center. An unprecedentedly low mortality rate for mothers and babies has been maintained.

The Mothers' Service club consistently has been one of the largest contributors to the center, which, without endowment, is dependent upon contributions for support. Organized by Dr. De Lee's sister, Mrs. Annette Bamberger, at a meeting of 16 women at Dr. De Lee's home, the club was the first to work in the center's behalf. Money is raised thru parties and members make layettes and bandages. Mrs. Henry Buxbaum is president.

Tomorrow afternoon the club will have a second performance of "Local Interference," written and directed by Mrs. Lester Abelson, a member, with a cast of members. The performance will be given at an open meeting at the Standard club.

Metropolitan Hadassah will present four Chicago artists in a benefit concert next Sunday afternoon at the Chicago Woman's club theater. Frances Glickman, soprano, and Benjamin Landsman, baritone, both of the Chicago City Opera company, and Jack Sher and Joe King, duo-pianists, will appear. Miss Frieda Delmon is chairman of the concert, proceeds of which will go to Youth Aliyah, the world movement to establish Jewish refugee children from central Europe in Palestine.

March 30 is the date selected by the Ladies of Isabella for their annual benefit card party, to be held at the Stevens hotel. Proceeds will be added to the building fund for the crippled children's cottage now in process of erection on the grounds of the Sisters of St. Mary of Providence at 4242 North Austin avenue. Mrs. Emma Huising Wall, supreme grand lady, will be in charge.

The Ladies' 15th annual bowling tournament will take place this afternoon and evening at Bensinger's bowling alleys, 29 West Randolph street. Mrs. Sophie Marcinski is chairman and Miss Marcella R. Schmidt secretary.

The annual spring card party of the Ladies' aid of the Bohemian orphanage will be held Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at the Pilsen park pavilion. Proceeds will help the organization to clothe the children of the home and to maintain their living room and playground. Mrs. Vlasta Novotny is president.

The Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing will sponsor a benefit concert by Maria Hussa, soprano, and Leo Podolsky, pianist, on Sunday afternoon, April 7, at the Studebaker theater. Founded in 1916, the league sponsors free lip reading instruction in its headquarters in the Fine Arts building; it works for the prevention of deafness, and provides vocational guidance, employment aid, and social and recreational facilities for the hard of hearing.

WILL ATTEND LUNCHEON

Miss Virginia Brazier of Evanston a student at Monticello college, will be at home from her studies in time to attend a luncheon, which the Monticello College Club of Chicago is giving on March 30 at the Palmer House. President George Irwin Rohrbouth, Francois S. Cillie, and past president Martina Erickson Parsons of Terre Haute, will be especial guests.

Miami Women Are Hostesses to Conventions

By Clarissa Greene.

MIAMI, FLA. "Daughters" took the town during the week. Florida Daughters of the American Revolution and Florida Daughters of the British Empire held conclaves with tea parties [not of the traditional Boston type] and other entertainment filling the days and nights of delegates. The British Daughters were organized in Miami 26 years ago and this was the 20th conclave. Florida branches of the League of American Pen Women also were in convention. Mrs. Francesca Falk Miller of Chicago and Palm Beach was among the authors honored at the celebrity breakfast in the Spanish lounge of the Biltmore hotel. Mrs. Dessie Helstrom, Chicago artist, was in charge of the art display. Books of members formed a "book fair."

Vassar alumnæ in Miami are jubilantly anticipating success in their efforts to raise their quota for the 75th anniversary fund. Mrs. Lonsdale B. Green and Mrs. John S. Burks are active in the group. Two hundred seats for "Milky Way," final presentation of Miami Beach players Tuesday, is expected to complete the assigned goal. Both women are busy with preparations for the South Atlantic regional convention of the A. A. U. W. to be held here March 29-30.

Mrs. Green, head of the junior division, took her charges yesterday for a tour of the Fleischer studios, where "Gulliver's Travels" recently was made. Miami P. E. O. units entertained visiting members during the week.

On Tuesday the annual southern dinner of the Committee of One-Hundred at the Surf club was attended by 461 business leaders of the country. Congressman Martin Dies was the speaker. Midwesterners in charge of arrangements were George Ade, David J. Molloy, S. S. Kresge, Gar Wood, Charles F. Kettering, and John S. Swift. Mark C. Honeywell is president. A dinner is held each year in a northern city, late in the summer.

Mrs. George W. Griffiths of Chicago entertained 40 guests at luncheon Thursday on the Surf club terrace. Chicagoans included Mrs. James C. Cox, Miss Jane Morris, Mrs. Harry L. Vaughn, Mrs. Jerry O'Neil, Mrs. Herbert W. Young, Mrs. John Byers, and Mrs. Eugene B. Clark.

Last night the club celebrated "St. Patrick's day in the evening," with a gala dinner-dance. Among hosts were the Walter Meads of Chicago, who are guests of Mr. Mead's parents, the George W. Meads. There were 18 guests in their party. The Easter ball next Saturday night will be the final gala dinner-dance. Plans for Easter Sunday include a buffet luncheon, dancing in the patio, and a concert by the University of Miami Symphony orchestra.

The Yale Glee club will sing at the Bath club Thursday. They will arrive that day at the Flamingo, where 25 Smith college girls are spending their Easter vacation. The whole resort is busy planning special events for college youngsters who are arriving by plane, train, boat, and motor to spend days and nights crammed with events for their holiday entertainment.

Thursday night the Century club governors' dinner furnished occasion for congratulations to its president, George W. Hughes, on the recent award given him "for improvement of standards of living and the giving of employment." It was conferred for his invention of the first electric stove. Carl Taylor of Milwaukee was the speaker Thursday night.

Mrs. H. J. C. Bunne Henderson of Chicago and Detroit will spend the Easter holidays at Cat Cay, British West Indies. Mrs. Henderson was hostess at the Pancoast Saturday night with a dinner served in the Mediterranean room.

The Bath club still echoes with happiness over the success of the third annual hospital charity ball held there last week when more than $75,000 was realized. Members who were entertained by other members bought tables, then turned them back to be sold again. More than 200 tables for six were sold at $100 each.

Among college students arriving for the Easter holidays is Miss Betsy Richards of Lake Bluff, a senior at Ferry Hall, Lake Forest, who with her mother and brother, Bill, has arrived at the John Burks' home. Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Burks are sisters. Mr. Richards was expected today.

Society Busy Preparing for Easter Parade

By Judith Cass.

As the activities of Holy week are designed for the spiritual needs of a community there never is very much doing in a social way during the week before Easter. The worldly who are looking forward to next Sunday's Easter parade will be in close contact with both the weather man and their couturiere or tailor, for next Sunday's weather will play an important rôle in the selection of one's Easter finery.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra will present a special Good Friday program at its concerts on Thursday night and Friday afternoon at Orchestra hall. There will be a number of concerts during the early part of the week. The Chicago Chamber Music society will present the Russian Trio in the last concert of its season on Tuesday morning at the Arts club. The 200th artist recital of the Musicians Club of Women will be given at the same club tomorrow morning. The second of three concerts by the Hans Lange Little Symphony will be played at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone.

The week will be a busy one for the women who worship at Christ church in Winnetka and at the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest for on Saturday the two groups will have their annual Easter sales. The woman's guild and auxiliary of Christ church will be in the parish house all day Saturday attending to the duties of their sale.

The parish guild of the Lake Forest church will hold its sale in a display room on Western avenue in the suburb. Luncheon and tea will be served at the Winnetka sale, where hand made linens and bakery goods are specialties. The Lake Forest women specialize in large and small potted plants, and this year will sell many pretty things its hundred members have made by hand during the year. Mrs. Stanley Morrill is president of the Lake Forest guild; Mrs. Harold Wilder is president of the Winnetka group.

The recently formed woman's board of the Travelers' Aid society will be guests of the executive board at a luncheon in the penthouse of the Hotel Sherman on Thursday. Altho the junior group has been active since the middle of last year, the luncheon will represent the first joint meeting of the two boards, and the official incorporation of the woman's board in the constitution of the society.

After the incorporation ceremonies two members of the professional staff of the agency will speak, Miss Doris Chatfield and Mrs. Lynn Bowen. Miss Gertrude Smith, chairman of the board's radio committee, and her committee will present a radio program created by themselves. The woman's board is the first of such auxiliary groups to be organized in the country. Some of its members will be invited to the National Travelers' Aid Society convention to be held in Cleveland on April 17.

H. Belin Voorhees is president of the executive board and will preside at the luncheon. Some of the young women who belong to the auxiliary are Mrs. Jeffrey R. Short Jr., Mrs. Richard Vanderwarker, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr., Mrs. F. Osborne Elliott, Miss Eleanor Litsinger, and Mrs. Harry Vested.

After Easter good housewives will start thinking of spring housecleaning. The annual chasing after dirt throws millions of homes into an uproar, but no conscientious housekeeper could have more difficulties than the staff of the Chicago Historical society, which must give a thoro going over to 27 miniature rooms with implements smaller than a toothbrush.

The rooms are in the collection originated by Mrs. James Ward Thorne. Several of them have been equipped with new curtains, chandeliers, flowers, and pictures. The modern library, 16 by 24 inches in size, boasts the smallest of cocktail tables, which is complete with tray, shaker, liquor bottle, glasses, ice bowl and tongs, and cigaret cases, all of which must be made as clean and shining as any in a private home.

The rooms are on exhibit daily from 9:30 to 5 o'clock and from 1 until 6 o'clock on Sundays.

Carl Sandburg Defines Poetry at Club Dinner

By Betty Browning.

Carl Sandburg gave his definition of poetry—and a form of entertainment new to women's organizations—at the annual dinner of the Friends of American Writers Thursday evening at the Blackstone hotel. The dinner was occasioned by the society's presentation of its annual $1,000 literary award to Dr. Elgin Groseclose, economist and novelist, for his book, "Ararat."

"Poetry," intoned the slender, shaggy maned Mr. Sandburg, "is the achievement of the synthesis of hyacinths and biscuits."

The definition, he explained in a low, singsong voice, was one of 500 definitions of poetry which he had written, 300 of them on a trip from El Paso to Chicago, and 200 on a trip to Bangor, Me., and back. Thirty-eight of them, he said, he may publish "because they would bother some people."

Swaying rhythmically back and forth, the distinguished Lincoln biographer dreamily recounted several Lincoln anecdotes. Then he gave "initial oral publication" to two of his unpublished poems. One of them, "Poetry Is Dead," suggested how poetry might be put over in this country by mass production methods, plus "something screwy for the press." The other, "Number Man," is inscribed "for the ghost of Johann Sebastian Bach."

At about this time Sandburg commented gravely on his own speech. "This reminds me of the man who came out of the symphony concert and told his wife: 'Very interesting, but I don't see that it proves anything.'"

Suddenly his mood changed. His voice rose to a shout.

"People forget that the mind life of today, this whole age, goes back to the moon shooters, the dreamers. No one knows what is still to come from the moon shooters who work in pure science. But from them will come the basis of the future."

• • •

Then he added abruptly, in his usual singsong voice: "Here's to pure science—may it never be of any use."

That apparently reminded him of grand opera. "Now if we could have opera in English, we'd go and we'd know what it was all about," he remarked. Next he told a wistful tale of two skyscrapers. They decided to have a child who wouldn't be tied down as they were. It turned out to be a streamlined train.

The climax came as Sandburg lifted a guitar that lay on the table before him. "I'm going to sing for you as much by force of habit as for any other reason," he averred. Then he sang two "antiques" of the revolutionary war period, and a song, just one line repeated twice, "O, my God, I've lost my man." This continued for half an hour or so, always in the same key.

The author was introduced by Mrs. George B. Van Buren, toastmistress at the dinner, as one whose genius "will shine like a star down the ages." Mrs. Van Buren heads the Friends of American Writers Foundation for Literature committee, which annually awards $1,000 to the author of a book of its choice. Carl Sandburg shared the 1932 award with Lew Sarett.

The drama of "Ararat," its swift climaxes, beautiful descriptions and deep understanding of men of many races, were cited by Mrs. Van Buren as reasons why her committee chose its author as the winner of this year's award.

Dr. Groseclose was born in Oklahoma of a family which had pioneered westward on successive frontiers. He studied at the University of Oklahoma, received his doctor of philosophy degree from the American university of Washington, D. C., and has taught at both those universities, at a Presbyterian mission school of Tabriz, Persia, and at the City college of New York.

Dr. Groseclose also was an assistant United States trade commissioner, an analyst for a New York bank, and an associate editor of Fortune magazine before assuming his present post as economist in the United States treasury department. Besides "Ararat," a novel that resulted from this travels in the near east, he has written "Money: the Human Conflict," and a philosophical novel, "The Persian Journey of the Rev. Ashley Wishard and his Servant Fathi."

Art Galleries Filled to Suit Varied Tastes

By Eleanor Jewett.

The galleries are filled this month with exhibitions to suit all tastes. At the Arts club, Wrigley building, is a stunning modern show. Every modernist will be enraptured by the paintings and constructions of Gallatin, Morris, and Shaw and by the mosaics of Jean Varda, who is fairly reckless with his use of broken glass.

Both the exhibits are rich in abstractions. One may have a gorgeous time in the Arts club galleries puzzling out this and that curious effect, or one may allow oneself to be simply carried away on a flood of emotion—a dart or point of color in practically every one of the fantastic arrangements "does" things to one. The galleries are filled with adventure.

The effect of this modernist work is heightened by the presence of a third exhibit of a contrasting nature, the realistic paintings of an early American [early enough at all events to have died in the fullness of his years in 1892], William M. Harnett. These paintings are simple, honest, sound and sane. They are of the Thomas Eakins' tradition; Harnett does for still life what Eakins did for portraiture. We found them most likable. This particular group of works by Harnett deals with only a few objects, a pipe, newspaper, violin, a horseshoe on a door, a bunch of asparagus. Plain, livable, easily understood objects, you see, and the painter has transcribed them faithfully. There is something rather wonderful about his accuracy; no flight of imagination here, merely a photographic representation, greatly able. A conscientious craftsman of unique power, such these pictures prove Mr. Harnett to have been.

In the Katharine Kuh gallery, 540 North Michigan avenue, the brain-twisters are supplied in the sculpture [?] of Laura Slobe. Miss Slobe has taken the entire category of sculptural virtues in vain. In our opinion this was foolhardy on her part as her conceptions flounder in such a welter of novelty that unless some one throws her a life line she will inevitably sink in the morass of unintelligibility that she has created. There is surely no place to go from where she is. She will have to climb out and start afresh.

Gertrude Abercrombie comes to the rescue of Chicago moderns [whom Miss Slobe endangers] with a group of intriguing tiny paintings, clean cut and concise, each one relevant. They are like little puffs of fresh air on a sultry day. Among the other things of interest in this exhibition are several drawings and etchings by Matisse and Picasso and a rather hard complexioned canvas by Karl Hofer who, for the moment, has mislaid the pleasing fancy that gave life to his Carnegie prize picture, "Win."

A most delightful exhibit is at the Hoosier gallery, 211 West Wacker drive. Recent paintings by Olive Rush are there and a group of landscapes in oil by L. O. Griffith. Of Mr. Griffith's exhibit we like best "Windy Day," gray houses against a dark sky. But in the group of Miss Rush's work we had many favorites, the running there is nearly level. Each of her paintings is charming, each unusual, each fantastic, and delightfully different.

Olive Rush has always been one of those fortunate artists gifted with a fluent brush. Her work reminds one of the best of the Japanese: there are such long pauses of silence between the things she chooses to say. Her subject matter also reminds one of the best of the Japanese, a rose, deer, a cat, kittens at play, doves and flowers—one could go thru the entire list, find it too short and return again and again to luxuriate in the freedom of beauty she gives. It is so thrilling to be offered painting that can be easily accepted; that charms and is sufficient in the charming.

Another brilliant exhibit, but greatly more pretentious in character, is the exhibition of paintings and water colors by George Elmer Browne at the Findlay galleries, 424 South Michigan avenue. Mr. Browne is too well known as a great painter to need an introduction. This is the first comprehensive showing of his work in Chicago for some time. The exhibit is diversified in subject matter but as staunch as the rock of Gibraltar in its consistent fine quality. Here is painting that is painting! Texture? Pattern? Line? Yes, they are all there. But these seacoast pictures, these glorious landscapes and brilliant portraits do not stop with that answer to a modernist's prayer, they go beyond these first steps and bring us a richness of mood, a soundness of construction, a sincerity of color that rank the paintings with those of Winslow Homer, George Inness and other noted American artists.

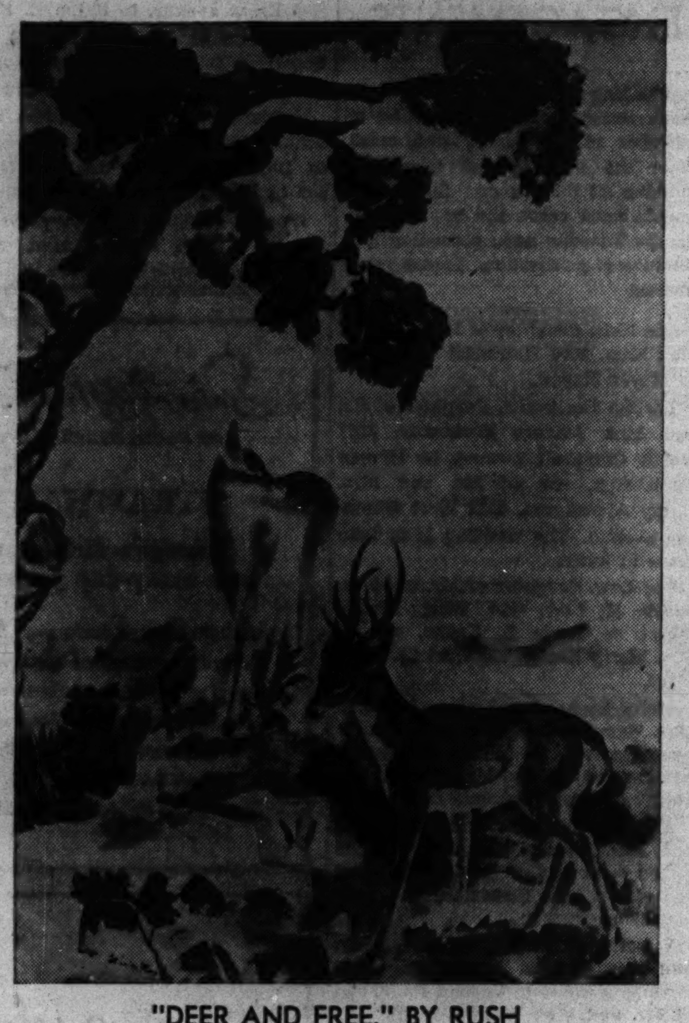
The 44th annual exhibition of Artists of Chicago and Vicinity opened Thursday in the east wing galleries of the Art institute.

The masterpiece of the month for March at the institute is "St. John the Baptist," an engraving by Giulio Campagnola.

Paintings, pastels and wood block prints by William H. Mosby, instructor of drawing and painting at the American Academy of Art, are on view at the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club. The paintings were done chiefly during the summer of 1938 in Brittany, France.

Paintings by George Redlich are on view to April 16 at the Chicago Woman's Aid, 185 North Wabash avenue.

The Cordon club, Fine Arts building, is offering an attractive exhibit by Ethel Spears and Frances Badger this month. These are sketches for murals, proposed and accomplished, and are well worth seeing. Particularly attractive are the paintings by Ethel Spears. Such painting almost reconciles one to the Illinois Art Project, of which this exhibit is a fruit.



"DEER AND FREE," BY RUSH

This is one of the delightful water colors in the exhibit of recent work by Olive Rush at the Hoosier gallery, 211 West Wacker drive. L. O. Griffith shares the gallery with Miss Rush. The exhibition will continue to March 31.

Announce Betrothal of Phyllis Margery Udell

Nathan B. Higbies Mark 55th Year of Married Life

Yesterday with its sunshine brought another happy milestone for two who once made Chicago their home—Mr. and Mrs. Nathan B. Higbie. It marked their 55th wedding anniversary.

PASADENA, CAL.

With a small informal dinner party in their hilltop home in San Rafael Heights they celebrated the occasion and also complimented their daughter, Mrs. Percival B. Palmer, who is visiting them from Chicago. The day found the celebrants hale and hearty, proud of their long years together, of their 21 grandchildren, and of the fact that they still love to go dancing.

Mrs. Palmer will visit Palm Springs this week and is being fêted with many small luncheons and dinner parties, but is reserving a goodly portion of her time to soak up sunshine on the golf links.

Fruits as Moisteners.

An apple, well washed, will help keep spice, sugar, or chocolate cookies moist, when stored with them in a covered jar [earthenware kind preferred]. For a delicious subtle flavor put an orange and lemon [well washed, of course] with sugar cookies stored in a jar.

Two Favorites.

Apple butter spread on freshly made ginger cookies or ginger bread combine two favorites. Try it for a hurry-up luncheon or supper dessert.

Task of Doing Over the Home Now Made Easy

By Edith Weigle.

Before you start redecorating can you visualize a whole room, tell exactly how it will look, how new colors will blend or contrast, how those new draperies will harmonize with the old rug, and that new chair with the couch you've had for several years?

If you can you're an expert interior decorator.

The average woman finds it hard to see with her mind's eye those small color samples and swatches of materials magnified as they'll be when they're on the walls, floor, and furniture of her living room. Therefore, she welcomes the sort of display we came across the other day. It was one of those cleverly casual get-togethers of new wall papers, rugs, drapery materials, upholsteries, and accessories, each group arranged by itself so that you can study first one, then another, and make up your mind which is best suited to you home.

For young marrieds, just starting out and watching their budget, there were suggestions for several rooms, all to be carried out in modern. A great deal of style and comfort were achieved at a remarkably low price. And there was no guess work about the matching of colors or fabrics. That was all done for you. Certainly a godsend for girls furnishing their first home.

Then, there was a stunning array of wall papers, huge samples of materials, a rug, and furniture in the 18th century vein for the family living in the suburbs or the country. There were suggestions for the complete furnishings of a dining room, living room, and bedroom.

For the city couple whose desire is to be first with the latest, and who can do over their rooms whenever the spirit moves, there were ensembles of furniture, wall papers, draperies, and upholstery fabrics in a sophisticated Victorian style, emphasis being on luxurious weaves and on rich, deep colors.

For the living room of a sample house I saw recently the wall paper suggested was a copy of an old French toile in quite gay colors: bright rose, deep red, blue, and green.

The materials selected for draperies and upholsteries were a plain, soft green, a blue, and a striped fabric in two tones of blue and white.

Nearby was the ensemble for the bedroom in this French provincial house. Here the walls were to be done in French blue, and the rug was the same hue, but deeper in tone. Fabrics were a narrow striped blue and white chintz, a golden yellow taffeta.

"What's Wrong with Your Room?" a booklet by Edith Weigle, giving simple solutions to complicated problems of furniture arrangement, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. For 3 cents; by mail, 5 cents.

When Chicago Was Young

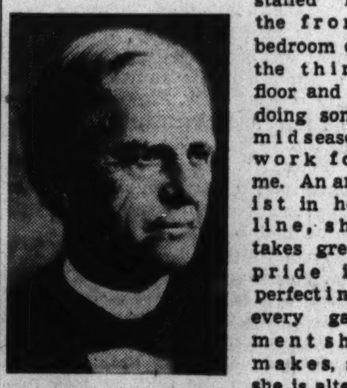
By Herma Clark

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend Julia Boyd of New York.

Chicago, Jan. 29, 1892.

Dear Julia:

While I am waiting for the dressmaker to call me, I'll begin a letter. She is installed in the front bedroom on the third floor and is doing some midseason work for me. An artist in her line, she takes great pride in perfecting every garment she makes, so she is altering the drapery of a dress which she made last week and which I've already worn once. She feels she can improve the "hang" of the overskirt, altho I am perfectly satisfied with it. It is a peacock-blue henrietta-cloth, whose distinguishing features are bretelles and leg-of-mutton sleeves [on the waist] and a softly draped overskirt, with a "cascade." Draped on the bias, the material forms a ripple suggestive of a waterfall.



Lyman Trumbull.

I feel a little extravagant getting a new dress just now, but with a fashionable wedding to attend and a reception the Illinois Bar association is giving during its meetings, I felt it a necessity.

The wedding was that of Miss Roxana Wentworth, daughter of the late "Long John" Wentworth, a sort of legendary figure in Chicago, whose great height, eccentricities and wealth made him an outstanding person in our youthful city. The bridegroom was Clarence W. Bowen, son of Henry C. Bowen, editor of the New York Independent, and the wedding took place at the New England Congregational church. The pastor, Dr. James Gibson Johnson, performed the ceremony, assisted by another Congregational dignitary, President Franklin W. Fisk of the Chicago Theological seminary. Clarence Eddy, our great organist, played the wedding march and the altar was beautifully decorated with American Beauty roses and lilies.

I was a little surprised that the bride had no attendants, but she is like her father in disliking show. The bridegroom had several ushers, but ushers are needed at a wedding, while bridesmaids are purely ornamental. Two of the ushers bore great New York names, Lispenard Stewart and W. E. D. Stokes, and Chicagoans who were in the list were Ned Blatchford and Pierrepont Isham of well known families. Mr. Bowen's brother, Herbert W. Bowen, United States consul at Barcelona, Spain, was his best man.

The bride — now Mrs. Clarence Bowen—is one of the richest young women in Chicago, for "Long John," editor and political leader, owned a great deal of property here, and she is his only child. Her gown was modest but elegant, of heavy white satin, with long train, high neck and long sleeves. A magnificent veil of rose point lace, worth a king's ransom, enveloped her figure, and her ornaments were diamonds, inherited from her mother and grandmother.

After the wedding we all went over to her home, 465 Elm street, where a wedding breakfast was served and later the young couple left for the south on a bridal tour, after which they will live in New York. I shall get their address and send it to you, for I hope you will call on her when she is settled in her new home. It would be nice for you to introduce her to some of your New York friends.

The Illinois Bar associaton's meetings to be held this week will be interesting. Ladies, as usual, are invited. Will likes me to go, and in my new hernrietta-cloth gown I hope to do him credit. This is the 15th annual meeting of the association and men from all over the state will be present. Lyman Trumbull will be one of the chief speakers and I want to hear him. He is always associated in my mind with Lincoln, for they rode circuit together and his first wife was a bridesmaid for Mary Todd when she married Lincoln. Senator from Illinois for 18 years, it was Lyman Trumbull who framed and reported the 13th amendment to the Constitution. He might have been President, Will says, if he had been willing to vote for the impeachment of Andrew Johnson.

Now Miss Swanson is calling me and I will run and "try on."

Your loving friend,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

FOOT NOTES.

Roxana Wentworth [Mrs. Clarence W. Bowen] died in 1935.

Interesting Events of a Week.

Sitting next to Lillian Gish at a Cordon luncheon, and showing her a Hooley's theater program, which gave in detail the cast of a play and its scenes, neglecting, however, to state the name of the play. The date was not given, the actors were unknown and there seemed no way to decide what play had been presented. But the star of "Life With Father," put her finger on the name of one of the characters, "William, oldest child of Archibald and Lady Isabel" and knew at once. "It was East Lynne," she said. "I took that part once, as a child, only I was 'Willie,' not 'William.'"

* *

Speaking before the Woman's club of Kohler, Wis., in the beautiful and unique "Waelderhaus," an architectural gem, erected by Miss Marie C. Kohler, president of the club, in memory of her father, John M. Kohler, and dedicated as headquarters for the town's Girl Scouts. The Waelderhaus is in the style of architecture found in the Bregenzerwald. [Do you remember the elocutionary poem beginning "Girt round by rugged mountains the fair Lake Constance lies?"] From the Bregenz locale came many treasures for this memorial and its wook carving, wrought iron work and tapestry are worth study. . . . Dinner at the home of the Herbert V. Kohlers [Ruth De Young, formerly of THE TRIBUNE] and trying to sing "Hoch Soll'n Sie Leben," our performance being conspicuously bad, while ex-Gov. Walter J. Kohler and all the rest at the long table caroled it to perfection.

Head of Legion Auxiliary Will Visit Chicago

Mrs. William H. Corwith of Rockville Centre, N. Y., national president of the American Legion auxiliary, will make her first visit to Chicago since her election last September to attend the Illinois department's annual patriotic conference Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at the Chicago Towers club. She will be the special guest at a dinner following the conference.

Mrs. P. I. Dixon of Thomasville, Ga., chairman of the auxiliary's national Americanism committee, will be a speaker at the conference. Army, navy, and marine corps officers will discuss the nation's defenses.

Kenneth Anderson, Austin High school student, who won the recent oratorical contest sponsored by the Illinois American Legion and auxiliary, and who received a four year scholarship to the University of Illinois, will give his winning oration on "The Constitution and a Changing World."

Presiding jointly will be Mrs. Joseph Mieczynski of North Chicago, state first vice president and chairman of national defense, and Mrs. John Shimkus of Westville, state Americanism chairman. Some 500 unit presidents and delegates from all parts of the state are expected to attend the meeting, which will be public.

The following day the executive board of the state auxiliary will hold its quarterly meeting at the Chicago Towers club. State officers and chairmen will outline their plans for the balance of the year, and arrangements for the annual convention, to be held in Danville in August, will be discussed. Mrs. George Cassidy of Chicago is state president of the auxiliary.

Another event of interest to auxiliary members will be a dinner to be given by the "8 and 40" Cook County Salon No. 1 for Mrs. Lucille Melner, state chapeau, at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Stevens Building restaurant. Mrs. Henrietta Erhardt, petit chapeau, will preside.

This week at Mandel Brothers' store the Camp Fire Girls will hold an exhibit demonstrating the "Seven Crafts" that make up their program. These crafts, home craft, health, hand craft, nature lore, camping, business, and citizenship, this year are centering around a theme, "Skilful Living," which is being emphasized thruout the country during March.

As a special project the country's 260,000 Camp Fire Girls, ranging from 10 to 18 years of age, have made a study of accidents at home, on the highway, in schools, in industry, and elsewhere. They have studied how to promote safety in the home, where most accidents occur. They also have visited city departments to find out how community safety is guarded.

Programs featuring Camp Fire activities this month will include services for Camp Fire Girls in many churches on March 31. The Camp Fire movement was started in 1911 by a group of educators, and was incorporated the following year. Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick of the Russell Sage Foundation, who was director of education of the New York schools, was the first president.

"Learning by Doing" is the slogan of the Camp Fire Girls, and character building is the prime objective of their program. Some 2,000,000 girls have been enrolled in the organization. Mrs. William T. Grable is executive and secretary of the Chicago council. Burt T. Wheeler is president.

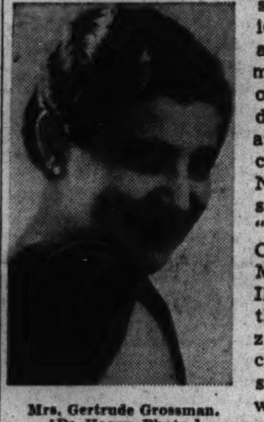
The Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs will have an all day program tomorrow at the Auditorium hotel under the auspices of the public welfare and housing committee. In the morning Mrs. Mary Palmer of the Tuberculosis institute and J. E. Egan of the Illinois housing board will speak. Following luncheon Dr. Alfred G. Barry of the Cook county detention home and Mrs. W. E. Vogelback of the Chicago Drama league will be presented. Mrs. Henry Hartung will conduct a demonstration by a number of children. Mrs. Herman C. Lammers is chairman of the committee.

The Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations will have an all day meeting Friday at headquarters, 209 South State street. W. S. Devereaux, special agent of the federal bureau of investigation, will address the morning session on "Finger Printing."

At luncheon J. B. Burlingame of the Emergency Ambulance service will speak. William Castleman of the Little Business Men's League of America will discuss "The Consumer's Part in the Solution of Our Social Problems," and Irvin E. Deer, Chicago representative of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, "How We Improved the Movies." Mrs. Thomas Malzacher, Mrs. John Hanck, Mrs. E. H. Whiteway, and Mrs. F. C. Justice will be in charge.



Mrs. Gertrude Grossman. [De Haven Photo.]

Greater Chicago chapter, No. 129, Women of the Moose, will consider the Moose social service program at a public meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Moose club, 130 North Wells street. The "Child City" at Mooseheart, Ill., where the organization's child conservation work is exemplified, and the "City of Opportunity," at Moosehaven, Fla., where the aged are cared for, will be described by Leonard J. Grossman. A number of candidates will be initiated. Mrs. Gertrude Grossman, social service chairman, will be in charge.

Mrs. Wendell E. Green will speak on "Social Work Among the Negroes" at a meeting of the Chicago Deaconess Aid society Tuesday morning at the Deaconess home, 22 West Erie street. Mrs. Green is a member of the interracial committee of the woman's department, Chicago Church federation. Miss Clara Bolton, Chicagoland Music Festival winner, will sing Negro spirituals. Mrs. H. L. Hoskins, president of the Northwestern branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church, will lead devotions.

The Central Council for Nursing Education will present the fourth in a series of programs on "Community Nursing Needs" at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow at the Palmer House. Alexander Ropchan, executive secretary of the health division, Council of Social Agencies, will discuss "Community Health Needs." The council's new executive committee will hold its first meeting, a luncheon, tomorrow preceding the program. Mrs. Arthur C. Bachmeyer is chairman of this committee and Mrs. David Wilson Graham honorary chairman.

The Association for Family Living will present Dr. Augusta F. Bronner in a lecture, "Family Life Treatment as Seen in a Guidance Center," at 10:45 o'clock Tuesday at Carson Pirie's tearoom. Dr. Bronner is director of the Judge Baker Guidance center of Boston, Mass., and formerly was connected with the psychopathic institute of the Chicago Juvenile court. Luncheon and an informal discussion will follow her talk.

The third of the association's lecture series on "Living with Our Adolescents" will be presented Tuesday afternoon at its headquarters, 220 South State street. "What Adolescents Want and Need" will be the topic of the program.

The Catholic Woman's league will hear the Rev. Louis J. De Celle speak on "The Way of the Cross" tomorrow evening at headquarters, 410 South Michigan avenue. Children from St. Joseph and St. Anne school, in costume, will illustrate in pantomime Father De Celle's talk.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Nancy Jane Franklin, whose engagement to Julius Epstein has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Sol H. Franklin, of 1318 Hyde Park boulevard. Mr. Epstein, son of Mrs. David Epstein, is a graduate of the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place in June.

Martin Dies Will Speak at Student Fund Benefit

Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, will speak at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at Carl Schurz High school auditorium, Milwaukee avenue and Addison street. The lecture, which was postponed from Feb. 28 because of Congressman Dies' recent illness, is sponsored by the 7th district, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, to benefit its student loan fund. Mrs. Charles R. Holton heads the district, and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw of the Norwood Park Woman's club is chairman in charge of arrangements for the lecture.

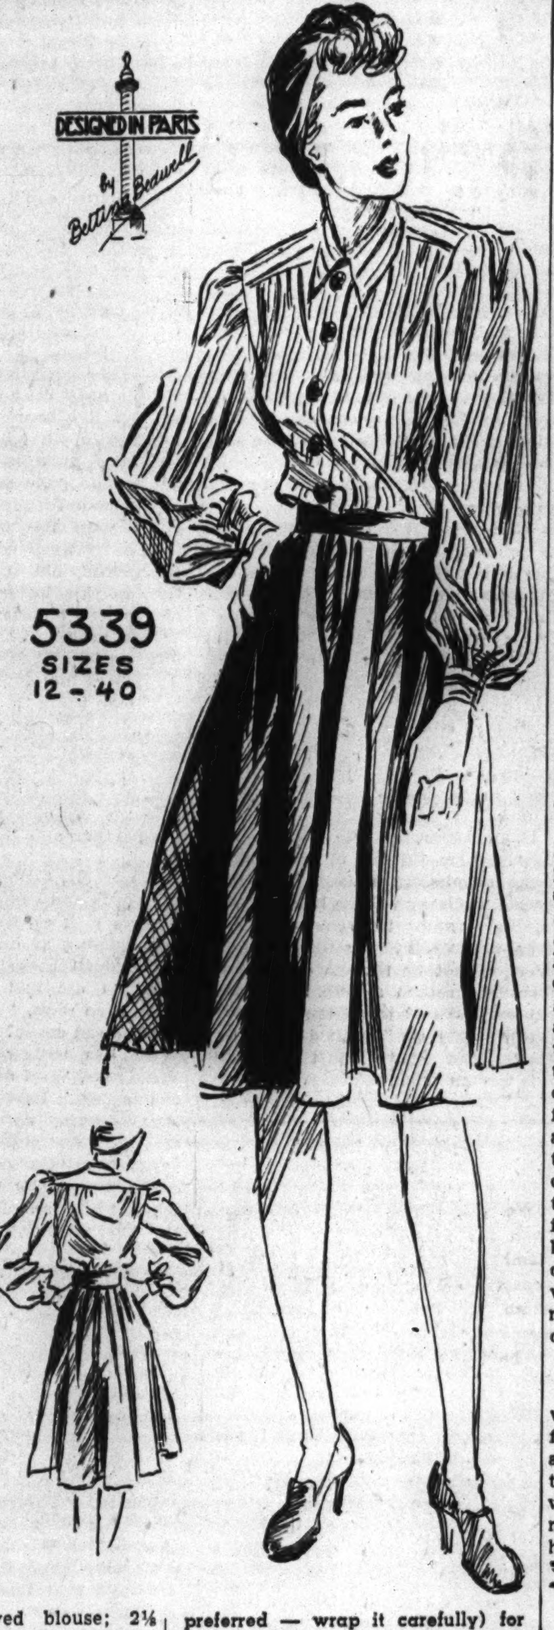
French Idea of Smartness and Comfort for Sports

By Bettina Bedwell.



The dirndl isn't dead yet, as some of the latest cruise and resort fashions testify. It's a modified dirndl that designers are promoting, however, minus the bulky fullness and shapelessness that characterized the earlier vintage costumes of this kind. The newest models are sleekly styled casual, and feminine. One of the smartest of the most recent creations is the outfit sketched and made with this Paris pattern, No. 5339. French women who escape from war work and metropolitan worries to vacation on the Riviera are enthusiastic about this style, and it's been ordered for many of the grade A South American wardrobes as well.

The shirtmaker blouse of the original is of striped washable silk in bright colors, a scheme that is enhanced by the full peasant sleeves. The contrasting dark skirt of rather heavy linen is shorter than street length frocks, reaching only to the knee.

For your late winter and early spring jaunts to warmer climes, and for your projected summer holidays, you will want this costume. It has superior styling and chic.

Style No. 5339 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material for long sleeved blouse; 2⅛ yards for skirt.

Address orders to Chicago Tribune Paris Patterns, 119 West 19th street, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred — wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Cocteau Play Is Brilliantly Acted in Paris

By May Birkhead.

Politics makes strange bed fellows, and so does the theater, figuratively speaking. It so happens that PARIS the two best offerings in Paris are to be found right alongside each other in the Rue des Mathurins, not far from the Madeleine. One of them is "Les Montres Sacrés" at the Théâtre Michel, while next door is given a lively French adaptation of Sheridan's "School for Scandal." Many customers jump out of taxis and hand their tickets in at the wrong place, until they are directed next door.

"The Sacred Monsters," to give a rough and obvious translation of Jean Cocteau's new play, might have been set in the last days of peace time. This playwright, who is fanciful and mocking, never was taken very seriously as a writer for the theater until his "Parents Terribles" made a smash hit last season. Hence every one was looking forward eagerly to his new comedy, not only because of his proved virtuosity, but because "Les Monstres Sacrés" was written especially for a consummate actress, Yvonne de Bray, who had not been seen for many years. Would she still exert her old spell?

From the very opening of the play, it was apparent that she would. Many place her as high, for histrionic gifts, as the celebrated Mme. Réjane. And she is staged, in "Les Monstres Sacrés," in the rôle of a theatrical luminary who is believed to lead a charmed life, both on and off the stage. So much so that a young girl, aspiring to win her notice, does so by telling her that she has just become the mistress of her almost equally celebrated husband. The comedy is full of piquant situations, brilliantly acted. It is appalling to think how the play would have gone in the hands of a less gifted cast. Not convinced that the young aspirant is untruthful about her intimacy with her husband, Yvonne de Bray makes a pupil of her, and installs her in the home, which is considered a model stage ménage. Misunderstandings multiply, of course, but the ending is happy.

The audience had begun to file out when the strains of the "Marseillaise" floated on the air. Formerly it was a moment when officers stood at attention, and men in civilian clothes whisked off their hats. But this time, many in mufti who had just put their hats on, kept them on. Several women in the back of the audience cried, "Les chapeaux!" But the men who had their hats on did nothing.

As the cries continued, one substantial père de famille, the kind who fought in the last war and probably has two or three sons at the front in this one, shrugged his shoulders, not violently but placidly, and said in a tone not of resentment, or scarcely of pity, but almost of condescension: "O, madame, les chapeaux!" as if the cries and the gesture of uncovering for the "Marseillaise" belonged to another age. No one, looking at him, could have questioned his nationality, or his patriotism. It was a touch significant of the present temper.

Prince Aage of Denmark, who recently died, had many American friends with whom he was as popular as with the French, including his comrades of the foreign legion. His brother, Prince Viggo, married Eleanor Greene, daughter of Peter Cooper Hewitt. Prince Aage was often seen in restaurants with Dorothy Gould, daughter of Frank Gould by his first wife, Helen Kelly, and it was said that, as soon as their respective divorces could be settled, they would marry. At Mrs. James Corrigan's parties Prince Aage often was a guest. Tall, simple in manners, with a bright smile, he was much in demand among Americans during his occasional absences from his devoted work with the foreign legion.

Club Presidents' Easter Program Is of Biblical Nature

The Bible and life in biblical lands will figure largely in the Easter program of the Conference of Club Presidents and Program Chairmen Thursday morning at Fullerton hall of the Art institute. On a stage appropriately decorated by Mrs. Oscar Shanks, Stephan A. Haboush will give an interpretation of the 23d Psalm. Marjorie Culver will present her musical interpretation of the 91st Psalm, together with other musical renditions.

James Clement will speak on "Unveiling Bagdad." Faud Saadeh, native of Syria, will speak on "Life in Damascus," and his wife, Mrs. Gudrun E. Saadeh, Danish born violinist, will play. Maurice G. Morrison will discuss "Arts of the Near East." Miss Frances Oliver, animal impersonator, will present a portrait of an Easter bunny. Prof. Percy Boynton of the University of Chicago will speak on "Why American Literature?" Dr. J. L. Rosenstein, psychiatrist; the Alenius String quartet, the Vocal Arts quartet, and Miss Marion Setaro, dramatic soprano, also will be presented.

Important for a First Born to Feel Secure

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It is seldom that I take grandmothers to task for anything. Usually their viewpoint is mellow and tolerant, and very often they are, in their letters to me, most intelligent and understanding about the management—and "modern" management—of their grandchildren.

But once in a while I do take to task those grandparents and uncles and aunts who quite lose their heads over the new baby when there is an older little boy or girl already on the scene. It is natural for them to be entranced by the baby, but it makes it hard for the first-born when he is absolutely ignored [as he sometimes is] in a scene in which formerly he was very important, and hard for the mother to keep things straight with this older little boy or girl. That is my opinion. But one of my readers thinks this is not the case, provided the mother knows what she is about.

If you've just found out that you're going to have another baby, or if the baby has come and you're already bewildered by unaccountable changes in the behavior of your first-born, that is, if you notice easy tears, or fussing over food, or a breaking down of established toilet habits, then you will find something practical in the following letter:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I read your column daily and I have used much of your good advice. I have three children, a girl of seven, another girl of two and a half and a boy one and one-half years old. I smile when I read about jealousy between the first and second child. I don't think that the grandmothers or aunts are ever to blame. After all, the mother has the oldest child most all of the time, and I can't see any mother trying to say it is others' fault. My Betty Lou was four years old and was the only child, with grandmothers and aunts by the bushel. All of the aunts and uncles showered Betty Lou with gifts. Money was handed out in quarters and I often wondered what I could do with this child to keep her from being selfish.

"Then the news that a second child was on its way came along with the fourth birthday. I was undecided whether or not to tell her right away, for it is such a long wait, or to wait until a month or two before the event. Well, I decided on telling it right away. I think, with children, the longer they want a thing the more they appreciate it when they get it.

"At first there were a lot of questions which I answered as honestly as I would have to any one. Then we had so much fun planning for this new baby. We live in a small town and there isn't a store that carries a complete line of infants' wear. So we made several trips to a small city. I made a point of it to take Betty Lou along on these trips and to buy something for her that was needed.

"The night I went to the hospital I awoke my little girl and told her that the baby was ready and that I was going to have to stay at the hospital for a while, but for her to have a good time and be good while she was waiting for us.

"When I arrived home two weeks later I found the dining room table stacked with gifts. No one had remembered Betty Lou, but do you know what she said? 'Baby wasn't here for Christmas, so she is getting her presents now.' I can't begin to tell you the fuss that all the grandparents and aunts and uncles made over the new baby, but Betty Lou was proud of her sister. She called her 'my baby.'

"Then, just a week before Margaret was a year old, I made another trip to the hospital, where my little boy made his appearance in this world. The boy that we had wanted so bad for five years finally had come. And now I was busy! Two babies to care for gave me very little time for Betty Lou. But I remembered one big thing. You can't take care of children right if you are tired. Every mother needs a rested mind as well as body.

"This is how we manage. We have a high school girl come in for five evenings every week. She puts the youngsters to bed. Of course, I help. Then Betty Lou, who is older and has a later bed hour, and my husband and I go for a drive and stop for brief calls now and then. Once a week I take her to a movie, after which we stop and have an ice cream treat. My husband also has a night with her. Then, over the week-end, she visits around, staying over night, first one place, then another. We, of course, go in a family group, too, for picnics on Sunday afternoons, and so forth. But the main idea is to have a schedule for the whole family and stick to it. For instance, if I didn't give Betty Lou this extra hour every evening, and didn't plan one little trip with her alone once a week, I imagine she would be jealous, too. I've tried to teach her that the little children are for her to be proud of, and I am sure I have succeeded.

"No mother can have a happy, devoted family if all the time that she gives to them is just what she has to. I have heard so many mothers say: "Thank heaven! I'm rid of the children for a few hours.' Of course, I believe one should get away from them as often as her nerves say she must, but if the family and housework are running smoothly, one will not need so much more than the hours when they are in bed and you and your husband can go out for a drive, or a call on a neighbor or just sit home and read. No, there isn't any jealousy in my family."

It does rest almost entirely with a mother to make her child feel secure and wanted after the new baby comes. Also, I think it rests largely with the mother to "set the tone" before the relatives, of how the big girl [or boy] shall be treated. This young mother has done so. And if there are any grandmothers and aunts who have let themselves be completely carried away by the new baby, I hope they will read this letter and reform!

Contract According to Culbertson

By Ely Culbertson.

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

It has been a long time since I invited my readers to look over my shoulder while I answer some typical questions from the day's mail. I have selected only such queries as are of general interest.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I would appreciate information and replies to my queries on the following bidding. It happens that this same situation has been repeated on similar hands in the last few months and I would like to know the definite rule, so as to be guided in the future.

NORTH	SOUTH
♠A Q J 6 3	♠10 7 5 4 2
♥A K Q 6 3	♥None
♦5	♦7
♣Q 2	♣A K J 8 6 4 3

"To me the bidding of a hand establishes information which impresses itself on the mind of the partner, and the stronger the bidding the greater the impression and, of course, the greater the honor count.

"At all times I believe the captain and the controler of the bidding should be the original bidder, or the one with the largest honor count, or the one who is to play the hand. Please advise if this is generally correct.

"Here is how the bidding went on the above:

"North deals, bids one spade.

"East passes at all times.

"South bids three clubs.

"West passes at all times.

"North bids three hearts.

"South bids four no trump [Blackwood]. [With this bid I claim North gets wrong information. South, with his two honor count, is never in the position of taking control and doing the asking. With this bid North feels he has at least three honor count bearing in mind his original jump in clubs. Please advise specifically whether South should have made this four no trump at this spot. Also advise specifically whether or not the general rule is that the one who will play the hand is the one who at all times must bid four no trump.]

"North bids five hearts [two aces].

"South bids six spades.

"North bids seven spades.

"East led the ace of diamonds and the hand was down one. Spade finesse worked.

"I was criticized for bidding seven spades, but my answer was my partner gave me too strong information, having only a two honor count.

"Please advise how the hands should have been bid.

"Please advise the rule as to who in this case should have bid the four no trump.

"Please advise the general rule as to whom should be entrusted the asking four no trump bid. W. W. L."

This was a case of a player being too greatly impressed with his freak holding. Naturally, South had every reason to go slam-minded the moment North opened the bidding with a spade, but his method of approaching, or even bidding said slam, was not the best. Certain arbitrary requirements have been established as the minimum basis for forcing take-outs [such as South's three club bid] and these requirements can be violated only at grave risk. In my Gold Book I clearly state: "When partner has made an opening one-bid in a suit the responding hand should bid one more than necessary in a new suit [forcing to game] with 3½ honor tricks and a strong rebiddable suit; or 3½ honor tricks with a biddable suit and strong support for partner's suit [usually enough also to justify a double raise]. It is quite true that South's hand combined the above features, i. e., he not only had a strong rebiddable suit of his own but also had strong support for North's spade suit. This happy combination, however, did not justify South in scaling down the honor trick requirement from the prescribed 3½ to a shade over two honor tricks. Under the circumstances, slight shading would have been in order, but this was too much. The best way to handle freaks of this description is to make a simple, nonjump take-out on the first round and later to show the excellent support in partner's suit by jump-raising that suit. Thus the bidding should have gone:

NORTH	SOUTH
1 spade	2 clubs
3 hearts	4 spades
4 no trump	5 diamonds
6 spades	Pass

It will be observed that in this sequence I have suggested a jump rebid by North on the second round. After the two club response from South, North's hand gets really big and he should disclose that fact not merely by "changing the suits" but by jumping in his other major. Now, South not only shows a preference for spades but jumps the bid in that suit, after which North has plenty of material to use a conventional four no trump bid. If the partnership uses Blackwood, South, of course, responds with five diamonds to show one ace; if the four no trump convention, South would merely jump to six spades, which would be the final contract.

But, tho I have criticized South for his method of bidding, it must not be imagined that I whitewash North, nor that I agree with all of his theories. It is quite true that usually the holder of the stronger hand becomes captain pro tem., but this generality has many exceptions. Very often, after the strong hand has told his story, the responder can take the more intelligent action and perhaps contract directly for a slam on the strength of his distribution alone—something that the other hand, loaded with honor tricks, but in the dark about a possible loser, cannot do. Using the Blackwood convention, there is no logic dictating that only one partner can initiate the convention. Depending on the conditions, it is quite conceivable that the weaker hand should do the "asking for controls." As a matter of fact, so far as strict convention is concerned, it was North, not South, who was guilty of the violation. Since South actually did "ask" with four no trump, North should have confined himself to the answer, five hearts, and when South jumped to six spades North should not have gone in for "inferences," but should have subsided gracefully.

Not unnaturally, I am more at home with the use of the 4-5 no trump convention than I am with Blackwood, but it is my impression that in this latter slam system the player who bids four no trump guarantees nothing—he merely asks for information. It is this very fact that prejudices me against the Blackwood, but one thing is certain—a bridge player cannot run with the hares and hunt with the hounds. If he plays a system he must play all of it and not suddenly decide to violate one of its features without previous notice to his partner and the opponents.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: South deals the cards and completes the deal. All players pick up their hands and, before looking at his cards, East says, 'Who dealt these cards?' South replies, 'I did and I bid one spade.' East then says, 'Why are you dealing the red cards?' Neither East nor West has looked at his hand and West says, 'You dealt out of turn; it is our deal.' East and West contend that, having detected the dealing error before looking at their own cards, they were entitled to have the cards redealt by the proper dealer, while North and South contend that the deal must stand. Please advise. "G. R."

The rule book states: "A player 'dealing out of rotation,' or with the opponent's or an uncut pack, may be stopped before the last card is dealt; otherwise the deal stands as the correct deal made in rotation, and the packs, if changed, remain changed."

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Partner opens with a bid of two hearts. Holding the following hand, what is the correct response?

♠A K 10 8 ♥7 4 ♦K Q J 6 5 ♣8 3

"I responded three diamonds and was told that I should have bid two spades. H. B."

With a hand as strong as this opposite an opening two-bid, it should not matter greatly which suit—diamonds or spades—is shown first. If the two-bid was reasonably sound, a grand slam should be colder than ice. Technically, however, the correct first response was three diamonds—the longer suit—with the spade suit to be shown later. Partner would thereby know that the diamond suit was longer and this would help him choose the correct trump suit, altho, offhand, I imagine that seven no trump would have been the logical final contract. Only in the case of a weak hand is it sometimes correct to respond first with the shorter, higher ranking suit, and later to show the longer suit.

An article by Mr. Culbertson appears in the feature section of The Tribune each weekday.

South's contract is five diamonds. West opens the heart jack. East wins with the king and lays down the heart ace. How should declarer proceed to fulfill his contract? Also, what is the best line of defense after the opening lead?

Answer: After two rounds of hearts have been played by the opponents South's contract is easy of fulfilment, as follows: South ruffs second heart and cashes his three spade tricks, ending with dummy's queen. He then ruffs dummy's last heart. Now he leads a low trump. West must win and is forced to return a club up to declarer's K-J, or must lead a major suit card, which will permit declarer to discard a club from one hand while ruffing in the other. Thus declarer avoids the loss of a club trick and loses in all only one heart and one trump.

If, however, at the second trick East returns the ten of diamonds instead of playing a second round of hearts, declarer will be helpless. Now West's trump is removed before spades have been stripped; hence West cannot be thrown on lead and forced to return a club. If declarer passes East's diamond ten lead, West easily "gets out" with a heart or a spade, and South must eventually lose a club trick.

Rest today. Attend a lecture or read, but don't attempt anything too strenuous. Better to celebrate the holiday tomorrow. Those born on the 17th are very likely to have a strong bent towards law and often become judges or executives in businesses requiring administration of justice. This year is not one in which they can carry out their expansive and aggressive ideas as well as usual, but 1941 will be the best year for their big plans. This year they should keep in the background, preparing their minds for the heavy responsibilities of 1941. Today's birthday children are either positive and successful, or negative and failures, depending upon how they use their opportunities. There is no half-way for them.

Mexican Fiesta Season Opens in Southwest

By Lolita Linn.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

Arizona has not one past, but four—Indian, Mexican, "boot-and-spur," and pioneer. And part of her fascination lies in the dramatic ways these pasts have of rising to color her everyday life.

Just a few weeks ago, at rodeo time, Phoenix and Tucson were tuned to the hoofbeat of the cowpony, and Arizona looked back, almost with nostalgia it seemed, to a time when the ranch, not the city, was the vital interest of her life.

Now, with the desert about to burst into bloom, la fiesta is abroad in the land, and the Spanish Mexican facet of Arizona's past has caught attention of Phoenicians and visitors alike. The season of velvet jackets and lace mantillas opened brilliantly last Saturday night at the Jokake Inn's 14th annual Mexican fiesta. The walls which had been erected around the tennis court to form a great dance patio were trimmed in the fiesta colors of yellow, red, and green. These colors were repeated in the huge balloon bouquets which floated lazily over the heads of the dancers. Flames from a great fireplace shot up to light the bowing and scraping of Tony Montana's trick horse, the come-hither eyes of the cigaret girls, and the vicious lunges of the red fighting cocks brought to the party by two guests who frightened more than one timid señorita with their Mexican bandit impersonations and robust Spanish imprecations.

Shirley Ann Johnson, who is spending the spring at the Jokake Inn with her parents, the Walter Johnsons of Chicago, won first prize ostensibly for the prettiest costume, but we could not help but wonder whether the judges got much beyond the piquancy of golden hair, framed as only the Spaniards know how to do it with flowers and a lace mantilla. In her Castilian costume Miss Johnson scarcely looked like the top flight golfer that she is. She holds the southwestern women's championship, and is practicing daily for the defense of her title.

Other Chicagoans visiting Jokake among the caballeros and señoras were the Charles A. Strongs of Winnetka; the Kenneth F. Burgesses of Hubbard Woods; the Robert S. Lairds of Winnetka; the Edwin C. Austins of Glencoe; Mrs. H. L. Lucas of Winnetka; the L. C. Wheelers of Sterling, Ill.; the James M. Snitzlers, the Dana Corbins, and Mrs. Ernest Mitchell, all of Chicago; and Mrs. Ruth T. Pontius of Chicago, who arrived the morning of the fiesta with her daughter, Barbara. The Willett N. Gorhams of Northbrook, and their son, William, have just come to Jokake.

Arizona's pioneer past, which is scarcely a past at all, has come very close to the guests of Camelback inn this year, and is likely to have an influence on dancing in Chicago this summer. Every Wednesday night "Deacon Ed" Makem, a cowboy from the hills of old Wyoming, assembles his more than willing students and instructs them in the dances of the pioneers—the schottische, chicken reel, and Paul Jones. The amazing result has been that jitterbug dancing is decidedly passé at Camelback, and the newcomer does not feel that he belongs until he can point his toes properly to the music of the Varsoviana. Among the young Chicagoans who have become square dance devotees are Miss Mary Louise Corley, Miss Jane Zimmerman, Mrs. Gerald Hollis Jr. [Betty Armour], Mrs. B. E. Beck [Dorothy Dayton], Miss Jane Conrad, Miss Mary Brennan, and Miss Priscilla Payne, who flew out from New York to spend her Easter vacation with her parents, the Frank E. Paynes of Glencoe.

• • •

Mrs. Nicholas J. Conrad of Winnetka and her daughter, Jane, arrived last week to spend the month of March at the inn. Jane Conrad, in her numerous visits to Arizona, has made a specialty of photographing the cowboys. One of her studies of Camelback inn dude wranglers won a prize when it was shown this spring at the Potowatomie Camera club.

Mrs. James A. Sackley of Chicago, her daughter, Mrs. John K. Leander, and her grandson, John Kett Leander Jr., are visiting the Russell Leanders at Camelback. Other Chicago guests at the inn are Mrs. William E. Davis, the Britton Budds, Mrs. L. E. Leverone and her nephew, Walter Crocker Jr., O. H. Hassel and his son, Henry C. Hassel; and Mrs. John Favil of Highland Park.

The John A. McCormicks of Chicago have taken a home in Phoenix for spring. Visiting them are their granddaughter, Miss Mary McGuire, and her friend, Miss Rosemary Rocco.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Lawless of Chicago, who have been staying at Castle Hot Springs, have been guests this last week of the Frank J. Haberls at the Westward Ho.

An Illinois woman who made resort history around Phoenix was the guest of honor Thursday night at a testimonial dinner given by a group of guests at the San Marcos. Mrs. Grace Perely Robinson came to the Salt River valley from Henry, Ill., in 1887, only 20 years after a group of men at Wickenburg had decided to dig a canal across the ancient irrigation system of the Indians and to name the new town they were founding "Phoenix," after the mythological bird that rose from its own ashes.

From 1909 to 1913, Mrs. Robinson managed Ingleside inn, the first of the resorts around Phoenix, and when Dr. John Alexander Chandler opened the San Marcos hotel in 1913 he invited Mrs. Robinson to become its manager. She remained in the position for 19 years.

Among the Chicagoans who were present at the testimonial dinner were Illinois' former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Chester Cook, the Nathaniel L. Howards, the Warren Lamsons, the Arch W. Shaws, the Louis C. Walkers, James E. Gorman, Mrs. David A. Hack and Miss Helen Brinton.

Miss Wilbur Higgins of Pasadena is visiting her sister, Mrs. Edwin M. Ashcraft of Chicago, at the San Marcos. Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal of Winnetka, who are motoring to California, stopped at the San Marcos en route, to visit the Arch Shaws.

On the House

By Louise Bargelt.

There's a new enamel available with wax content. You can give new beauty to kitchen or bathroom or any woodwork to cupboards and cabinets and walls and shelves—by application of a coat of this enamel wax. It comes in handsome colors, including various shades of green and blue and cream, as well as in yellow, orange, red, gray, brown, black or white. A damp cloth can be used to remove dust and grime without harming the luster of the wax, and it will dry in from three to five hours. Nice, too, for those porch accessories and trim which you will shortly be getting in order for the warm weather.

If you are planning to build of brick this year, or if you have a brick house which is showing signs of "efflorescence," or displaying that faint white powdery deposit at points on its surface, there are prepared masonry cements to eliminate those soluble salts which cause this efflorescence. Check with your masons or material supply house in regard to this product. Efflorescence usually disappears as the deposit is washed away by the rain. Scrubbing with a wire brush will remove much of it. Washing with certain acid solutions will help. But in case you are building of brick, or have old brick walls that need "pointing up," check on this plastic mortar.

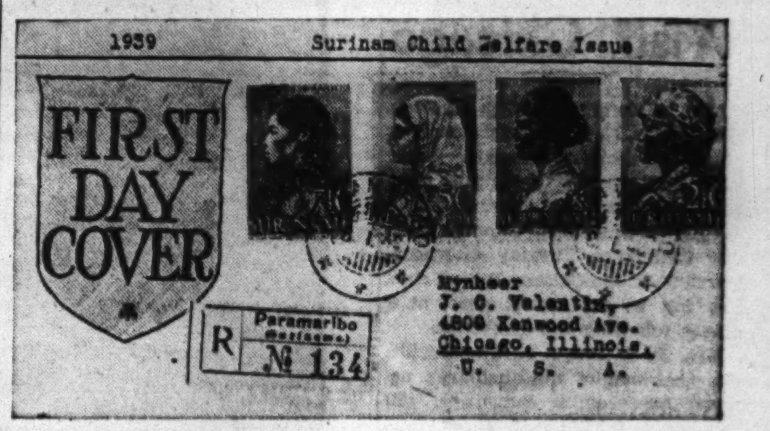
The Stamp Collector

By Richard McP. Cabeen



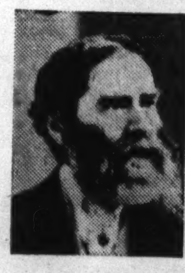
J. C. Valentin of Chicago lent this Surinam cover for illustration. The four values of this child welfare issue picture native types in this South American colony of the Netherlands.

Mr. Cabeen will answer questions about stamps, except concerning values. Do not ask where stamps may be sold, as the Stamps and Coins advertising section adjoining contains offers to buy and sell. Inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

The 10 cent brown stamp to honor Booker T. Washington, fifth and final value of the educators' group of the Famous Americans series, will be placed on sale on April 7 at Tuskegee, Ala.

Collectors desiring first day postmarks on covers bearing copies of this stamp may send not to exceed ten addressed envelopes to the postmaster at Tuskegee institute, together with a cash or money order remittance covering the exact cost of stamps to be affixed. Place a pencil notation in the upper right hand corner of each envelope where it will be covered by the stamps, stating how many stamps are to be affixed to that envelope.

Forward the prepared covers and remittance in an envelope addressed to Postmaster, Tuskegee, Ala., and mark the envelope prominently in the lower left corner, "For first day cover service, Famous Americans series."



James Russell Lowell.

The 3 cent purple stamp of the poets' group of the Famous Americans series honors James Russell Lowell. It was placed on first day sale on Feb. 20, 1940, at Cambridge, Mass., where he was born on Feb. 19, 1819.

The Lowell stamp is of the standard size for the series, 85-100 by 98-100 inch, and corresponds in design with other values of the group. The curved plates for the rotary presses contain 280 subjects arranged in four panes of 70 each.

Plates numbered 22508, 22509, and 22510 were prepared in December, 1939, and the initial printing of 50 million stamps was started with the first two mentioned plates on Jan. 11, 1940. Plates are of the type known as "electric eye, convertible," and stamps printed from such plates may be perforated on any of the machines equipped with photo-electric controls.

The portrait of Lowell used in this design was adapted from a photograph of an engraving by J. A. J. Wilcox, which in turn had been made from an original crayon portrait drawn by S. W. Rowse in 1855, and was furnished by the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. The design was made by William A. Roach; John Eissler engraved the portrait; Charles A. Brooks, the frame, and William B. Wells, the lettering. All of these artists are employés of the bureau of engraving and printing.

Lowell's birthplace at Cambridge was known as Elmwood, and it is interesting to note that here he lived and died. He became a student at Harvard at the age of 16 and was graduated in 1838. He was not considered particularly brilliant and later confessed that he read almost everything except the specified literature. Law school followed his regular course and in 1840 he opened an office in Boston, but there is no record of a serious pursuit of this profession.

His poetical ventures began with the publication of "A Year's Life" in 1841. This was followed in 1844 by "Poems," and in this volume were included his first anti-slavery poems. Shortly after this he gained quite a reputation as a wit and satirist in "Bigelow Papers" and in this gave much support to the anti-slavery movement. Among his better known poems are "The Vision of Sir Launfal" and "The First Snowfall."

In 1854 he was appointed to the chair of modern languages and belles-lettres at Harvard, succeeding Longfellow, who had resigned. After two years of study and travel in Europe he returned to Cambridge and took up his duties at the university. In later years he served his country as ambassador to Spain and to Great Britain. He died at Elmwood on Aug. 12, 1891.

The first day sale figures for all five values of the poets' group of the Famous Americans series of stamps is as follows: 1 cent, Longfellow, Portland, Me., Feb. 16, 160,508 covers, 616,164 stamps; 2 cent, Whittier, Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 16, 148,423 covers, 390,355 stamps; 3 cent, Lowell, Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 20, 148,735 covers, 265,688 stamps; 5 cent, Whitman, Camden, N. J., Feb. 20, 134,185 covers, 228,312 stamps, and 10 cent, Riley, Greenfield, Ind., Feb. 24, 131,760 covers, 192,794 stamps.

The Belle City Stamp club will be host at the annual state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Stamp Clubs, to be held May 3-5, at the Hotel Racine, Racine, Wis. The centennial year of philately will be celebrated in this convention and exhibit and all collectors of the middle west are invited to assist in making it the largest event of the federation. Complete information regarding exhibition, bourse, banquet, auction, and poster stamps may be obtained from Alvin H. Anderson, 1514 Carlisle avenue, Racine, Wis.

The Janesville Y. M. C. A. Stamp club will sponsor a special cachet to be used with the Frances Willard stamp on March 29. Frances Willard spent her early girlhood school days and young womanhood in the community of Janesville. Interested collectors should communicate with Arthur M. Roach, Y. M. C. A., Janesville, Wis.

Citizens of Jefferson, Ga., where the Crawford W. Long 2 cent scientist stamp will be placed on sale on April 8, have completed arrangements for an official cachet to be used on covers. Full details, including prices, may be obtained from Mrs. H. I. Mobley, chairman, cachet committee, Jefferson, Ga.

The Kenmore Stamp Co., Inc., Kenmore, N. Y., is preparing a souvenir in celebration of the centenary of postage stamps on May 6, 1940. The souvenir will be mailed on May 6 to all who send 1½ cents for postage, but it is requested that collectors send orders now in order that the demand may be anticipated.

Stamp Auction service, 58 West Washington street, plans a special auction on March 29 in connection with the centenary of postage stamps and will feature more than 100 lots of Penny Black stamps, including an early May, 1840, cover franked by the signature of Rowland Hill, who is credited with devising the adhesive stamp. The auction will include altogether some 800 lots of Great Britain and colonies from a well known collection. Catalogs will be available upon request.

"Our American Money" is the title of a new book for coin collectors by Joseph Coffin which has just been published at $1.75 by Coward-McCann, 2 West 45th street, New York City. It is a fascinating story of the coinage and currency of the United States from the days of the earliest settler down to the present time.

The postoffice "Sea Floor," Nassau, Bahamas, located in the Williamson Photosphere, will reopen on March 23, and preparations are being made to handle the heavy demands of collectors for covers bearing the distinctive mark of the office. Inquiries about covers are handled in Nassau by John Ernest Williamson, and in New York by Gimbel Brothers, stamp section, 33d and Broadway.

ESCORTED TOURS

Here's a Scene Studded with Sparkling Stars

By Frederic Babcock.

TAXCO, MEXICO.

Meet Bill Spratling. He was a professor of painting at Tulane university until, some years ago, he wandered down here in search of new scenes to paint. He's been here ever since. Nothing now could wean him away.

Bill is having the time of his life. When he isn't busy writing books such as "Little Mexico," he's doing marvels with tin, silver, wood, and textiles. He does the designing, and a hundred or so native workers carry out the designs. All day his shop resounds to the music of the silversmith's hammer and the woodworker's plane. All day it is mobbed by tourists, and all day it is alive with his pet deer, his dogs, and his macaws—all of them running around loose and refusing to be overawed by the mob.

Meet Johnny Sutherland. He came down here from Milwaukee, picked up a wife in Texas en route, and ever since has been having the time of his life acting as host to his fellow Americans. Johnny runs a hotel called the Tasqueno [pronunciation unknown]. Instead of being one building, it is a series of them—mostly bungalows, and all enshrined in hibiscus and poinsettia and looking out over a mountain scene such as only a poet could describe.

Johnny makes a specialty of breakfasts and lunches outdoors, under the winter sun, and blazing fireplaces in the evening, when it's too chilly to stay outdoors. His place also is mobbed by travelers.

Meet Doña Berta. Somebody says her last name is Estrada, but nobody calls her that. She's known simply as Berta by everybody who has ever come to Taxco. Her place isn't mobbed; it's overwhelmed. If you go there in the afternoon you may have a chance to get in. If you go there at night you'll have to be content to get within 10 feet of the front—and only—door.

Somebody else has called her emporium the Sloppy Joe's of Mexico. That name would fit if her emporium were larger. But it's little more than a hole in the wall, with three or four tables and perhaps a dozen chairs and a bench or two. What it lacks in spaciousness, however, is more than made up in atmosphere.

While Berta and her assistants try to keep up with the demand for her special concoction [a drink made up of tequila and lime and something called almondrado], two gentlemen known as Tito and Vicente, in embroidered jackets and wide sombreros, lift their voices and their guitars in song. After one drink the audience joins them. After two drinks the audience drowns them out.

All this is done to the accompaniment of much toasting. The toast, as is customary in Latin America, has to do with "health and love and money." [Salud y amor y pesetas, if we know our Spanish.]

Bill Spratling and Johnny Sutherland and Doña Berta are only three of the star performers in a comedy-drama studded with stars. There are many other silversmiths and innkeepers and tavern keepers in Taxco, and each is a character. Combined, they put on a show that has few equals in that part of the world still open to travel.

If you can't edge into Berta's place you cross the street to Paco's, which has more room, but not so much atmosphere. Instead of two guitarists it has a full sized orchestra, and, instead of a tiny space in front of the bar, it has a dance floor. But its most memorable offering [for this traveler, at least] is an Indian youngster brought down from the hills and taught how to warble. He sings sad songs, and gay songs, without ever changing his expression.

If you can't crowd into Spratling's or the Tasqueno, you'll seek out other shops or other hotels, and, no matter where you go, you'll begin to understand why writers and artists have swarmed into this town of torturous, cobble stoned streets, red tiled roofs dotting the mountainside, and decided informality.

Dominating the picture, and a picture in itself, is the church that the fantastic Frenchman, Count Borda, built with some of the silver he had taken out of the richest vein in Mexico. There you'll come across a word you probably haven't heard before: churrigueresque. You may not get its exact meaning, but you'll have the general idea after you've seen its two steeples and many pillars, with their bulging effect halfwaw up, and its interior, drenched in gold.

Some architects call this an example of ultra baroque churrigueresque. Others call it rococo. Whatever it is, it's all that's needed to complete a setting such as even the writers of the travel folders scarcely could do justice to.

OVERNIGHT FROM CHICAGO

The snow is deep and of unusual quality in the Colorado Rockies.

More or Less Personal

Effective March 31, B. E. White, formerly Chicago manager of the American Express company, will be placed in charge of that company's domestic travel activities, with his territory embracing the United States, Canada, Mexico, Central America, and the West Indies.

It was announced last week that Ralph E. Towle, vice president in charge of travel, would retire after 25 years of service and that his place would be taken by Mr. White, in the domestic field, and Walter C. Rundle, in the foreign field. Mr. White left Chicago about two years ago to become passenger traffic manager, with headquarters in New York.

The first railroad fan tour out of Chicago this year will be taken Sunday, April 7. Open to the public, it is sponsored by the Railroad club and the Chicago chapter of the Railway and Locomotive Historical society. Crestline, O., is the destination.

Bermuda is now being served out of New York by the Grace Line, in addition to the United States Lines and the Pan-American Airways.

"Trail Riding in Glacier National Park" is the title of the travelogue to be given at the Fair store at 11 a. m. Friday. The sound film is in natural color.

TIPS TO TOURISTS

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

When is this year's pilgrimage of the Natchez Garden club to be held? —S. M. B.

March 24 to April 7.

Is it true that steamship fares to the orient will be lower this spring and summer than they were this winter? —D. H.

Yes. At least two of the lines will reduce their rates for sailings between May 15 and July 31. The time limit for return is 90 days.

MORE ON BULL FIGHTING.

Champaign, Ill., March 4 [To the Travel Editor].—Three weeks ago I saw my first bull fight.

I have been in many countries and have seen as many as 10 cobra and mongoose fights a day in India and Singapore and cock fights in Bali, but never before have I witnessed anything, in the line of sports, as horrible as the bull fights in Mexico City.

I had reach about such spectacles. The best description, so far as I know, was in Ernest Hemingway's "Death in the Afternoon." But I was ill prepared for what I was to see.

One thing never brought out in anything I have read is the effect of color—the flaming turkey-red of the capes, and the crimson of the bull's blood. I'll never forget the sight of the matador, carrying such an air of conceit, plunging his sword into the heart of the wearied animal.

I grew ill after one such killing, and had to leave. It was not only my first bull fight; it was my last.

The Mexican people have so much charm and show so many kindnesses to the visitor, and are so genteel in other respects, that I marvel how they can continue this custom. I suppose they feel they have to keep up their country's traditions, but I, for one, want no more of this one.

GEORGIA NEVILLE MORRISSEY.

NO MORE SUFFERING.

Elkhart, Ind., March 8 [To the Travel Editor].—Please remove from your list of shut-ins the name of Betty Ermis, Irene Byron sanitarium, Fort Wayne, Ind. Betty passed away this week. I wish to thank you and your readers for the happiness given her, in the last few weeks of her life, by the many cards and remembrances she received from all over the country. MRS. V. S. GOUKER.

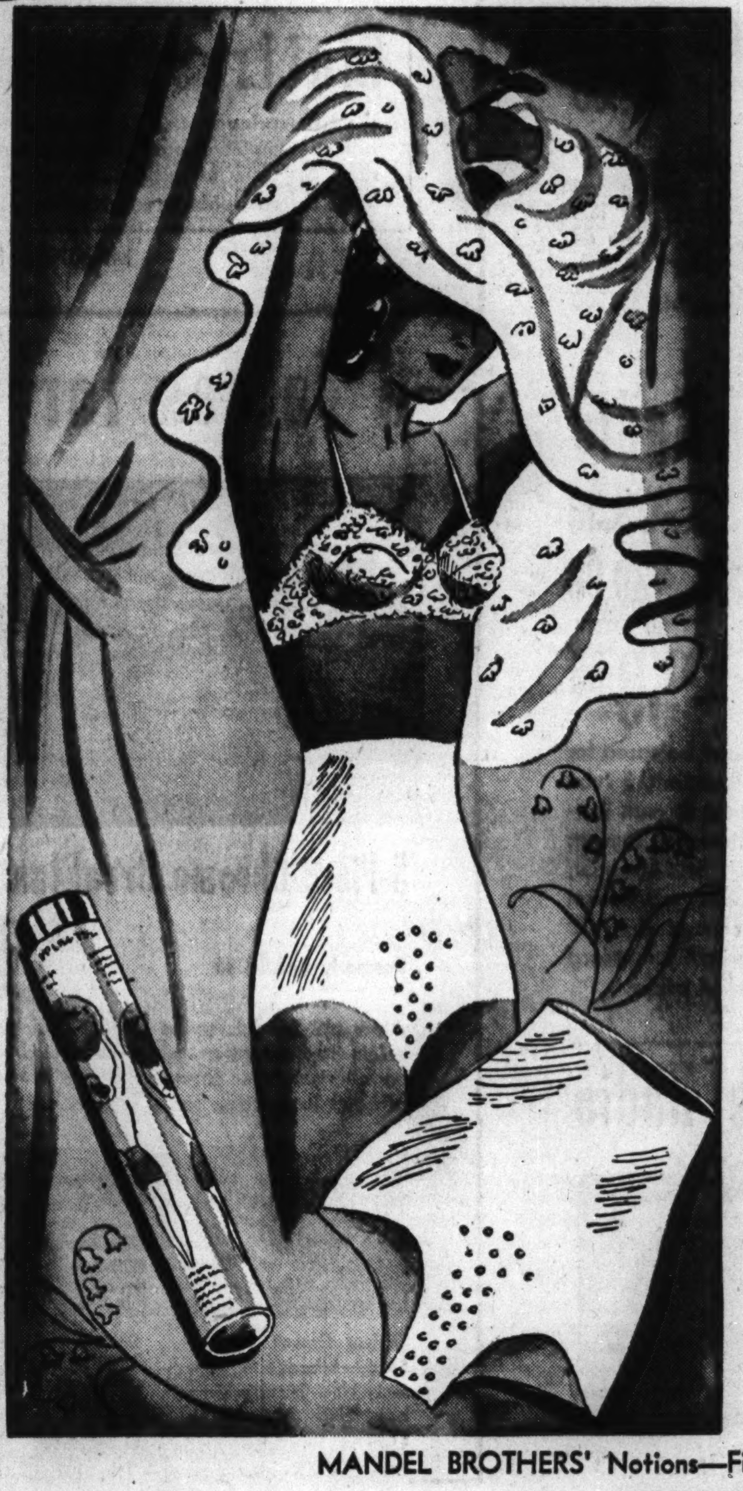
PLAYTEX LIVING GIRDLE



Made of Smooth Liquid Latex for Slim Lines

A new, revolutionary, simple garment made to give you a smooth, slim outline in everything from an evening dress to a bathing suit. It's completely unlike any girdle you've ever worn before, not a corset, but a new method of curve-control, weighing less than five ounces! It gives you complete freedom in movement. The secret is latex . . . light, pliable, resilient, the perfect material for control without constriction. To wash, rinse in suds, pat with a towel . . . and it's dry. Flower scented in pink, blue, and white; each girdle comes in a SLIM silver tube container. Extra small, small, medium, and large sizes.

and feel the difference

It's difficult to describe this different atmosphere of Coronado apartments, but there's something about them that people like instantly. Perhaps it's their freshness, their new furnishings, their spacious arrangements, their scrupulous cleanliness, the unusual lobby and service—or perhaps it's a combination of these things. In any event, it's worth your while to see a Coronado apartment. You be the judge.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

Why spend time commuting when you can be having a grand and invigorating walk to and from your office? Down here you are near the lake and near so many things you wish to see and hear, and still have a full night's sleep. Top-o'-that, we think our studios and apartments are rather unusual. One has 2 bedrooms, living room, 37 ft. long, with north and south light, fireplace plumb in the center. Others have living rooms 2 stories high, and one is like a little house in a Pomander walk at the second floor level. A few furnished and some marvelous layouts for combination home and business. All on or near North Michigan-avenue, and if you like fireplaces and such things, you'll be just our sort, too.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

We are interested in renting to groups of from 2 to 4 people who wish to live near the loop and to have a home for some of their best friends where there is a bit of color and warmth and which they can really call their own. We, too, would like to know that every one in the group has a steady income and that you are not banding together to have a devilish good time, but because you feel that together you can afford to live in a better and more delightful way, than if you try to go it alone. We believe that we have something to offer you, and if this sounds good, please come and see us.

LONGBEACH 0800.
Direction: Downs, Mohl & Co.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
We are interested in renting to groups of from 2 to 4 people who wish to live near the loop and where they can go home to a place that they can really call their own, and which has in it a little color and warmth and a nice friend or two.
On the other hand we shall want all the members of these groups to have steady positions and to know that they are "ganging" up because they know that in doing so they can secure a much nicer and more delightful place in which to live than if they go to it alone. We feel that we have something to offer, and if this appeals to you, please come and see us.

Busier NOW than ever

Our houses this year have been selling at a record rate.

Our architectural staff has been trebled, as more and more smart buyers learn the advantages of TACKETT specifications and TACKETT BUILT homes and act fast to take advantage of present day prices.

15 NEW HOMES
Now under way.

A visit to the South Lincolnwood section will explain this extraordinary demand . . . for these are not ordinary homes in an ordinary setting.

Each house occupies a lot 60 ft. or more wide, and will be completely equipped with all new features found in Tackett houses. It is one of the few places you can find where all the houses are 100% new . . . where every house west of Central Park-av. has been built in the last eight months.

BUY FROM PLANS

of houses now under construction. You might spend hours, days . . . maybe weeks, and you couldn't design more livable houses. Nothing has been overlooked. You can select the tile, the lighting fixtures, the decorations and finished hardware—the same as if your house was built to order. OR IF YOU PREFER, we will design your house according to your own ideas, and build it for you on your own lot or one of ours.

Investigate the Advantages of Owning Your Own Home.

You'll find, in addition to the pleasure and convenience of home ownership, that your monthly payment, after deducting that part which applies to the reduction of the mortgage, is actually less than rent.

COME TO SCARSDALE.

A community, not a subdivision.
Many new homes are under construction for spring completion, 6, 7, and 8 rooms, 1½, 2½, and 3 baths, porches, garages, recreation rooms, etc. Priced from $12,500. Some, on beautifully landscaped lots, completed and open for your inspection.

Directions: Drive out Northwest highway, Route 14, to Arlington Heights. Turn left at first stoplight entering town; 6 blocks to Scarsdale.

NORTH OAK PARK HOME.
Ten years ago I built a home for my family and spared no expense, but I now find it necessary to sell. This home is situated on a well landscaped wooded corner lot, having south and east exposures. It is built of brick and has a heavy slate roof. The design is authentic English architecture and the structure is sound. It has a spacious studio living room with library balcony, generous size dining room, and cheerful colored tile kitchen with breakfast alcove. One bedroom and tile bath are located on first floor. There are three large canvased bedrooms upstairs and a glazed solarium off the master bedroom. The house has been studied for effect and is elaborately decorated. Beautiful wood paneled recreation room with wood burning fireplace. Two car garage is attached. This home has always been well maintained and is thoroughly insulated. THIS PROPERTY IS NOW OFFERED AT $19,500 WHICH IS LESS THAN HALF ITS COST. Terms to suit. To inspect call OWNER, EUCLID 7322.

Day by Day on the Farm

By BOB BECKER

Swans Sing of Spring.

March 16, 1940.

COLD winds and a sleet storm have been discouraging the migrations of our song birds, but they haven't depressed the big black swans which stay on the farm ponds all year. Despite the recent inclement weather these birds have a real case of spring fever.

It's quite obvious that the swans are bored with winter, too. And it's easy to see that they're tired of being confined in the swan house and the fenced in yard at the edge of the pond. In an effort to amuse themselves and speed the time they have built a rough nest from the supply of straw bedding provided for them. Those of us who have watched the behavior of these birds for several years know that they want to nest outdoors and that this current activity in the swan house is considered just a bluff.

Unpredictable Birds.

The swans are unpredictable when it comes to building nests. Their record this season is fairly good, because they didn't start building nest mounds in the middle of winter as they have done in past years. This season they at least waited until the middle of March, so they're only about a month ahead of a normal schedule.

Both the black swans and the white swans are housed all winter in a little house at the shore of the big pond. There is a concrete tank there in which they can swim, and the floor of the house is covered with clean straw. About a week ago the men took a bale of straw to the house to provide fresh bedding. The straw was spread evenly over the concrete floor. But Mr. and Mrs. Black Swan had other ideas about the straw. As soon as the men left the birds started fashioning a huge nest. When we looked into their house the other morning the mound was about four feet in diameter and almost a foot high.

Two of the workers on the Du Page county farm now are engaged in a private argument as to the relative merits of the two types of red squill, the vegetable compound which is used by thousands of farmers for killing rats. One of them believes that the dry powdered squill is best for farm use and the other says that liquid squill is easier to use and just as efficient. We heard both sides of the discussion the other day.

The flockmaster is using powdered squill mixed with dry chicken mash to kill rats which invade the barn yard. He says that rodents are accustomed to grains and other dry foods, at least around his barns where he feeds so much poultry. And he says that the dry squill mixed with mash will not freeze in cold weather and is available to the rodents for several days.

One of the other men says that the liquid squill is easier to use. He adds some of the liquid to dry dog food [meat and cereal] to make an appetizing meal for rats. He admits that his bait will freeze, but he believes it is more attractive to the rats and that they will eat enough when it is first put out to eliminate most of the rodents in one building. According to the latest reports from the rodent extermination front both the dry and liquid squill are effective.

Cold Handicaps Lambs.

The lambs have been severely handicapped by cold weather. Usually they have access to a sunny straw-covered lot which makes an excellent exercise ring and race track, but during the cold spell they have had to stay inside the big sheep barn. The older lambs want to get outside, and they would benefit from the outdoor exercise, but the flockmaster is afraid to open the big barn doors and subject the ewes and the very young lambs to the cold drafts. Consequently the whole flock of sheep has to stay indoors until March weather shows indications of returning to normal.

GENERAL MORTGAGE INVESTMENTS, INC.
Approved FHA Mortgagee.
33 N. LA SALLE-ST.—RANDOLPH 3477.

THIS IS EXCELLENT SERVICE!
Mr. B.'s $40,000 bond issue and $9,000 back taxes were defaulted. The bondholders ran the property. He came to us. We made a top loan on his building.

We bought the bonds at 25c per $1 and our lawyer got the taxes cut way down by legal proceedings. All in 6 months time. Mr. B. said, "Thank you for getting me out of this mess. I feel much younger now with not a care in the world."

We grant top loans on homes up to 30 years old, 2 to 4 apartments, large apartment, store and factory buildings. Also place FHA loans up to 90% of value. We advance funds to settle back taxes, liens, to redeem property, and to close estates.

If even our top loan won't do, we will negotiate with the mortgagee of bondholders' committee to cut down overly large debts to present day levels.

Cadillac Sixty Specials

Be Economical
and stylish at the same time.

Come in and select one of our reconditioned 1939 Sixty Special Sedans. You only pay a fraction of the original new car cost of $2,365. They are as modern as many other 1940 models of today, but appearance is only one reason why you should buy a Sixty Special. They are perfection in performance, riding comfort, and dependability.

Quality, of course: it's built by Cadillac.

Sold with a written guarantee that costs you nothing, but may save you much.

IF HANDS COULD ONLY TALK

They would tell you how much extra beauty you could give them if you had a washer, an ironer, a vacuum cleaner or any of the other modern appliances which help to keep hands young and attractive.

WITH good dependable used washers, ironers, vacuum cleaners and other household appliances available at attractive prices, why deny yourself the many benefits they can provide? It may surprise you to learn how easily you can own one or more of these labor-savers. Review the offerings in the Household Appliances column in the Tribune want ad section.

Because they get better results, want ad users place more total want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

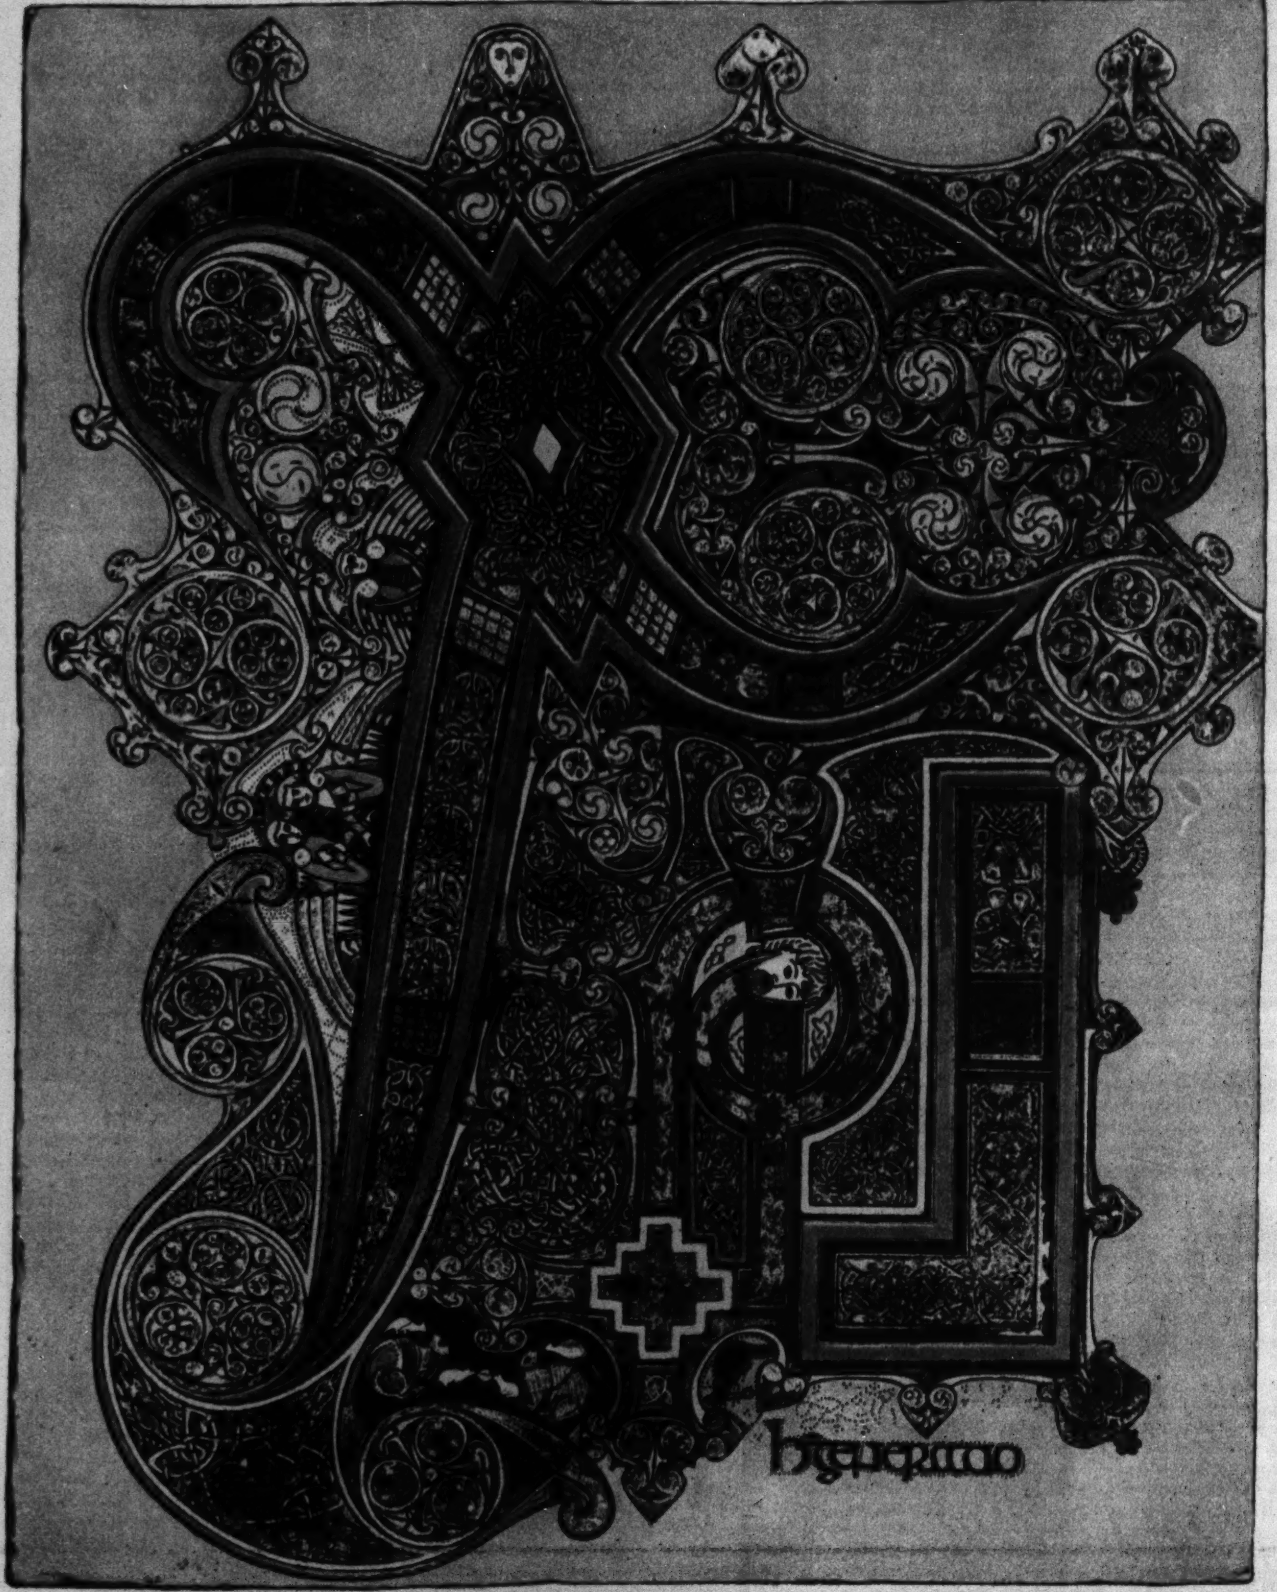
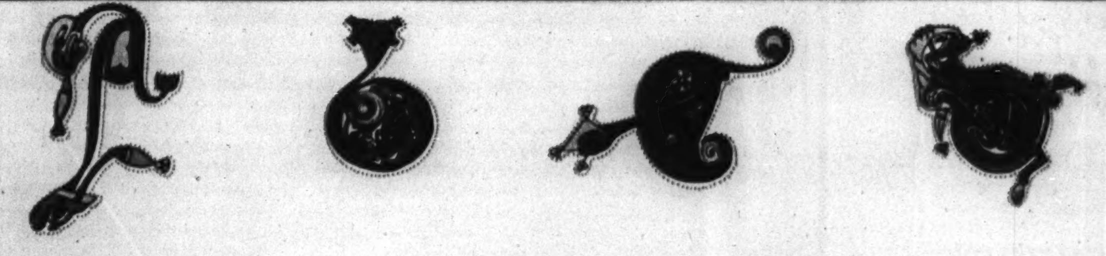
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

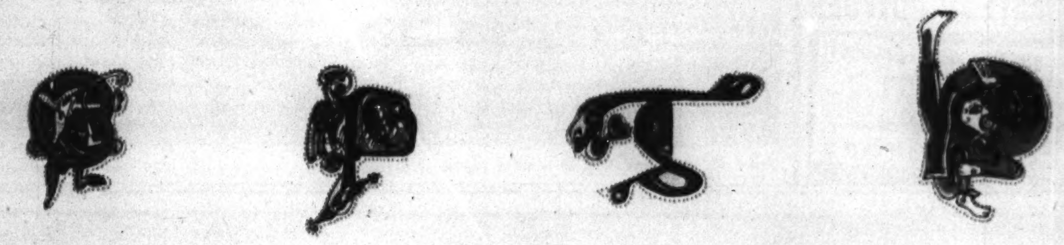
March 17, 1940



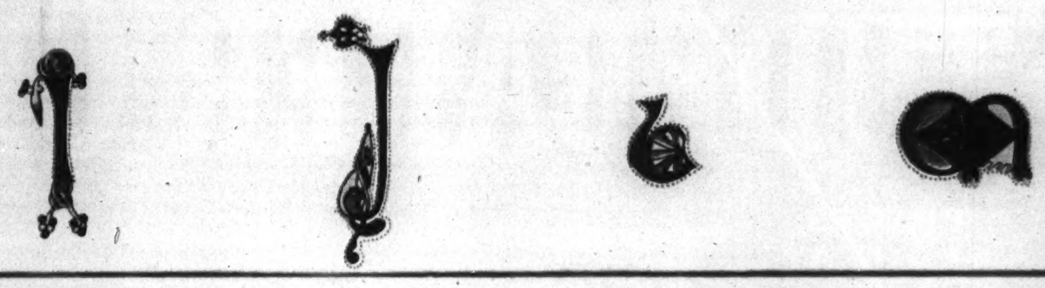


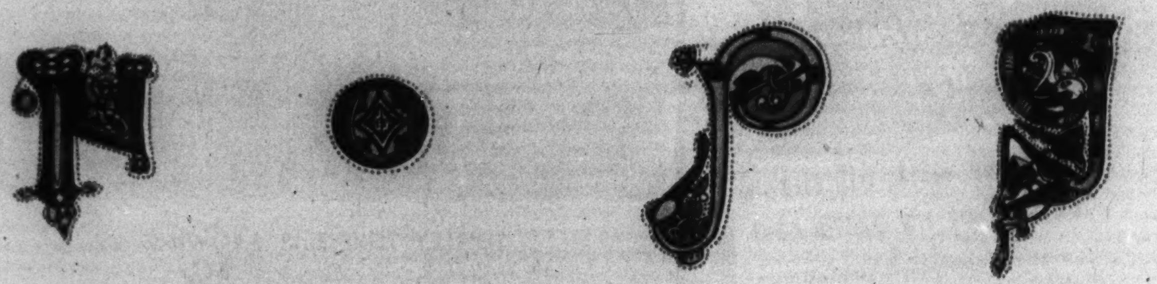
A Treasure of the Ages

On this page appear facsimiles of pages and of ornamental letters from one of the world's great treasures, the Irish Book of Kells, a copy of the gospels in Latin dating from the eighth century.

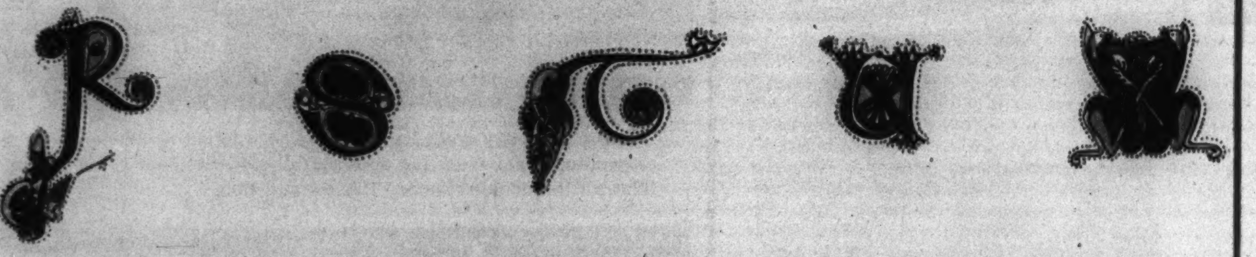


At the left: The "Monogram page," containing the three opening words of St. Matthew I 18, "XPI B. Generatio" ("Christi autem generatio"). This has been described as perhaps the most elaborate specimen of calligraphy ever executed.





In this panel: More of the ornamental letters. The original illuminated manuscript is preserved in the library of Trinity college, Dublin; these reproductions are from a volume of facsimiles in the possession of the Newberry library, Chicago.



At the right: The beginning of Matthew XXVII 38, "Tunc crucifixerant XPI cum eo duos latrones" ("Then were there two thieves crucified with him") . . . Story in the Graphic section.

STUDEBAKER CHAMPION

PRICES BEGIN AT $660
for a Champion coupe, delivered at factory, South Bend.

The greatest advance in 10 years in beauty, in riding comfort and in gas-saving

PRICED ON A LEVEL WITH THE 3 OTHER LARGE-SELLING LOWEST PRICE CARS!

Studebaker Champion Club Sedan illustrated, $700 delivered at factory

Only car with all these "extras" at no extra cost

Planar independent suspension
Finest hydraulic shock absorbers
Non-slam rotary door latches
Front-compartment hood lock
Foot-regulated hydraulic brakes
Steering wheel gear shift
Sealed-beam headlamps
Shockless variable-ratio steering

And, at slight added cost, we equip your Champion with automatic bill holder, automatic overdrive and Studebaker's exclusive fresh-air Climatizer for cold weather comfort and safety

"I've driven my Champion 14,000 miles and it's saving me at the rate of $65 a year over my previous lowest price car," says Mr. Floyd Egan, Assistant Vice-President, Central National Bank of Chicago.

Workmanship that never lets you down gives this Champion a big advantage in low repair cost and high trade-in value. It's expertly and painstakingly built by the same master craftsmen who build Studebaker's Commander and President.

HOW about giving yourself and your family the thrilling distinction and lasting satisfaction of driving this lowest price car that's styled by internationally famous Raymond Loewy?

Here's the dollar-saving lowest price car that decisively defeated all the other largest selling lowest price cars in this year's famous Gilmore-Yosemite Sweepstakes. This Studebaker Champion averaged 29.19 miles per gallon in that contest.

And thousands of "just average" Champion owners are consistently getting exceptional mileage per gallon in all kinds of driving—as well as remarkable oil and upkeep economy that increases their savings.

You pay nothing extra for this Studebaker Champion's planar independent suspension, finest hydraulic shock absorbers, variable-ratio shockless steering, front-compartment hood lock, non-slam rotary door latches, steering wheel gear shift, sealed-beam headlamps and other indispensables.

Come in and go for a revealing 10-mile Champion trial drive. You don't need a lot of ready cash to be a proud Studebaker Champion owner. Use your present car as part payment on easy terms.

Averaged 29.19 miles per gallon in America's greatest gas economy test
With an expert driver and Studebaker's low-extra-cost overdrive, a stock Studebaker Champion averaged 29.19 miles per gallon in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite Sweepstakes conducted under A. A. A. supervision.

"Caught in my own kitchen! I was laboring to clean out a clogged-up drain when Jim arrived, full of ideas about going fishing. 'Not a Chinaman's chance,' I said—and then . . .

"Jim saved the day by scooting out for a can of Drāno! We just poured some in the drain and were on our way—leaving the dirty work to Drāno! How that stuff does dig! It burrows right down through the grease and muck—cleans the drain thoroughly. And you can keep drains clean with Drāno! Just put a teaspoonful down the drain each night after the dishes are done!"

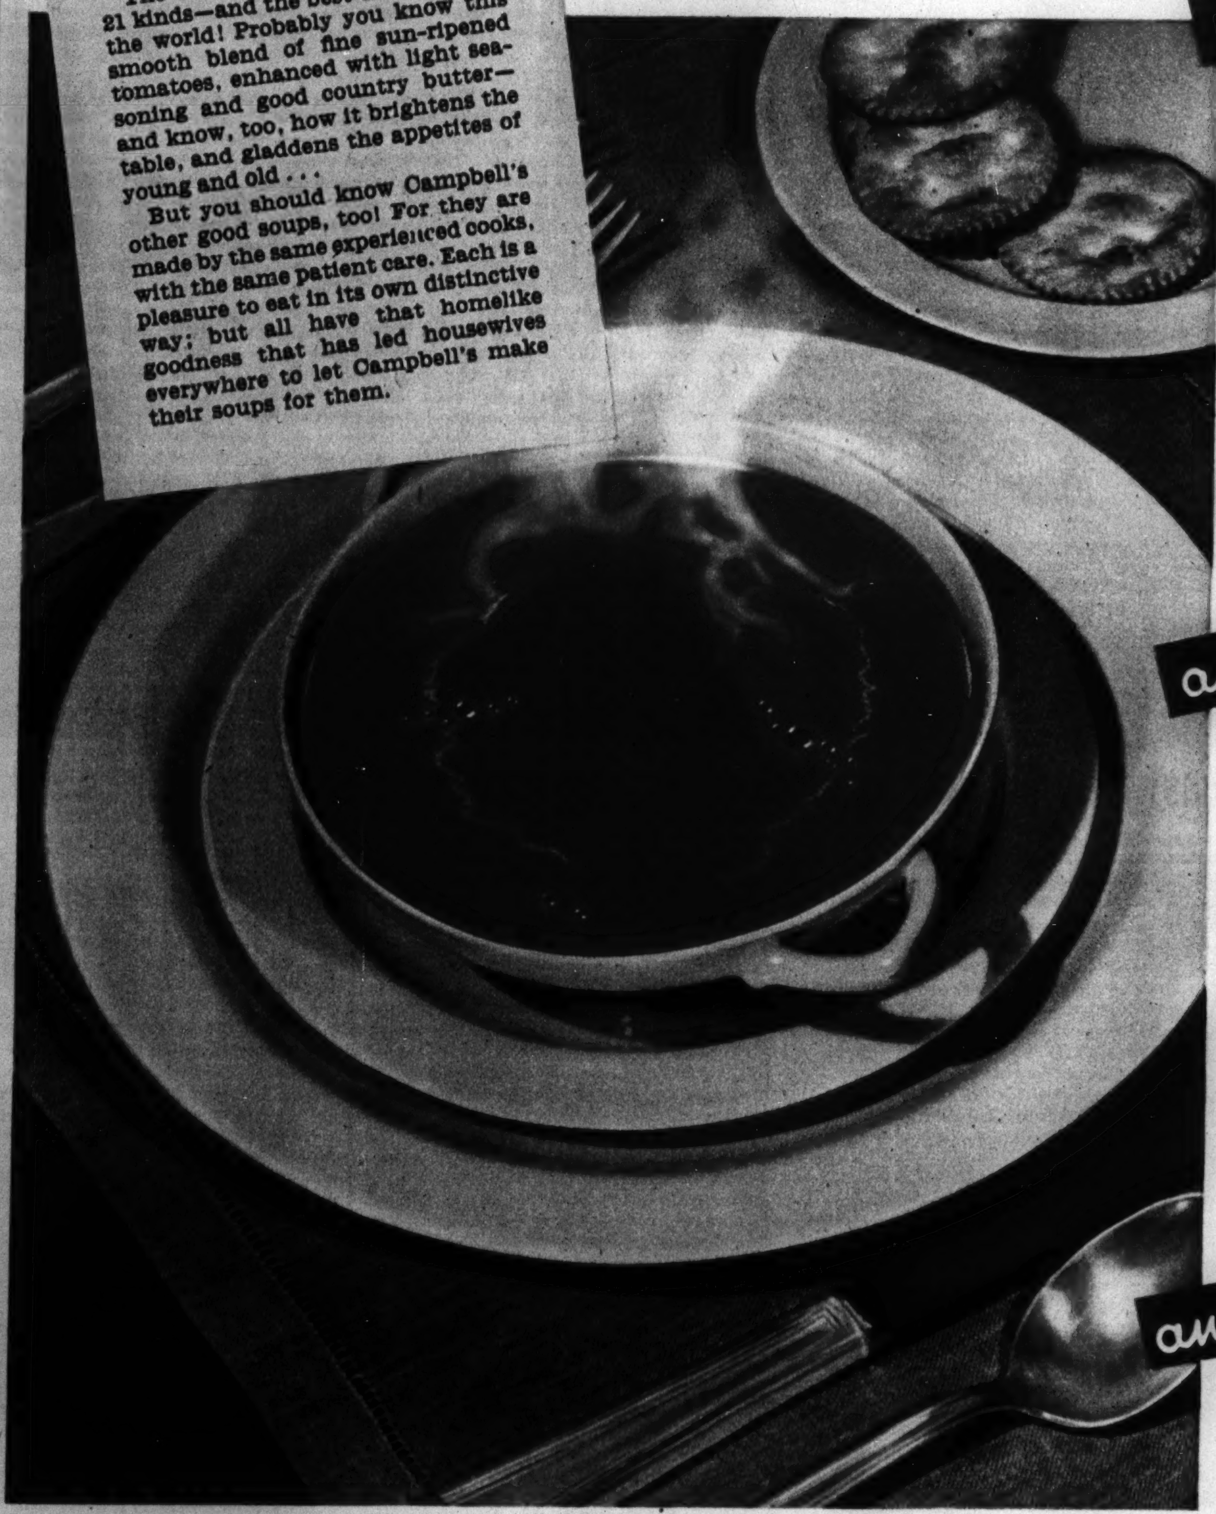
One good soup
SUGGESTS

Campbell's TOMATO SOUP

The most popular of Campbell's 21 kinds—and the best-liked soup in the world! Probably you know this smooth blend of fine sun-ripened tomatoes, enhanced with light seasoning and good country butter—and know, too, how it brightens the table, and gladdens the appetites of young and old . . .

But you should know Campbell's other good soups, too! For they are made by the same experienced cooks, with the same patient care. Each is a pleasure to eat in its own distinctive way; but all have that homelike goodness that has led housewives everywhere to let Campbell's make their soups for them.



ANOTHER—

and ANOTHER—

CELERY SOUP. Delightful, nourishing! Campbell's make it of freshly pulled celery, crisp and white, enrich it with fine table butter and add tender pieces of celery. It's splendid for children—and a grand party dish! Enjoy cream of celery sometimes, too, by adding milk (instead of water) to Campbell's Celery Soup.

and ANOTHER!

BEAN with BACON. Here's a soup for the men—or anyone who is good and hungry. A thick, delicious bean purée, chock-full of plump beans and perked up to perfection with savory bacon. LEARN THE TRUTH ABOUT CORNS

A corn is a mass of dead cells packed into a hard plug (A) whose base presses on sensitive nerves (B), causes pain.
Blue-Jay felt pad (C) relieves pain by removing pressure.
Special formula (D) gently loosens corn so it can be easily lifted out.

How to get rid of them

● Corns are caused by pressure and friction—often become large and painful. Home paring only gives temporary relief—means risk of infection. But millions have ended corns this easy way. Just put a Blue-Jay Corn Plaster neatly over the corn. It acts quickly and gently as shown above. Thru simply avoiding the pressure and friction which caused your corns, you can prevent their return. Get Blue-Jay Corn Plasters today. Only 25¢ for 6 at all drug counters.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

To quickly relieve DISTRESS—when a cold affects your upper bronchial tubes —REMEMBER it takes MORE than "just a salve!" You need to rub your chest, throat and back with a warming, soothing "counter-irritant" like good old reliable Musterole which penetrates the outer layers of the skin and helps break up local congestion and pain. Its soothing vapors ease breathing. Used by millions for over 30 years! 3 strengths: Regular, Children's (mild) and Extra Strong, 40¢. Hospital Size, $3.00.

"UNKINKING THE BACK MUSCLES" is the name of this bedtime exercise. It's the way some people try to bring on slumber . . . after coffee at dinner. If the caffein in coffee disturbs your sleep . . . switch to Sanka Coffee. It's 97% caffein-free . . . and can't keep you awake! Yet it's real coffee . . . all coffee . . . only the caffein is removed. Sanka Coffee comes in the "regular" as well as in the popular, new "drip" grind so that now you can have just the right grind for your favorite method.

AT FAMILY DINNERS, delicious Sanka Coffee always makes a hit! And the Council on Foods of the American Medical Association says: "Sanka Coffee is free from caffein effect and can be used when other coffee has been forbidden."

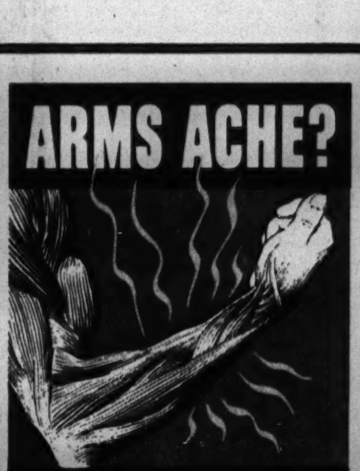
ARMS ACHE?



Too Much FATIGUE ACID causes that Pain

HEAVY exercise produces fatigue acids in your muscles. They settle inside the muscle sheath, causing swelling and stiffness.

Get those ACIDS out!

For quick relief, rub on Absorbine Jr. three or four times a day. Accepted laboratory tests prove it speeds the blood through the tissues. Then, as the acids are driven out, pain and stiffness go. You're ready sooner for work or play. Millions of people like Absorbine Jr. because it is

1. QUICK ACTING 3. PLEASANT
2. QUICK DRYING 4. ECONOMICAL TO USE

Why not fight fatigue the way fire-fighters do?

YOU'VE probably noticed at a stubborn fire how the firemen take time out now and then for a steaming hot cup of coffee.

During cold weather, you've probably thought that they drank the coffee to warm up. And that's correct. But it's not the only reason.

Fire-fighting is hard work, a nerve-wracking strain. And coffee relieves fatigue — eases nerve tension — makes mind and muscles more alert.

Coffee gives you a pick-up too. And that beneficial lift lasts only two hours if you're like 97 out of 100 people.* So, of course, you can enjoy coffee at dinner — and sleep.

Leading department stores are featuring, during February and March, the latest in coffee-brewing devices and demonstrating the best methods of brewing coffee. You'll find it interesting.

DON'T MISS IT!

RIGHT or WRONG?

What's your score in this 1-minute Coffee Quiz?

COFFEE CALMS THE NERVES

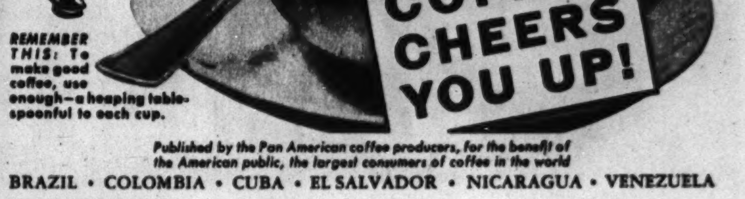
Right? ☐ Wrong? ☐

Coffee, for centuries, has been the mainstay of men working under pressure — firemen, seamen, Red Cross workers. They drink coffee to relieve the nervous strain, for better mental and physical coordination. Check "Right" above.

COFFEE IS HABIT-FORMING

Right? ☐ Wrong? ☐

Of course, coffee is a stimulant. Yet it is a very beneficial one. For it relieves fatigue instead of merely dulling the sense of fatigue as a narcotic does. And when the pleasing effects of coffee wear off, there is no feeling of depression — no physiological craving for more. Check "Wrong" above.



COFFEE CHEERS YOU UP!

REMEMBER THIS: To make good coffee, use enough—a heaping tablespoonful to each cup.

You Can Get Quick Relief From Tired Eyes

Why suffer from burning, smarting eyes? Murine brings quick, amazing relief. It's an easy way that thousands know to ease the irritating discomfort of tired, overworked eyes. Just two drops of Murine in each eye—and right away its cleansing, soothing action begins to help you. Murine contains seven scientifically blended ingredients, far more effective than the one ingredient of boric acid solutions. Murine is alkaline—pure and gentle. Economical, too, because there's no messy, wasteful eye-cup to bother with. Take care of your eyes—use Murine night and morning. It's the modern way to relieve eye fatigue.

TRIAL OFFER! Send 10c for generous sample bottle of Murine. Address The Murine Co., Dept. G, Chicago.

A True Story—with Masks

I WON'T TELL YOU MY NAME, but for several years I was bound hand and foot by "The Great American Malady," which is my husband's phrase for constip . . . . n. I used to feel exactly like this.

BUT THAT WASN'T ALL! Every time the old trouble came, I had to make a pilgrimage to the medicine cabinet. Often, I thought I'd rather endure it than "cure" it. It didn't matter whether school kept or not.

THEN, ONE BRIGHT MORNING, I discovered KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN! My doctor had sent me a package. "I'd rather prevent than prescribe for your condition," he said. "You need a little of what we call 'bulk' in your diet. ALL-BRAN will get at the cause of the trouble."

AND DID IT? After a few weeks of having ALL-BRAN for breakfast, and drinking plenty of water, I began to feel like all the money in the mint. And to think I could do that with a delicious food instead of with medicines! Isn't Nature wonderful?

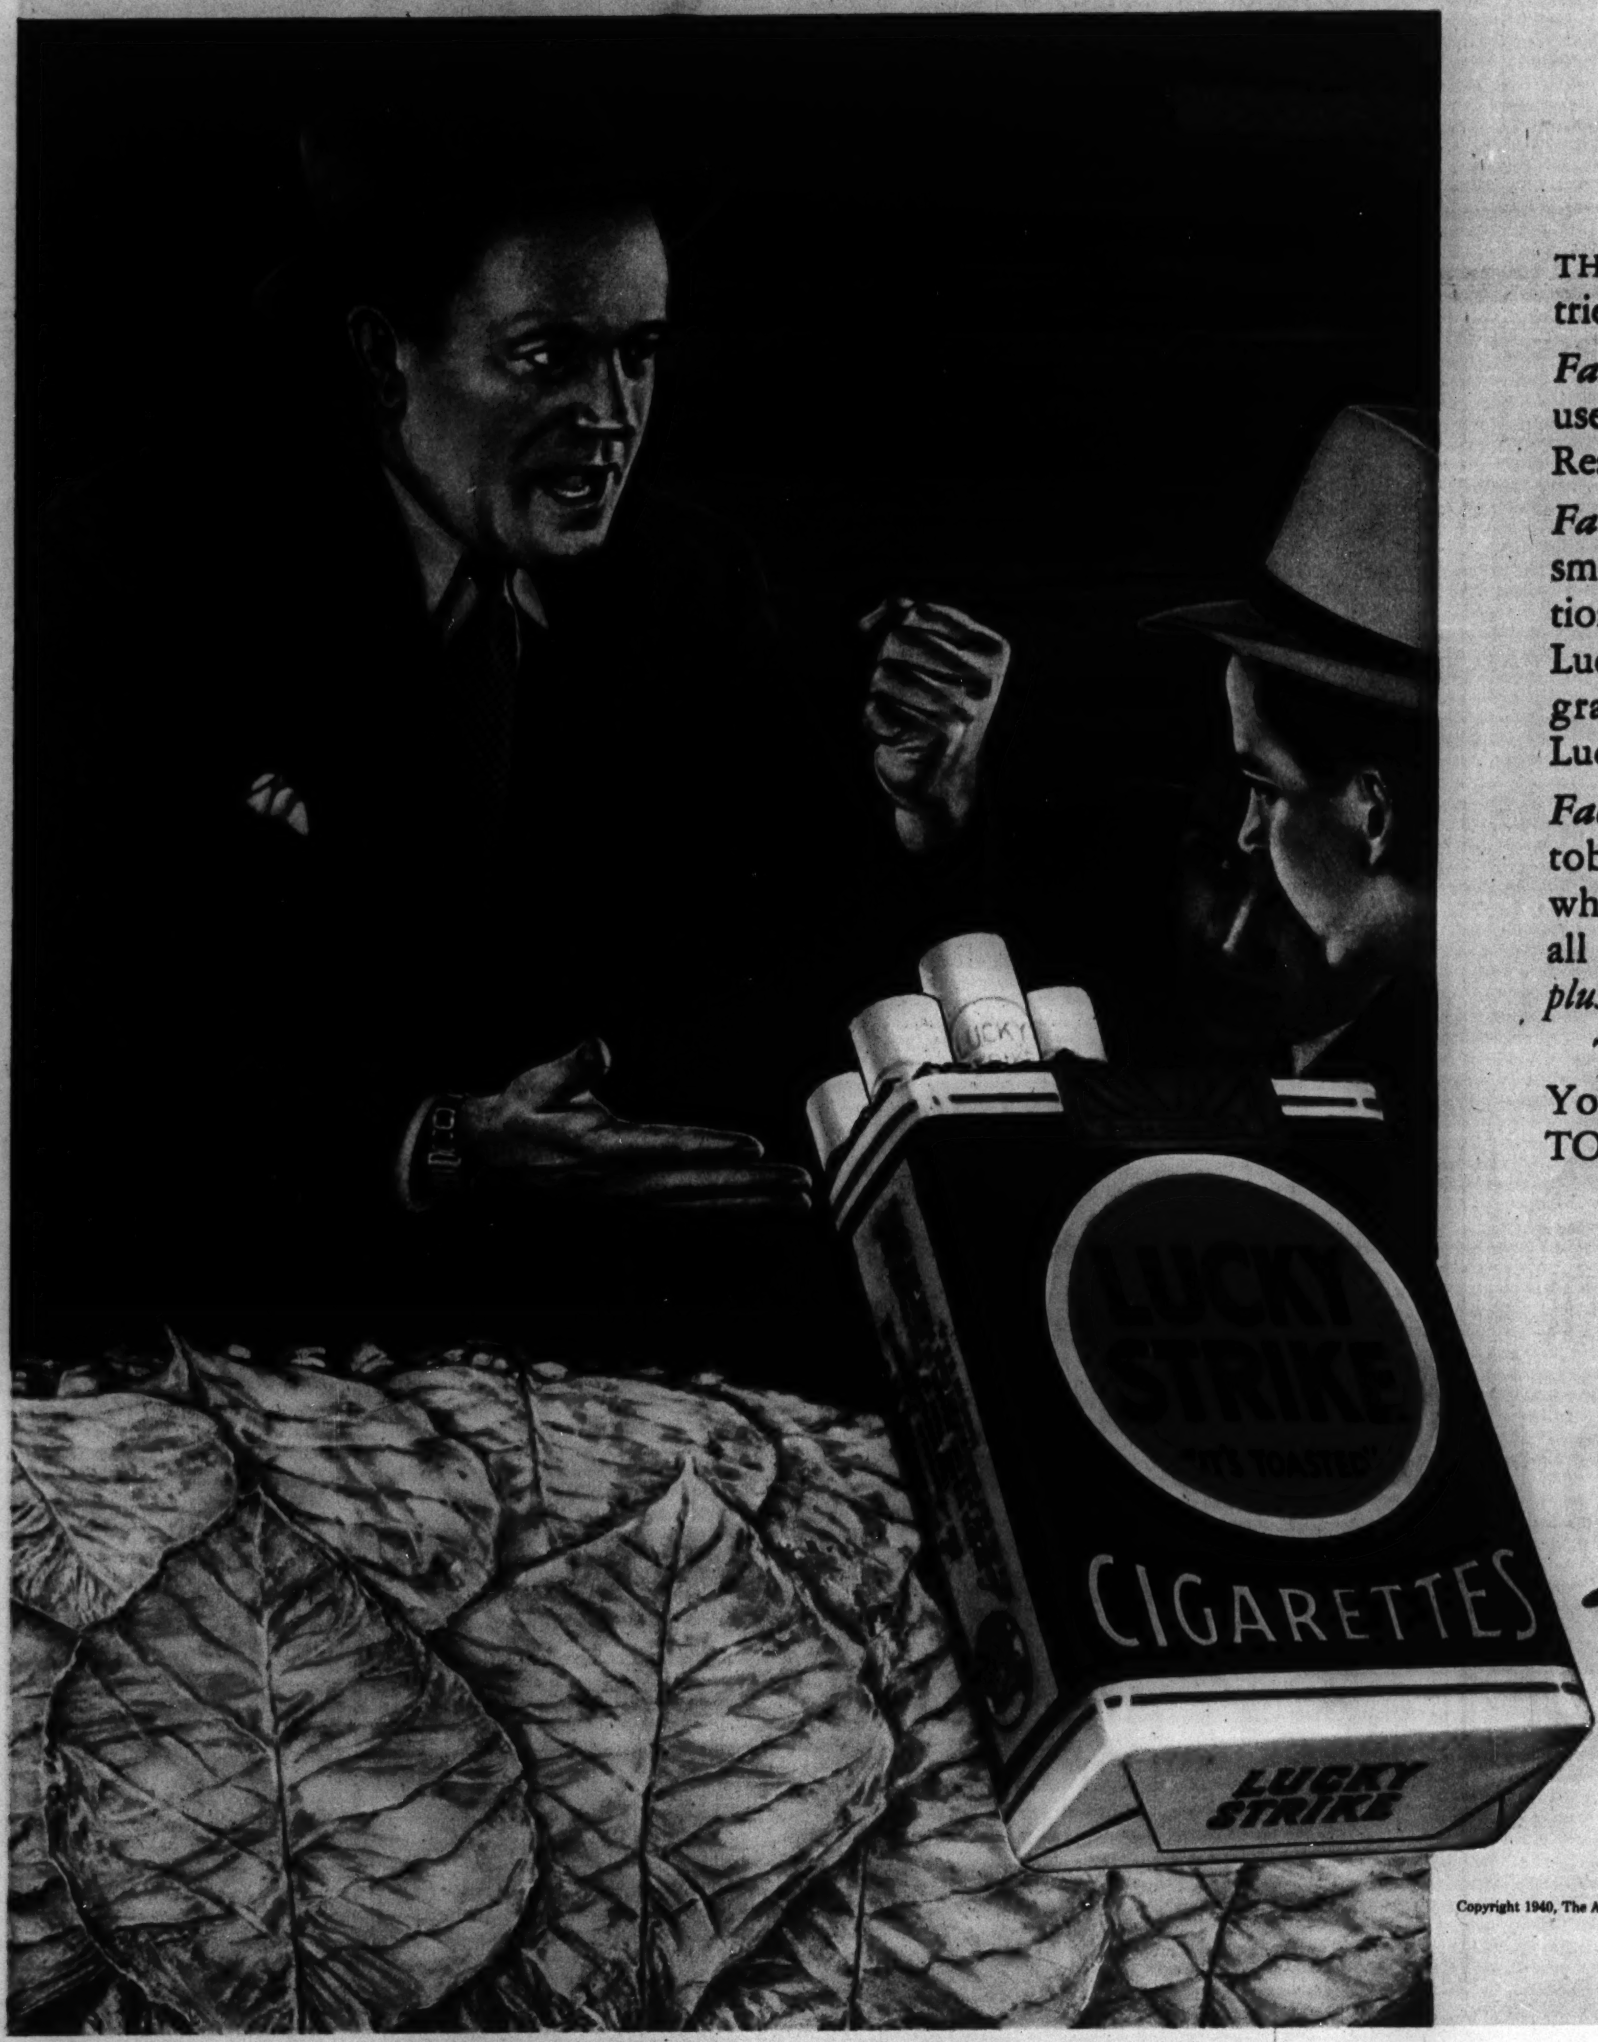
"Working with Uncle Sam, farmers have grown the finest tobacco in 300 years



...and Luckies always buy the A-1 grades," says Tom Smothers, 20 years a tobacco auctioneer

THREE SIMPLE FACTS tell why we ask: "Have you tried a Lucky lately?"

Fact No. 1. In recent years, tobacco farmers have used Uncle Sam's scientific growing methods. Result: The finest tobacco in history.

Fact No. 2. Tom Smothers, 15 years a Lucky Strike smoker, is typical of the independent experts—auctioneers, buyers and warehousemen—who prefer Luckies, 2 to 1. They know Luckies buy the choicer grades of these improved tobaccos. Result: Luckies are better than ever!

Fact No. 3. After 2 to 4 years of aging, these finer tobaccos go through the "Toasting" process, which takes out certain throat irritants found in all tobacco. Result: A better-than-ever smoke plus throat protection.

Try Luckies for a week. Check each fact. You'll see why...WITH MEN WHO KNOW TOBACCO BEST—IT'S LUCKIES 2 TO 1

Memo on Charm

Give Your Skin this Fragrance Men Love!

Test the fragrance of any soap before you buy it to combat body odor. Your intuition tells you how much more appealing to men, is the costly perfume of Cashmere Bouquet Soap!

IF you have a longing to be somebody's number one girl, don't risk disappointing him with the fragrance that bath soap leaves on your skin. For any mistake in a matter so intimate, can be fatal.

So go by the fragrance-test when you buy soap to combat body odor. Instinctively, you will prefer the costly perfume of Cashmere Bouquet. For Cashmere Bouquet is the only fragrance of its kind in the world, a secret treasured by us for years. It's a fragrance men love. A fragrance that stirs the senses.

Massage each tiny ripple of your body daily with this delicate, cleansing lather! Glory in the departure of unwelcome body odor.

Thrill as your senses are kissed by Cashmere Bouquet's perfume. Be radiant and confident to face the world!

You'll love this creamy-white soap for complexion, too. Its gentle, caressing lather removes dirt and cosmetics so thoroughly and leaves skin smooth and fresh looking.

So buy Cashmere Bouquet Soap before you bathe tonight. Get three cakes at the special price featured everywhere.

1. Zoom! Over the clouds! I should have been flying high—but I was sunk. "This vacation's ruined!" I raged to Grace. "It's my bad time of the month. And you know how I chafe!" . . . "Well, why put up with such torture," stormed Grace, "when Miracle Modess now brings you 'Moisture Zoning'!"

2. Then she dragged me off to the dressing room and began to cut a Modess pad. "Feel this fluff filler!" Grace said. "It's so airy-soft, Modess moulds to the body perfectly—without bulk or bunching. And Modess stays softer because 'Moisture Zoning' acts to direct moisture inside the pad, keeping edges dry and comfortable longer than ever before!"

3. And that was the start of the grandest vacation ever! I went on bicycle trips and parties—and had fun every minute, thanks to Miracle Modess! No fretting about accidents, either, because Modess has a moisture-resistant backing to guard against striking through.

Try it now!

THEY CAN'T STOP MARTIN DIES!

Washington, D. C.

By
WILLARD EDWARDS

THE CHAIRMAN of the meeting produced a .45-caliber automatic and laid it gently on the table before him. "This meetin' will be in order," he announced in a lazy Texas drawl.

The speaker of the evening advanced to the table. He was a youth in his late twenties. A heavy strand of straw-colored hair fell carelessly over his wide forehead. His amiable features were tightened in determination.

The time was 1928. The scene, the small town of Orange, Tex. The little hall was crowded with men of rough appearance—oil men, cattle men—men accustomed to settle disputes forcibly with their fists or not infrequently with a gun. At the moment they were in the throes of an emotion as old as man himself—an emotion based upon appeals to their racial and religious prejudices.

It was the Texas of the revived Ku Klux Klan that the young speaker faced that evening. Many of the men present were members of the dreaded organization. Many others secretly hated the aims and purposes of the hooded fraternity, but that hatred was tinged with a certain amount of fear.

The chairman's display of a weapon had not been an empty gesture. Its significance was not wasted upon any one there. It meant that the speaker, himself unarmed, was to be accorded a hearing. There were other men on the platform—grim-faced men with a reputation in that wild community. They were among the few who dared to let their anti-klan sentiments be known. Their presence was at once a guarantee that the speaker would be protected in his utterances and an indication that his words would express what many felt but few had the courage to declare in that section of the country at that time.

The speaker was known to all as a smart young lawyer who had never entertained political ambitions for himself. He was appearing that night in behalf of another candidate.

He surveyed his audience, gauged its dangerous mood, but did not hesitate.

"The Ku Klux Klan," he said without preamble, "is a menace to Texas. It is a menace to the south. It is a menace to the United States. It stands for all that Americanism is not. It must be expunged from the American record."

There was a low rumble of resentment from many of his hearers. The speaker did not hesitate. He continued to attack the klan in biting, searing phrases. He was espousing the candidacy of another lawyer for the position of county judge. The incumbent judge was a member of the klan. To continue such a man in a position where he was supposed to dispense justice was a mockery to democracy, the youth asserted. He pleaded for votes for his candidate as votes for Americanism.

Gradually the fervor of the young speaker spread to a majority of his listeners. At the end he was given a thunderous tribute in which only a few sullen-faced men declined to join.

The klan slate was beaten that year in Orange, Tex. Two years later the speaker of that evening was sent to congress by his constituents. They have returned him every two years since.

Today that youthful crusader is the most discussed congressman in the United States. For it was Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the house committee which has relentlessly laid bare the workings of subversive elements in this nation, who dared to attack the un-American ways of the Ku Klux

Come Back To Erin-2

TWO CITIES figure with almost equal importance in the career of Charlie Agnew, the trumpeting band leader who put the sentimental strains of "Come Back to Erin" into the sprightly swing arrangement printed above. Those cities are Newark, N. J., and Chicago.

Newark is the old home town. Like so many thousands of normal children, Charlie was given preliminary musical education there by talented parents. But in the Agnew case it stuck. The boy went on to private tutors and developed a technique that won him a place in the professional world.

Newark, again, was the scene of his professional debut, but it couldn't hold him long after that. He went across the Jersey flats and the Hudson river to New York, where he found a career with various "name" bands.

HERE ARE THE WORDS TO "COME BACK TO ERIN"

1—Come back to Erin, mavourneen, mavourneen;
Come back, aroon, to the land of thy birth;
Come with the shamrocks and springtime, mavourneen,
And it's Killarney shall ring with our mirth.
Sure, when we lent ye to beautiful England,
Little we thought of the lone winter days,
Little we thought of the hush of the starshine
Over the mountain, the bluffs, and the braes!

2—Over the green sea, mavourneen, mavourneen,
Long shone the white sail that bore thee away,
Riding the white waves that fair summer mornin',
Just like a mayflow'r afloat on the bay.
O, but my heart sank when clouds came between us;
Like a gray curtain, the rain falling down
Hid from my sad eyes the path o'er the ocean
Far, far away where my colleen had flown.

CHORUS—Then come back to Erin, mavourneen, mavourneen,
Come back to the land of thy birth;
Come back to Erin, mavourneen, mavourneen,
And it's Killarney shall ring with our mirth.

Chicago took its place in his life when he joined Del Lampe's orchestra as first trumpet. The band was selected by the management of the new Trianon ballroom on the south side, and Agnew literally blew himself to a new career.

He was given a baton as the leader of a small group known as the Trianon Syncopators. That led him directly onto the stages of the Capitol and Avalon theaters, for the craze for stage bands was then gaining momentum.

Gus Edwards, little father to so many theatrical careers, liked Agnew's work and sponsored him with a full-sized dance band. That was ten years ago. Since then the Agnew name has appeared on marquees all over the country, and the fame of his own brand of swing has kept him in steady demand.

Altho Charlie's travels are extensive, they always stem from and return to Chicago, his permanent home. Even his band is a Chicago product, being one of the few major groups composed entirely of local musicians.

Looking at Hollywood with Ed Sullivan

Top o' the Mornin' from Filmland Irish Colony

Hollywood.

AND THE TOP o' the mornin' to you!

For this is St. Patrick's day, the one day of the year on which all of us with a bit of Irish blood in our veins carefully adjust a green tie for a cravat or pin shamrocks in our lapels and tender you a greeting from the Emerald isle. This one is an echo from Bantry bay, in southern Ireland, where the O'Sullivans once held forth against Cromwell, and tho in the passage of years we dropped the "O" for some obscure reason, the greeting is nonetheless hearty for that omission.

MAUREEN O'HARA

In Hollywood on this particular St. Patrick's day it is amazing to note how many Irishers there are out here. Vivien Leigh, daughter of Ireland's Gertrude Hartley, is an Academy award winner. She is one of many, for instance, of the actresses who stem directly or indirectly from the ould sod. You might include Madeleine Carroll, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Maureen O'Hara, Patricia Morison, Loretta Young, Nancy Kelly, Irene Dunne, Judith Barrett, Ruby Keeler, Patsy Kelly, Una O'Connor, and Gracie Allen.

There is no end to the actors of Irish descent; Errol Flynn, George Brent, George Murphy, Jimmy Gleason, Pat O'Brien, Spencer Tracy, Wally Ford, George O'Brien are a few of them. On the radio there is Fred Allen, whose real name is Sullivan. For directors of renown you can choose between Leo McCarey and John Ford. Producer John Considine turned out "Boys Town" and also the Edison pictures. Clark Gable's mother was born in Ireland; Tyrone Power is Irish on both sides of the family; Franchot Tone traces back to one of the most famous names in Irish history, Wolf Tone. Brian Donlevy, like Brent, was born in Ireland, at Portsdown. There are Jack Haley, Dennie O'Keefe (his real name is Flannigan); Dennis Day, the singer of the Jack Benny program; Reggie Toomey, Jimmy Cagney, William Anthony McGuire, Walter Donaldson, Phil Regan, and John Meehan. One of the top men at M-G-M is Eddie Mannix. Another is Winfield Sheehan. At Warners', and high in the councils of the Burbank clan, is Bryan Foy. Perhaps you've overlooked Frank McHugh, Eddie Brophy, Patterson McNutt, Gene Markey, Jim Tully, Thomas Mitchell, Jack McGown, Dudley Nichols, Jim McGuinnean, Bob Sisk, Director William Howard, and Edmund Lowe, or Bill Gargan, or Walter Connolly, or his brother-in-law, William Harrigan, or his sister, Nedda Harrigan, or Paul Kelly or Lloyd Bacon.

PAT O'BRIEN

If we permit our gaze to wander away from Hollywood on this St. Patrick's day we find George M. Cohan dominating Broadway the while he kicks up his heels in an Irish jig. In the world of sport there is Pittsburgh's Billy Conn, ready and able to assume the mantle that Sullivan, Corbett, and Tunney wore. The mayor of Chicago is a Kelly, and in New York there is Mayor Liam O'La Guardia, a Corkonian if ever I saw one. Washington, D. C., has its Farleys and its Corcorans. Katharine Cornell and Helen Hayes, both of Irish heritage, are rated the finest legitimate actresses of the stage. John McCormack no longer lifts his voice in song, but the Morton Downeys and the Bill Bradys are carrying on the tenor tradition. The harps even have penetrated the swing field. Tommy Dorsey and his brother are Celts.

In playwrighting we point to Eugene O'Neill. The Barrymores are kin to the Costello stock. If you ask what has happened to Gaelic wit I commend you to George Bernard Shaw, Victor Moore, Frank Fay, William A. Brady, Al Trahan, Eddie Brophy—Irishmen all.

We Irish don't claim Edgar Bergen, but we certainly do Charlie McCarthy!

It is not generally known, but it would be a fairly solid guess that some of the poetic imagination of Walt Disney descended to him thru his father, an Irish-Canadian. Robert Donat is Irish on the distaff side. Noel Coward has Irish blood in him. Much more important to Hollywood is the fact that no picture can leave this town until it has been okehed by Joe Breen, head of the Hayes office. Mr. Breen is wearing a green tie this morning.

(Hurrell photo.)
GEORGE BRENT

A great race, these Irish, even unto the fourth and fifth and sixth generations. They have many faults, 'tis true you are, but by the same token their honor, their independence, their impulsiveness, and their loyalty atone for their venial sins.

The Irish of the generation in America bear but little resemblance to the Irish in Ireland. You become aware of that when you visit the ould sod for the first time, as we did a few years ago. You find that they won't speak to you unless you make the first advance. The most curious meeting we had with one of them was the Irishman we encountered in the gardens of Versailles.

Recognizing our inability to take pictures of the two of us because there were only two of us, he volunteered rather shyly to snap the Sullivans. There was no mistaking the brogue, and I said cheerily enough: "Now, this is amazing, surely. Here we are at Versailles, an Irishman from New York and an Irishman from the old country."

He almost dropped the camera. "You Irish?" he queried. I nodded. Without more ado he flipped the camera to me and with uplifted hand called out: "Up, De Valera! Up, De Valera!" Thus he strode away, his hand lifted, his cry sounding thru the Versailles gardens, and passersby hardly noticing him, so perfect is the French understanding of human nature.

VOICE OF THE MOVIE FAN

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you wish a personal reply please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Miss Tinée: I saw the picture "Hotel for Women" recently. In this picture there appeared a girl by the name of Linda Darnell, and I just adored her. If it is possible, please print a picture of her. Also please print the cast of the picture "Hotel for Women." Sincerely,

A READER.

LINDA DARNELL

Editor's note: A lot of people think Linda's pretty nice. She's one of Hollywood's newest and youngest stars, you know. Here's the cast you requested:

Eileen Connelly	Ann Sothern
Marcia Bromley	Linda Darnell
Jeff Buchanin	James Ellison
Nancy Prescott	Jean Rogers
Barbara Hunter	Lynn Bari
Joan Mitchell	June Gale
Emeline Thomas	Joyce Compton
Elsa Maxwell	Herself
John Craig	John Halliday
Melinda Craig	Katherine Aldridge
Stephen Gatesi	Alan Dinehart
McNeil	Sidney Blackmer
Vocalist	Mary Healy

Dear Miss Mae Tinée: I recently went to a good movie, and a mystery thriller at that. Title of the movie, "The Cat and the Canary," with Bob Hope and Paulette Goddard. Altho I had seen the screen and stage play a while back in my time, I did enjoy this version of the famed spook picture better than all I have had the pleasure of seeing under the same title.

A great supporting cast, but Bob Hope stole the entire show. Wonder if Chicagoans who live on the south side recall this young man, who is gaining fame rapidly. Lest they have forgotten, Mr. Hope was in vaudeville as an M. C. at the Stratford theater at 63d and Halsted streets. A permanent fixture there for some time. Of course that was when the stage bands were in the money, and so was vaudeville.

Have never seen anything in print regarding this young man, who started out in vaudeville around Chicago. Chicago people should really look upon him as their own.

Would like to hear from you on the subject thru your Sunday column. Aloha from Hawaii,

W. R. HOGAN, U. S. Army.

Editor's note: Hello-a! And welcome! We don't get fan mail from Hawaii every day. Come again.

Dear Miss Tinée: I read your column every Sunday and enjoy it very much. I have written to you a couple of times before, and now I would like to know Clark Gable's real name. I read in a movie book today that Mickey Rooney is 20 years old. Is this true?

Thanking you and wishing you loads of luck, I am yours very truly,

A FAN.

Editor's note: I like people who read the column every Sunday! William Clark Gable is Mr. Gable's real name. Mickey Rooney was 19 years old last Sept. 23.

Dear Miss Tinée: I have often seen Johnny Mack Brown play, and I have just seen a picture in which he was starred with Bob Baker. I wish that you would please print a picture of him and also some facts about him, like when he was born, where, etc. A regular small biography of him, in other words.

JOHNNY MACK BROWN

Thanking you ever so much, I am

BETTY JUNE BRAY.

Editor's note: A "regular small biography"! Well, I guess we can oblige. Johnny Mack Brown was born in Dothan, Ala., Sept. 1, 1904. He's 6 feet 1 inch tall, weighs 165 pounds, and has black hair and brown eyes. Educated, Dothan public schools and the University of Alabama. Married.

Dear Miss Tinée: I sometimes wonder why in reviewing a picture nothing is ever said about the good or bad points of presentation. To me this is just as important to its success or failure as the players. For instance, when will our movie directors learn that a pause or complete silence is many times more dramatic and effective than any words or orchestra din could possibly be? When sound was given to pictures it was a blessing, but, as always here in our country, they have gone to extremes. Pictures have become a bedlam of sound, with noise of some kind every instant. The orchestral din that roars thru all pictures now is not only terribly annoying, but it defeats its purpose by making the scene unreal and stagey—if you see what I mean.

It is amusing to hear how the movie producers want to please their public and at the same time pay no attention to our protests. Is it possible that the labor unions compel them to do this? I don't suppose it ever occurs to them that poor box office receipts come from this, but I can tell them otherwise. What's the use of going to pictures if you can't enjoy them?

I hope I haven't bored you stiff, Miss Tinée, if you have read this far, and believe me, I do enjoy your column. Cordially yours,

ELAINE R. EDWARDS.

Editor's note: Indeed you haven't bored me! There's food for thought in what you say. Come again!

Union demonstrators smash windows in a Flint, Mich., auto plant. The Dies committee disclosure that Frank Murphy, then governor, failed to curb such violence brought a presidential rebuke.

The Dies committee in action. Left to right: Representatives Jerry Voorhis (a "radical" who became an ardent committeeman), Dies, Noah M. Mason of Illinois, and J. Parnell Thomas.

(Acme photo.)

Even the White House Can't Stop Dies!

Klan in that little oil town 12 years ago.

Just how well Martin Dies has done his job was proved on the floor of the house only a few weeks ago. A plot to discredit and defame him and thereby hamper the work of his committee was exposed to the incredulous legislators. Forged letters indicating collusion between Dies and the head of a Fascist, anti-Semitic group were made a part of the Congressional Record.

When this conspiracy was disclosed the resentment of the house was heated and its action immediate. The faked documents were expunged from the record and the congressman who introduced them was considered fortunate to be let off with a humble apology for his action. He asserted he had been the unwitting dupe of the forger and the purchasers of the letters.

Among the publicity-hungry members of congress—which is to say a goodly number—the plaint inevitably arises: How does he do it? They want to know why Dies and his committee investigation have been given nation-wide prominence in the press.

Perhaps the answer for these jealous legislators (and mistake it not, Dies is bitterly envied by many of his colleagues) is that Dies has no fear in him.

Just as he attacked the Ku Klux Klan in the days when it was a mighty force in Texas, so has he pursued his investigation of un-American activities. From the first his inquiry has been unswervingly directed toward its objective without regard to political considerations. The envious ones sometimes forget that Dies has received almost as much abuse as praise. His position is not one for a thin-skinned individual.

The President of the United States is among those who have assailed the Dies committee. He did so at a time when most Democrats in congress were still hiding in the cyclone cellars into which they had retreated from the New Deal hurricane of the early years of the Roosevelt régime.

Dies was not deterred for a moment by the violent criticism emanating from the White House. He boldly accused the President of joining in a campaign of misrepresentation, ridicule, and sarcasm in an attempt to defeat the aims of the committee's investigation.

Political Washington stood aghast and waited for the lightning to strike. They are still waiting.

Mr. Roosevelt had accused the Dies committee of "a flagrantly unfair and un-American attempt to influence an election." He referred to disclosures which indicated that Frank Murphy, the present Supreme court justice, who was then governor of Michigan, seeking reëlection, had failed to curb violence resulting from sitdown strikes in his state, thus violating his oath of office. Mr. Roosevelt was irate that a Democratic-controled committee of congress should have aired evidence hurting the cause of a Democratic candidate in an election year.

From a purely partisan viewpoint Mr. Roosevelt's wrath was justified. The President's political judgment of the disastrous effects of the committee's findings was shown to be admirable. The voters of Michigan decided that Mr. Murphy's record did not entitle him to another term in office.

Since that incident the President has refrained from too open criticism of the committee's investigation, which was extended for another year recently by an overwhelming vote of 345 to 21 in the house.

In this—another election year—Mr. Roosevelt has again expressed thru his congressional leaders a hope that the committee would not hold hearings during the campaign. The inference that hearings by a committee on un-American activities could only be hurtful to the Democratic party's cause is politically interesting.

However, the committee has blasted this hope by voting to hold public hearings this summer and fall. Hollywood and the west coast will be the main arenas of the investigation, altho the committee has voted also to inquire into activities of Nazi and communist agents reported to be operating in this country from bases in Mexico.

For more than two months Dies was ill and absent from Washington. His sickness was diagnosed as traceable to a sinus infection. It responded to treatment and the congressman was able to return to the capital last month.

In the absence of the chairman the committee's work had bogged down. This was illustrated when the committee sought to question William Dudley Pelley, commander of the Silver Shirts, an anti-Semitic organization. Pelley confused the committee by professing to admire its work, altho he is the author of a publication which has viciously assailed Dies in the past. With Dies present to direct the questioning of Pelley, the suave organizer might not have escaped with his bland denials of un-American aims. That at least is the judgment of a number of observers.

Friends and enemies alike of Dies and his committee agree that the investigation of un-American activities is the most important inquiry ever conducted by a congressional group. They do not except in this all-inclusive statement such sensational probes as that conducted into the Teapot Dome scandal. A rotten spot in our government was disclosed there. But the Dies committee has revealed conditions which but for its timely findings might have led to the crumbling of the foundations of our republic.

The personality of the leader of this investigation is an interesting one. His methods either excite deep admiration or arouse violent enmity. It is interesting to note that these emotions vary in relation to the subject of his inquiry. When he was exposing the underground workings of the Nazi groups in this country, New Dealers and communists lauded him. Their admiring comments changed to shrill protests when the committee's guns were turned upon the communists, revealing the infiltration of communism into the government structure.

Dies takes calmly all the venomous abuse heaped upon him. Neither praise nor abuse has turned his head. His critics have accused him of booming himself as a presidential possibility. There is no evidence to support this theory, and Dies, with a grin, disclaims such an ambition. He is only 39 now, and for the present at least he desires nothing more than to be returned to his seat in congress next November.

The Texan was the "baby" of the house when he came to that body in 1930. But he was no stranger to Washington. His father had served ten years as congressman. Young Dies grew up and was educated here. He went to the Custer Springs Military academy as a boy and received his higher education in the National university here.

When he was 19 years old he fell in love with Myrtle McAdams of Greenville, Tex. She was 17, and there was violent parental disapproval of the match. Dies' father temporarily disowned him when the marriage took place.

Where the young Texan, just admitted to the bar, had looked forward to a position in his father's law firm, he now found himself penniless and without much chance of working up a law practice in his home town against his father's opposition.

He went to his wife's birthplace, and for two years the young couple struggled for an existence. Dies convinced the grocer and the butcher that he was destined to be a moneymaker some day, and they accepted I. O. U.'s based upon the probability of his later success.

Harry Bridges

Fritz Kuhn

The senior Dies finally relented, and Dies and his wife went back to Orange, where he became his father's law partner. He specialized in land cases and gained a reputation as a clever attorney.

Orange at that period was a wild little oil town. The political destinies of the district were directed by two families who owned great stretches of land. The heads of the two families were leaders in the Ku Klux Klan. A member of one family was the district judge.

In 1928 a lawyer named Ramsey decided to test the power of the klan and ran against the incumbent judge. The bitterness of the campaign is still talked about in Texas. The scene described at the opening of this article was typical of the precautions necessary to avoid gunplay.

Dies loves to "orate." He was a speechmaker upon any and every occasion in school and college. He would address an imaginative audience while under the bathroom shower or while mowing the lawn. In the 1928 campaign he first realized the thrill of playing upon the emotions of a crowd. Moreover, he was inspired by a sincere hatred of the klan and all that it stood for.

When he announced his candidacy for congress in 1930 he was not regarded as a serious threat by the sitting congressman, John C. Box, a veteran of many years of service and chairman of the immigration committee of the house. Politicians said it was impossible to beat Box. They had said the same about the klan, however, and when the votes were counted Dies was the victor by a sizable majority.

When the Texan came to congress, members saw a broad-shouldered young man, six feet tall, with an engaging smile. He smoked long cigars. (He is now forced to substitute chewing gum as the result of doctor's orders.) He was an easy conversationalist, proved a pleasant companion, and made many friends.

The house soon began to be aware that it had an accomplished speaker in its midst. He was jokingly made president of the "demagogues' club," an unofficial organization composed of the more vocal members in the chamber.

During the next few years he made quiet progress. With the overturning of the Republican majority in the house he was given a prominent position in the councils of the Democrats. He had no trouble in keeping his seat every two years. He never had opposition in the final elections and sometimes not even in the Democratic primary.

In 1935 he was given a post on the powerful rules committee. He became known as the sponsor of measures to restrict immigration, to tighten up on deportation procedure, or otherwise strengthen the laws with regard to aliens, radicals, and sitdown strikers.

Altho it was only six years ago, few in Washington remember that there was an investigation of un-American activities conducted by a house committee before the Dies committee was appointed. The inquiry was conducted by Representative John W. McCormack, Massachusetts Democrat. He and several colleagues held many hearings, collected much testimony, spent the appropriation which had been granted, and made a report. But the investigation seemed to get nowhere, and it certainly did not get the prominence which the Dies quiz has attained. McCormack, of course, carefully avoided treading on the toes of any Democrat.

In 1938 the demand grew in the house for another and more exhaustive inquiry into subversive activities in the United States. Five years of the New Deal had brought about a general suspicion that communism was becoming entirely too popular among government officials and employés. The chamber authorized the inquiry and voted $50,000 for its expenses.

There was some surprise when Dies of Texas, who was then little known outside of his native state, was appointed chairman. Certain statesmen, including Representative Sam Dickstein, New York City Democrat, had sought the post. Dickstein wanted to concentrate upon the activities of the German-American bund in his city. Speaker William B. Bankhead decided that an investigation of all un-American activities—communist, Nazi, and Fascist—was what was wanted. He picked Dies for the job.

The appropriation given the committee was comparatively small. The resolution authorizing the investigation called upon all government departments to assist in obtaining the evidence. This government aid would do away with the necessity of hiring a large staff of investigators, according to the theory justifying the small fund.

Dies asked the federal bureau of investigation and the department of labor to lend him investigators. These departments had been free with assistance to other investigating committees, such as the notorious inquiry conducted by Hugo L. Black, then senator and now a Supreme court justice, into the lobbying activities of utility corporations and others.

But the attorney general and the secretary of labor remained strangely cold to Dies' pleas. Dies was forced to go ahead with the limited funds at his disposal.

The hearings opened in August. For several days the inquiry centered upon activities of Nazi and Fascist elements in this country. There was no clamor concerning the methods of the committee during this period. Instead there was mild commendation from government officials and from communist publications concerning the worth of the committee's work.

Then the committee began inquiring into the hookup between the Congress of Industrial Organizations (then the Committee for Industrial Organization), headed by John L. Lewis and the communist party. John P. Frey, head of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, presented evidence showing that key positions in the C. I. O. were held by acknowledged communists.

There was an immediate outcry of persecution from communist leaders. The uproar was heightened when a committee investigator accused the department of labor, headed by Madame Frances Perkins, of scheming to keep Harry Bridges, west coast agitator, from being deported.

The massive propaganda machine of the administration was rushed to Secretary Perkins' defense. Here was first heard the cry that the committee's methods were "un-American," that the accused were not permitted to refute charges against them, that the committee—and Dies specifically—did not bother to support the testimony of witnesses with factual evidence. President Roosevelt personally joined in the barrage of criticism with the comment that "rather sordid procedure" was practiced by the committee.

The so-called civil liberties investigating committee, headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin radical, took a hand in the move to hamper the Dies investigation. Two members of the Dies committee charged that witnesses were being covertly warned to stay out of town by investigators for the La Follette committee.

Several Democratic members of the committee ran to cover under this storm of censure from the administration. From that point on the investigation

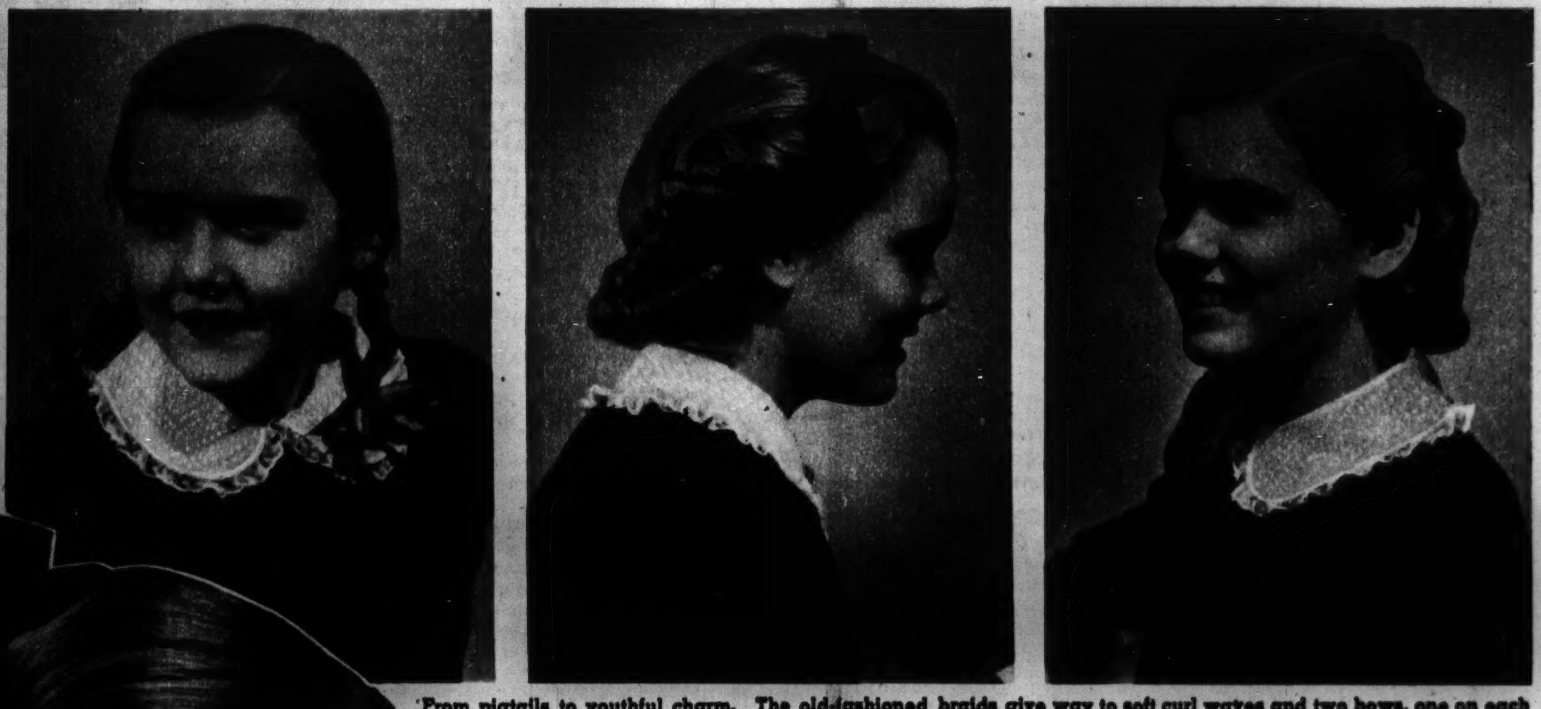
The stringy-haired child is given a lift out of the ugly duckling stage by the simple expedient of a slight wave and a single velvet band.



From pigtails to youthful charm. The old-fashioned braids give way to soft curl waves and two bows, one on each side of the head. This more mature hair-do is not too high nor too low.

PICTURES of before-and-after scenes in the life of a person in her early years give one an idea of what the modern miss escapes. Not for her the homely duckling adolescence! Not for her the extra struggles to attain mental superiority over the pretty sister. The pretty sister has changed, too. She no longer indulges in dumbbell practices just because she is pretty. Those years from 10 to 14, that used to be a nightmare for the youngster with straight hair, are bridged now long before any suffering from embarrassment sets in.

Frequently we reflect on the fact that the modern miss hasn't a chance to entertain that inferiority complex agonized over by certain of her predecessors, and from which recovery never did really occur. Because of their straggly locks or their uninteresting pigtails, their being different from other children, something registered down deep and affected their entire future. But, as said, today's youngster turned 10, 11, up to 14 or 16, has all the luck on her side. Good teeth are hers, with few exceptions. She isn't a little "fatty" often, thanks to mamma's own interest in diets and mamma's own pride of figure. She isn't a scrubby-nailed little youngster, either, again thanks to precept and example. And now, thanks to modern hairdressing art and artists, the child can be made to feel she is as "tops" in smart grooming as any other young person her age.

One smart shop recently introduced a salon for sub-debs, aged 10 to 16 only, which gives you an idea. We sat in while experts shaped small heads as the hair was cut, and saw ends of hair softly curled by a permanent waving machine, but so softly curled, and naturally, that the child did not come out looking like an adolescent playing at being adult.

We learned from this authoritative source that hair styling for the young misses is confined to three designs: The simple, velvet band running from ear to ear and held in place with elastic; the high-placed velvet bow; and the two-bow arrangement, one on each side of the hair.

MARTIN DIES

was conducted largely by Dies, assisted by the two Republican members.

Dies continued to pile up evidence which hurt the Democratic party. Dr. J. B. Matthews, now the committee's chief investigator, described a communist plot to seize control of the party. He had been an organizer of youth movements for the communist party until he became disillusioned and quit. There was additional evidence presented to prove that the plot had achieved some success and had been aided by officials within the government itself. Eight high federal officials were named as members of the Washington chapter of the American League for Peace and Democracy, a communist front organization.

The chorus of administration protests against these revelations rose to the hysterical point. Every effort was made to ridicule the committee. The Shirley Temple incident was a typical case in point.

A witness testified that the names of several Hollywood stars had been used to promote a communist benefit. The testimony was intended merely to show the lengths to which the communists have gone. There was no charge that the movie stars were themselves affiliated in any manner with the communist party.

Nonetheless the story was flashed to the country that the Dies committee had named, among others, Shirley Temple as a communist! It was a pure case of news distortion, to which it must be admitted regretfully several Washington correspondents lent themselves. The effect of this story was to make some persons doubtful of the committee's methods.

In this connection it should be noted that the Dies committee has from the first struggled against the handicap of unfriendly press coverage. Several of the reporters covering the hearings were well known for their radical sympathies, and their reports were skilfully worded, if possible, to put the committee in a ridiculous light. Many others, who never attended the hearings, wrote articles for the press and magazines condemning the committee for its methods.

Unperturbed, Dies went ahead. He exposed the federal art theater project as a propaganda arm of the communist party. President Roosevelt appointed Dr. Louis Bloch to the federal maritime labor board, and the committee immediately produced evidence that Bloch was a communist. Representative J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican, a member of the committee, demanded the impeachment of Madame Perkins for her disclosed part in the Bridges deportation case. Governor Murphy of Michigan was accused of treasonable activities in connection with the sitdown strikes in his state.

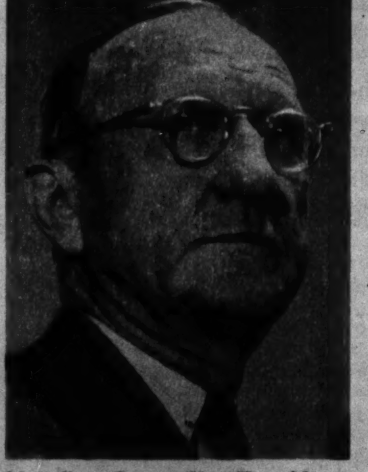
This resulted in the Roosevelt blast quoted earlier and an effort by the administration to gag the committee until after the November elections. The two Democrats who had absented themselves from the hearings since a day or two after they began wired Dies a plea for postponement of the investigation until after Nov. 8. Dies immediately put the proposal to a vote. He and another Democrat, Harold G. Mosier of Ohio, voted with the two Republican members to continue the hearings. That made it a vote of 4 to 2 for proceeding.

"Our committee is an agency of an independent branch of the government," Dies wired the two protesting Democrats, Arthur Healey of Massachusetts and John J. Dempsey of New Mexico. "Any successful attempt to stifle the hearings for political purposes would be most unfortunate.

"I am and always have been a loyal Democrat, but there are questions much bigger than mere partisanship, and certainly I believe that the question of preserving the fundamental principles of Americanism transcends in importance political expediency.

"But even from a party standpoint I am convinced it is better for Democrats to take the initiative and fearlessly expose subversive activities that threaten the very existence of the republic even if in doing so a few candidates for office on the Democratic ticket are involved.

"To my way of thinking it would be a cowardly thing to postpone hearings until after the election, for to do so would imply that the Democratic party is unwilling for the people to have the facts when they go to the polls, which I do not think is true so far as the majority of Democrats are concerned."



Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley (retired), object of inquiry.

That simple but admirable statement sums up the attitude of the chairman toward his committee's investigation.

The committee wound up its 1938 hearings in December. In January a 40,000-word report was laid before the house. It accused the labor department of "unbelievable laxity" in its enforcement of the deportation laws. President Roosevelt, Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, former Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes were severely censured for hampering the work of the committee and deliberate misrepresentation of its activities.

On Feb. 3, 1939, the house was called upon to render its judgment of the worth of the committee's findings. By the overpowering vote of 344 to 35, approximately 10 to 1, the chamber approved the continuance of the inquiry for another year. A week later an appropriation of $100,000, double the amount granted in the previous year, was approved.

The administration believed it had scored a minor victory in obtaining the appointment to the committee of Representative Jerry Voorhis of California, one of the little group of house radicals. It was believed that Voorhis would see that the communists got a "break." Ironically enough, after listening to several weeks of testimony Voorhis became as agitated as Chairman Dies about the infiltration of communism into the government and is now one of the warmest advocates of the investigation.

With renewed vigor Dies picked up the investigation where he had left off. The committee inquired into the activities of the German-American bund and its fuehrer, Fritz Kuhn; George E. Deatheridge, commander of the Knights of the White Camellia; Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired; Earl Browder, general secretary of the American communist party, and others.

The sensation of the year undoubtedly was the publication by the committee of a list of 539 government officials and employés who were members of the American League for Peace and Democracy, an organization which has the financial support of the communist party.

The list was made public over the strenuous protests of the administration. More than 200 of those named occupy positions of trust and importance in the government, receiving salaries ranging up to $10,000 yearly.

It was this disclosure by the committee which prompted the President to remark that it was "sordid procedure." It was noted that no executive action was taken, and so far as is known all those named still hold their jobs. The Washington chapter of the league, however, is about to close up shop, it was reported recently.

The second annual report of the committee was filed in the house on Jan. 3 of this year. It stated that indisputable evidence had been gathered that the communist party of the United States was a foreign conspiracy masked as a political party. It also condemned the German-American bund and other Nazi-Fascist groups as racketeering movements basing their chief appeal on religious and racial hatred and seeking to set up a dictatorship here by force and violence.

The desperate attempt, three weeks after the filing of this report, to prevent another extension of the inquiry by smearing Dies, has been touched upon. It found Gardner Jackson, legislative lobbyist for Labor's Nonpartisan league, an offshoot of the C. I. O., and Harold Weisberg, former employé of the La Follette committee, buying forged documents for $105 and the promise of a government job from David Mayne, a Washington lieutenant of William Dudley Pelley of the Silver Shirts. The dismal failure of that effort finds the Dies committee embarking on the third chapter of its investigation.

The committee's attention is to be centered this year upon the west coast. The Hollywood colony, it has been indicated, is permeated with communism. With Dies of Texas, his health recovered, in the chair, the American people seem scheduled to receive further disclosures of un-Americanism in this nation which will, like past revelations, help to clear up a dangerously unhealthy condition.

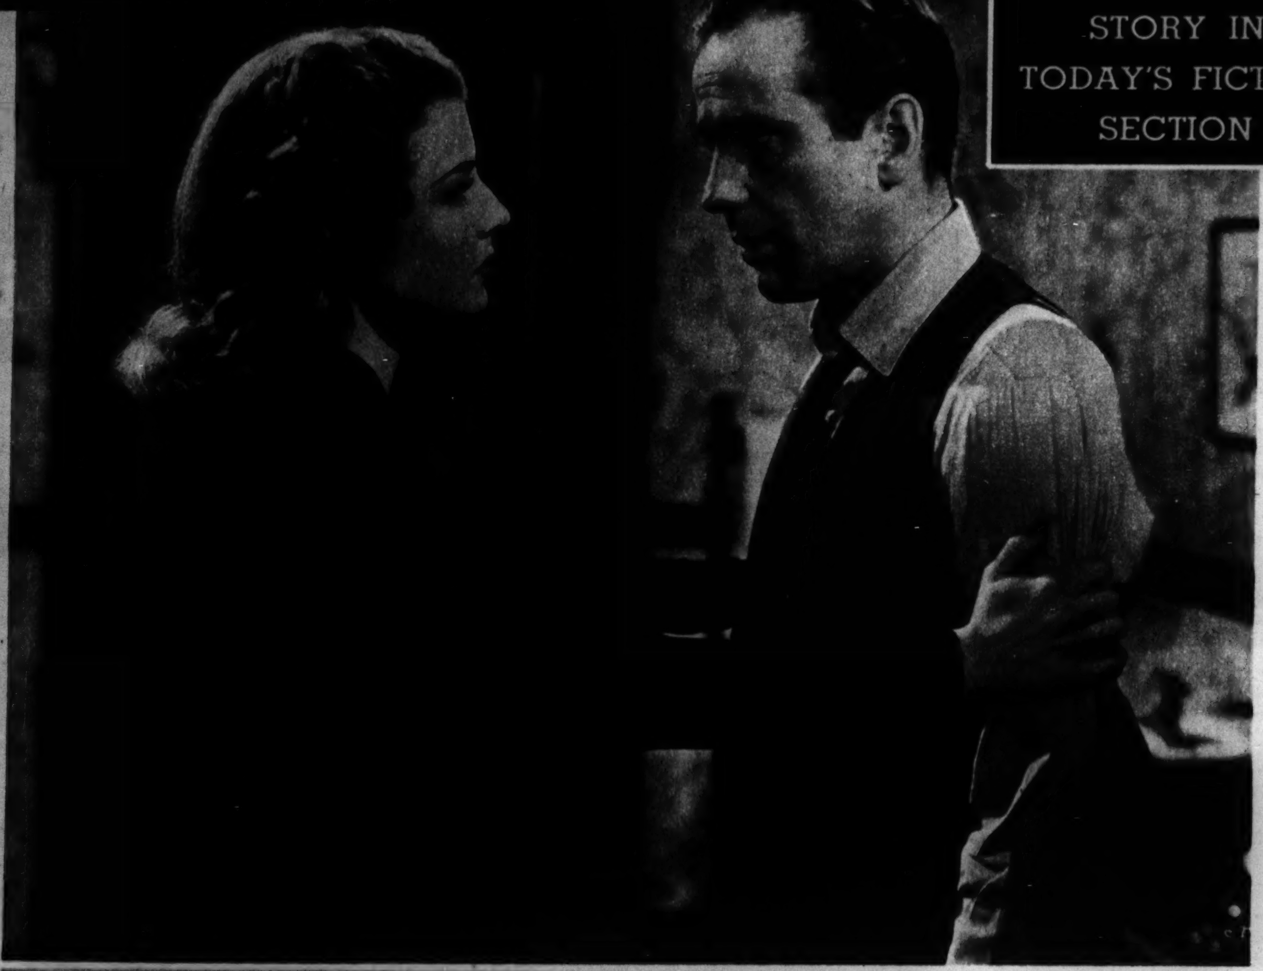
1 "Whew! So that's it!" Sarah Jane, home at her mother's boarding house, discovers how badly in debt the family is. Something has to happen fast.



2 It does. Mr. Grasselli, admitted with welcome to the nightly rummy game, is caught by Sarah Jane stacking the cards. "I'm sorry, Sarah," he says. "I just hadda have some fun." Sarah Jane tells him he can, but by providing the necessary funds to appease the bank.

IN HER OWN ROOM

3 Sarah Jane prepares her plan to get a break for Tommy by making herself up as a glamor girl. It makes her giggle as she looks in the mirror, and it gives Tommy an idea when she shows him.

4 The night of the home talent show in the parlor arrives, and Mr. Boldini appears in his Roman costume to do some magic. The effect on Mr. Grasselli is startling. He nearly chokes.

5 Then Sarah Jane and Tommy do their act, and Mr. Grasselli has another surprise. Sarah can SING. And Tommy can PLAY! "I wonder," ponders Mr. Grasselli.

6 The climax arrives. Sarah Jane, togged out as a glamor girl, sings another of Tommy's songs. This time it is comedy. The show is a hit, and Mr. Grasselli has gotten a glimmering of an idea. What will it mean for Sarah—for Tommy?

Aviation and Fate of Graf Spee

Lack of Air Eyes Big Factor

By WAYNE THOMIS

FROM ENGLAND comes a story concerning the part played by aircraft in the dramatic and final conflict off Rio Grande do Sul last Dec. 13 when the three light British cruisers Exeter, Ajax, and Achilles defeated in pitched battle the Nazis' prized pocket battleship, the Admiral Graf Spee. It is impossible at this time and distance to verify the accuracy of the story, but it was told recently by some of the British officers and men who engaged in that sea fight.

According to their story the Graf Spee had been able to conduct its successful three-month campaign of raiding and preying on British and French commerce in the South Atlantic by constantly using its three seaplanes. Two of these were active daily, with the third in reserve, dismantled to provide spares for the two planes in service. All of them were Arado low-wing two-seater scout monoplanes on floats. They gave Captain Langsdorff, the Graf Spee's commander, an accurate picture of the shipping within a 300-mile radius of his vessel.

While they were active the British just missed surprising him on several occasions when the airplanes spotted the pursuers. Information of their whereabouts enabled Langsdorff to avoid them. But there came a time when weather made the scouting flights impossible. During the last week of November and the first of December last year heavy storms swept the areas where the battleship was cruising. And this weather made it impossible to launch the seaplanes. Ultimately it caused damage to two of the ships, and—if the story is true—might even be cited as a contributing factor to the final debacle.

The Graf Spee's planes were arranged so that they were shot into the air from the deck by a compressed air catapult. But it was necessary after each flight for the machine to alight on the sea, taxi alongside, and make a connection with tackle from a hoisting winch. Then it was lifted aboard. In extremely rough weather it was impossible both to catapult the seaplanes and to have them alight on the sea so they could be taken aboard again.

Furthermore, it is reported, seas became so rough that the airplanes carried on the Graf Spee's catapults were badly damaged, altho they were lashed down. Tons of water, cascading high, damaged wings and tail surfaces. Finally mechanics dismounted the heavy motors and propellers, detached wings, and stripped down the fuselages. This was done to prevent further damage. And when this was done the vessel was deprived of her aerial eyes.

The summer storms in the southern hemisphere came at a time most propitious for the British. For altho the weather had been fair for a day or two before the fatal meeting between the four vessels, the flight mechanics aboard the Spee had not had time to rebuild the seaplanes. And so it was that the Spee was caught by the British at a time when, so far as Langsdorff had known, no British force was within hundreds of miles.

Thus the surprise was laid to the fact that the Spee's seaplanes were out of operation. Then in the fight the Spee failed to obtain the sort of information which might have been the turning point in the battle. With the faster British boats weaving in and out of smoke screens, the Spee's gun pointers were badly handicapped. True, they badly damaged the Exeter, but they couldn't follow the movements of the lighter Achilles and Ajax.

If the seaplanes had been aloft they could have given directions for the Spee's secondary batteries of 5.9-inch guns and the Spee probably would have been able to take care of both British vessels, for the Spee's secondary batteries were the equal of the 6-inch guns on both the English boats. As it was, according to Langsdorff's own astonished account of the fight, the British, "risking more than seemed credible," dashed in, firing at ranges of a mile and a half, to shower the heavier craft with their shells. And these ultimately won the fight, forcing Langsdorff into Montevideo harbor, where he eventually scuttled his ship.

It is very possible that Langsdorff's decision to flee into the neutral port rather than stand and fight against the British was also due to his lack of seaplanes. If the planes had been flying he would have known for certain that only the two light British boats were opposing him. While we probably will never know with certainty, it can be assumed that he believed a far superior British force was engaging him. Once again vital information might have changed the tide of battle.

There is still another element in the battle in which an airplane was involved. The British report that one of their own float planes, a slow old flying boat, was in the air during the battle and that the pilot actually dived on the Spee and drove the crews of her minor guns under cover. This pilot also was supposed to have machine-gunned the crew in the Spee's fighting top. The Spee's float planes were much superior in speed and maneuverability to the British boat and probably would have shot it down had they been in the air.

Photographs taken in Montevideo harbor showed one of the damaged seaplanes on the Spee's catapult. News stories from there said that the ship was damaged by British shells. Actually a study of the photograph shows that the ship had been dismantled by friendly hands—obviously the Spee's own mechanics. The wings were not shot off, but were detached. So was the motor and the tail. It's possible that the fabric covering of the fuselage was torn off by the wind and seas of the stormy period just prior to the fight. So far as can be told by examination of the picture the plane escaped unscathed in the battle.

Navy men tell us that the concussion of the Spee's own 11-inch batteries would have shaken up the craft considerably but that in its dismantled condition little damage even from this source could have been done.

The Story of the Book of Kells

By MILDRED BURKE

THE BOOK of Kells, the most beautiful book in the world, has baffled and intrigued countless people for generations. It is a copy of the four gospels, or the New Testament, wrought by unknown hands in the seventh century in the monastery at Kells, not far from Dublin, Ireland. According to Irish tradition, the great St. Columba or Columcille, remarkable leader of the early Christian era, may have written it or been instrumental in producing this incomparable illuminated work of art and scholarship. It is not surprising that Ireland, gratefully called the land of saints and scholars, should have preserved and cherished this work of marvelous artistry.

What fortunate circumstances and luck prevailed to deposit this treasure in Trinity college library, Dublin, in 1624? Patiently worked on and exquisitely embellished with pictures and color, it remained at Kells until about 1106, when it was stolen. The golden box or container sudded with precious jewels was spirited away, never to be recovered. The rare book, carelessly tossed aside by the culprit, was buried under the sod for 22 months. It was found by a peasant who in some way recognized its worth and took it to Archbishop Ussher. After Ussher's death his library was acquired by Trinity college and ultimately the Book of Kells was enshrined in Dublin.

It is worth a trip to Ireland just to see the Book of Kells. What better day to view this book than St. Patrick's? It is fitting that we keep St. Patrick in mind, because in addition to spreading Christianity he aided scholars and artists in their work of developing art and preserving records of civilization and culture. Appropriate it is that the Irish people, whose souls and spirits are attuned to beauty, should have the privilege of protecting this evidence of early Irish culture. When Europe was overrun by barbarians Ireland's glory was that it kept alive and fostered intellectual progress and civilization.

Our quest for the most beautiful book in the world has brought us to charming Dublin—ancient yet modern—unlike any other city of the world. Cross the wide O'Connell bridge over the River Liffey with its legendary white swans. Walk thru Westmoreland street, with glimpses of the beautiful Bank of Ireland, statues of Thomas Moore, the poet, and Grattan, the Irish Demosthenes, to the gateway of Trinity. Green and gray classic buildings lend an attractive appearance to this ancient seat of learning. Trinity college was founded by Queen Elizabeth in 1591 on the site of a destroyed monastery. Pause for a moment at the entrance to admire Foley's fine statue of lovable Oliver Goldsmith, who worked his way thru Trinity to have his literary efforts become classics. Who can forget "The Deserted Village," "Vicar of Wakefield," and "She Stoops to Conquer"? Then on the left of the entrance is the manly, spirited figure of Edmund Burke, contemporary of Goldsmith but not acquainted. Burke's brilliancy, statesmanship, oratory, and work in behalf of the American colonists are recalled. "Conciliation with America" gives him a secure place in history.

Linger a moment to admire the campanile with its arched belfry and melodious chimes calling the students to classes. Did not these bells bring forth that favorite "Those Evening Bells" from Thomas Moore's poetic imagination?

The Book of Kells undoubtedly fascinated many famous men who attended Trinity and left an indelible impression on them. One thinks of the many distinguished men—Swift, Congreve, Bishop Berkeley, Flood, Grattan, Sheridan, Emmet, Thomas Moore, Hamilton, Lecky, Wilde, and Synge—who as students scampered across the college green to classes.

Let's go direct to the library, one of the greatest in Europe and entitled to receive a copy of every book published in the United Kingdom. We mount a narrow, dark stairway and stand before a heavy door where a bell says RING. The scholarly librarian appreciates the special request to see the book alone without the usual accompanying crowd. He carefully removes the protective covering, and there is the illuminated book of intangible beauty, the legacy to the world of Ireland's golden age. Ageless and timeless this book, a hymn in color. Bulwer-Lytton probably had this Book of Kells in thought when he said in "The Souls of Books," "There is no past so long as books shall live!"

Move yourself back to the seventh century, 800 years before Gutenberg revolutionized the world with the invention of printing. Think of the day when most of the learning and literature centered in the monasteries, where the artist monk spent days and years on the illumination of a single letter. One recalls other rare and ancient records, such as the Gutenberg Bible, of which there are but 45 in existence; the Oxford Gazette of 1665, which is the oldest newspaper extant; and the oldest copy of The Chicago Tribune of almost 100 years ago. The precious vellum pages of the Book of Kells give us a tangible contact with a much earlier time.

• On page one of today's Picture Section are reproduced in full color examples of the priceless art work in the Book of Kells.

The glowing leaves, delicately turned, reveal their enchanting colors of crimson and blue, purple and black, sienna, yellow, and green, intriguing the eye with the intricate mazes of line, the delicate tracery, and the exquisite miniatures of ornament. These pages are a symphony of color, comparable in some degree to the stained glass windows of Chartres and the masterpieces of Giotto and Raphael.

We, too, can almost believe, as did Giraldus Cambrensis, medieval historian, that the scribes were guided by angels in making the Book of Kells. It was an age when monks as copyists considered the transcribing of sacred texts their delightful duty. Austin Dobson said of that resplendent epoch and the books:

Not as ours the books of old—
Things that steam can stamp and fold;
Not as ours the books of yore—
Rows of type, and nothing more.

Then a book was still a book,
Where a wistful man might look,
Finding something thru the whole
Beating—like a human soul.

The Book of Kells is priceless. Since all the wealth of the world could not replace it, no insurance has been placed upon it. We look about and see the noble, impressive background for this work of patience, genius, and art. A long room, two-storied, with stacks of books in partitions or alcoves fronted by columns of carved oak. In front of the column are busts of alumni. One of the finest libraries in Europe treasures the Book of Kells. Trinity college library is rich in manuscripts written when Ireland was a center of scholarship for Europe. Then, in the rest of northern Europe, men who could write were scarce. Here are the Irish writings developed into an art, and the supreme example is the Book of Kells.

Three hundred and thirty-nine leaves of thick, finely glazed vellum or sheepskin, measuring 13x9½ inches, are carefully enshrined in the glass case before us. This wonderful volume rests during the daytime on a metal stand beneath the glass case, over which a curtain is drawn when no one is inspecting it, to prevent the colors from fading. At night, the librarian tells us, it is removed into a fireproof safe, borne on the metal rack that supports it, so that the book itself may not be handled. Only once in 24 hours is the book touched, and then merely to turn a new page for the examination of visitors. Every precaution has been taken to guard this Book of Kells, which has survived centuries of violence and many vicissitudes of fortune. Unfortunate it is, the librarian tells us sadly, that a ruthless bookbinder more than a hundred years ago cut down the pages, destroying some of the illuminations.

Sir Edmund Sullivan, who spent a lifetime in the study of the Book of Kells and whose book has been published in several editions, says this concerning the manuscript which has caught the dreams and fancies of many:

"Its weird and commanding beauty; its subdued and goldless coloring; the baffling intricacy of its fearless designs; the clean, unwavering sweep of rounded spiral; the creeping undulations of serpentine forms that writhe in artistic profusion thruout the mazes of its decorations; the strong and legible minuscule of its text; the quaintness of its striking portraiture; the unwearied reverence and patient labor that brought it into being; all of which combined go to make up the Book of Kells, have raised this ancient Irish volume to a position of abiding preëminence amongst the illuminated manuscripts of the world."

A Cake and a Pudding That Top Off a Meal

Bittersweet frosting is accomplished by pouring melted chocolate over cooked white icing. It's a fudge cake.

Bittersweet Chocolate Overflows One; Cherries, Rice Make Up Other

By MARY MEADE

AFTER a chocolate or devil's food layer cake has been frosted thickly with seven-minute or marshmallow frosting it's fun sometimes to coat the top with a thin layer of melted unsweetened chocolate, letting the brown stuff drip as it will down the sides of the cake.

Bittersweet cake, such a dessert might be called. And here's a very special recipe for a cake to hold up that bittersweet frosting.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE

(Three nine-inch layers)

2¼	cups sifted cake flour
1	teaspoon soda
¾	teaspoon salt
⅔	cup vegetable shortening
1	cup granulated sugar
3	unbeaten eggs
1¼	cups milk
4	squares unsweetened chocolate
¾	cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1	teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, soda, and salt together several times. Cream shortening and granulated sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time and beat thoroly after each is added. Melt chocolate in milk in the top of a double boiler. Blend with rotary beater. Add brown sugar and beat until smooth. Cool this mixture. Add alternate portions of sifted flour mixture and cooled chocolate mixture to the batter, beating after each addition. Add vanilla and pour batter into three greased, wax-paper-lined pans. Bake at 325 degrees for half an hour, or until done. Cool layers for five minutes in the pan, then turn out onto a cake rack to finish cooling. Put layers together with boiled frosting or seven-minute icing.

An entirely different kind of dessert is cherry rice. Don't serve it with the cake. Such a combination would be much too rich for even the hardiest digestion. Serve the cake alone or with plain ice cream (make the slices thin), and serve the cherry rice with tiny cookies or perhaps petits fours.

CHERRY RICE

(Serves six or eight)

1	No. 2 can pitted sour cherries
¾	cup whipping cream
¾	cup sugar
½	teaspoon vanilla
1½	cups cooked rice
2	teaspoons cornstarch

Drain cherries. Whip cream until stiff; beat in ⅛ cup sugar. Add vanilla. Fold in rice and chill. Mix cornstarch and remaining sugar in saucepan. Add cherry juice and cook until mixture is thickened and clear. When ready to serve, fold cherries into the chilled cream mixture and serve in sherbet glasses with the cherry sauce.

A cherry sauce is served over this cherry, whipped cream, and rice dessert. Doesn't it look good?

Gems of American Eloquence

● American eloquence has played an important part in the history of our country. From a long list of famous speeches The Tribune is selecting gems of American eloquence which are being presented in this, the Graphic Section, every Sunday. The content of these speeches is important both historically and politically. Persons learning to speak in public will find in them helpful lessons. Speakers and writers can learn a great deal from studying their style. Patrick Henry's immortal address is reprinted here by popular request as the forty-first of the series in observance of the 165th anniversary, next Saturday, of its deliverance.

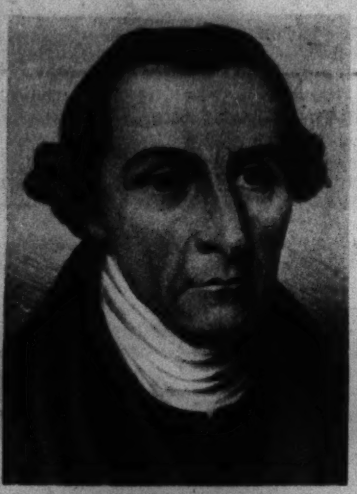
IT IS MARCH 23, 1775. The second Virginia convention to consider the question of war with England is in session in St. John's church, Richmond, Va. The speaker is Patrick Henry, lawyer, legislator, and patriot. Read what he says:



PATRICK HENRY

"I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided; and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future but by the past. And, judging by the past, I wish to know what there has been in the conduct of the British ministry, for the last ten years, to justify those hopes with which gentlemen have been pleased to solace themselves and the house. Is it that insidious smile with which our petition has been lately received? Trust it not, sir; it will prove a snare to your feet. Suffer not yourself to be betrayed with a kiss. Ask yourselves how this gracious reception of our petition comports with those warlike preparations which cover our waters and darken our land. Are fleets and armies necessary to a work of love and reconciliation? Have we shown ourselves so unwilling to be reconciled that force must be called in to win back love? Let us not deceive ourselves, sir. These are the implements of war and subjugation—the last arguments to which kings resort. I ask gentlemen, sir, what means this martial array, if its purpose be not to force us to submission? Can gentlemen assign any other possible motive for it? Has Great Britain any enemy, in this quarter of the world, to call for all this accumulation of navies and armies? No, sir, she has none. They are meant for us; they can be meant for no other. They are sent over to bind and rivet upon us those chains which the British ministry have been so long forging. And what have we to oppose to them? Shall we try argument? Sir, we have been trying that for the last ten years. Have we anything new to offer upon the subject? Nothing. We have held the subject up in every light of which it is capable; but it has been all in vain. Shall we resort to entreaty and humble supplication? What terms shall we find which have not been already exhausted? Let us not, I beseech you, sir, deceive ourselves longer. Sir, we have done everything that could be done to avert the storm which is now coming on. We have petitioned; we have remonstrated; we have supplicated; we have prostrated ourselves before the throne, and have implored its interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the ministry and parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrances have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne. In vain, after these things, may we indulge the fond hope of peace and reconciliation. There is no longer any room for hope. If we wish to be free; if we mean to preserve inviolate those inestimable privileges for which we have been so long contending; if we mean not basely to abandon the noble struggle in which we have been so long engaged, and which we have pledged ourselves never to abandon until the glorious object of our contest shall be obtained—we must fight! I repeat it, sir, we must fight! An appeal to arms and to the God of Hosts is all that is left us!

"They tell us, sir, that we are weak—unable to cope with so formidable an adversary. But when shall we be stronger? Will it be the next week or the next year? Will it be when we are totally disarmed, and when a British guard shall be stationed in every house? Shall we gather strength by irresolution and inaction? Shall we acquire the means of effectual resistance by lying supinely on our backs, and hugging the delusive phantom of hope, until our enemies shall have bound us hand and foot? Sir, we are not weak, if we make a proper use of those means which the God of nature hath placed in our power. Three millions of people, armed in the holy cause of liberty, and in such a country as that which we possess, are invincible to any force which our enemy can send against us. Besides, sir, we shall not fight our battles alone. There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations, and who will raise up friends to fight our battles for us. The battle, sir, is not to the strong alone; it is to the vigilant, the active, the brave. Besides, sir, we have no election. If we were base enough to desire it, it is now too late to retire from the contest. There is no retreat but in submission and slavery. Our chains are forged. Their clanking may be heard on the plains of Boston. The war is inevitable. And let it come! I repeat it, sir, let it come!

"It is in vain, sir, to extenuate the matter. Gentlemen may cry peace, peace—but there is no peace. The war is actually begun! The next gale that sweeps from the north will bring to our ears the clash of resounding arms! Our brethren are already in the field! Why stand we idle here? What is it that gentlemen wish? What would they have? Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

The above words are those of a man speaking directly from the heart. We see in these utterances no delicate shadings of meaning; only directness, force, and determination. Rapidly, by use of plain figures of speech and simple terms, the orator builds up to his climax, "Give me liberty or give me death!" Like all great orations, this one may seem cold in the printed words as compared with the spoken words of its author. Yet any one reading it can get the feel of its force. And several of its passages actually sing in the mind, notably that beautiful interrogation: "Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?"

KNOW YOUR CAMERA

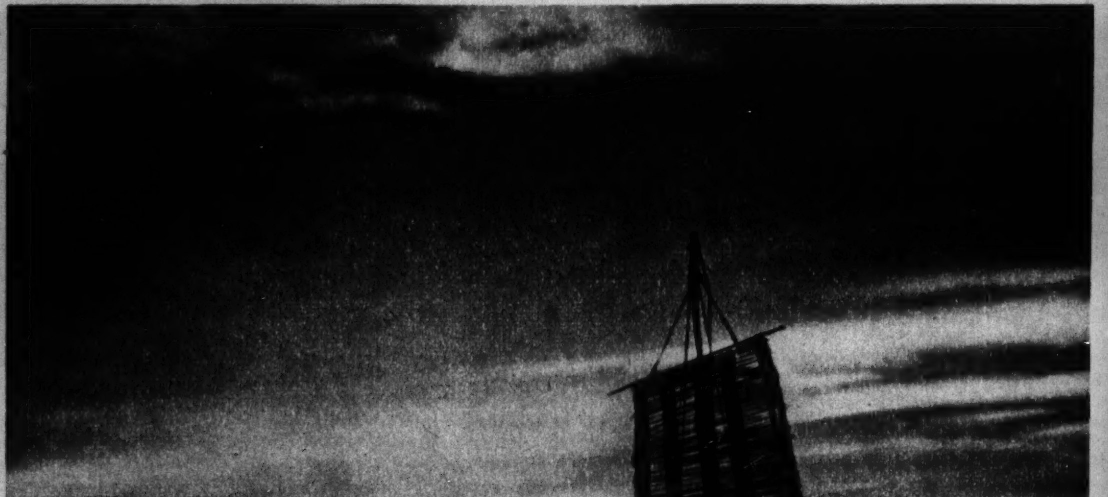
By ANDREW B. HECHT, Ph. D.

(Managing Editor, Popular Photography Magazine.)

One Time to Break the Rules

SOMETIMES—not often—it's good to forget old-established photographic rules and to do exactly the opposite of what the textbooks advise. There are certain types of pictures which can be made only by disregarding well founded rules.

This is exactly what you have to do if you want to get pictures which show strong "backlighting" or if you want to include your light source—whether it be the sinking sun, a fireplace, or a lamp—in your picture. Pictures of this kind can easily turn out to be the most fascinating and the best you ever made, but to make them you have to shoot "against the light"—a procedure which is normally considered one of the most elementary mistakes.



Pointing the camera against the light creates dramatic pictorial effects which cannot be produced by any other means.

Backlighting gives a picture a peculiar atmosphere of its own. It makes you conscious of light rays in the air and surrounds the outlines of the subject with a luminous halo. It also throws long shadows toward the camera which in the finished print lead the eye into the picture. But above all it more or less automatically simplifies composition by suppressing much of the detail in the picture. It transforms objects in the picture field into broad masses which are pictorially much more effective than if they would show a lot of distracting detail.

Shooting against the light is not quite as simple as the expression indicates. If you pointed your lens directly at the sun or another strong light source and snapped the shutter, the chances are that all you would get would be a pitch black negative from which no print could be made. Therefore you must frame your picture in such a manner that the main object is interposed between the camera and the light source, acting as a shield.

Obviously you can do this only if the sun—or other source of light—is in a low position. Consequently the best time to make pictures against the light is early in the morning or late in the afternoon.

You should always use a lens shade when taking pictures of this kind, to eliminate stray light and reflections falling on your lens. If you develop your own pictures, give this type of shot a relatively brief development to avoid excessive contrast.

It is less risky to shoot directly into an artificial light source without a shield for the lens. You can photograph people sitting around a burning fireplace or a lamp without either overexposing the light source or underexposing the figures.

The light of even very bright flames is rather weak and makes an exposure of several seconds necessary if it is the only light source. You can strengthen this light and get shorter exposures by throwing small quantities of flash powder in the fire. However, this method creates sudden flashes of strong light which cause overexposure unless you pose a dark object between the lens and the fire.

In the case of pictures including burning lamps use either weak bulbs and a relatively long exposure or stronger bulbs shielded by an opaque or semi-transparent lamp shade. Assuming that one lamp is the center of your picture, the figures grouped around the lamp will fade off into darkness. In some cases you may want this effect. In others you can counteract it by placing both the lamp and your subjects near to a light wall which will catch reflections from the lamp and bring out the silhouette of the figures. Or you can put a weak light, invisible to the camera, behind your figures to lift them out of the surrounding darkness.

Migration—a Miracle of Nature

● This is the last of three articles on bird flight, made timely by the northward migration at this season. The first described the bird's evolution from the reptile; the second, the function of the wing.

By GREER WILLIAMS

THE POWER of flight is essential to most birds' existence. Their wings give them a freedom, independence, and safety which man has always envied. Flight enables them to escape their ground enemies and to place their nests more or less out of danger from attack. It enables them to range great distances from their breeding grounds in search of food and, when winter or famine threatens, to migrate to a better land.

In general nature has given the various species of birds the type of wing suited to their individual needs. The need in some cases was so small that the bird lost the power of flight; for instance, the ostrich, which is adapted to running, and the penguin, whose wings are part of its swimming mechanism.

At the opposite extreme are the man-o'-war bird, the South American condor, and the wandering albatross. The man-o'-war or frigate bird is said to have more wing area per pound of body than any other bird, a wing span of seven or eight feet supporting a body about the size of the average rooster's. This bird can sail effortlessly over the sea all day, seizing fish which come to the surface or stealing the catches of gulls and terns. Its wings are so long and its legs so short that it has difficulty in rising from its nest. It sometimes becomes entangled in nearby bushes and dies.

The condor is the biggest flight bird, but it is not known whether it or the wandering albatross has the greatest wing span. The wing spreads of both birds may run as high as 12 feet.

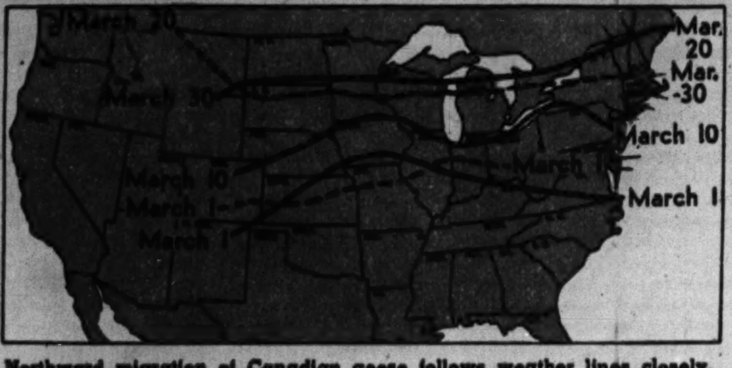
The condor, like other vultures, is a scavenger, living by preference on carrion. Its long, broad, rectangular wings permit it to soar in search of food for hours without wing movement. But the wings of the condor and those of the man-o'-war bird and the albatross are very different. The latter two have long, pointed "ribbon" wings which enable them to maneuver in the air more easily than the condor. The man-o'-war bird surpasses the albatross, however, because of a lighter wing load.

Eagles, hawks, falcons, kites, buzzards, ravens, gulls, and pelicans all have wings combining to one degree or another the soaring and maneuvering qualities of the condor and the man-o'-war bird. They are strong, swift flyers—but not the swiftest.

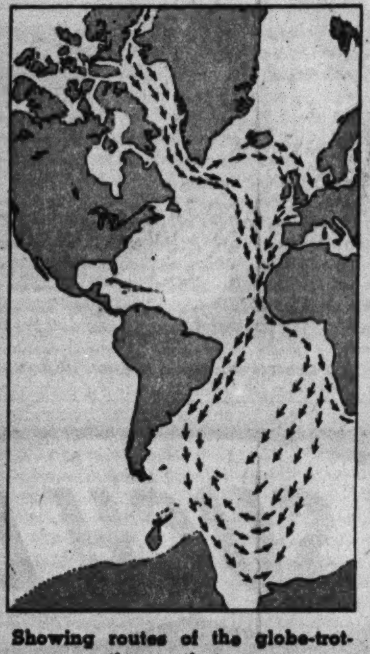
That honor rests with the 200-mile-an-hour cloud swift, whose narrow, pointed wings are adapted to catching insects in the air at great speed. The swifts also are the masters of quick maneuvering. Their closest rival is the duck hawk in speed, but the latter is surpassed by several birds in ability to make quick turns and twists. One is the swallow, and another is the nighthawk, both of which catch insects on the wing.

Ducks and teal fall into the speed-wing class, altho their body weight prevents any aerial acrobatics. Their wings are triangular—broad at the base and pointed at the end. This type is suited to quick takeoffs and long flight.

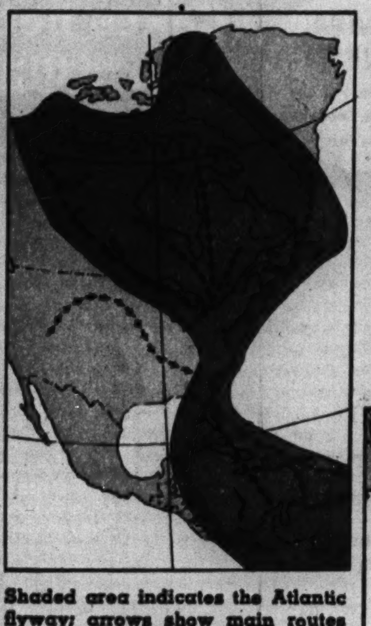
All the birds mentioned do their flying for the most part in unobstructed space. The birds which live in the woods and bushes have a different problem. Swiftness and maneuverability are important to them, but would be difficult with long wings, which could become entangled in foliage and undergrowth. Nature has taken care of the matter, however, by providing most wood birds with short, broad, blunt wings.



Northward migration of Canadian geese follows weather lines closely. Dotted lines indicate north limit of 35-degree temperature closely; solid lines the north limit of migration on same dates.



Showing routes of the globe-trotting arctic tern.



Shaded area indicates the Atlantic flyway; arrows show main routes of migration.

Wrens, robins, bluebirds, thrushes, woodpeckers, sparrows, and warblers all have variations of the short, blunt wing. They are neither the strongest nor the fastest flyers, but they are well adapted to flitting thru the trees. The extreme in this wing type is found in the ruffed grouse, whose wing is almost semicircular. The grouse is poor at maneuvering, however.

Probably the most impressive use of flight is in migration, which may be defined as a regular cycle of travel between two regions.

The arctic tern is champion globe trotter among the birds. It breeds within the Arctic circle, its nest having been found only 450 miles from the north pole, and winters in the sea along the Antarctic continent. The distance is 11,000 miles, meaning a round trip of 22,000 miles or more every year!

On the other hand, a bird's migration flight may total only a few miles. Mountain birds, such as the long-tailed chickadee of the Rocky mountains, may descend only from the mountain top to the valley, a few thousand feet nearer sea level, when winter comes.

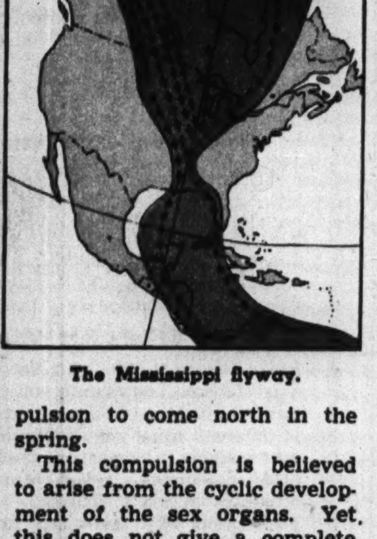
The nonstop distance birds travel in migrating may vary anywhere from the 25 miles a day estimated for songbirds to the 2,100-mile hop of the golden plover, which is generally conceded to hold the nonstop flight title. One group of plovers nest in Alaska and winter in Hawaii. The minimum distance between land in this trip is 2,100 miles, and it is considered doubtful if all birds making this hop attempt to rest in the sea en route. Another group of plovers nest in Labrador and winter in Argentina. Islands along this route limit trans-ocean flights to 800 miles at the most, however. It is estimated that the plover migrates at about 60 miles an hour.

The fuel used in this flight consists of body fat weighing less than two ounces. A 1,000-pound airplane would have to fly 20 miles on a pint of gasoline, instead of the usual gallon, to duplicate this fuel economy.

The causes of migration are not completely understood. Obviously it's a wise bird which goes to the tropics when winter is approaching. Snow and ice may cut off its supply of insects or seeds. Yet most birds leave while the weather is still warm and the food abundant. And the advisability of fall migration does not explain the compulsion to come north in the spring.



The Mississippi flyway.

This compulsion is believed to arise from the cyclic development of the sex organs. Yet, this does not give a complete explanation, since many species of birds are year-around inhabitants of either northern or tropical lands.

The migratory habit is perhaps best explained as a hereditary instinct. But how did the instinct develop in some and not in others? There are two contradictory theories offered to answer this:

1. All the birds which summer in the north once lived here the year around, but the descent of the great glacier gradually forced them southward to seek survival. Then the glacier slowly receded and the northerners among the birds returned as vegetation and insect life were renewed. They got the habit of northward and southward movement.

2. All the birds were originally inhabitants of the tropics, but overpopulation gradually drove some northward during the breeding season to avoid the increased competition for food. When northern winters approached they hurried back home. But the instinct of seeking more abundant food for their young had developed, and they continued to fly north each spring.

No bird authority questions that a search for the best breeding grounds in the summer and the best resting grounds in the winter is involved, but they are still inclined to regard migration as one of nature's mysteries. The problem is not made simpler by the fact that birds like robins and bluebirds closely pursue the northward recession of winter—sometimes arriving before warm weather actually has begun—and stay in the north until late fall, whereas birds like the orchard oriole may stay only two and a half months. Others in a hurry are warblers, shore birds, swallows, and nighthawks. It is generally observed that those arriving early stay late and those arriving late leave early. The facts merely add to the mystery.

Where birds get their sense of direction is another complex question. Frequently each pair will fly year after year between two localities, altho they may have traveled several thousand miles to find the same summer and winter home. Each species has its special flyway, often taking one route southward and another northward. Some birds of the northwest when ready to migrate south fly to the eastern seaboard before heading southward, adding several hundreds of miles to their trip.

The keen sight of most birds may contribute to their pathfinding, but most songbirds migrate at night, when few topographical details other than seacoasts and rivers could be seen. They often fly thru fogs. Ordinarily their hearing is acute only for sounds of high pitch, making this sense of doubtful aid in setting a course. Their sense of smell is considered degenerate.

Some evidence indicates that the bird's "sixth sense" is a sensitivity based on the lines of the earth's magnetic field, just as an induction compass registers more or less electric current as one pursues a course thru the magnetic lines. Experiments have been conducted in which homing pigeons, usually quick to orient themselves when released at faraway points, become quickly confused when released in the vicinity of a powerful radio station while it is "on the air."

There are three things about migration which are quite definitely known now. One is that birds do not hibernate in the mud during winter, as related in at least 175 old publications. Another is that birds do not transmute from one species to another when winter comes. The phenomenon of one species disappearing and another appearing is that one may migrate overnight and the other meanwhile take up winter residency. The third is that little birds do not hitch-hike on big birds during migration, despite stories about some one finding a heron with a hummingbird stowed away in its feathers.

When Worming for Tape, Round (ascarid) and Hook Worms
You Cannot Worm Your Dog WRONG
—if you follow the sound, "no-guess," commonsense Pulvex Worming Method.

The Pulvex Worming Method (embodied in every package of Pulvex Combination Treatment Worm Capsules) insures your worming your dog properly for those worms . . . even though you've had no worming experience. It is so sure that many breeders of champion dogs say the Pulvex Worming Method is the method the average dog owner should use.

Your dog can have Tape, Round (ascarid), Hook or any combination of those worms at the same time. Your dog should, therefore, always be wormed for all those worms whenever you worm him.

Contrary to common belief, no single-type capsule made can expel all those three worms. Two types of capsules must be used. Each package of Pulvex Capsules contains two types of capsules which, given a few days apart, expel Tape, Round (ascarid) or Hook Worms—not just one or two kinds of worms.

Avoid worming your pet wrong for those worms! Worm only with Pulvex Capsules. Packaged two ways: for puppies; for dogs. Either type 50c. At Drug, Pet, Dept. stores.

The Puzzle of What to Feed Pet

A puppy debut that was rather blue. Burgale of Starcrest and Resi of Starcrest are the names of these rather bewildered dachshunds, which were photographed when they made their first public appearance at a puppy match.

THE MORE a dog owner talks with professional dog handlers the more he realizes that the question of foods for dogs is a highly controversial subject. One is apt to hear about some queer diets for family pets.

Puppies and grown dogs vary considerably in their tastes, the amount of food required to keep them healthy, and also in what agrees with them. Your dog may like a small amount of cooked vegetables in his diet. Your neighbor's dog apparently can't eat them. Your friend's dog may turn up his nose at dog biscuits, while your pet will eat any kind of prepared dry dog food from biscuits to the hard, compressed type of food, and thrive on them. One dog is crazy about eggs, and then you find that eggs do not agree with another family pet. One of our dogs likes cottage cheese. Another will take any punishment rather than eat the stuff.

It is not easy to lay down a specific diet for any dog. On the other hand, we never have seen dogs suffer on a diet of meat in some form (as represented by raw beef, as found in a well made prepared dog food, or cooked beef, lamb, or mutton from the table), a high-grade dry dog food, milk, and a few vegetables. However, these fundamentals apply in all cases:

Chicken bones, fish bones, and other sharp bones should not be fed to a dog.

Milk does not cause worms in a puppy or grown dog.

Don't disturb your dog when he's eating.

Pork, hot breads, potatoes, candy, beans, turnips, rich sausages, peanuts, and similar items are not among the desirable foods for dogs.

Most dogs usually like cooked mutton, lamb, and boned fish, and these foods are good for dogs.

Among the vegetables that we frequently give our dogs (in small quantities, for dogs are not vegetarians) are carrots, boiled onions, tomatoes, and lettuce. As a rule these vegetables agree with the majority of dogs.

Dogs are carnivorous animals. They need a large percentage of meat, either cooked and included in a prepared food; as it is fed from the table (beef, mutton, or lamb); as it is included in a dry food, or raw as it comes from the butcher shop. (However, there are dogs that won't touch raw meat.)

If your dog is a gulper, don't worry. It's natural for him to gulp his food, because he can't grind up a piece of meat with his teeth as we do. The reason he can't do a good job of mastication is simple; he hasn't the kind of teeth adapted for that purpose!

A cocker spaniel, Scotty, Pomeranian, Great Dane, or St. Bernard may be fed practically the same foods as an Airedale, setter, Welsh terrier, or other breed. Many owners believe that different breeds require an entirely different kind of diet. This is not true. Altho dogs which we keep at home are wholly unlike in size and origin, they thrive on the same foods. For example, we do not give a 75-pound Labrador a meal that differs (except in quantity) from that given to a 20-pound terrier. Both eat prepared foods (both canned and dry), vegetables, meat, and other approved foods.

The average family pet may be taught any number of tricks. This Scotch terrier, named Lassie, is trained to give thanks at night for all the dog delicacies it gets during the day.

Meat does not make your dog vicious.

In raising a puppy the owner has a choice of either fresh milk or the canned irradiated milk. We notice that many kennels which raise a number of litters every year feed the canned irradiated milk, and they develop pups of excellent bone. For pups that have just been weaned the feeding routine is milk, plus a cooked cereal food, plus some solid food. As the pup gets older he gets larger quantities of solid food in the form of prepared dog food and meat.

In feeding puppies and grown dogs both kennels and individual owners are finding the dry prepared foods invaluable. The best ones have meat in them in addition to other nourishing ingredients.

Puppies need something to chew on, especially during the time they are losing their milk teeth and growing a new and permanent set of teeth. Many of these puppies can be kept from chewing rugs and other furnishings if they are given a big, smooth bone. Such a bone with a little meat and gristle on it will keep a young dog busy for a long time.

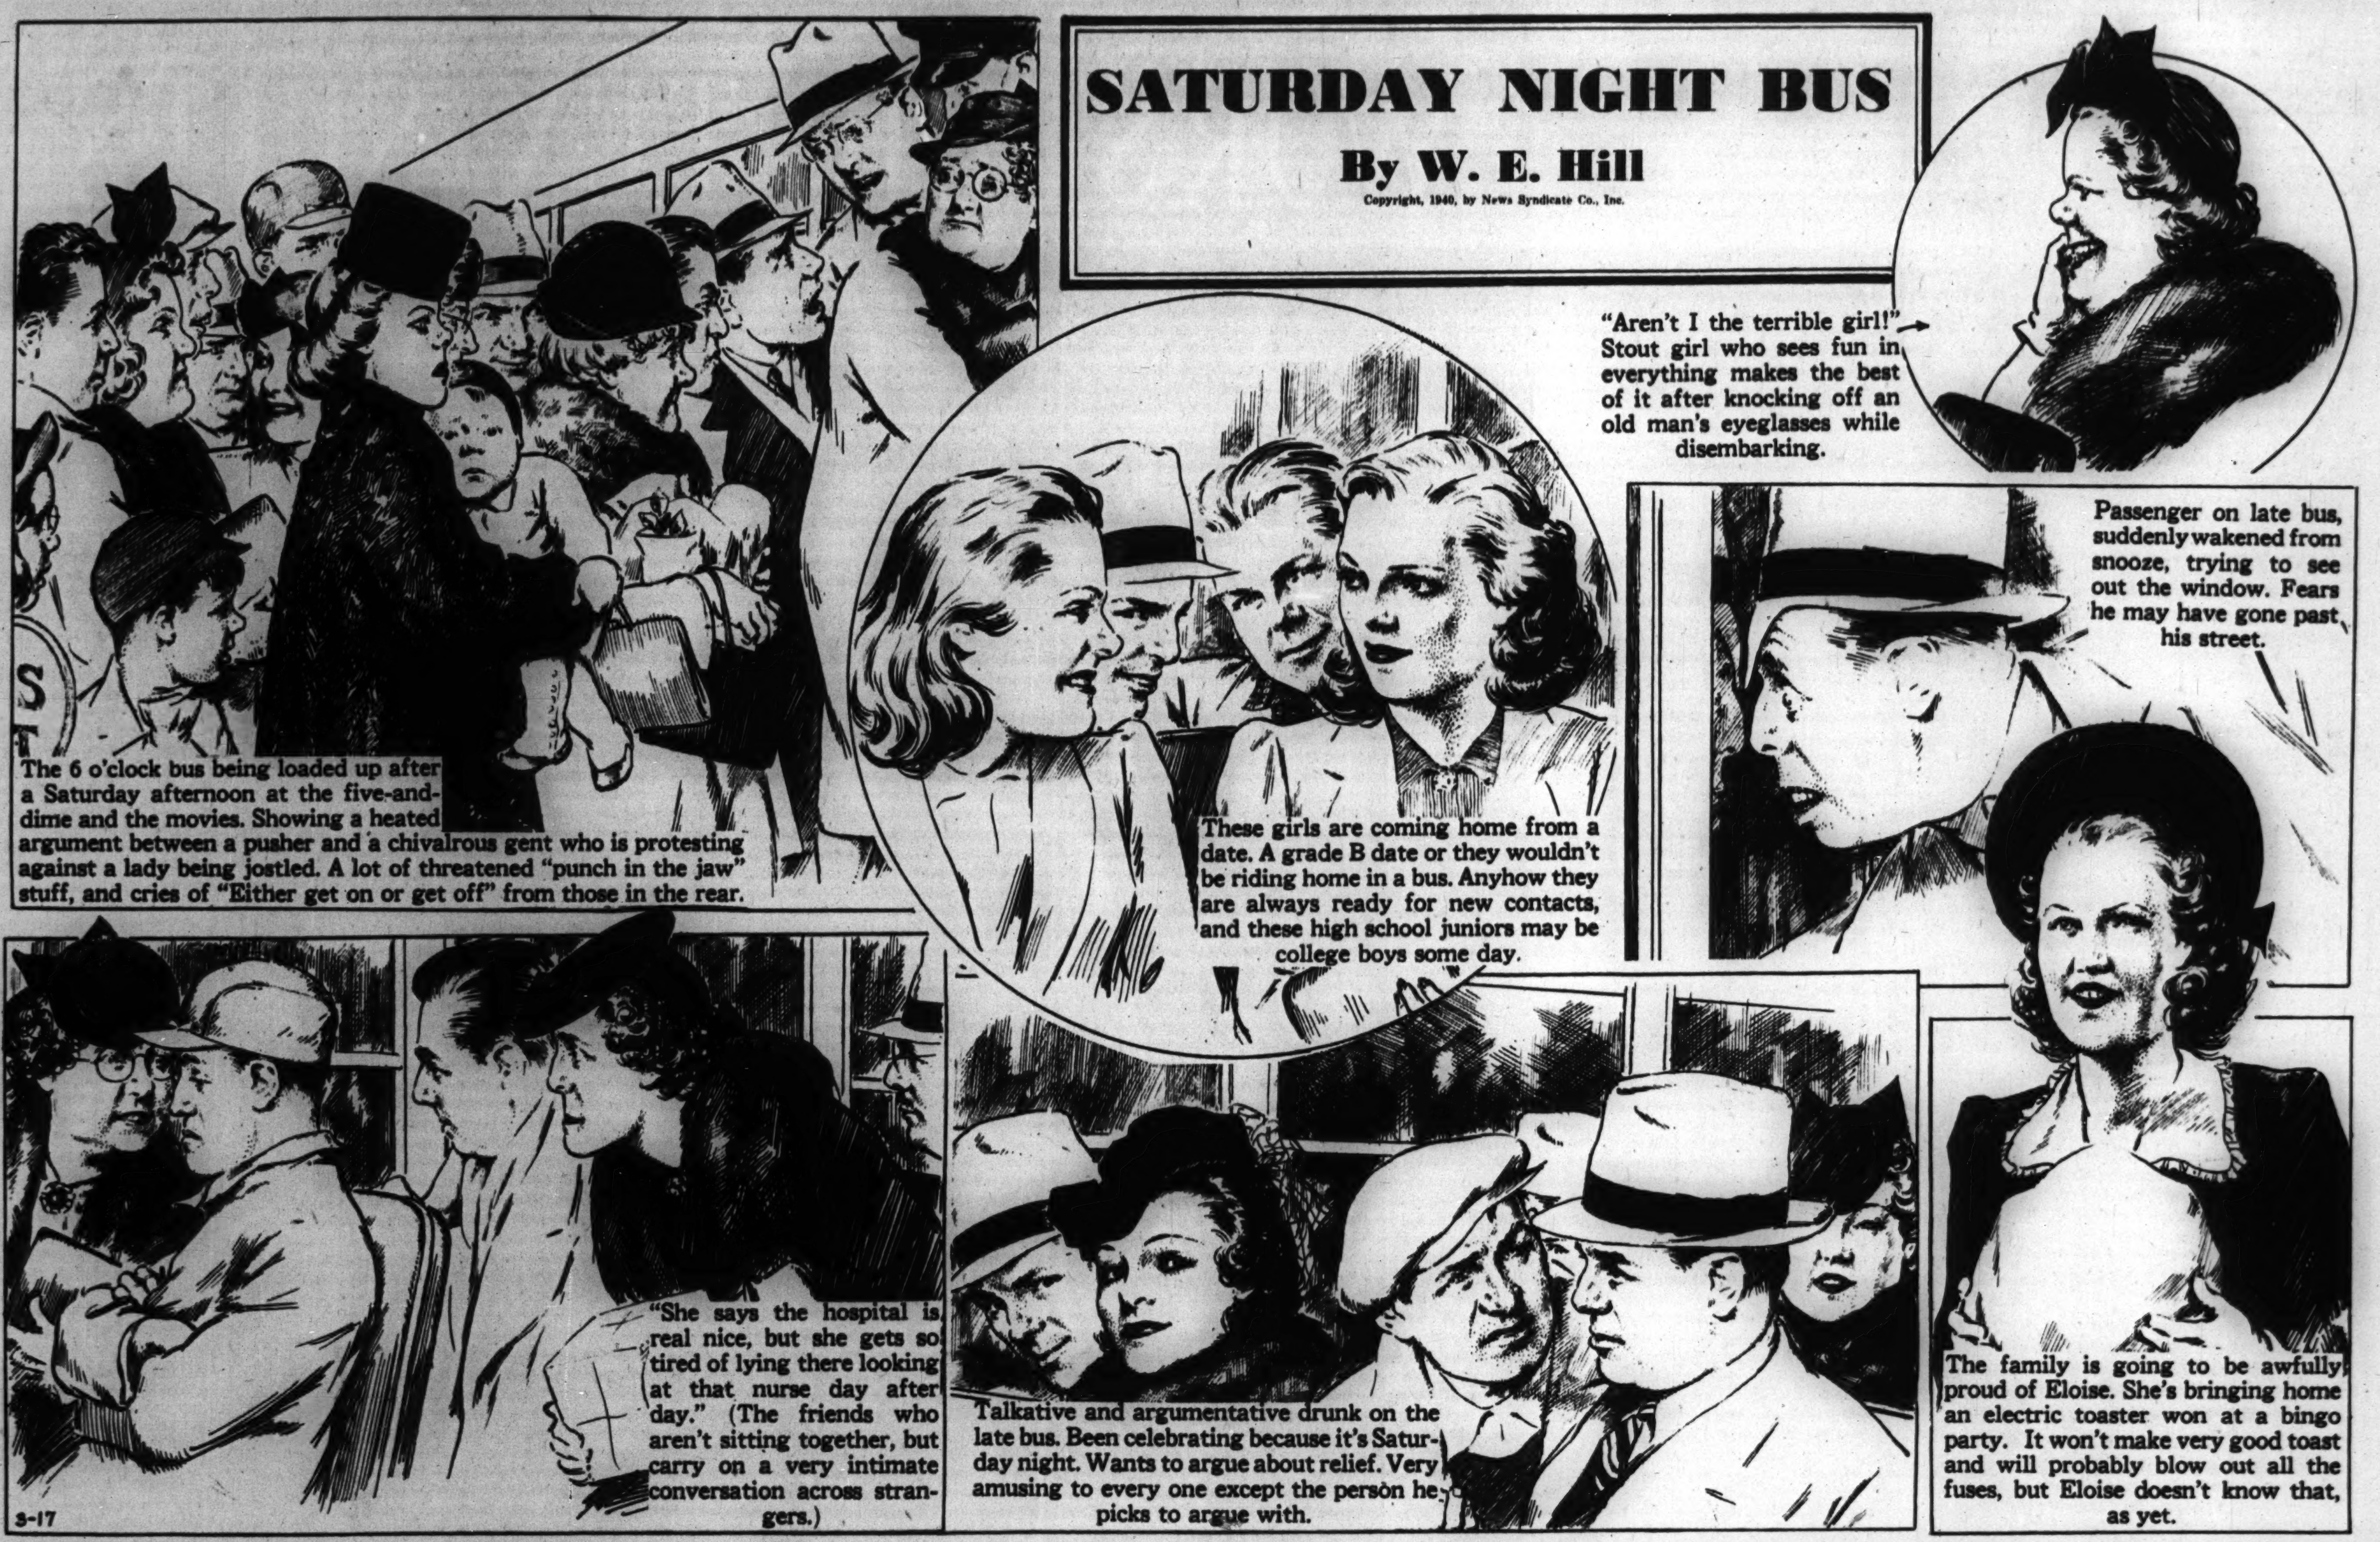
SATURDAY NIGHT BUS

By W. E. Hill

Copyright, 1940, by News Syndicate Co., Inc.



The 6 o'clock bus being loaded up after a Saturday afternoon at the five-and-dime and the movies. Showing a heated argument between a pusher and a chivalrous gent who is protesting against a lady being jostled. A lot of threatened "punch in the jaw" stuff, and cries of "Either get on or get off" from those in the rear.

"Aren't I the terrible girl!" Stout girl who sees fun in everything makes the best of it after knocking off an old man's eyeglasses while disembarking.

These girls are coming home from a date. A grade B date or they wouldn't be riding home in a bus. Anyhow they are always ready for new contacts, and these high school juniors may be college boys some day.

Passenger on late bus, suddenly wakened from snooze, trying to see out the window. Fears he may have gone past his street.

"She says the hospital is real nice, but she gets so tired of lying there looking at that nurse day after day." (The friends who aren't sitting together, but carry on a very intimate conversation across strangers.)

Talkative and argumentative drunk on the late bus. Been celebrating because it's Saturday night. Wants to argue about relief. Very amusing to every one except the person he picks to argue with.

The family is going to be awfully proud of Eloise. She's bringing home an electric toaster won at a bingo party. It won't make very good toast and will probably blow out all the fuses, but Eloise doesn't know that, as yet.

KNOW YOUR CAMERA

By ANDREW B. HECHT, Ph. D.

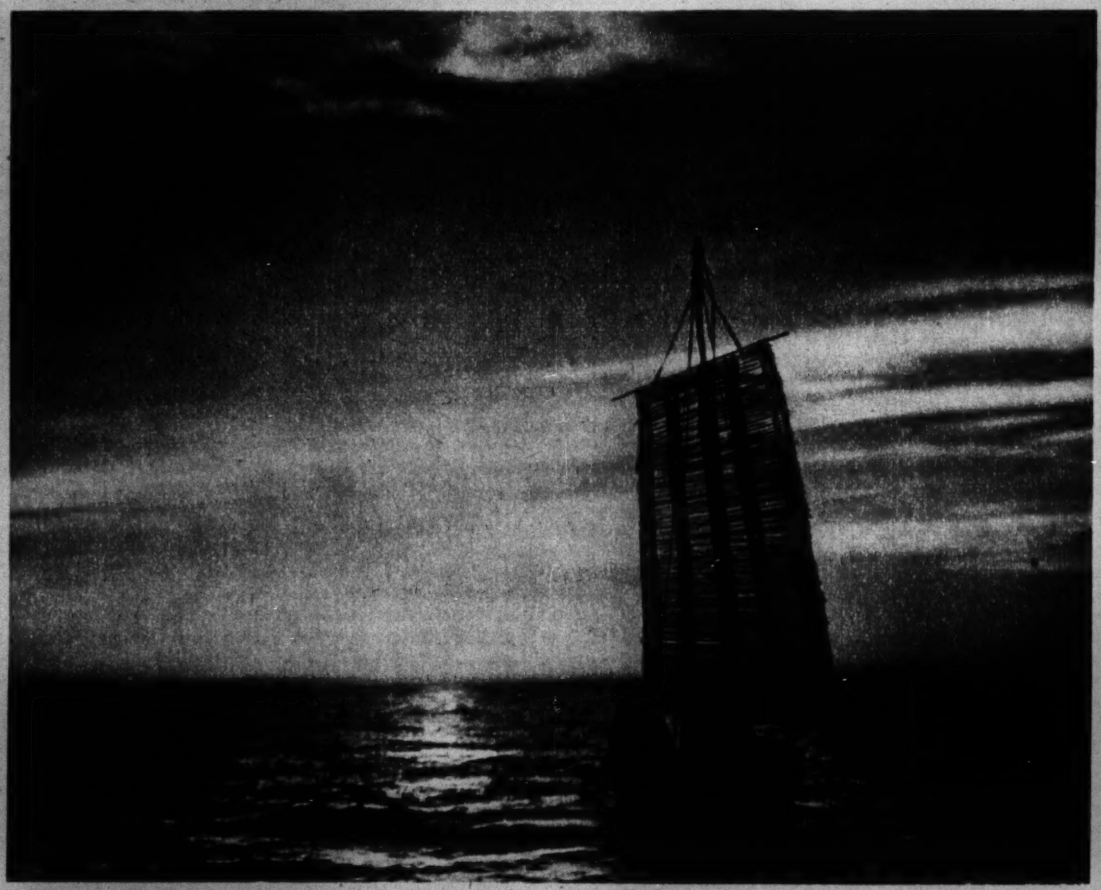
(Managing Editor, Popular Photography Magazine.)

One Time to Break the Rules

SOMETIMES—not often—it's good to forget old-established photographic rules and to do exactly the opposite of what the textbooks advise. There are certain types of pictures which can be made only by disregarding well founded rules.

This is exactly what you have to do if you want to get pictures which show strong "backlighting" or if you want to include your light source—whether it be the sinking sun, a fireplace, or a lamp—in your picture. Pictures of this kind can easily turn out to be the most fascinating and the best you ever made, but to make them you have to shoot "against the light"—a procedure which is normally considered one of the most elementary mistakes.

Backlighting gives a picture a peculiar atmosphere of its own. It makes you conscious of light rays in the air and surrounds the outlines of the subject with a luminous halo. It also throws long shadows toward the camera which in the finished print lead the eye into the picture. But above all it more or less automatically simplifies composition by suppressing much of the detail in the picture. It transforms objects in the picture field into broad masses which are pictorially much more effective than if they would show a lot of distracting detail.



Pointing the camera against the light creates dramatic pictorial effects which cannot be produced by any other means.

Shooting against the light is not quite as simple as the expression indicates. If you pointed your lens directly at the sun or another strong light source and snapped the shutter, the chances are that all you would get would be a pitch black negative from which no print could be made. Therefore you must frame your picture in such a manner that the main object is interposed between the camera and the light source, acting as a shield.

Obviously you can do this only if the sun—or other source of light—is in a low position. Consequently the best time to make pictures against the light is early in the morning or late in the afternoon.

You should always use a lens shade when taking pictures of this kind, to eliminate stray light and reflections falling on your lens. If you develop your own pictures, give this type of shot a relatively brief development to avoid excessive contrast.

It is less risky to shoot directly into an artificial light source without a shield for the lens. You can photograph people sitting around a burning fireplace or a lamp without either overexposing the light source or underexposing the figures.

The light of even very bright flames is rather weak and makes an exposure of several seconds necessary if it is the only light source. You can strengthen this light and get shorter exposures by throwing small quantities of flash powder in the fire. However, this method creates sudden flashes of strong light which cause overexposure unless you pose a dark object between the lens and the fire.

In the case of pictures including burning lamps use either weak bulbs and a relatively long exposure or stronger bulbs shielded by an opaque or semi-transparent lamp shade. Assuming that one lamp is the center of your picture, the figures grouped around the lamp will fade off into darkness. In some cases you may want this effect. In others you can counteract it by placing both the lamp and your subjects near to a light wall which will catch reflections from the lamp and bring out the silhouette of the figures. Or you can put a weak light, invisible to the camera, behind your figures to lift them out of the surrounding darkness.

Framed by a halo, the model was used here to shield the lens against the full impact of the light coming from a reflector.

AND NOW, COMING TO THE MICROPHONE TO SING OUR NEXT NUMBER IS THE BEAUTIFUL "MARY X" - THE GIRL WHO CAN'T REMEMBER HER NAME.
IF YOU RECOGNIZE HER VOICE, PLEASE NOTIFY THIS STATION, FOR MARY IS AN AMNESIA VICTIM WHO WANTS VERY MUCH TO LOCATE HER FAMILY.
CAN'T REMEMBER HER NAME, EH? MEMORY ENTIRELY GONE?
HER VOICE IS BEAUTIFUL, TRACY. SHE'S THE FIND OF THE YEAR.
WE'VE BEEN PACKING THEM IN SINCE WE PUT HER ON THE AIR.
YES, RUDY, WHOEVER SHE IS, SHE HAS HAD PROFESSIONAL VOICE TRAINING.
SHE'S A VERY INTERESTING PERSON.
WHAT'S THAT?
WHEN YOU BOUGHT HER A NEW COSTUME, I GOT MY HANDS ON HER OLD SHOES. I THOUGHT THERE MIGHT BE A CLUE THERE.
AND WHAT'S THAT ON THE PAPER?
FROM THE SOLES OF HER SHOES, I PICKED OUT 22 SEPARATE PARTICLES OF METAL.
WELL, FOR -?
THEY'RE TINY SHARP PIECES SUCH AS WOULD BE TURNED OFF BY A LATHE - OR A FILE.
WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF THAT?
THAT GIRL HAS WALKED THROUGH OR BEEN IN A MACHINE SHOP WHERE METAL IS TOOLED.
MEANWHILE IN A LIMOUSINE ON THE AVENUE - A STRANGER LISTENS TO THE RADIO.
COMING TO YOU FROM THE CAFE RHUMBA IS THE MUSIC OF RUDY SETON AND THE VOICE OF "MARY X," THE LITTLE GIRL WHO HAS LOST HER MEMORY.
TO THE CAFE RHUMBA.

I GOT A REPORT FROM THE POLICE- AXEL FLED THIS COUNTRY A YEAR AGO AND COULDN'T HAVE COME BACK- IF HE COULD, HE WOULDN'T DARE-
BUT I SAW HIM!
OF COURSE, ANNIE- I'M SURE YOU THOUGHT YOU SAW HIM-
WHOEVER YOU SAW, IT WAS WEEKS AGO- AXEL WOULDN'T DARE STAY IN ONE PLACE THIS LONG, WITH HIS RECORD- BE SENSIBLE- THERE'S NOTHING TO FEAR-
AND HOW COULD ANY ENEMY HOPE TO FIND YOU IN A CITY AS BIG AS THIS, ANNIE-
OH, I S'POSE YOU'RE BOTH RIGHT--- I HOPE-
SO! ANOTHER ONE OF OUR NUMBER DOES NOT RETURN- HE WAS THE ONE SET TO WATCH THE PIPER STREET SCHOOL, EH?
I, MASTER, KNOW SOMETHING OF THIS MATTER- MAY I HAVE PERMISSION TO SPEAK?
THIS, AXEL, IS GREGORY ITCHKOVITCH, WHO FOR YEARS HAS CONDUCTED THE CANDY STORE ON PIPER STREET, AS A BLIND, OF COURSE-
AH, YES- SPEAK, GREGORY-
TONIGHT, FOR THE FIRST TIME, I SEE THE PICTURE OF THE GIRL YOU SEEK-
I HAVE SEEN THIS ONE OFTEN WHEN SHE PASS MY LITTLE STORE- ANNIE TECUM SHE IS CALLED BY THE OTHERS-
HO! YOU, GREGORY, HAVE THE BRAINS FOR WHICH I SEEK SO LONG IN VAIN- AH, OUR LEADER SHALL HEAR OF YOU FOR THIS, MY FRIEND-
SHE PASSES YOUR CANDY STORE- NOW AND THEN SHE ENTERS TO PURCHASE SWEETS, EH?
NO- ALAS, SHE NEVER ENTERS MY POOR STORE-
HA! BUT EASILY SHE COULD BE LURED TO DO SO---HM-M---LET ME SEE---SHE IS CLEVER- I GRANT HER THAT---AH--- I HAVE IT--- WARBUCKS!
WARBUCKS?
EXACTLY- YOU WILL STAND IN THE DOOR OF YOUR SHOP BEAMING ON THE LITTLE ONES PASSING BY--- YOU WILL WAIT TILL SHE PASSES ALONE- CALL HER GENIALLY BY NAME---EXPLAIN YOU HAVE A MESSAGE FROM WARBUCKS--- A LETTER--- SHE WILL BE DRAWN IN AS BY A MAGNET-

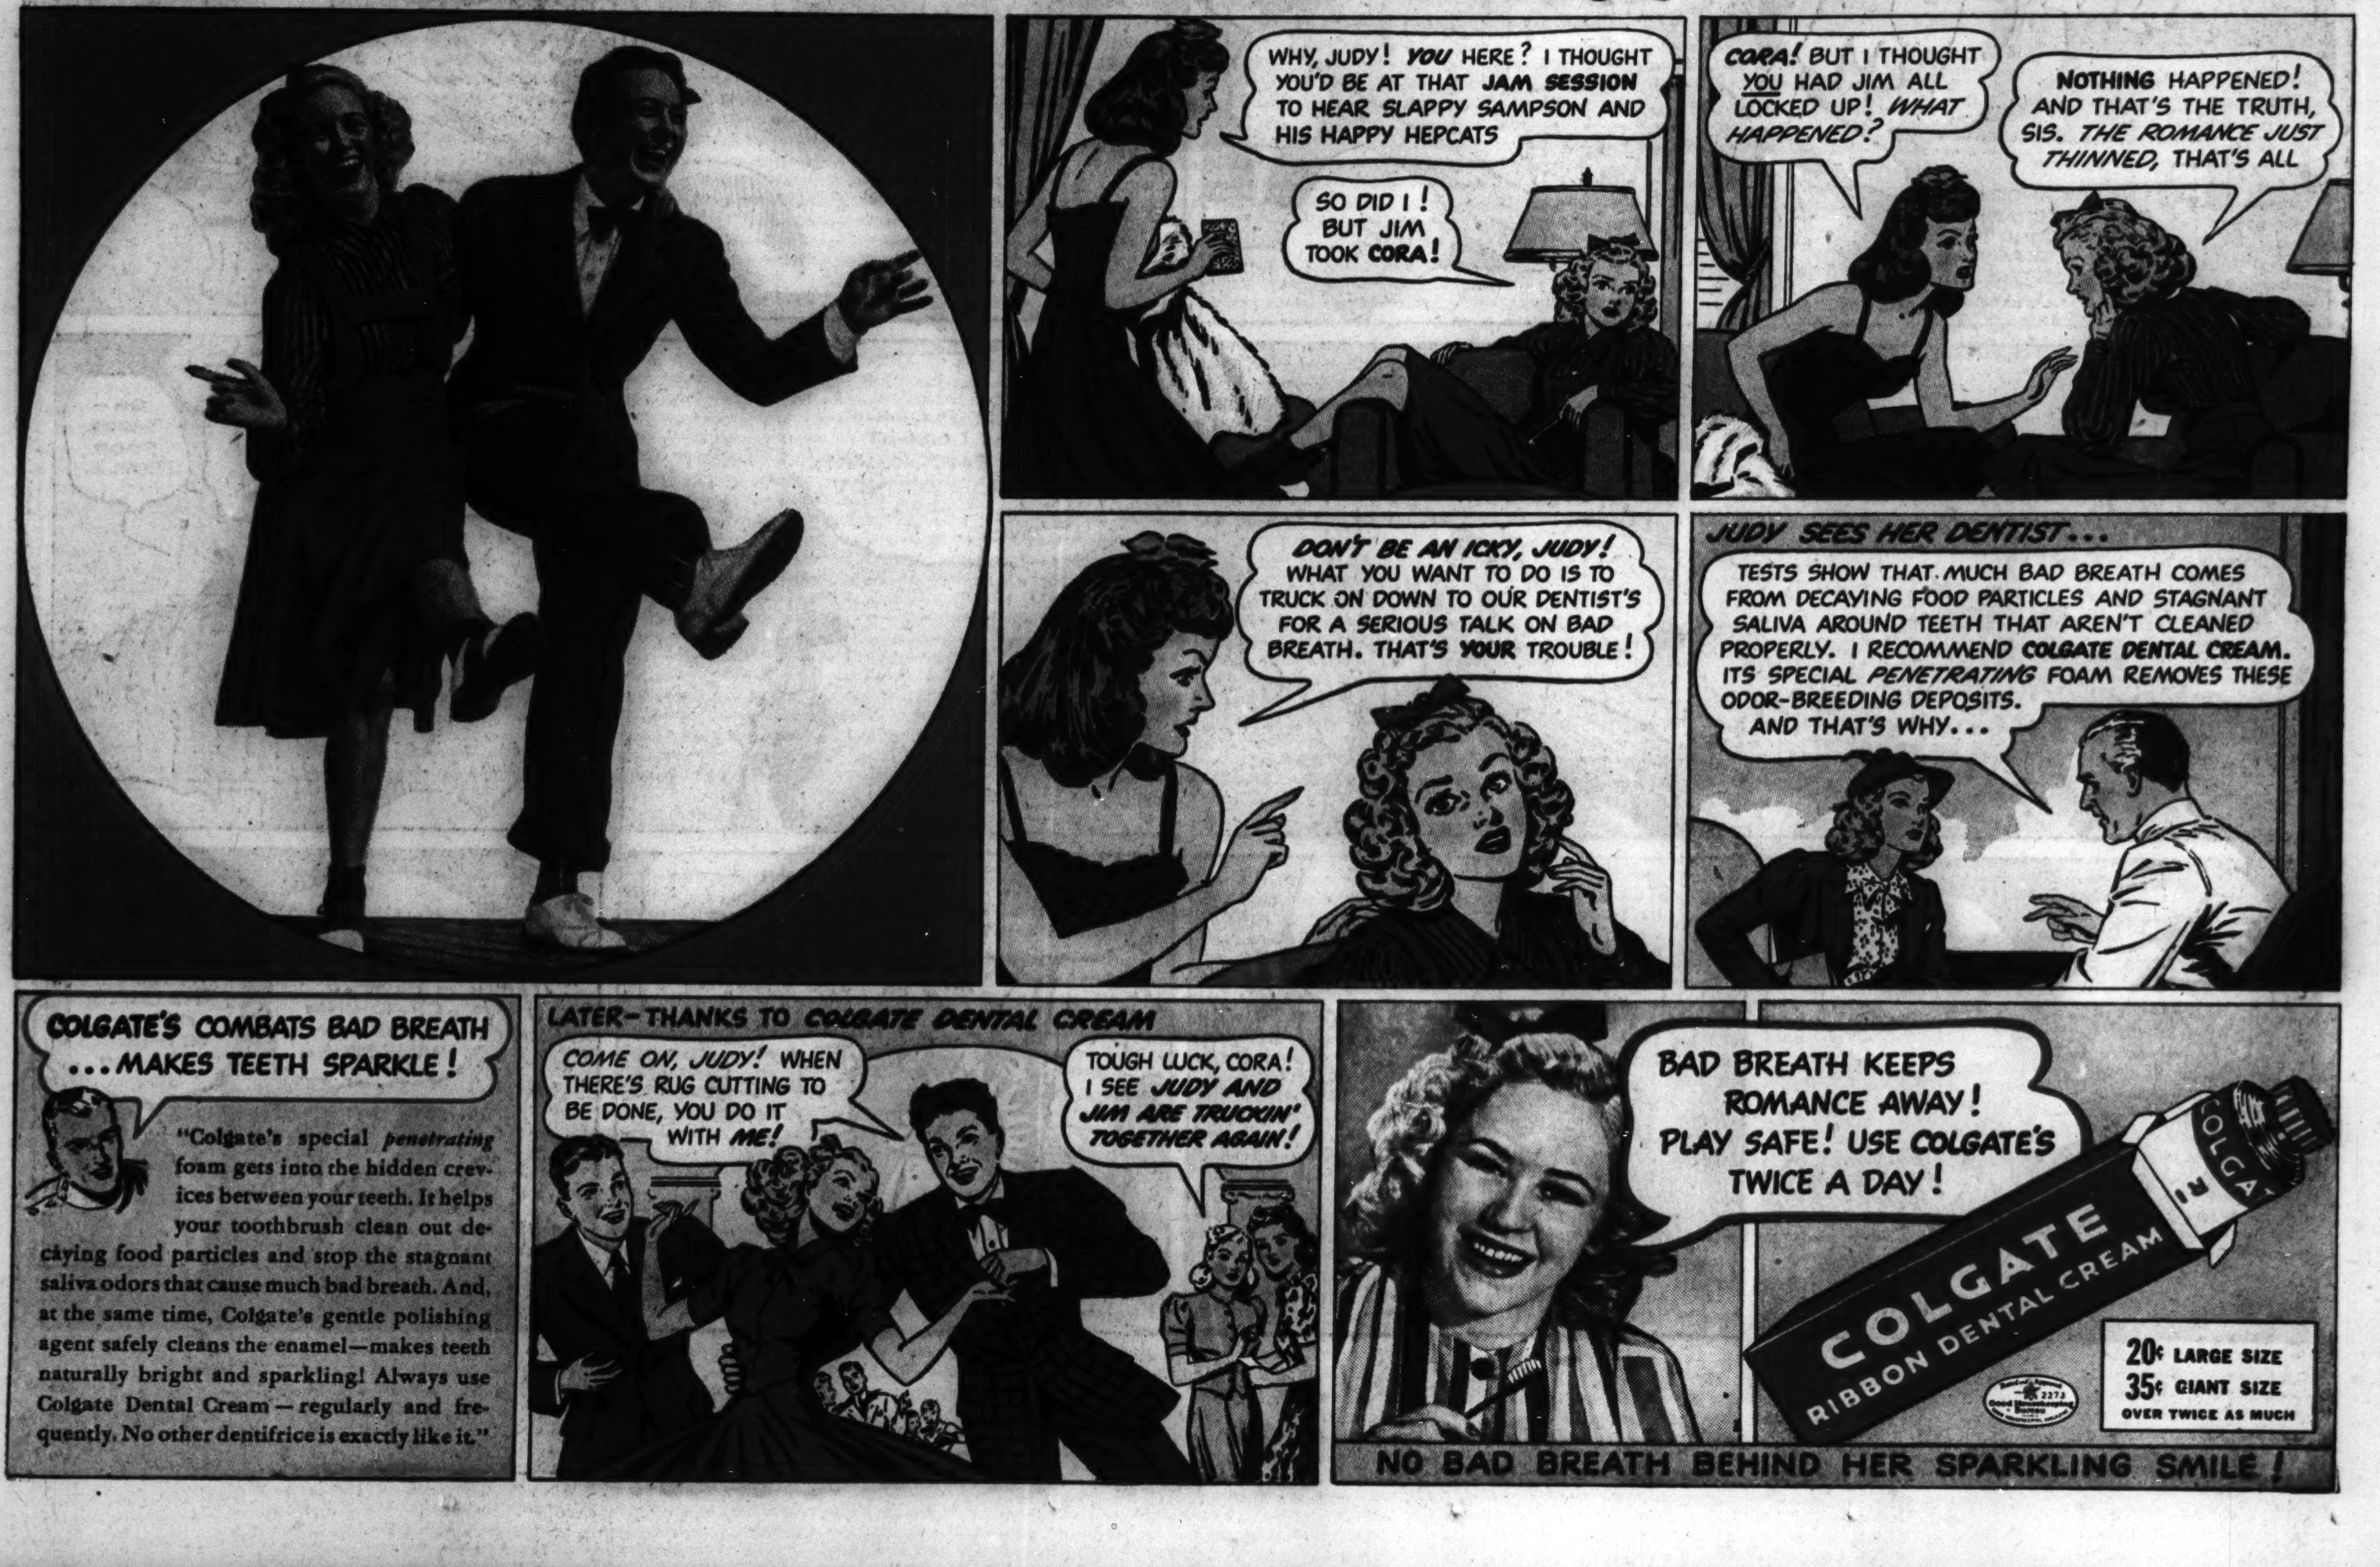
TWO HEARTS IN SWING TIME-UNTIL BAD BREATH BROKE THE RHYTHM



WHY, JUDY! YOU HERE? I THOUGHT YOU'D BE AT THAT JAM SESSION TO HEAR SLAPPY SAMPSON AND HIS HAPPY HEPCATS
SO DID I! BUT JIM TOOK CORA!
CORA! BUT I THOUGHT YOU HAD JIM ALL LOCKED UP! WHAT HAPPENED?
NOTHING HAPPENED! AND THAT'S THE TRUTH, SIS. THE ROMANCE JUST THINNED, THAT'S ALL
DON'T BE AN ICKY, JUDY! WHAT YOU WANT TO DO IS TO TRUCK ON DOWN TO OUR DENTIST'S FOR A SERIOUS TALK ON BAD BREATH. THAT'S YOUR TROUBLE!
JUDY SEES HER DENTIST...
TESTS SHOW THAT MUCH BAD BREATH COMES FROM DECAYING FOOD PARTICLES AND STAGNANT SALIVA AROUND TEETH THAT AREN'T CLEANED PROPERLY. I RECOMMEND COLGATE DENTAL CREAM. ITS SPECIAL PENETRATING FOAM REMOVES THESE ODOR-BREEDING DEPOSITS. AND THAT'S WHY...
COLGATE'S COMBATS BAD BREATH ...MAKES TEETH SPARKLE!
LATER—THANKS TO COLGATE DENTAL CREAM
COME ON, JUDY! WHEN THERE'S RUG CUTTING TO BE DONE, YOU DO IT WITH ME!
TOUGH LUCK, CORA! I SEE JUDY AND JIM ARE TRUCKIN' TOGETHER AGAIN!
BAD BREATH KEEPS ROMANCE AWAY! PLAY SAFE! USE COLGATE'S TWICE A DAY!
COLGATE RIBBON DENTAL CREAM
NO BAD BREATH BEHIND HER SPARKLING SMILE!

"Colgate's special penetrating foam gets into the hidden crevices between your teeth. It helps your toothbrush clean out decaying food particles and stop the stagnant saliva odors that cause much bad breath. And, at the same time, Colgate's gentle polishing agent safely cleans the enamel—makes teeth naturally bright and sparkling! Always use Colgate Dental Cream—regularly and frequently. No other dentifrice is exactly like it."

OXYDOL
NEW "NO-SCRUB-NO-BOIL" LAUNDRY SOAP THAT'S REALLY SAFE

NOW comes a new soap so utterly amazing that leading washing machine makers are changing to it, one after another—as the soap they officially recommend for use in their machines.

For example, the makers of famous Easy washers now say "For whiter, brighter washes we recommend the use of new High-Test OXYDOL, in Easy washers old or new."

These authorities changed to High-Test Oxydol largely because it does these amazing things, proved in Procter & Gamble tests against a large number of popular bar and package soaps:—

(1) Gets clothes as much as 9 to 11 shades whiter—actual Tintometer shades, proved by our laboratory tests. (2) Cup for cup, gives up to 3 TIMES THE SUDS—suds stand up as much as 2 to 3 times longer.

Yet High-Test Oxydol is so SAFE that even cotton prints given the equivalent of a full year's washing in our laboratories, showed no perceptible sign of fading—came out looking fresh and bright as new!

What's more, High-Test Oxydol can be money-saving, too. For penny for penny, it goes so much farther than less economical soaps tested, it can actually cut laundry soap bills as much as one-fourth!

So do as leading washing machine makers are doing—change to High-Test OXYDOL. Get a package today. Procter & Gamble.

Attention Washing Machine Owners!
For a free demonstration of High-Test Oxydol in the new 1940 Easy Spiralator washer, a washday combination that gets clothes clean with safety—

PA! WAKE UP! WE'VE GOT TO CALL ON THE SNOODS—
UMM-- I WAS JUST HAVING THE MOST BEAUTIFUL SLEEP--
I'M SORRY, PA, BUT WE'VE GOT TO GET GOING -
H'M --UH --- I HAD THE STRANGEST DREAM, MA---
WE WERE ON OUR WAY TO THE SNOODS--I WAS DRIVING VERY CAREFULLY THROUGH THE RAIN---
WHEN ALL OF A SUDDEN A CAR CROSSING IN FRONT OF US SKIDDED ON THE WET PAVEMENT-- THERE WAS A CRASH!-- CRASH!
WE WERE PRETTY LUCKY--JUST A FEW BROKEN BONES APIECE - AND THE DAMAGE TO THE CAR COST ME $242.00
CLANG CLANG
OF COURSE, IF YOU WANT TO GO- WE'LL GO—
WHY, THAT WAS JUST A SILLY DREAM, PA ----- STILL---I'M NOT SUPERSTITIOUS, BUT I THINK I'LL CALL UP THE SNOODS AND TELL THEM WE'RE NOT COMING IN THIS RAIN--

HOW IT FEELS TO GO 80 MILES AN HOUR ON A RACING BOB-SLED

"BUCKY" WELLS, THE MAN WHO DID IT. HE LIKES SPEED ON A RACING BOB, BUT HE PREFERS HIS CIGARETTES SLOW-BURNING . . . CAMELS!

HE'S GOT TO BREAK THE RECORD TO WIN!

WE'RE COUNTING ON YOU, BUCKY!

THEY'RE OFF! FIFTEEN BREATH-TAKING TURNS TO GO -- DOWN THE ICY TROUGH OF MT. VAN HOEVENBERG AT LAKE PLACID, N.Y.

A TREACHEROUS HAIR-PIN CURVE WITH A 20-FOOT WALL OF GLASSY ICE

ONE-TWO-BOB! ONE-TWO-BOB!

I'D AS SOON HITCH A RIDE TO A BULLET

60-70-80 MILES AN HOUR! "BUCKY" PICKS UP SPEED FOR ZIG-ZAG TURN!

HE'S GOING OVER! HE'S GOING OVER!

TWO INCHES FROM THE TOP-THAT WAS CLOSE!

THAT'S DRIVING 'EM, BUCKY!

THE FINISH--A NEW RECORD--AND ANOTHER TITLE FOR "NO-BRAKES BUCKY"

THAT'S THE FASTEST YET, BUCKY. BUT I NOTICE YOU'RE ON THE SLOW SIDE IN YOUR SMOKING

SPEED'S OKAY ON A RACING BOB, BUT I LIKE MY SMOKING S-L-O-W—THAT MEANS CAMELS

IT'S SLOW BURNING THAT MAKES A CIGARETTE TICK WITH ME — CAMELS ARE DEFINITELY SLOWER-BURNING. THEY GIVE ME EXTRA MILDNESS—EXTRA COOLNESS — EXTRA FLAVOR IN EVERY PUFF AND EXTRA SMOKING IN EVERY PACK. I'D BOB MANY A MILE FOR THOSE 'EXTRAS' IN A CAMEL!

Copyright, 1940, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Slower-Burning Camels give you

EXTRA MILDNESS

EXTRA COOLNESS

FAST BURNING— CREATES HOT FLAT TASTE IN SMOKE . . . RUINS DELICATE FLAVOR, AROMA . . .

SLOW BURNING— PROTECTS NATURAL QUALITIES THAT MEAN MILDNESS, THRILLING TASTE, FRAGRANCE . . .

CAMEL

TURKISH & DOMESTIC BLEND CIGARETTES

THE CIGARETTE OF COSTLIER TOBACCOS

IN RECENT LABORATORY TESTS, CAMELS BURNED 25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS TESTED — SLOWER THAN ANY OF THEM. THAT MEANS, ON THE AVERAGE, A SMOKING PLUS EQUAL TO 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

SMILIN' JACK
YOU SAY, THE SPY THAT BEEN CAUSE-UM ALL THOSE AIRPLANE WRECK-UMS WAS KILL?
YES--I WAS NEAR BY AND SAW TH' WHOLE THING--THE MONGOOSE WAS CRUSHED BY THE VERY PLANE SHE SABOTAGED--IT WAS A SIGHT I'LL NEVER FORGET!
JACK AND SOME F.B.I. BOYS RAIDED HER HEAD-QUARTERS AN' CAPTURED TH' REST OF TH' GANG!
DOG-GONE-UM! WHY ME ALL TIME GOT-UM WASH-UM PLANES AN' GO TO SCHOOL? ME ALWAYS MISS-UM ALL FUN!
DIXIE, WAIT HERE WITH TH' BOYS FOR AWHILE--
--BUT DON'T BELIEVE ANYTHING DOWNWIND TELLS YOU--- WHERE PRETTY GIRLS ARE CONCERNED, I DON'T TRUST HIM--EVEN IF HE IS MY BEST FRIEND!
G'WAN! I'M ALL CRIPPLED UP----I'M HARMLESS!
OH, YEAH! FROM REPORTS I'VE HEARD FROM SOME OF YOUR DE-ICERS, THAT'D BE TRUE--IF YOU HAD BOTH ARMS IN A CAST!
GET OUTTA HERE BEFORE I PUT YOU IN A CAST----MY PAL!
GREAT GUY, THAT JACK, DIXIE!
YES, DOWNWIND--THEY DON'T COME ANY FINER!
WELL, IT'S ALL SET, DIXIE --C'MON!
W-WHAT'S ALL SET, JACK?
WHY, A PLACE FOR YOU TO STAY--I'VE MADE ARRANGEMENTS FOR YOU TO LIVE AT TH' AIRLINE HOSTESS HOME--FOR TH' TIME BEING!
WELL, LOOK-UM LIKE JACK'S GIRL WORRY IS OVER!
YES--HE DIDN'T KNOW WHICH TO CHOOSE--MARY OR DIXIE--BUT IT LOOKS AS IF FATE HAS SETTLED IT FOR HIM!

by MILTON CANIFF
I DO DECLARE MISTER BLAZE, WE GET INTO SOME OF TH' ODDEST SITUATIONS!
RIGHT YOU SAY, MISS! IMAGINE GETTIN' HIT BY A ARROW SHOT BY CHINEE NIPPERS PLAYIN' THEY IS AMERICAN INJUNS!
THAT MEANS SOME AMERICAN IS IN THIS VILLAGE THEY LED US TO! ELSE WHO COULD HAVE TAUGHT THEM INDIAN LORE?
WELL, THEY WENT FER THAT WARE'OUSE, WHICH APPEARS T' BE TH' DININ' 'ALL! PATRICK'S IN THERE NOW—AN' HIF 'E CAN'T CHARM US UP A MEAL WE'LL NEVER EAT AGAIN!
STRANGE WE SAW NO GROWN PEOPLE AROUND... JUS' A FLOCK O' CHILDREN! RECKON THEY HAVE NO KIN FOLKS? OH, WELL, MISTER RYAN WILL FIND OUT!
MY NAME IS PAT RYAN, MISS! WE MET SOME KIDS PLAYING INDIAN AND FOLLOWED THEM HERE! WE THOUGHT...
I DON'T CARE HOW YOU GOT HERE—YOU COULD BE FRANKENSTEIN'S MONSTER AND I'D FALL ON YOUR NECK! I DON'T NEED MANNA FROM HEAVEN—I NEED A MAN!
... BUT DON'T GET PUFFED UP ABOUT IT... I'VE BEEN PLAYING NURSEMAID TO A TRIBE OF THE ORNERIEST, SWEETEST ORPHANS IN CAPTIVITY! NOW THEIR HEARTS CAN BELONG TO DADDY—WHICH IS YOU!
PARDON ME, ... I JUST REMEMBERED AN APPOINTMENT IN SIAM!
YOU WON'T GO FAR! YOU'RE HUNGRY—OR YOU WOULDN'T HAVE STOPPED! COME ON NOW—DON'T LET THE OLD GIRL DOWN! YOU'RE THE PERFECT FATHER TYPE!
I COULDN'T FAIL A GAL WHO LIES SO NEATLY! BUT WHY ARE YOU STUCK HERE WITH AN ARMY OF CHINESE KIDS?
I CAME OUT TO CHINA WITH A MEDICAL COMMISSION! THEY EVACUATED THESE ORPHANS OUT OF THE FIGHTING ZONE—AND I WAS THE ONLY PERSON THEY COULD SPARE TO HERD THEM! WE'RE WAITING FOR A BOAT TO HAUL US TO CIVILIZATION!
LOTS OF JOB FOR ONE GIRL!
I'M ONE OF THOSE 'EFFICIENT' WOMEN—THE SORT WHICH ALWAYS GETS TO WASH DISHES AT THE SOCIABLE! I'M 'DEPENDABLE'! ISN'T THAT HORRIBLE?
IF THAT'S YOUR COOKING I SMELL I'D LIKE TO BUY SOME FOOD FOR MY FRIENDS AND ME! CAN DO?
NO CAN DO! MONEY WON'T HELP ME BLOW MY BROOD'S NOSES!... BUT I'LL TRADE KEEP FOR LABOR! YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS INTERESTED?
OUR STOMACHS ARE! I'M AFRAID YOU'RE HOLDING THE ACES, MISS....
SHERMAN'S THE NAME—RAVEN SHERMAN! AND NOW THAT YOU'RE ON MY BREADLINE, HOW ARE YOU AT GEOMETRY?
GEOMETRY?
YES—SOME OF MY YOUNGER SET COULD USE A NEAT TRIANGLE! GET GOING PAPPY!
